TROOPS CALLED

The Sixty-Ninth Regiment and Naval Reserves Ordered Out by Governor Flower.

He is Determined to Land the Nor-mannia's Cabin Passengers on Fire Island.

The Temporary Injunction Vacated
This Morning by the General Term of Court.

All is Quiet at the Quarantine and no More Cases of Cholera Reported.

FIRE ISLAND, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Dr.
Jenkins arrived here at 4 o'clock this morning by steamer from Babylon.
After a conference with Dr. Voight he returned to quarantine. It is expected that a force of police or militia will be here early this morning, probably before noon, and that proceedings will be had by which the injunction can be dissolved. From a talk with Dr. Voight it seems that he expects to land the passengers today. The early morning hours were uneventful and nothing exciting occurred. The day promises to be one of excitement.

DR. WILLIAM T. JENKINS.

The situation remains the same as last night, only a little more quiet. The Cepheus remains anchored in the channel. The passengers are feeling very uncomfortable on account of the chilly southeast wind that is blowing. Men from the mainland are still guarding the dock to prevent the landing of passengers. Seventy-five officers are expected from New York this morning, and it is understood another attempt will be made to land. The feeling continues very bitter. The Sixty-ninth regiment and first battalion, Naval Reserves, have been ordered out by Governor Flower.
At 3 p. m. Dr. Voight telegraphed Dr.
Jenkins that the Normannia passengers on board the Cepheus are now being landed.

THE MOB OBSCURE.

Landing of the Normannia's Passengers on Fire Island Prevented.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The bay men again yesterday prevented the landing of the quarantined passengers on Fire Island. The steamer Cepheus was unable to make a landing, being opposed by 300 armed men, and was obliged to anchor in the channel opposite the hotel.
The Babylonians and their near neighbors cared not for the sufferings of their fellow-countrymen and women; they did not care if they died of cholera, starved or were drowned; all they thought of
in their hearts was the totally improbable proposition of their being attacked by the pestilence, owing to the proximity of a number of ladies, gentlemen and children who never had the cholera in their midst, who had lived for a fortnight on board a plague-stricken ship without being touched, and who were returning to their homes.

The craven-hearted creatures, trembling from their own imaginary fears rather than from any real danger, not only invoked the arm of the law by means of that anomalous legal stay entitled an injunction, but had assembled an armed mob, too strong, to drive these helpless women and children back to the cholera ship and to, at all events, a possible death. The governor begged and implored, Dr. Jenkins prayed these nobles to allow the passengers to land.
Telegram after telegram was flushed over the wire, assuring the men of Islip and those of Babylon that they ran no risk. They were obdurate. They would not give in.

Ever since nightfall they displayed a degree of cruelty well nigh inconceivable. After the Cepheus came to anchor two police officers rowed to the landing and asked that a letter be taken to Dr.
Jenkins. The mob refused to allow the letter to come ashore, and drove the police officers off with threats. The excitement did not abate in the slightest degree after the Cepheus had withdrawn to the stream. The crowd remained on the dock muttering threats and swearing that the people on the excursion vessel could not before they would be allowed to land.

About 10:30 p. m. Governor Flower sent the following dispatch to Sheriff Darling, of Suffolk county: "Guard the property of the state, and see that the hotel furnishes food to the passengers on the Cepheus. Summon all good citizens to aid you. These passengers are in want of food. There is no danger from cholera. The only danger is that the passengers may be driven to destruction. Appeal to the manhood of the people; I know they will aid you; they are human. Plenty of relief will arrive tomorrow."

QUIET AT QUARANTINE.

Dr. Jenkins Worn and Haggard After His Night's Work.

QUARANTINE, Sept. 13.—All was quiet
last night after Dr. Jenkins left. Secretary Sequine was awakened early this morning by the following message:

Babylon, 2 a. m.—Take tug and go to the Stonington and bring bedding, blankets and food to channel, off Fire
Island, where the Cepheus is anchored.
(Signed), JENKINS.

Before a start could be made for the lower bay another dispatch came telling him to make no move. It was 8:50 this morning when Dr. Jenkins returned from his night's mission, looking worn and haggard, and the reporters were glad to let him go to breakfast undisturbed.

The weather this morning, clear at daylight, now promises the speedy arrival of the expected easterly storm.
The fleet this morning has among the liners: La Champagne, Alaska, Aller, Belgenland and the Didam.

Dr. Waiser, who could not get to lower quarantine yesterday, has gone down this morning and unless the bad weather changes he expects to return confirming Dr. Byron's 10 o'clock report "All well!"
of last night. A transfer steamer has been obtained to take the passengers off the La Champagne to the city. The steamer will be detained here.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

The Sixty-ninth Regiment Called Out
By the Governor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—An order reached the Sixty-ninth regiment commanding officer at 5 o'clock this morning from Adjutant General Porter directing him to hold 250 men of his command in readiness to proceed to Fire Island immediately. By 7 o'clock Col.
Cavanaugh, Lieut. Col. Moran, Maj.
Guffy and most of the officers of the regiment were assembled in the armory.
Shortly after 10 o'clock the battalion left the armory and proceeded to Pier 36, North river, foot of Canal street, and embarked on a steamer in waiting.

The Pegasus left pier No. 36, North river, this afternoon. She had on board 400 members of the Sixty-ninth regiment and twenty-five naval reserves.

IT IS NOT BINDING.

The Attorney General Says the Injunction Cannot Stand.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Attorney General Rosendale has telegraphed Governor Flower and Professor Collin to the effect that Judge Barnard's injunction against the use of Fire Island is not binding. He quotes the case of Whiting, in which the supreme court held that the health office of the port of New York was a state office, and holds that no injunction can be granted against such use of Fire Island by a state officer except by the general term 605 of the code of civil procedure.

THE INJUNCTION VACATED.

The General Term so Decided, Two to One.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 13.—The general term of the supreme court of King's county has vacated the temporary injunction obtained by the board of health of the town of Islip, restraining Governor Flower from using Fire Island as a quarantine station. Judges Pratt and Dykeman voted to vacate, Judge Barnard dissenting.

A SUSPICIOUS CASE.

NORTHFIELD, Minn., Sept. 13.—A. L.
Delancy, of this state, has been taken seriously ill with what is considered Asiatic cholera. He was at the state fair in charge of a lot of imported horses from France, that arrived in New York just previous to the quarantine proclamation. It is thought the infection was carried in the baggage which came over with the horses. The physicians refuse to talk of the case.

NO CHOLERA IN TOLEDO.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 13.—The report that the dreaded cholera has struck this city is unfounded. There are no cases in the city and health officials are on the qui vive to prevent any suspicious cases entering the city.

DECREASING IN HAVRE.

HAVRE, Sept. 13.—There were ten new cases of cholera and thirteen deaths from cholera in Havre yesterday. This is a decrease of three new cases and an increase of five deaths compared with Sunday.

EXCITEMENT ABATING.

BABYLON, Sept. 13.—The excitement here is abating with the general conviction in the local mind that the Cepheus passengers will not be landed on Fire Island.

GOULD FOR PRESIDENT.

Annual Meeting of the Wabash Road Held Today.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—This morning the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wabash railroad was held in this city. Directors were elected, the new members being Jay Gould, C. C. Mac-Rae and Francis Pavy, the two latter from London, England, and representing the foreign stockholders.

There is a rumor that Jay Gould will be made president at the meeting to be held in New York two weeks from today. The net earnings were stated to be $3,556,804.88. After paying interest on bonds and mortgages, there is a surplus of $91,475.85.

AN ENGINEER KILLED.

Deraillment of a Suburban Train Near Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—A suburban train on the Illinois Central road was derailed at Sixty-third street near the city limits at 11 o'clock this morning. John Finn, the engineer, was instantly killed.
The passengers were thrown violently from their seats, but only one, Thomas Lahay, was seriously hurt. He sustained severe scalp wounds.

A ROYAL BIRTH.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—Early this morning the German empress gave birth to a daughter, the first daughter born to the imperial couple. The child was born in the palace of Potsdam.

BY TEN THOUSAND.

The Maine Election Resulted as Usual in a Victory for the Republicans.

Latest Returns Show That They Have a Plurality of Ten Thousand.

Reed Re-elected to Congress From First District by Two Thousand Plurality.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—One dred and sixty towns give Cleaves (Republican), 31,617; Johnson (Democrat), 25,780; Hussey (Prohibition), 613; scattering, 675. Indications are that Reed will have 2000 plurality in the First congressional district. Washington county went Republican by 1100 majority, the entire Republican ticket being elected Eight of the ten members of the house are Republican.

HENRY BRADSTREET CLEAVES.

One hundred and seventy-seven towns give Cleaves (Republican), 40,443; Johnson (Democrat), 33,135; Hussey (Prohibition), 949; scattering, which includes Labor and some of the Prohibition votes, 928. In 1888 the same towns gave Burleigh (Republican), 37,008; Thompson (Democrat), 25,639; Clark (Prohibition),
1,540; scattering, 773. Republican plurality 7308 against 12,270 in 1890.

If the vote to hear from comes in at the same ratio of gain the total vote will be about: Republican, 68,500; Democratic, 58,500, or 10,000 Republican plurality. This is the lightest vote in the presidential year since 1872. In 1888
the governor's vote stood: Republican, 70,401; Democratic, 61,348; Prohibition,
3,019; Labor, 1526; scattering, 20. Total 145,314.

CONNECTICUT DEMOCRATS.

Judge Morris Nominated for Governor
By Acclamation.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 13.—The Democratic state convention met at 10 o'clock this morning. Senator Seymour, of Norwalk, was chosen temporary chairman. The platform, in referring to national politics, says:

"The Republican party has violated the pledge it made in 1884 to correct the inequalities of the tariff and to relieve the tax payers. It has added burdens to the tax payers and to our industrial interests. It has encouraged combinations and trusts. Its money-soliciting circular is largely directed to those, and is a sign of enormous corruption. Its legislation has resulted in sending out of the country more than a hundred millions of dollars in gold; has attempted to pass and, if successful in the ensuing election, will pass a law under which free ballots will be menaced by the bayonet."

Judge Morris was nominated for governor by acclamation. Ernest Cady, of Hartford, was nominated for lieutenant governor. Martin H. Sanger was nominated for treasurer; Nicholas Staub for comptroller, and John B. Phelan for secretary of state, all by acclamation.

THE ARKANSAS ELECTION.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 13.—With seventeen counties to hear from, but which will give the usual Democratic majorities. Fishback's majority for governor over Whipple and Carnahan is 23,049, and when remaining counties are heard from his official figures will show a majority of about 28,000.

RAIN SPOILED THE PROGRAM.

Opening of a New Tin Plate Factory in Indiana.

ELWOOD, Ind., Sept. 13.—The opening of the American Tin works today has proven somewhat of a disappointment. All day there has been a steady downfall of rain.

Governor McKinley arrived from Indianapolis at noon, but the inclement weather prevented his speaking at 1 o'clock as arranged on the program.
He was given a rousing reception upon his arrival.
Two trains brought 3000 people from Indianapolis, including an escort for Governor McKinley from the Columbia club. The city is filled with prominent Republicans from all over the state.

MRS. HARRISON'S CONDITION.

LOON LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Mrs.
Harrison's condition yesterday was critical. There is a slight improvement since yesterday. Dr. Dougherty is on the way here from New York and will meet Mrs. Gardner and Treuden in consultation upon his arrival, after which a statement will be given to the press.

The Reading Troubles.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—President
McLeod, of the Reading road, this morning notified the labor leaders that he would confer with them at his office this afternoon.

MEETING IN CAMP.

One Who Has Attended Many Camp Meetings Thinks They Cannot be Revived.

They Were Purely an American Institution and Belonged to a Peculiar Age.

Were a Social and Moral Necessity, But the Conditions Are Now Changed.

THE camp meeting is a purely American institution. It grew up naturally in a new country covered in most parts with a primeval forest and inhabited by a fierce and uncultured people. It flourished as long as forests, primitive society and old methods of life and travel prevailed, and now that church edifices abound, while primeval forests are rare, the camp meeting is fast passing away. The announcement that the largest camp meeting known for many years was recently held at Indian Springs, Ga., was soon followed by statements that Rev. Dr. W. G. G. of Kentucky, read from the Gospels in the original Greek, and that other learned men preached after their method. The favor of Peter Cartwright and James Axel was not in it.

The year 1801 is taken by consent as that of the first great camp meeting. It was the famous one of Cane Ridge, Ky., where 20,000 people assembled, and a dozen preachers were holding forth from as many stands at one time. Unlearned and ardent, narrow and intense, believing to the extreme in the very letter of the Scripture and untroubled by doubts of "construction" or "higher criticism," they stood in the aisles of God's first temples and painted the delights of heaven and the horrors of hell in rude language to ruder congregations. About 3,000 persons were converted at that meeting, and there Peter Cartwright, a wild boy of sixteen, first fell under conviction.

According to his account, he resisted the Spirit for awhile, and danced, drank and gambled harder than ever. But he yielded at last, was converted, sold his favorite race horse, burned his cards, swore whisky and dancing forever and entered the ministry in 1808. For over fifty years he was a presiding elder and attended more camp meetings, conducted more revivals and probably preached more sermons in the woods and in log cabins than any other man of the century. He saw his branch of the Methodist church grow from 72,974 members to over 1,750,000.

Born in Virginia in 1785, he died in Sangamon county, Ill., in 1872, but as early as twenty years before his death he mourned that the old spirit was gone from the camp meetings. It is just as well, no doubt. The lonely life of the pioneers predisposed them to gloomy reveries. They were impressed with the fierce Calvinism of nature. They saw the wild beasts in the woods devoid of mercy or pity and believed in total depravity. They dreaded the serpent lurking in the grass and believed in a personal devil. It never entered their heads to ask, Was the manuscript authentic? Is the text properly translated? The question each one asked himself while listening to Cartwright was this, "Am I doomed to howl through all eternity in sulphurous flames in the company of devils and snakes?"

No wonder they pleaded for mercy while under conviction of sin. No wonder they shouted for joy when the witness of peace was given till they could be heard a mile, or fell in ecstatic convulsions and lay as rigid as an iron bar for hours together. Of course there were many unbelievers, and the infidelity of that time was of a coarse and scolding kind. Those who embraced religion became fanatically devout; those who resisted the Spirit plunged all the deeper into desperate wickedness. If a young man was above average in talent and of a bold and ardent temperament it was a serious question whether he would turn one way and become a preacher or the other way and become a gambler or even a horse thief.

PETER CARTWRIGHT.

For the first twenty years or so of the camp meeting age the phenomena were such as cannot be easily believed. Hundreds fell under "the power" at a single meeting, and on recovering told of having visited heaven and conversed with the Saviour or the angels. Strangest of all was the affliction called by the people (in Kentucky and Indiana at any rate) the "jerk." At first it affected only the "mourners"—those under conviction of sin. Then, by a sort of magnetic sympathy it struck all sorts of people. Fashionable young ladies, whose thoughts were on anything but religion, would look on awhile at the "seekers" around the altar and then, being suddenly seized, would bound headforemost into the area before the stand and hurl themselves violently from side to side till ribbons, bows, combs and jewelry were scattered in all directions.

Young men who went forward to receive sisters or sweethearts from the "mourners' bench" were often seized, and many instances occurred where such fellows swore at every jerk, but could not stop it. This strange affliction ended suddenly, and from 1830 forward the phenomena most noted were trances and rigidity "under the power," as it was called. In 1851 I saw a very strong man fall in that state and was afterward told that he lay rigid for fourteen hours. At that meeting, which was in Parke county, Ind., I heard Richard Hargrave preach a sermon that for vivid word painting excelled anything reported of Starr King, Wendell Phillips or Bol Ingersoll, and immediately after became a description of hell by another revivalist which set a dozen women to screaming as if in mortal agony.

Hargrave was long a contemporary of Cartwright, and like him was converted in boyhood. He was one of the rest of his generation that outlived the other several years. Partly contemporary with them, but attaining prominence after them, was Aaron Wood, D. D., who was licensed to exhort at eighteen and served in the regular ministry fifty-five years. He was a scholar and writer as well as a preacher, and such to some extent was Richard Hargrave. These two were the prominent figures at camp meetings of my boyhood days.

It is idle to argue the merits of the old time camp meeting of the west and south—it was a necessity. If the pioneer preacher, rude and untaught as he often was, had not followed up the pioneer settlers of Indiana, Kentucky and adjacent states; if he had not roused their hopes and fears with his rude eloquence—metaphorically "shaking them right over the white hot caverns of hell," as the phrase then was—there would have been widespread moral chaos. It did not lack much of it as it was, and if the Cartwrights, the Hargraves and their sort had not believed every word of their fiery theology they could have done nothing. Such men as Professor Briggs and Dr. Patton would have put the pioneers to sleep. In the expressive slang of the west, they "might as well have sung psalms to a dead horse."

But the camp meeting preachers of 1830-55 believed every word of the New Testament in its literal sense, and it was like fire in their bones. It was not cold, intellectual reasoning; it was not belief, believing, and like an electric bolt it went from the preacher's heart to the hearer's. And all the surroundings were calculated to excite the emotions. Even now I can shut my eyes and see the old camp ground of 1851-2—the square inclosed by the log tents, the tall trees and overshadowing canopy formed by the dense foliage of August, the rude log pulpit in front of the preacher's tent, in front of it the open space "around the altar," and then the long rows of seats under the trees, on which the numerous candles in tin brackets flared and spluttered, casting a funeral glare upon the intense faces below.

There was a song, then a prayer, then another and always more inspiring song. Then Richard Hargrave took the stand and for an hour poured forth all the intensity of his soul. His high, white and smooth forehead became crimson, his ordinarily soft eyes lighted with a sort of seraphic glare, his white hair seemed to vibrate and snap with a sort of magnetic energy, and when he closed every eye in the audience was fixed, every mind opened to emotional influences. Then from the women's side of the square rose in quivering strains some suggestive hymn, probably these lines of truly awful import to the believer:

A charge to keep I have,
A God to glorify,
A never dying soul to save
And fit it for the sky.

We looked up through the leafy canopy and still night air, seeing a single star here and there among the leaves, and God seemed very, very great and severe; we looked next at the powerful exhorter who always followed Hargrave, and he seemed very, very near. I care not repeat the lurid descriptions I heard, though I can remember some of them word for word. Nearly all readers would laugh at the idea that a boy could remember such things; the rest would say such things were never uttered. Yet I know what I know. Another song, then loud cries, mingled with exhortations, songs and prayers of such energy that it would seem they might assault the skies and prevail even upon the unchangeable majesty of heaven.

"The word of God mightily grew and prevailed." And no wonder. Now, suppose some coldly cautious scholar had told those people that there was a question as to the authenticity of the Epistles to the Hebrews; that commentators were in doubt whether Moses or Ezra wrote the Pentateuch, and whether Isaac was a monograph or a compilation; that the serpent in Eden was an allegory; that the devil is not mentioned in the Old Testament and—but enough. Long before he reached the distinction between Satan and the devil he would have had the trees for his audience. The wilder part of the audience would have been—well, in those days every suitable spring branch had a stillhouse. No; the old fashioned and lurid camp meeting was a social and moral necessity.

ON TO WASHINGTON.

Low Rates via the Veterans' Route. Round trip tickets to Washington, via the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, the "Veterans' Route" to the G. A. R. encampment, will be on sale at all principal ticket offices in America from Sept. 13 to 20 inclusive, at extremely low rates. The signature of the purchaser will not be required, nor will they have to be stamped at Washington. They will be good for return journey until Oct. 10, and will be good to stop off at all stations between Cumberland and Washington—a region familiar to every veteran, because of the warfare along the Potomac. They will also be valid to Baltimore, where a meeting of the Naval Veterans' association will be held from Sept. 15 to 19.

A New Internal Machine. It was rumored not long ago that Thomas Edison, the inventor, had agreed to construct an improved internal machine for the Emperor William—a machine capable of destroying a town at a range of thirty miles or of wiping out an army corps. This rumor has been denied most emphatically by Edison, but there was scarcely any need for him to do so, as his humanitarian principles are well known. The American tendency in the matter of invention is toward the useful and the practical. Every day brings forth its convenient inventions or improvements, of which the new sleepers recently put on its night trains by the St. Paul & Duluth railroad are excellent samples. This popular route, known as the "Duluth Short Line," is always "next" when it comes to increased facilities or improvements in service, and it invariably has the best. Always take the Duluth Short Line when traveling between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, West Superior, Stillwater and Taylors Falls. For information apply to ticket agents or Geo. W. Bull, General Passenger Agent, or W. A. Russell, Asst. G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

You can try a Burnham clam cocktail free at Thurston's restaurant. Good morning noon and night.

Twenty-five cents for a box of BEECHAM'S PILLS, worth a guinea.

D. & S. S. Transit Company. Beginning Monday, Sept. 12, the new and elegant upper cabin passenger steamer "Ossifrage," the fastest passenger steamer on Lake Superior will make two trips a week between Duluth, Houghton, stopping at Two Harbors, Bayfield, Ashland, Washburn, Ontonagon, Houghton, Hancock, Lake Linden and Eagle Harbor. Leaving Duluth at 10 a. m. Mondays and Thursdays for all south shore points; returning to Two Harbors and Duluth Wednesdays and Saturdays, connecting at Two Harbors with trains to the Vermilion and Mesaba ranges, and at Duluth with trains South and West.

DR. SPEER & COMPANY

---SPECIALISTS IN---

The physician in charge of this office is a graduate of the medical department of Harvard University.

YOUNG MEN Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this chance. DR. SPEER & CO., will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases of weakness of private diseases of any kind or character they undertake or forfeit $250.

They will therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice that you are treading on dangerous grounds when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedies for your complaint. Then for the first time you will realize what negligence means. Our success in such cases can be best understood when we will positively declare that over 100,000 have been treated by us in different parts of the world. Call and get the benefit of our experience.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN There are many of the age of 30 to 50 who are often accompanied by slight smarting sensations and weakening the system in a manner which the patient cannot account for. On examination it will be found that the urine deposits aropy sediment and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color will be a thin, milky hue, and again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of weakness.

LADIES Finding it not convenient to call at the office can be treated by mail by sending a full description of their case. DR. SPEER & CO., will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases. Examination and advice free. Remember the place.

Parties wishing to consult Dr. Speer & Co., at West Superior will have their railroad fare deducted from the price of their treatment.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it?

To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for families. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking.

Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

GRAIN RATES CUT.

The Great Northern Has Made a Sweeping Reduction in Grain Freight Charges.

The Reduced Rates Apply to Duluth as Well as to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

No Change is Made, However, in the Advantage Which Duluth Has Already.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 13.—While of course it has no bearing upon the matter, the withdrawal of the Great Northern road from the Transcontinental association has been followed by a liberal reduction of grain rates from the wheat belt and other localities to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. Rumors of this reduction have been afloat for some time past, and it was thought by some Minneapolis people that their inspiration was the possibility of an adverse decision on the part of the interstate commission in the Minneapolis discrimination case, but it transpires that the reduction applies to Duluth as well as St. Paul and Minneapolis, and leaves the rates, relatively, where they were before.

The tariff goes into effect Sept. 15 and applies to grain, flax seed, flour, millstuffs, and potatoes. The reduction from principal points is as follows:

	Old Rate.	New Rate.
Glendon	19	18 1/2
Crookston	17 1/2	16 1/2
Fargo	16	15 1/2
Grand Forks	15	14 1/2
Nesque	14	13 1/2
Leeds	13	12 1/2

These reductions range from a half cent to a cent, and will be seen, apply mainly out of the Red River valley. Traffic Manager Finley was seen about the matter and said that according to his understanding the reduction was one which President Hill had contemplated for months past.

"It is not a slash," he added, "but a reduction, legitimate in its inception and application." The Northern Pacific will at once meet the rates.

NEAREST THE POLE.

The Stars and Stripes Float Near the North Pole.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The stars and stripes have been planted at the two points nearest the north pole yet reached by civilized man. The navy department yesterday received the following telegram from Lieut. Peary at St. Johns, N. F.:

"United States navy claims highest dip overies on Greenland east coast, independence bay, 82 degrees north latitude, 34 degrees west longitude, discovered July 4, 1892. Greenland ice cape ends south of Victoria Inlet."

The highest point heretofore attained on the east coast is about 75 or 77 degrees, and was made by Holdenby, a German.

The highest point on the west coast was 83, made by Lockwood and Brainard, of the Greeley expedition. Naval officers are delighted at the success of Lieut. Peary, and his telegram was received with much pleasure.

COULDN'T STAND REPROOF.

A Young Married Woman Attempts to End Her Life by Poison.

ST. CLOUD, Sept. 13.—A physician of this city was summoned to Paynesville yesterday to attend to Mrs. J. Brackett, of that place, who had taken a dose of poison. Mrs. Brackett some time ago, applied for a divorce from her husband, but was denied the decree.

She afterwards kept company with a young man of Paynesville, and when she was censured for her conduct by her parents, who are well to do and respectable people, she attempted to take her life.

Her husband is the son of Banker Brackett, of Paynesville, is respectable and wealthy, and the case has created a sensation. Doctors say Mrs. Brackett's life may be saved.

FORGED AND FLED.

An Employee of a Minneapolis Paper Has Decamped.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 13.—C. H. Bauer, for the last year employed as book-keeper and collector by the Freie Presse-Herold Printing company, has been missing since last Monday afternoon, and his family know nothing of his whereabouts. Examination shows that he has forged checks on the firm and has also collected money for which he has not accounted. He also leaves a number of creditors among his former friends.

Bauer came to this country from Germany about twenty months ago. His family, consisting of a wife and three children, came with him and now reside in North Minneapolis. The wife knows nothing of her husband's whereabouts and is heartbroken over her desertion.

FIRE AT MONTREAL.

Several Lives Lost by the Burning of a Hotel.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—At 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning the Chamberly hotel was discovered to be on fire. Two persons were seen to come to the windows on the second floor, and then, after piteous shrieks for help and an appalling scene to those who had rushed to the scene, to go back into the flames which roared behind them.

Many of the guests leaped for their lives to the pavement, forty feet below. Several received sprained or broken ankles. In a front room on the third floor was found the first of the fire's victims. This was a sewing machine agent named Turcotte. The second victim to be brought out was a medical student named Cidallo. He was breathing when found, but died soon after being taken to the hospital.

The last body was that of a stableman, who was found lying under his bed on the top floor, his body being charred almost beyond recognition. The loss will amount to $10,000 on the building and furniture.

MINNESOTA'S CAMPAIGN.

The New York Herald on the Situation in This State.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Herald printed a lengthy article yesterday concerning the political situation in Minnesota. It says that the administration people are watching the outcome of the election with great interest, and that Senator Davis is making the light of his life for his own election and for the success of Harrison and Reid.

It adds in part: "Senator Davis is in danger of defeat. Can he accomplish the herculean task of regaining the legislature which now has a majority of thirty-two against him? There are 168 members, and 85 are a majority. The Republicans elected sixty-eight in the most unfavorable campaign that party ever had. If they hold those districts they have seventeen members to gain. It is claimed by Republicans that on the question of electing a senator they will gain twenty to thirty votes. They say that they carry nearly all the districts in Ramsey and Hennepin counties and that the change in these two counties will be sufficient to give them control. It is expected that Republican gain in Hennepin and Ramsey counties will be at the expense of the Democrats, while the gains in rural districts will be chiefly from the Populists. Republicans are confident of cutting down the third party at least to per cent."

"They have made some particularly strong nominations, the most conspicuous being that of Nelson for governor. Nelson is a fighter and a tariff reformer. He advocates the protective principle but voted for the Mills bill and believes in a low tariff. These facts give him an element of strength. For the campaign like that which is now in progress in Minnesota, he considered the strongest man that the Republicans could have nominated."

OWEN WAS NOMINATED.

Fifth District Populists Select a Congressional Candidate.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 13.—The Fifth district congressional convention of the People's party was held yesterday afternoon. There were only eighty men present, though the call contemplated a convention of 200 delegates. The committee on permanent organization reported in favor of John Uglow for permanent chairman, and A. J. Dinan for secretary. Peter M. Gideon then took the floor, nominating Jonas Howe for congress. The gentleman, however, declined, saying that "if a man went to congress with an honest hair in his head he would have it pulled out." Tom Lucas nominated S. M. Owen in a characteristic speech. H. B. Marston moved Owen's nomination, but the vote had not been put before Mr. Owen was on his feet urging that some other man be chosen.

After some discussion, A. S. Edwards who was instrumental in touching off Owen's congressional boomlet came forward, advocated that sentiment give way to common sense, and urged that Mr. Owen be forced to accept the nomination. So the gentleman gave way and was nominated by acclamation, but not before he made a final plea asking to be withdrawn.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

Prior Right of Settlers on the Omaha Land Grant.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 13.—A decision was received at the United States land office here yesterday which is of great importance to homesteaders and settlers on the Omaha land grant recently thrown open to settlement. The decision is upon the ground of prior right of parties who settled upon the land prior to Nov. 2, 1891, at which time it was thrown open to settlement. The decision says: "It is very clear from these regulations that no preferred rights to these lands could be obtained by reason of any settlement, residence or improvements thereon prior to Nov. 2, 1891. The old rule, that while settlers upon reserved land acquire no rights as against the United States, yet, as against each other, he who is prior in point of time is prior in right, is expressly declared to be unapplicable to the lands in question, to which no settlement right was allowed to attach until after their formal opening to settlement as prescribed, which, as has been seen, was Nov. 1, 1891."

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Charles Christianson Falls Victim to a Thunderbolt.

RACINE, Wis., Sept. 13.—During a storm yesterday Charles Christianson, aged 25 years, was struck by lightning and instantly killed at the Herrick farm, nine miles west of this city. Christianson was leading a horse when the bolt struck him. The horse was knocked down and Christianson's brother-in-law was thrown from the wagon and is not expected to live.

STABBED BY A BARBER.

A Blacksmith Fatally Stabbed in Mississippi.

GREENVILLE, Miss., Sept. 13.—J. Bush, a blacksmith, was probably fatally stabbed yesterday by Santiago de Navarro, a barber. The trouble originated in a dispute between the children of the two men.

The women of the two households took up the dispute, and Mrs. De Navarro attacked Mrs. Bush with a knife. Mr. Bush arrived just in time to save his wife. Then the men fought and Bush was stabbed by De Navarro as stated.

Nominations at Fargo.

FARGO, N. D., Sept. 13.—The Ninth district convention yesterday afternoon nominated John Haggart for the senate and Seth Newman and Henry Southard for the house.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH.

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Sept. 13.—An area of high barometer is now central over the Dakotas, and an area of low over the Ohio valley.

There has been a decided fall in temperature during the past twenty-four hours over the Northwest. Frosts being reported from Montana and Dakota, over the rest of the country slight changes have taken place.

Heavy rain has fallen in the Ohio valley and along the lower lakes; in the Northwest there has been little or no rain.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 65°, the lowest last night 42°. The rainfall yesterday amounted to .01 inch.

DULUTH, Sept. 13.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Fair; cloudy today, with occasional light mist; slight change in temperature; northerly winds.

R. H. BROOKS,
 Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair; cooler with fresh Wednesday morning; northerly winds becoming variable. For Minnesota: Fair; cooler with fresh Wednesday morning; northerly winds becoming variable.

THE MAINE ELECTION.

The state election in Maine yesterday resulted, of course, in a Republican victory. This was anticipated, and the result therefore will not create the slightest surprise anywhere. The only point upon which the interest of the politicians has been centered was the size of the Republican plurality, although the probability of Democratic gains in the legislature has also caused some interest, in view of the fact that a successor to Senator Hale will be elected at the coming session.

The Democrats asserted they would reduce the Republican plurality to 8000, while the Republicans expressed the belief that they would carry the state with a plurality of from 12,000 to 15,000. The results, according to the latest news today, is that neither anticipations have been realized. The vote is the lightest cast in a presidential year since 1872, and the Republican plurality is estimated at 10,000. In 1888, the Republicans had a plurality in the state of 18,053 for governor, and two years ago their plurality was 18,899. Consequently the plurality this year shows a loss of about 8,000 votes, due evidently to the large number who stayed at home and did not vote. This latter fact is evident from the small size of the total vote.

A dispatch from Washington sent out on the morning of the election said: "If the vote indicates a Republican loss, it is believed that it will be construed by the country as reflecting the sentiments of Blaine's friends. Democrats, in this event, hope that the friends of the great Maine statesman will take the cue and act accordingly. Democrats insist that the outcome will show whether Blaine's friends are really going to support Harrison loyally or not." It is to be expected, therefore, that the Democrats will now claim that the reduced Republican plurality shows that the Blaine men do not intend to give loyal support to President Harrison, but this claim is hardly tenable, because there are very few Republicans in Maine who are not Blaine men and consequently, had all or nearly all the Blaine men declined to vote, the Democrats would have had a walk-over. The reduction of the Republican plurality is traceable to the falling off in the total vote, and this falling-off can be properly ascribed to the quietness of the campaign which has been waged so far this year. It is a remarkable presidential year in this respect. There is an entire absence of the excitement which prevailed during the contest four years ago or in the state elections in 1890, and in years when political feeling is at a low ebb the vote is always reduced.

There are no returns at hand at this writing to show how the legislature stands. It has been said recently that in the event that there should be big Democratic gains and the Republican majority in the legislature should be small, there is danger that Eugene Hale will not be re-elected. It is well known that Representatives Reed, Manley and Boutelle have senatorial ambitions, and should the legislature be close one of the three might be able to prevent the election of Hale, if they did not succeed in securing the prize themselves. Politicians in Washington, in discussing this phase of the election, are of the opinion that should the Republican majority in the legislature be greatly reduced the outcome might result in giving the senatorship to Blaine. They, of course, figure that he would not take it unless it was shown to be a certainty that Hale could not succeed. In that event he might be induced to stand as a candidate.

Every one believes that if there should be such an outcome that Blaine, whether the majority was small or not, could easily secure an election. Late reports from Maine show that Blaine's health is rapidly improving and that in a few months he will be both physically and mentally the Blaine of past years. There is a general feeling that his services should not be lost to the nation, but that he should again be returned to public life. It will not be surprising if he should be the next senator from Maine.

SENATOR DAVIS' FIGHT.

The comments of the New York Herald on the political situation in Minnesota, which are published in our telegraphic columns today, show that the Herald has a very correct idea of the conditions existing in this state. The Herald well says that in the present campaign Senator Davis is making the political fight of his life, and that upon his ability to overcome the gains of the Democrats and Populists in the legislative districts two years ago depends his election to succeed himself in the United States senate.

Not only is he obliged this year to fight his opponents of contrary political faith, but the Herald might have added that he is face to face with a powerful combine in his own party which seeks to depose him from the position he now adorns in order that it may be occupied by the retiring governor. The rank and file of the Republican party are for Senator Davis' re-election, but many of the politicians are against him, and therein lies his danger. According to the views of some he has not been active enough in procuring offices for his friends, and therefore they oppose him. Others are arrayed against him because money has not lost its power, and a man who was "born in a bank" can provide sufficient monetary inducements to gain considerable support.

The Herald believes that the next legislature will be Republican, but it may be Republican by a very small majority, and in that event Senator Davis would not be certain of securing another term in the senate. It therefore behooves his friends everywhere to watch closely the men who are seeking Republican nominations to the legislature. If they are not staunch, reliable Davis men, they should be opposed for the nomination. Only by these precautions can the friends of Senator Davis make his re-election certain. Of course there are many people who will say that there is nothing in these claims and that all such fears are groundless. They probably believe that they are right, but it is to be feared that when the next legislature meets they will find that their confidence was misplaced and that by indulging in a feeling of security they played directly into the hands of the cunningly arranged plans of the combine.

Put none but known and tried Davis men in nomination, and any possible danger will be prevented.

VALUE OF GOOD ROADS.

The census taker farm land in New Jersey at average value of $65 an acre, which is a higher average than is given to farm land in any other state. It is significant that the roads in New Jersey are the best in the country and no doubt this fact has much to do with the high value placed on the farming land.

Good roads are a splendid investment, but the farmers are just become alive to the fact. The agitation of the road reform question should be the means of causing a radical change in this respect. There is room for great improvement in the character of the roads throughout Minnesota. Many of them have been greatly improved during the past year, but there are still many that are in a disgraceful condition, and some are not far from Duluth.

When the people all learn that good roads increase the value of the land through which they run, there will be a general demand for first-class roads.

"Long" Jones predicts that Illinois will go Republican this fall, and the majority will be nearer 40,000 than 20,000. Mr. Jones has never gained a reputation for being a rainbow-chaser, and his predictions must therefore be received with respect.

The request made by the News that The Herald publish the names of Duluth Republicans who intend to vote for Maj. Baldwin, must be denied, because there is no urgent demand as yet for a second edition of the city directory.

The consensus of opinion regarding the steamer Western Reserve agrees with the view expressed by The Herald on the day after the disaster—that safety was sacrificed for capacity in the vessel's construction.

Who said that Philadelphia is slow? In a recent paper there appeared an advertisement headed "Prepare for Christmas!" But perhaps the advertisement has not been changed during the past ten months.

The Chicago Herald, by a wonderful system of logic, claims that the McKinley bill is responsible for the existence of the cholera. Now we know what caused the typhoid epidemic in Duluth a year ago.

The News persists in its affected belief that Judge Searle will carry St. Louis county. Possibly he might if he had resigned the judgeship and not dragged the judiciary through the mire of politics.

The New York state board of women managers of the World's fair has resolved that the exposition should be open on Sunday. This sensible conclusion should be given extensive publicity.

A live marquis is in jail in New York for jumping his board bill. Evidently the landladies of Gotham have no respect for the rights of nobility, else "his ludship" would not now be in prison.

Now that he has been retired from the slugging business, John L. Sullivan will have time to run for congress. Boston will no doubt furnish him with a constituency.

The People's party candidate for governor of Massachusetts is named Winn, but that does not imply that he will be a winner in the November election.

It is astonishing what bushels of gloom one single Peck has made for the Democracy in New York state.

Governor Boies seems to have dropped out of sight entirely.

AMUSEMENTS.

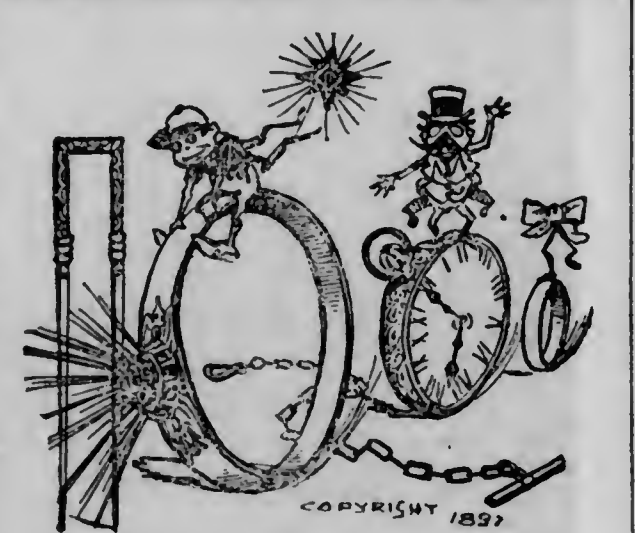

A Great Comedy. "Niobe" has been called one of the finest comedies put on the stage in recent years. Not a soul left the Temple last evening, and the house was filled, but would agree with that statement. It is a legitimate comedy, properly called "fantastic," because of the impossibility of its idea, and yet there is that naturalness pervading the whole comedy which always makes a play popular. It is comical in the extreme, and is "all laughter." Before seeing the play the impression is nearly always gained that the idea is stolen from "Pygmalion and Galatea," but this is entirely wrong. The only idea in common is the coming to life of the statue, and in "Niobe" the marble is brought to life by a shock from an electric wire, instead of being called through the ravings of an artist who wanted to create life itself.

The complications which are occasioned by the death of Peter Amos Dunn by the sudden advent of Niobe, who persisted in calling him her Petramos and falling on him "in tears" upon the slightest provocation, are side splitting. Isabelle appears in the title role Niobe, and is as graceful and charming as the Grecian queen could possibly have been. Her voice is rich, sympathetic and beautifully modulated. In figure and pose she was as dignified and commanding as the queen could have been but at the word of Petramos, her master, she was charmingly submissive and suppliant. George R. Edison is an exceptionally fine actor and gives the character of Peter Amos Dunn a remarkably fine interpretation. His work is natural and easy and suggests long experience. Charles Coote as Cornelius Griffin is very clever especially in scene with "Niobe," one of the most laughable in the play. Minnie Monk as Helen Griffin, a regular "regular" "Griffin," in fact, was very good. Kathleen Karrigan, the governess, has not very much to do, but speaks her lines remarkably well. The balance of the cast is all good and there is not a stick in the company. The staging is fine and the settings are very pleasing. The play closes with a brief epilogue spoken by "Niobe," who unlike Galatea does not return to stone, but finds a loving protector in the artist, Jefferson Tompkins. It is:

Farewell Petramos; goodbye to all. "I know you will expect me from the strain of such like plays,—to turn to stone again. But life is sweet, and faults if you'll forgive, Sans tears, all smiling, Niobe will live.

"The Fast Mail." Lincoln J. Carter's "Fast Mail" will be produced at the Temple this evening. It is said to be a melodrama of more than ordinary merits, while the scenic and mechanical effects equal anything that has ever been given in this city. There is a representation of an engine room on a Mississippi steamer, showing the furnaces under the boilers in active operation. A realistic train of cars shoots across the stage with wonderful effect. The scene representing the Niagara Falls is said to challenge criticism and demands and compensation to the moonlight on the falls, and the roaring of the plunging waters, the mist arising from the seething current make the scene as realistic one as it would be possible to make it. The play has an absorbing plot and the lines are all strong. There is plenty of humor to relieve the pathos, and altogether it is hard to get a play of more perfect symmetry. The members of the producing company are said to show a good conception of the author's ideas, and they portray with them commendable accuracy.

LIFE CRUSHED OUT

An Electric Motor Rushed Down a Steep Incline in St. Louis This Morning.

The Trailer Jumped the Rails and Many Passengers Crushed Beneath It.

Two Persons Were Killed and a Dozen Badly Injured by the Accident.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 13.—At 8 o'clock this morning an electric motor, with trailer attached, was descending the steep incline on Russell avenue near Ninth street, when the brakes on the motor failed to work, on account of the wet and slippery rails, and the car descended the grade at a terrific rate of speed. The motor rounded the curve at Russell avenue and Ninth street without accident, but the trailer jumped the rails and overturned in the gutter.

The cars were filled with passengers and the scene was wildly exciting. Beneath the overturned trailer was a crushed and bleeding mass of humanity, while on each side of the car were lying persons who had either jumped or been thrown from the car as it turned over. Dozens of persons rushed to the rescue of the passengers, and lifting the car found that the wreck was a sad one. Two persons were killed and a dozen badly wounded. The names of the killed and wounded so far as can be learned at present are:

Injured—Henry Blaine, 2113 State street, leg broken; H. F. Kronenker, Victor street, leg broken; J. L. Densman, 2017 Indiana avenue, legs broken; Mrs. A. M. Jones, 2015 Penn. street, arm broken and internal injuries; Charles Beyler, 3619 Grand avenue, badly bruised in chest and cut on head; Peter Hoffman, 1245 Oregon avenue, internal injuries; Rudolph Hartman, Victor street, badly injured about body.

The dead were removed to the morgue and ambulances quickly carried the injured to the hospitals, where they are being cared for.

FARMERS SHIPPING STOCK.

A Big Shipment Now Going East From South Dakota.

HURON, S. D., Sept. 13.—There is now being shipped over the Chicago & North-western railway 20,000 head of cattle, 17,000 of which are from the Sioux reservation ranches; the others are from Potter, Sully, Hand, Hyde, Spink and Beadle counties.

In many instances farmers club together and ship a trainload on their own account. One of these netted the shippers a little over $500 above cost of shipment. To transport this immense herd over 700 cars have been brought into requisition. The stock is in fine condition.

THE RED RIVER LANDS.

The Great Northern Has Accepted Other Lands in Their Stead.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Sept. 13.—Geo. Chandler, first assistant secretary of the interior, telegraphs Secretary Noble that the board of directors of the Great Northern railway has accepted by resolution the terms of the act of congress granting them lands in lieu of those held by settlers in the Red River valley, but have not yet executed formal relinquishment of the lands within the grant. They have called for a list of such lands which the department is now preparing.

All to His Widow. NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The will of George William Curtis, the late statesman, probate yesterday. It directs that all of his estate be given absolutely to his widow, Anna Shaw Curtis, whom he appoints his sole executrix. No approximate estimate can be obtained of the estate.

Seven Hard Rounds. STANBURN, Ill., Sept. 13.—A prize fight between Arthur Davidson, of Virden, and Billy Harris, of Litchfield, Ill., for $200, took place at McDonald's mine four miles south of here, Monday night. The fight lasted seven hard rounds, Davidson knocking the Litchfield boy out in the seventh round by a chance blow.

A Farmer Found Dead. SHELL LAKE, Wis., Sept. 13.—Carter Wahl, a prosperous farmer near here, was found dead in a field yesterday. He lived alone. It is thought he has been dead several days.

Hanlan's Challenge. TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 13.—The Empire announces that Edward Hanlan, the oarsman, will in a few days challenge James Stansbury, of Australia, to row for the championship of the world. The stakes will be $2500 a side. Hanlan will name England or California as the place for the race.

Preferred the Grave. LA CROSSE, Wis., Sept. 13.—Ole Wanderingb committed suicide yesterday morning. He had a felon on his finger and after a night of pain went out in the back yard at daylight and hung himself. He was in comfortable circumstances and leaves a family.

Manitoba Senator Dead. WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 13.—Senator Girard, who represented Manitoba in the Dominion senate since 1880, died at his residence here yesterday morning, aged 73.

The Old Man Fainted. EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Sept. 13.—Two masked men entered the house of Capt. J. H. Steady late last night. He was alone sitting in the vestibule smoking. They pointed revolvers at him. He gave up $20 and the robbers escaped. Steady is an old man and after the episode he fainted.

Snow at Winnipeg. WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 13.—Snow fell here thick and fast at midnight last night, the culmination of a cold north wind which prevailed all day yesterday.

PRESENTED A VETO

Mayor d'Autremont Returns the Northeastern Amendment Without His Approval.

He Suggests Some Changes Which He Thinks Should be Incorporated.

Bridge Matter Came Up in Executive Session and the Opinions Were Received.

Last evening's session of the council was the longest which has been held in several months and yet very little business of any consequence was transacted. All the aldermen were present except Alderman Cox. Mayor d'Autremont started off the meeting with a surprise in the shape of a veto of the ordinance amending the franchise of the Duluth & Northeastern Railway and Terminal Co. This amendment took away from the company the exclusive right to Railroad street granted by the original ordinance, but the mayor declared that it was not properly fixed in the amendment. He said: "The effect would be to give a perpetual franchise on Railroad street without building a foot of track thereon; unless some other company can show, after four months' notice, that the tracks are necessary for its traffic." The amendment provides that any road requiring the use of said Railroad street might lay its tracks thereon upon four months' notice. The point the mayor made was that it might be very difficult for a company to prove that it absolutely required the use of the street. He recommended that the ordinance be made more explicit and also suggested that the company be required to complete all tracks over the streets included in the franchise by June 1, 1893.

The council went into executive session about 10 o'clock and heard the opinion of the firm of Davis, Kellogg & Severance on the bridge matter. It was neither entirely favorable nor entirely unfavorable. City Attorney Smith also submitted an opinion which was read. No action was taken although the conference lasted fully an hour.

The division of the Second ward into three precincts instead of two as formerly opened up a subject for an interesting debate between Aldermen Long and Thomas. The hitch occurred over the dividing line between the second and third precincts. Alderman Thomas wanted it to run east and west on Third street and Alderman Long wanted it to run north and south on Sixteenth avenue east. Alderman Long's desire met the approval of the council after some warm passages between the aldermen from the Second, to the great amusement of their brother members. The Third ward was divided into five precincts.

The chamber of commerce requested that the council appoint a committee of three to assist in the preparations for the Mississippi road celebration. President Hugo was authorized to appoint the committee.

The council was asked by a petition from a large number of ladies to increase the salary of the police matron from $25 to $50 per month and to appropriate $25 per month for the Humane society. The mayor endorsed the prayer of the petition. It was resolved that the council appoint a committee of three to assist in the preparations for the Mississippi road celebration. President Hugo was authorized to appoint the committee.

Alderman Weiss offered a resolution providing that all political organizations using the city hall be charged $5 per day or evening as the expense of janitors services, and that the money be paid to the janitors. Alderman Thomas opposed this and some pointed arguments passed between the alderman from the Second and Alderman Weiss. The resolution was voted down.

Alderman Long presented a resolution providing for the removal of all rubbish and inflammable material from vacant lots by the fire warden, the cost to be assessed to the property. This resolution also had opponents and a long discussion ensued. The general opinion was that the fire warden already has power to order the removal of rubbish but that the property cannot be taxed.

Another resolution offered by Alderman Long was laid on the table. This was to the effect that no more street or alley improvements should be ordered unless a majority of the property owners affected petition for it.

The condemnation of land for the extension of Fifth avenue west to the dock line was declared abandoned and new proceedings ordered begun for the condemnation of 166 feet on the southern end of the avenue instead of 600 feet. The balance has been dedicated.

The committee on drains announced that it would report at next Monday's meeting and the bills went over. A petition was received asking for the extension of water and gas mains through block 85, Endion division.

SUPERIOR'S BARBECUE.

Great Preparations Being Made—Gen. Bragg to be There.

Preparations for tomorrow's barbecue at South Superior are progressing. Gen. E. S. Bragg has telegraphed that he will certainly be present. The street cars in Duluth and Superior and the engines on the Northern Pacific railroad have been placarded. Specially invited guests from Superior will go down in a decorated train of street cars, starting from Belknap and Tower. A barbecue train of ten coaches will leave Duluth over the Northern Pacific road at 2 o'clock. More than 1000 people are expected to be present from Duluth. The exercises will be held at the corner of Sixty-fourth and Butler. In case of rain the speeches will be given in the Duplex windmill building where there is accommodation for 5000 people. After the addresses, delivered by Hon. John C. Spooner, Nils P. Haugen, H. Schrimmer, Dan Buchanan and Gen. E. S. Bragg, the feast will come.

After a great deal of delay and agitation a real estate exchange has been organized in Superior. A committee is now preparing articles of incorporation. It will be conducted on the same plan as those at Milwaukee and Duluth. The members will all belong individually to the national real estate exchange, but the board will not otherwise be connected with that body.

An attempt has been made to "do up" the Park National bank of New York, through a draft for $8000 purported to have been drawn by the State Bank at Superior. On Aug. 16 a man, giving the name of Charles A. Reed went into the New York bank and presented the draft, giving proof of his identity. The cashier was not satisfied and telegraphed to Superior and promptly received an answer that no such draft was ever issued. The matter was kept very quiet, the New York police were notified and a few days ago the man was caught. He is undoubtedly very clever and must have been familiar with the State bank's affairs. The bank had been doing business with the Western National bank in New York and had recently changed, having as yet no new printed drafts and using ordinary forms temporarily. Another point of which the man was probably aware is that at the time of the forgery the State Bank of Wisconsin had just placed on deposit in this bank $100,000. The alleged forger presented his draft soon after the money was deposited. The forgery of the signature of the Wisconsin bank officials is also said to be a good piece of work. It looks though the name Chas. A. Reed was not an alias and the prisoner was well acquainted with the business of the Superior bank.

THE INITIATORY STEPS.

Joint Committee on Mesaba Celebration Commencement Work.

The joint committee of the chamber of commerce, jobbers union and real estate exchange met yesterday afternoon to take initiatory steps toward a celebration of the arrival of the first car of ore over the Mesaba road. This celebration is to be no ordinary affair and is expected to attract visitors from the entire Northwest. Rates will be asked on all railroads and S. A. Thompson and W. Buchanan were authorized to visit St. Paul for the purpose of consulting the railroad people. It is expected that a large delegation can be secured from Grand Forks.

If it is possible a grand excursion to the range over the road will be a part of the celebration. The train would be decorated and covered with streamers, and it is suggested that it be sent through to Pittsburgh afterward, making stops in St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago and other points.

The labor organizations will all be asked to take part. A grand industrial parade is also to be given and it is anticipated that this will be the greatest demonstration ever seen in Duluth. The city will be decorated everywhere. Messrs. Thompson and Buchanan will go to St. Paul this evening. Another meeting of the joint committee will be held Thursday.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

Full Enfranchisement by Statute With an Educational Test.

The following resolutions, passed at the annual meeting of the State Women's Suffrage association, show that the women mean to take an important step forward this year:

Resolved, That we gratefully remember the action of the New York assembly in passing a bill for the enfranchisement of women in April last, by a vote of sixty-nine in favor to thirty-four against, and we hope that some sense of justice may abide in the hearts of New York legislators until another year may have given them opportunity to pass such a bill in both houses.

Resolved, That we, as an association, will appeal to our state legislature for a bill conferring full suffrage upon women.

As it is becoming every year more and more apparent that the interests of humanity are made to suffer by the votes of the ignorant among men, be it

Resolved, That we ask our legislature to enfranchise only such women, whether native born or naturalized, as can read any part of the constitution of the United States or of this state.

At a recent special meeting of the Duluth Suffrage circle this proposition to appeal for full suffrage with an educational test, was unanimously approved and a confidence expressed that showed all present to be ready and eager for action. In view of this new plan of work, many, who are not members of the suffrage circle, are expected to come to the annual meeting to be held at the Unitarian church corner of Second street and First avenue east, on Friday, Sept. 16, 2:30 p. m. They are expected to come and declare their interest, and willingness to help by, at least, so much as signing this petition for a law, giving the ballot to women, with an educational test.

Burned the Plant.

The old gas plant on Eighth avenue west was burned yesterday afternoon by the company. It was not worth tearing down and this was considered the best way to get rid of it. The city authorities being agreeable. The grand jury last night brought in an indictment against Manager Craig for maintaining a nuisance, to-wit, the old gas plant.

A Mining Lease.

A mining lease covering the ne 1/4 of sec. 10, nw 1/4 of section 20 and nw 1/4 of section 30, 58-17, running from the Wyoming Iron company to John B. Lovell was filed with the register of deeds yesterday. The lease runs for thirty years with a minimum output of 20,000 tons. The royalty is 30 cents per ton.

Officers Elected.

The following officers of St. Jean Baptiste society have been elected to serve for a year: President, Napoleon Grignon; first vice president, Joseph Sauve; second vice president, E. Michaud; recording secretary, J. O. Porlier; assistant secretary, Bruno Pelletier; corresponding secretary, Thomas Gelly; treasurer, Capt. A. Paul; marshal, L. Pierson; sergeant-at-arms, Simon Duchene; directors, L. Beauvillage, Joseph Satorne, J. Bureau, Levi Forest, J. Beaulieu.

Hon. Geo. R. Davis.

Director general of the World's fair says: "I regard Bethesda water the best in the market." As a remedy for the kidneys and urinary organs Bethesda never fails. Thousands of sufferers have been cured by Bethesda water, since the discovery of its medical qualities in 1858. It is put up in sealed half-gallon glass bottles, reaching the consumer in all its sparkling purity. Sold by druggists everywhere. S. F. Boyce, Duluth, general agent.

FOREIGN DRUNKS.

Three Tipplers From Across the Bay in Court This Morning.

Three trembling tipplers tremulously told the trial Tuesday that they took tanglefoot too tumultuously, or, in other words, there were three drunks before Judge Powell this morning. They were Otto Peterson, Thomas Wicks and Joseph Chambers. They were all from West Superior, the first two claiming to be employed on the coal docks and the latter in the flour sheds. The judge charged them the same price as he usually taxes the Duluth drunks, namely $10 or ten days, so they could not have any excuse for inciting their subsidized press to raise the cry of "Duluth discrimination against Superior." As the culprits were from Superior they naturally had more time than money so they will labor for ten days beautifying our streets. Peter Christopherson, of Hermantown, was in court on a complaint lodged against him by a neighbor, William Holender, who charged him with assaulting the him with a four line manure fork. The case will be heard by the court Friday at 2 o'clock and will eventually go before the grand jury.

A NOVEL TEST.

The Fire Tugs Will Try Conclusions With the Water Works.

The fire commissioners and fire department are conducting a novel test this afternoon at Sixth avenue west and Superior street. The fire tugs will be stationed at the head of Northern Pacific or Merchants' slip and a line of hose will be laid up to Superior street and the power of the fire pumps will be shown as against the water pressure in the hydrants.

Only Came to Visit.

A Chinaman, who arrived from Ely yesterday, caused a little flutter of excitement among the officials for a short time yesterday, and caused the presence of a special agent and Inspector Windom in West Superior yesterday afternoon. The man was found to have been a resident of Ely for two years and was down this way on a visit to Sam Wah, a Celestial shirt destroyer on Tower avenue, across the bay.

LARGE ORDERS FOR TYPE-WRITERS.

Merit Recognized—The United States Government Orders Remington Typewriters in Large Quantities.

The United States government is the largest user of typewriters in the world. Upwards of 2000 Remingtons are employed in the several departments at Washington, and perhaps one-fifth as many of other different kinds, making a grand total of nearly 2500, and the Remington company is constantly receiving requisitions from the government for additional machines.

The Remington has been adopted also for government use in England, France, Germany, Russia, Canada, Australia, etc., indeed, in nearly every country in the world.

NATIONAL STENOGRAPHER.

WEST DULUTH.

West Duluth office of The Herald, room 4, 815-vy building, where announcements etc. may be left.

There was a fair-sized audience in attendance upon the deliberations of the council last evening and considerable business was transacted. The village assessor presented the assessment roll for the improvement of Grand avenue, from Broadway to Lamargie, and for the improvement of Third avenue west. The village engineer presented an estimate of $3,426 for the macadamizing and improving of Sixth avenue west, from Second street south to the bay. The plans and specifications were received and the engineer was instructed to advertise for bids; also the estimate of $609 for the improvement of Second street, south, from Eighth avenue to Grand avenue, was referred to the engineer with instructions to advertise for bids. A communication from the Phoenix Investment company offering to lease a piece of property on which to build an armory, was referred to the building committee. The application of Charles G. Walters for transfer his saloon license to Charles G. H. Schmidt was referred to the attorney. The committee on streets recommended the improvement of Sixteenth avenue west, and a lively discussion occurred between property holders, who were for and against the proposed improvement. The council finally decided not to allow the petition for improvement. First avenue east will have a sidewalk. Trustee Hall called the attention of the council to the fact that the fire department was without any relay horses, and his recommendation to purchase a team was carried. Charles Strater was appointed on the police department. Edward Miller was appointed on the fire department.

The question of revoking the Cogan & Johnson saloon license, the place in which the recent tragedy was enacted, was discussed, but no action taken beyond ordering the place to remain closed.

THE FOUR CENTURIES

ADDRESS BY COLUMBUS DAY
PREPARED BY THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

them the people are gathering around the school house.

Men are recognizing today the most impressive anniversary since Rome celebrated her thousandth year—the 400th anniversary of the stepping of a hemisphere into the world's life; four completed centuries of a new social order; the celebration of liberty and enlightenment organized into a civilization.

And while during these hours the federal government of these United States strikes the keynote of this great American day that gives honor to the common American institution which unites us all, we assemble here that we, too, may exalt the free school that embodies the American principle of universal enlightenment and equality, the most characteristic product of the four centuries of American life.

Four hundred years ago this morning the Pinta's gun broke the silence and announced the discovery of this hemisphere.

It was a virgin world. Human life hitherto upon it had been without significance. In the Old World for thousands of years civilized men had been trying experiments in social order. They had been found wanting. But here was an untouched soil that lay ready for a new experiment in civilization. All things were ready. New forces had come to light full of overturning power in the Old World. In the New World they were to work together with a mighty harmony.

It was for Columbus, propelled by this fresh life, to reveal the land where these new forces were to be given space for development, and where the awaited trial of the new civilization was to be made.

Today we reach our most memorable milestone. We look backward and we look forward.

Backward we see the first mustering of modern ideas; their long conflict with Old World theories, which were also transported hither. We see stalwart men and brave women on moment on the shore, then disappearing in dim forests. We hear the ax. We see the flame of burning cabins and hear the cry of the savage. We see the never ceasing wagon trains always toiling westward. We behold log cabins becoming villages, then cities. We watch the growth of institutions out of little beginnings—schools becoming an educational system; meeting houses leading into organic Christianity; town meetings growing to political movements; county discussions developing federal governments.

We see hardly men with intense convictions grappling, struggling, often amid battle smoke, and some idea characteristic of the New World always triumphing. We see settlements knitting together into a nation with singleness of purpose. We note the birth of the modern system of industry and commerce and its striking forth into undreamed of wealth, making the millions members one of another as sentiment could never bind. And under it all, and through it all, we fasten on certain principles ever operating and regnant—the leadership of manhood; equal rights for every soul; universal enlightenment as the source of progress. These last are the principles that have shaped America; these principles are the true Americanism.

We look forward. We are conscious we are in a period of transition. Ideas in education, in political economy, in social science are undergoing revisions. There is a large uncertainty about the outcome. But faith in the underlying principles of Americanism and in God's destiny for the republic makes a firm ground of hope. The coming century promises to be more than ever the age of the people—an age that shall develop a greater care for the rights of the weak and make a more solid provision for the development of each individual by the education that meets his need.

As no prophet among our fathers on the 300th anniversary of America could have pictured what the new century would do, so no man can this day reach out and grasp the 100 years upon which the nation is now entering. On the victorious results of the completed centuries the principles of Americanism will build our fifth century. Its material progress is beyond our conception, but we may be sure that in the social relations of men with men the most triumphant gains are to be expected. America's fourth century has been glorious; America's fifth century must be made happy.

One institution more than another has wrought out the achievement of the past, and is today most trusted for the future. Our fathers in their wisdom knew that the foundations of liberty, fraternity and equality must be universal education. The free school therefore was conceived the cornerstone of the republic. Washington and Jefferson recognized that the education of citizens is not the prerogative of church or of other private interest; that while religious training belongs to the church, and while technical and higher culture may be given by private institutions, the training of citizens in the common knowledge and the common duties of citizenship belongs irrevocably to the state.

We therefore on this anniversary of America present the public school as the proudest expression of the principle of enlightenment which Columbus grasped by faith. We uplift the system of free and universal education as the master force which under God has been informing each of our generations with the peculiar truths of Americanism. America therefore gathers her sons around the school house today as the institution closest to the people, most characteristic of the people and fullest of hope for the people.

Today America's fifth century begins. The world's twentieth century will soon be here. To the thirteen millions now in the American schools the command of the coming years belongs. We, the youth of America, who today unite to march as one army under the sacred flag, understand our duty. We pledge ourselves that the flag shall not be stained, and that America shall mean equal opportunity and justice for every citizen and brotherhood for the world.

THE OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

Prepared for the National Columbian Public School Celebration of Oct. 21.

It is now known to all readers that President Harrison has issued a proclamation naming Oct. 21 as the true anniversary of the discovery of America, and recommending its observance by suitable exercises in all the schools of the United States.

A uniform programme for every school in America, to be used on Columbus Day simultaneously with the dedicatory exercises of the World's Columbian exposition grounds in Chicago, will give an impressive unity to the popular celebration. Accordingly, when the superintendents of education last February accepted the plan for this national public school celebration, they instructed their executive committee to prepare an official programme of exercises for the day, uniform for every school.

The following programme has been prepared by the committee:

The schools should assemble at 9 a. m. in their various rooms. At 9:30 the detail of veterans is expected to arrive. It is to be met at the entrance of the yard by the color guard of pupils, escorted with dignity to the building and presented to the principal. The principal then gives the signal and the several teachers conduct their pupils to the yard, to drumbeat or other music, and arrange them in hollow square about the flag by the flag itself. The master of ceremonies then gives the command, "Attention!" and begins the exercises by reading the proclamation.

1. READING OF THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION. By the Master of Ceremonies.

At the close of the reading he announces: "In accordance with this recommendation by the president of the United States, and as a sign of our devotion to our country, let the flag of the nation be unfurled above this school."

2. RAISING OF THE FLAG. By the Veterans.

As the flag reaches the masthead the veterans will lead the assembly in "Three Cheers for Old Glory."

3. SALUTE TO THE FLAG. By the Pupils. At a signal from the principal the pupils, in ordered ranks, hands to the side, face the flag. Another signal is given: every pupil gives the flag the military salute—right hand lifted, palm downward, to a line with the forehead and close to it. Standing thus all repeat together slowly, "I pledge allegiance to my flag and the republic for which it stands; one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." At the words "to my flag" the right hand is extended gracefully, palm upward, toward the flag, and remains in this gesture till the end of the affirmation, whereupon all hands immediately drop to the side. Then, still standing, as the instruments strike a chord, all will sing "America"—"My country, 'tis of thee."

4. ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF GOD. Prayer or Scripture.

5. SONG OF COLUMBUS DAY. By Pupils and Audience.

Air—"Lyons."

Columbia, my land! all hail the glad day
When first to thy strand Hope pointed the way;
Half him who thro' darkness first followed the Flame
That led where the Mayflower of Liberty came.

Dear Country, the star of the valiant and free!
Thy exiles afar are dreaming of thee,
No fields of the Earth so enchantingly shine,
No air breathes such incense, such music as thine.

Humanity's homel thy sheltering breast
Gives welcome and room to strangers oppressed;
Pale children of Hunger and Hatred and Wrong
Find life in thy freedom and joy in thy song.

The fairest estate the lowly may hold,
Thy poor may grow great, thy feeble grow bold,
For worth is the watchword to noble degree,
And manhood is mighty where manhood is free.

Union of States and union of souls!
Thy promise awaits, thy future unfolds,
And earth from her twilight is hailing the sun
That rises where people and rulers are one.

W. R. Garrett, superintendent of public instruction of Tennessee.

Ferris S. Fitch, superintendent of public instruction of Michigan.

A Forgotten Columbus Monument.

It is a mistake to suppose that there was, up to a short time ago, no monument to Columbus in the United States. There is a monumental shaft in Baltimore. It is obscurely placed and is inscribed "Chris. Columbus." It dates from 1794. It was erected by the French consul general, De Ammanour, who, with some hundred or more French officers and soldiers, remained in Baltimore after the end of the Revolutionary war.

A VERSATILE "BEGGAR."

He was standing, bowed and broken, in the walling wind and rain,
White his hair, his face was withered, furrowed, low, by years and pain,
With his stricken eyes turned upward to the skies they could not see.
"He," I muttered, "is a symbol of all human misery.
There is naught for him but darkness; all his world's a world behind."
On his bosom was the legend—
Please to Help Me!

Later in the week I saw him in another distant town.
He was looking with mute pathos from his gentle eyes of brown;
He could see as well as I could, but affliction's iron hand
Had tied up his vocal organs with a worse than iron band;
And I placed a silver quarter in his pallid hand and numb,
Having read the sign he carried—
Help me!

I Am Deaf and Dumb.
Who could I see? A beggar weary days and weeks had flown;
He was sitting, crushed and lonely, on a piece of cutting stone.
He could see and hear and gabble, and I said, "I have been sold."
And I grabbed that bald impostor with a Willing Madison hold;
And when I mumbled him over till the natives were surprised,
Truthful words composed the placard—
Help!

I Have Been Paralyzed!
—Walt Mason in Fremont (Neb.) Tribune.

Speeding a Horse.
Patent medicine is for the most part worthless stuff. Now and then, however, a bottle of it may be of real service in the hands of some man who knows how to use it.

In 1864 President Lincoln was greatly bothered by the well meant but ill advised efforts of certain good northern men to bring about a termination of the war. Old gentlemen, very bland and entirely bald, was especially persistent and trouble some.

Again and again he appeared before the president, and was got rid of by one and another ingenious expedient. One day when this angel of mercy had been boring Mr. Lincoln for half an hour, to the interruption of important business, the president suddenly arose, went to a closet and took out of it a large bottle.

"Did you ever try this remedy for baldness?" he asked, holding up the bottle before his astonished visitor.
No; the man was obliged to confess that he never had tried it.

Mr. Lincoln called a servant, had the bottle wrapped up, and handed it to the bald philanthropist.

"There," said he, "go and rub some of that on your head. Persevere. They say it will make the hair grow. Come back in about three months and report."

And almost before he knew it, the good man was outside of it, with the package under his arm.—Youth's Companion.

An Emotional Nature.

Mrs. Harlem River was busy cutting her husband's hair. Their little son Johnny picked up some of the hair that was scattered over the floor.

"Please, ma, mayn't I have a lock of papa's hair?" I want to be bold.

"Yes, my child. Just see there, George, what an affectionate little fellow he is. That child has more heart than any child of his age I ever saw. He wants to keep a lock of your hair as a keepsake. He is the best boy in Harlem."

"What do you want the hair for, Johnny?" asked Mrs. Harlem River.

"I want it for the tail of my hobby horse. His tail is too thin," replied the affectionate little creature.—Texas Siftings.

The Truthful Landlord.

Enraged Guest—How's this, sir! how's this? You advertised running water in every room in the house, and all the water you've got on the premises is what you catch in a dirty tub under the eaves.

Secret Host—Say, look here, young man, when I advertise a thing I have it. Guest—Then where's your running water in every room?

Host—Well, you just wait till the next time it rains and you'll see.—Boston Courier.

Wanted a Small One.

Little Boy (eagerly)—I wish I had a Bible like that.
Good Minister (with pocket edition)—Do you, my son, and why?

"I like that because it's such a tiny little one."
"And why do you want a little one?"
"Cause it won't take so long to read, of course."—Good News.

The Confession.

They swung upon the garden gate;
'Twas near the close of day;
He blushed and whispered low to her—"There's something I would say."
"There's something I would say, my dear."

He gently took her hand;
"I feel that I must speak. I hope that you will understand."
She looked into his manly face,
Her gaze was strong and clear—"You need not be afraid," she said, "I'll understand you, dear."

"Then I'll speak out," he gently said: "I hope you will not mind. But I—ahem! The fact is, dear, your necktie's up behind."

Hosiery and Corsets

AT RARE BARGAINS.

do you realize that when you buy of the retailer, you are paying three unnecessary profits? The manufacturer sells to the commission house, the latter to the jobber, and the jobber in turn sells to the retail merchant. You must pay the manufacturer a profit first, and then pay each of the subsequent handlers a profit, not infrequently paying two profits to the retailer. The Manufacturers' Commission Co. is a responsible syndicate which sells direct to the consumer. By investing in manufacturers' samples and the stocks of insolvent manufacturers, in connection with our regular commission holdings, we are able to sell to the consumer direct at the commission price, which is but one remove from the manufacturer's.

We offer the following bargains in hosiery: Ladies' extra length, full regular made, fast black and seamless hose, very fine gauge, (retailing everywhere at 50 cents) we will sell at 40 cents per pair in quantities of one-half dozen, or for $1.38.

This exceptional offer is made merely to introduce our name in your section. Send 15 cents additional and we will prepay express charges at special rates secured by us for the benefit of our patrons.

We are positively offering as a leader the cheapest corset for the money in the world. The Jettess Tailor-Made Corset is made of the finest French lace, with patent strips of gold. Made like a glove-fitting corset, boned with reasonable stays. Has double bust and side stays. Is retailed everywhere at $1.50 and in remote sections at very much more. Our price is only $3 cents.

Send 15 cents additional to prepay express charges. Mention sizes desired in ordering hosiery or corsets. We will positively refund money if goods are not satisfactory and just as represented.

Five Deaths From the Asiatic Cholera
Have Occurred in New York City.

This Startling Information Has Been Announced by the Board of Health Today.

A Bacteriological Examination Has Established the Fact Without a Shadow of Doubt.

The Normanna's Passengers Are to be Released From Fire Island
Tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The board of health today announces five deaths in this city from Asiatic cholera as follows: Charles McEvoy, who died Sept. 6, address unknown; Mrs. Sophia Wigan, died Sept. 10 at Eleventh avenue; Wm. Wigan, husband of Sophia, died at the same address on the following day; Minnie Livingston, a child, died Sept. 11 at 411 East Fourth street; Carlotta Beck, aged 30, died yesterday at 464 Second avenue.

All of the cases were originally reported to the health department as suspected cholera and have been under the investigation of the physicians connected with the department. Professor Herman Biggs, who is in charge of the division of pathology and bacteriology of the health department, has been at work making bacteriological examination of the intestinal fluids taken from the bodies of these suspected cases.

Professor Biggs reported to the health department this afternoon the result of the examination and announced unhesitatingly that the cases were Asiatic cholera beyond a doubt.

Dr. Jenkins says the Normanna's passengers will probably be released from Fire Island tomorrow. The Rugs's passengers, he expected, would be transferred to the New Hampshire today.

HAILE FOR GOVERNOR.

Massachusetts Republicans in State Convention Today.

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—The Republican state convention assembled in Tremont temple at 11 o'clock this morning for the purpose of nominating candidates for governor and lieutenant governor and the remaining offices on the state ticket; also to nominate two presidential electors selected by the several congressional districts. The permanent chairman, Hon. Charles H. Allen, was received with applause.

Mr. Allen, after thanking the convention for the high honor which they had conferred upon him, proceeded to address the assemblage on the great necessity for all citizens to take an interest in politics and to work for the success of their party, however much it may interfere with their personal convenience. After denouncing the Democratic party as a party that proved themselves wrong every chance they got, he said:

"The issues in the contest upon which we are entering are so squarely joined, there is no excuse for personal malignity or vituperation. We have no desire to vilify our antagonists, the members of that party which has never failed to adopt any heresy that seemed to promise it power. Upon the question of currency the Republican party stands for an honest dollar and nothing but an honest dollar. While the question of free silver coinage is one that does not find all members of one party on one side, and all of the other on the opposite, the vast majority of Republicans favor legislation that will uphold the value of all forms of money issued by the government; the vast majority of the Democrats are ready to sanction and endorse any project that threatens the stability and equality of our currency."

In speaking of the tariff he said: "The Democratic party has taken its position on the platform of free trade, pure and simple." Then quoting from that particular plank adopted by the Chicago convention he said: "On that platform it will not have the company of the American people. Republicans believe in a protective tariff that protects a tariff that secures to American labor good wages, to American capital good interest and to American people good homes. That is the question reduced to its lowest terms."

After paying a high eulogium to President Harrison and his administration, Mr. Allen concluded by saying that in the coming election Republicanism would triumph by an increased majority and he hoped that the name of Massachusetts would lead all the rest.

The platform adopted is in part as follows: We endorse the national platform adopted at Minneapolis. We endorse the candidates nominated there. We congratulate our citizens that under the wise and patriotic administration of Benjamin Harrison have reached a national prosperity never equalled in the history of the United States. We believe that a continuance of that administration would ensure a continuance of that prosperity. Then follows a denunciation of the Fifty-second congress and an endorsement of the protective tariff, with a demand that legal barriers be raised against indiscriminate immigration.

Hon. Wm. H. Haile, of Springfield, was nominated for governor by acclamation. Gen. Nathaniel P. Banks and

Hon. John D. Long were chosen presidential electors at large.

NEGRO BRUTE LYNCHED.

Fought Two Hours to Assault a White Girl, But Failed.
LARNED, Kas., Sept. 14.—Yesterday morning a negro named James Thompson made a brutal attempt to outrage Miss Mabel Welch at her boarding-house. The brute entered her room, and with a knife in his mouth fought for two hours to accomplish his purpose, but failed. The skin was peeled off her arms, neck and face and her hands were badly cut by grasping the blade of the knife.

Thompson was arrested yesterday evening in the swamps about seven miles west of the city. He was taken from the jail by a mob of 200 men last night and hanged to a telegraph pole one mile north of this city.

MRS. HARRISON'S STATE.

Is in a Critical Condition and Her Recovery is Doubtful.

LOON LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Harrison lies in a critical condition and the president and other members of the executive family are prepared for the worst.

There is no attempt at concealing the true condition of the president's wife on the part of the physician and the others about the bedside of the invalid. Three physicians are in constant attendance.

Markham Expects It.

ATKIN, Minn., Sept. 14.—J. H. Markham claims the support of the Itasca and Carlton delegates to the Republican legislative convention (Fifty-Third district) held here tomorrow. This would give him control of the temporary organization and his delegation from Itasca and Carlton would be given seats, and thus Markham's nomination would be a matter of fact.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 14.—The Great Northern, having taken the bull by the horns in summarily withdrawing from the Transcontinental association, has taken another step. It has filed notice of withdrawal from the Western Traffic association.

Will be no Strike.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—There will be no strike on the Reading system. At the conference yesterday afternoon all matters were amicably adjusted.

The Monetary Conference.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A report comes from Brussels that the monetary conference will be held in that city in accordance with the wish of the majority of the powers.

His Skull Fractured.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—Prince Herman of Scharburg-Lippe was thrown from his horse, while riding near Linz yesterday, and sustained a fracture of the skull. His condition is critical.

ANOTHER MILL.

The Northern Mill Company Organized and Will Build.

Another mill company has been organized in Duluth and will erect a mill. It is the Northern Mill company and B. C. Church is president and Roy Wilson, secretary. The capital is $100,000. A 500 barrel mill is to be erected, work to be commenced within a few weeks. The mill is to be built for the manufacture of a particular grade of flour, one of very high quality. The plans for a building 40 by 60 feet in size and five stories high are being prepared. It will be built of frame and will be covered with corrugated iron. The machinery is already contracted for. The location has not been decided upon, but will be within a few days and work will be commenced within a few weeks.

Made a Match.

Herman Smith, the wrestler, who issued a challenge yesterday has made a match with Frank Lewis, of Superior, for $50 a side and the gate receipts. It will be Græco-Roman style best two in three falls and will take place in the Parlor theater on Friday evening.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Brenizer left for St. Paul this afternoon, being summoned there by the dangerous illness of Major Brackett.

S. A. Thompson and W. Buchanan are in St. Paul today endeavoring to secure the Mississippi celebration.

Harry F. Chandler, of Smith & Chandler, left this afternoon for a trip through the South, and will then proceed to Mexico where he will spend several months.

John Morrison, county surveyor of Cook county, has been in the city for a few days and left for Grand Marais today. Mr. Morrison was recently appointed congressional committeeman from his county.

THE LEAGUE CLUB.

Delegates to the Convention of the Republican League Clubs at Buffalo.

President Clarkson Will Make the Opening Address of the Convention
Tomorrow.

Speeches Are to be McKinley and Governor
Reid.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Every train from east and west today brought in delegates to the Republican national league of clubs' convention that is scheduled to open tomorrow. Among the earliest on the ground today were President J. S. Clarkson of the national league and Secretary A. B. Humphrey. Mr. Clarkson said: "Mr. Humphrey's assurances from clubs and states are sure indications of the success of the meeting. But in addition to that we find here today a large advance guard from far off states, such as Texas, Kansas, California and Nebraska. It will be a surprisingly big meeting."

Mr. Humphrey immediately opened headquarters and his register of states and clubs and by noon a large number had registered. The program for the various meetings will not be completed until the local and general committees and the state clubs have their meeting this afternoon. So far as can be ascertained the convention will be opened tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, President Clarkson making the opening address.

The next order of business will be the reports of state leagues as to growth and work in their territories and this will be one of the most important features of the convention. In the evening there will be a mass meeting in charge of the local committee and although the arrangements are not entirely completed the speakers will include Governor McKinley, J. S. Sloat Fassett, Hon. Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster and Governor Brown, of Rhode Island.

On Friday the league will consider the resolutions to be promulgated by the platform committee and will elect officers for the ensuing year. Friday afternoon the league of college clubs will have its own meeting. President James Francis Burke will make an address and after some routine business is transacted Governor McKinley will address the assembly. Friday morning Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, president of the Women's association, will call to order a meeting of women and Hon. Whitelaw Reid is expected to make an address.

Friday night there is to be a parade, reviewed by the notables present. The delay in arranging definitely the programs is due to the death of the mother of Tracy Becker, who is chairman of the local reception committee. State Comptroller John R. Scatterd is now acting in his place. The proceedings of the convention are likely to be quite lengthy, because of many prominent speakers being present, all of whom will be asked to make a few remarks.

Despite Mr. Clarkson's enthusiastic predictions of a large meeting, it is evident as the day wears on that there is to be nothing like the attendance that was predicted prior to the meeting. The hotels are not over crowded and have plenty of room for as many more. The cholera scare is the alleged cause of the light attendance. From the Western and Southern states single delegates arrive instead of delegations from each club and it is from these states that the falling off is noted.

New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Illinois have so far showed up well. Texas and California come next with fairly large representations. Pittsburg, Pa., sent a whole marching club as well as their delegates. A heavy rain that set in this morning serves to make it very unpleasant for the delegates now here and to dampen what little enthusiasm was present.

At general headquarters it was announced at noon that there was a large number of delegates present. Up to noon representatives had reported from these states: California, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Virginia, Connecticut, Illinois, Rhode Island, District of Columbia, Nebraska, Kansas, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Iowa, Arizona, Arkansas, Texas and Colorado.

NEW JERSEY REPUBLICANS.

John Kean Selected as Their Candidate For Governor.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 14.—The Republican state convention was held yesterday. John Kean, who has been chairman of the state central committee, was nominated for governor. E. Burd Grubb was a candidate, but failed to get the nomination again.

The platform reaffirms undying devotion to the Republican party; approves the platform adopted at Minneapolis; endorses the doctrine of a tariff for protection of American industry; endorses the wise and able administration of President Harrison; denounces the passage by the last legislature of a bill to legalize a combination of corporations engaged in the production and carrying of coal.

The Montana Democrats.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Sept. 14.—The Democratic state ticket nominated here yesterday is as follows: For governor, T. E. Collins; for lieutenant governor, Henry R. Melton; for chief justice, W. Y. Pemberton; attorney general, F. C. Day; secretary of state, B. W. S. Folk; treasurer, Jesse Hastings; for auditor, Wm. C. Whaley; for congress, W. W. Dixon; clerk of supreme court, J. L. Sloan; superintendent of public instruction, J. C. Mahoney.

A CHOLERA FIGHT.

The Gallant Warriors Who Battle With Disease Are Among the Unknown Heroes.

Life Takers Live in Romance and History. But Life Saver Gain Little Fame.

The Gigantic Struggle Now Being Made to Keep Out the Deadly Cholera.

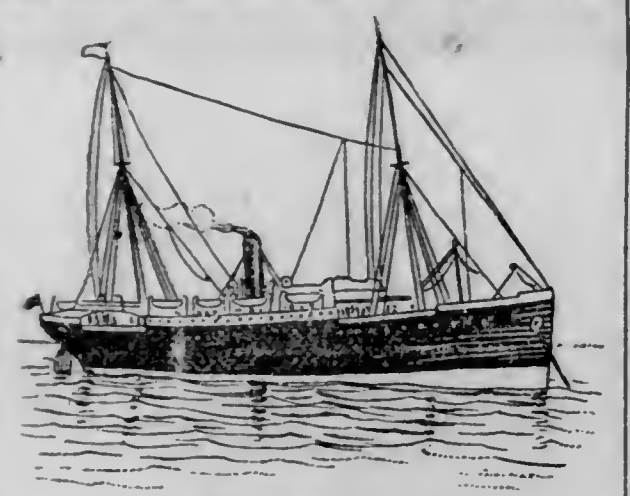

THE ship sailed away loaded with emigrants. The consular representative of the United States at Hamburg gave it, prior to departure, a "clean bill of health," and at about the same time the officers of the vessel took aboard a supply of drinking water and a "surgeon" named Dr. Israel. Emigrant steamers make cheap rates to patrons, and their owners have to look after the pennies, so perhaps the Moravia, the ship spoken of, was as well equipped to all outward appearances as at least a share of its rivals.

There were lots of children aboard, and when the Moravia got to sea they grew ill and called for water. Their parents gave it to them from the casks taken on at Hamburg and they became worse. One died, then another, and so on up to a score. Dr. Israel said they were afflicted with "cholera," and that there was no cause for alarm. So, while the bodies of the innocents were being dumped into the ocean from the portholes day after day the band played on the upper deck, and the passengers who had no lead to morn danced merrily to the music and watched for the first glimpse of the promised land.

And under those conditions cholera reached the United States! How it was met, crippled with the threat of quarantine by Dr. W. T. Jenkins and his assistants is known to all men. Whether the throttling shall prove effective time alone can tell, for there are many avenues besides that of New York harbor by which infection may force an entry to and gain a foothold on American soil. So far as human energy and foresight avail, however, that point apparently has been well guarded for many years. There is the quarantine station on Staten Island, there are the hospital stations on Hoffman and Swinburne islands, and then nearer the big city is the emigrant station on Ellis island, where the newcomers turn the final gauntlet of inspection before being allowed to set foot on that other island famous the world over—the island of Manhattan.

Of course all this vigilance means much more than the payment of salaries or the output of money on the part of the authorities. It means personal sacrifice, risk of life and single hearted devotion to duty on the part of men who have little to gain and much to lose. By that I mean that their tangible gain is their salaries, if they stick to their posts, and their loss, should they abandon them, would be honor, which to most people is more precious than life. But the American doctor, it may be observed, never flinches in the face of danger. There are heroes and heroines—those of the battlefield and those of exploration; the pioneer who braves countless perils, and the missionary who dares all for the cause of Christ; the engineer who dies that the passengers on his train may not perish, and the mariner who stands by his ship, no matter whether she outrides the storm or goes down in the whirl of waves and wind. These are the plain heroes of everyday life. We praise them one hour and forget them the next, for honor and duty are natural attributes of the Anglo-Saxon race, and are not considered out of the common.

Even in this age it is the old warlike instinct that preserves and immortalizes. Leonidas at Marathon, Horatius at the bridge, Winklerid clutching the spears, De la Tour Auvergne, who "died on the field of honor," Napoleon and the "Sun of Austerlitz," grim old Israel Putnam, Scott at Landy's Lane, Custer at the Little Big Horn—these are the ones whose adventures thrill and inspire us. Yet while these men, gallant patriots though they were, gained their reputation by the shedding of blood, through all the ages and contemporaries with them the doctor has walked as unobtrusively as they. While they took life he strove to save life. That he might be an efficient surgeon he dissected bodies at times when to do so was to be denounced as discovered as a vampire and a ghoul. He tested deadly poisons on his own person and mastered their utility for the use of man.

In fact, since the days of Galen he has been the chief, though silent and unexploited hero of this world, and at the present time of anxiety throughout civilized lands he is at the front ready to face the foe and conquer or die. No forlorn hope charging the battlements of a well defended city ever displayed more gallantry than the 400 physicians of Vienna who, the other day, tendered their services to the imperial government of Austria as cholera fighters. They asked not a cent of reward; they only stipulated that if they fell while on duty their families should be provided for.

The same general condition prevails in America. As before remarked the doctor doesn't flunk. He has no visible enemy to combat, as has the soldier, but he tackles his unseen foe with equal courage. The comma bacillus is more deadly than the Gatling gun, but the physician doesn't flinch. He fights, he investigates, he reasons and gives his results to the world. As a consequence epidemics are yearly growing less dangerous and more easily controlled. Dr. E. O. Shakespeare, of Philadelphia, went to Spain in 1886 to study cholera in its most virulent form, and the conclusions at which he arrived are just now of great value. Among other things he says: "In its choice of victims cholera is most precise and definite. With rare exceptions they belong to one of the four following classes of persons: Those who live under bad hygienic conditions with respect to food and lodgings; those who are imprudent with respect to eating, drinking and exposure; those weakened and debilitated by alcoholic excesses, and those who suffer from chronic digestive weakness or derangement."

"Among the imprudences which become dangerous in the presence of cholera are overeating to the extent of producing lethargy or indigestion, or drinking any liquid so as to check the process of digestion, eating raw vegetables in the form of salads, and in general the use of raw fruits unless perfectly fresh and ripe. Drinking cold water or beer after having eaten raw fruit is a direct challenge to cholera which no person, no matter how strong and healthy, can afford to risk."

Dr. Shakespeare also noted the fact that people who recover from the cholera rarely if ever are attacked a second time.

Speaking of preventive measures, another eminent American physician, Dr. Lewis A. Sayre, remarked recently: "Cholera cannot be generated in America. It must be imported. The problem is to stop it. This state of affairs brings up again the question of national control of quarantine regulations, which I have been advocating for forty years or longer. Local control of the quarantine service is fraught with great danger. Something more is necessary for the public safety. The quarantine administration may be good in one port and bad in another. As a consequence cholera may be admitted at the port where the administration is lax or inefficient, and the result would be that the country at large would be at the mercy of this one port."

In 1859, the doctor said, cholera at New York did not get beyond the Statue Island hospital, but on arriving via New Orleans it got inland and spread throughout the west and south.

"The other instance of 1865," said the doctor, "was the emigrant ship Atlanta, from Hamburg, which was the last cholera ship to arrive at New York. That was the late fall of 1865. The ship was filled with cholera. Thirty had died and many more were down with it when she arrived. The quarantine facilities were very poor. I was resident physician of the city at the time. It was late one night when the alarm came. I instantly telegraphed the mayors of New York, New Jersey and other towns near by; then I went to the ship. It was a terrible experience getting to her. I never went to an immigrant ship before and I never want to again, especially if it is midnight of a black winter night. I immediately established quarantine on board the ship. No one landed. The end of the ship in which the deaths had occurred was isolated and the disease wore itself out. It did not get ashore and the country was saved from the ravages of a pestilence."

"Prompt, decisive action is what did it. Had there been such action in the New Orleans case the country might have been spared the visitation of 1868-9."

Considering that 100,000 people have already perished from the cholera in Russia this year, where the death rate is 80 per cent. of the patients, and that many emigrants are still due to arrive from that country via Hamburg, Havre and other infected ports, it is not inappropriate to regard the New York quarantine station at the Narrows as a public defense and a skirmish line of battle. All honor therefore to those who "hold the fort."

Hats off, ladies and gentlemen, to the American doctor! FRED C. DAYTON.

WILD ANIMALS AND TRAINS.

They Sometimes Get Mixed Up, with Varying Results.

It is one of the old facts in natural history that wild animals get indifferent to a railway train quite as rapidly as domestic ones. They soon learn that a shot from a car never hits what it is aimed at, and there is no danger off the track, but they occasionally miss it in their calculations. Not long ago two deer were run down by a locomotive on Long Island, and the engineer says that he did not see them on the track at all. He thinks they must have deliberately run alongside of the locomotive with the train and then darted on the track, possibly with the intention of crossing. A bear was struck by a Maine locomotive which was running at the rate of thirty miles an hour, and yet brain only suffered a good bump, as the engineer expressed it, for he got up and looked at the flying train as if he would have willingly returned the compliment.

Another story comes from Ohio, and it is so good that one is grieved that it is not better authenticated. The engineer of a fast train noticed a large red fox dashing alongside the front wheels and just behind the cowcatcher. Reynard's tongue hung out of his mouth, and it was plain he was pretty well fatigued. Soon the cause of the fox's condition was discovered, for there appeared just behind the little animal a foxhound which also had the appearance of being pretty well worn down from running. When the hound got within ten feet of the fox the latter suddenly bounded over the track without a scratch, but was killed instantly. The fox climbed upon the opposite bank and there grined until the train was out of sight.

Possibly These Reports Are True. London has a firm of opticians whose specialty is the sale of spectacles for horses. The object of the spectacle is to promote high stepping.

A 2-year-old colt, the property of Putnam Wilson, of Newport, Me., was found a short time ago fastened to a tree by the hair of his tail.

James Chambers, of Philadelphia, has a calf with three ears and two rows of upper teeth. Its rear hoofs are not cloven, but resemble a mule's foot.

The latest bear story comes from Connecticut, where a man's cotton jumper, which hung on the fence while he was raking hay, is said to have caught fire from the sun and ignited the fence.

ON TO WASHINGTON.

Low Rates via the Veterans' Route. Round trip tickets to Washington, via the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, the "Veterans' Route" to the G. A. R. encampment will be on sale at all principal ticket offices in America from Sept. 13 to 20 inclusive, at extremely low rates. The signature of the purchaser will not be required, nor will they have to be stamped at Washington. They will be good for return journey until Oct. 10, and will be good to stop off at all stations between Cumberland and Washington—a region familiar to every veteran, because of the warfare along the Potomac. They will also be valid to Baltimore, where the meeting of the Naval Veterans' association will be held from Sept. 15 to 19.

A New Internal Machine.

It was rumored not long ago that Wizard Edison, the inventor, had agreed to construct an improved internal machine for the Emperor William—a machine capable of destroying a town at a range of thirty miles or of wiping out an army corps. This rumor has been denied most emphatically by Edison, but there was scarcely any need for him to do so, as his humanitarian principles are well known. The American tendency in the matter of invention is toward the useful and the practical. Every day brings forth its convenient inventions or improvements, of which the new sleepers recently put on its night trains by the St. Paul & Duluth railroad are excellent samples. This popular route, known as the "Duluth Short Line," is always "next" when it comes to increased facilities or improvements in service, and it invariably has the best. Always take the Duluth Short Line when traveling between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, West Superior, Stillwater and Taylors Falls. For information apply to ticket agents or Geo. W. Bull, General Passenger Agent, or W. A. Russell, Asst. G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

DR. SPEER & COMPANY

---SPECIALISTS IN---

The physician in charge of this office is a graduate of the medical department of Harvard University.

YOUNG MEN Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this chance. DR. SPEER & CO., will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases of weakness of private diseases of any kind or character they undertake or forfeit $250.

They will therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice that you are treading on dangerous grounds when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedies for your complaint. Then for the first time you will realize what negligence means. Our success in such cases can be best understood when we will positively declare that over 100,000 have been treated by us in different parts of the world. Call and get the benefit of our experience.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN There are many of the age of 30 to 50 who are often accompanied by slight smarting sensations and weakening the system in a manner which the patient cannot account for. On examination it will be found that the urine deposits a rosy sediment and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color will be a thin milky hue, and again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of weakness.

LADIES Finding it not convenient to call at the office can be treated by mail by sending a full description of their case. DR. SPEER & CO., will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases. Examination and advice free. Remember the place.

Parties wishing to consult Dr. Speer & Co., at West Superior will have their railroad fare deducted from the price of their treatment.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for families. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thus in good condition will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

SEVEN MEN DEAD.

The Troubles Among the Choctaw Indians Result in Seven Men Being Murdered.

Fears That the Worst Has Not Come, Although a Settlement May Be Made.

A Plot Said to be on Foot to Kill the Entire Jones Faction.

McALLISTER, I. T., Sept. 14.—News has been received that seven men have been murdered in the Choctaw nation, incidental to the political war feeling, and it is feared that the worst has not come, although efforts are being made to reach a settlement. It seems that a plot has been laid to kill all the prominent Indians on the Jones side, each squad of assassins to have its own county to work in. The men in Gaines county have followed out their instructions. As the other men have not carried out their part of the plot the leaders appear to be perplexed and don't know what to do. They are to have another secret meeting at Antlers on September 21, for what purpose is only known to themselves. Governor Jones has sent twelve armed men to the seat of the trouble. He is in constant fear of being killed and keeps a heavy guard around him all the time. At a conference held here last night, called and arranged by Indian Agent Bennett to establish peace and preserve tranquility among the Choctaw people, the following persons were present: Wilson N. Jones, principal chief; Leo E. Bennett, Indian agent; E. N. Wright and W. W. Hopson, of the Progressive party; Joe Gardner and A. N. Anderson, of the National party, and Charles Lafore, captain of the Indian police of the United States. The situation was discussed fully.

It was unanimously agreed that in order to amicably adjust the present trouble all armed bodies of men shall immediately disband, and by 12 o'clock noon today (Wednesday) all persons who participated in the killing of Joe Heck, Frank Frazier, Elias Colbert and Robert Nelson shall surrender to the constituted authorities of the nation to answer before the courts, and while in custody the prisoners shall be protected from all violence.

The convention agreed to the request made yesterday by Governor Jones of Indian Agent Bennett, that the agent be present with Indian police and soldiers at the October meeting of the Choctaw council, to see a fair count made of the votes and to insure protection to all concerned. Those present agreed to submit all differences to the law for settlement, and would do all in their power to ally the present excitement and preserve the peace. This agreement was signed by all present, and telegrams and messengers on horseback were dispatched at midnight to all portions of the nation, in an endeavor to carry out the object of the agreement.

THE KAISER MAY COME.

Emperor William Thinking of Visiting the World's Fair.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Standard's Berlin dispatch says: Emperor William in his interview with Mr. Steinway gave that gentleman the impression that a visit by him to the Chicago fair would depend upon the state of European and home politics.

Mr. Steinway was surprised at the emperor's knowledge of the position of the Germans in America. Referring to the fight against the cholera and to the supremacy of the Washington government over the individual states, the emperor remarked that he wished the same system was fully in force in Germany. It was so, he said, regarding animals, and it must soon also be so for the uniform treatment of human epidemics.

A Duluth Amidst Bobs Up Against a Candidate.

FARGO, N. D., Sept. 14.—A statement is published here that Dr. Tlegen, independent nominee for congress, March 25, 1892, filed an affidavit on a homestead claim in the Duluth land office, swearing that it was his intention to become a resident of Minnesota and make his home on it within six months from that date, which would be Sept. 25.

It is possible that the independent committee may decide to pull Tlegen off the ticket and endorse O'Brien, the Democratic nominee.

LIEUT. PEARY'S RETURN.

No Permanent Open Sea Between Greenland and the Pole.

St. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 14.—The Kite with Lieut. Peary's party on board leaves here this afternoon for New York or Philadelphia. The plans of the party as to their future movements have not yet been settled.

Peary says he would not object to making another Arctic exploring trip. He believes there is no permanent open sea between Greenland and the pole, but there are several detached bodies of land.

Catholics May Compromise.

WINNIEP, Man., Sept. 14.—Speaking to a Tribune reporter Archbishop Tache denied he had written or been asked to write a letter accepting the present school situation so that Sir John Thompson might become premier. Tache intimated that the Catholics might accept such a compromise as existed in Nova Scotia or New Brunswick.

The Russians Retreat.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A dispatch from India conveys the intelligence that the Russians have evacuated the Pamir region and thus removed the danger of war with China and also with Great Britain and Afghanistan.

Will Leave Loon Lake.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—It is understood that the president will return to Washington on Friday next. It is also believed that Mrs. Harrison will accompany him if she is able to travel. She will not remain in Washington, but will go South for the winter.

THE HOMESTEAD RIOTERS.

Their Cases Are Set for Trial Next Month.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 14.—The trials of the Homestead workmen who have been held to the grand jury on varying charges of murder, aggravated riot and conspiracy, will not begin in the criminal court until the first week in October. Fifty-five men have been held and against some of them there are four and five charges.

A large number of arrests are still to be made, including many women. The charges against the women will be disorderly conduct and inciting riot. The lawyers on both sides of these prosecutions are now hard at work arranging the testimony and preparing for what must be a memorable series of trials. The Carnegie Steel company has agents at work not only in Pittsburgh and Homestead, but in distant cities, seeking for witnesses. It is probable that some of the outside newspaper correspondents, who did work in Homestead during the troublesome days of July, will be brought here to testify.

The resources of the defendants are more limited, but they are working hard. The Homestead cases will be brought before the grand jury the latter part of the week or the first of the week following. That inquiry will not take long, as many of the witnesses in one case are witnesses in many of the others. The chief witnesses will be the Pinkerton detectives.

When the hearings begin, they will all be conducted before one judge. But who this judge will be has not been decided. The murder cases will be taken up first, and Hugh O'Donnell will probably be the first man tried. The hearing of all the Homestead cases by one judge will greatly expedite proceedings, and in most of the cases the juries will be largely the same men.

DISAPPOINTED IN LOVE.

A Fargo Man Thought to Have Committed Suicide.

FARGO, N. D., Sept. 14.—It is reported here that Arthur Smith, formerly bookkeeper for the Fargo Roller mill, has committed suicide at Detroit, Minn., but the truth of the report is questioned. Smith was discharged ten days ago and since then disappeared.

It is said he has been seen several times in the woods near Detroit in an unclad condition and was supposed to be insane. He had been drinking heavily when he left here and was despondent on account of being rejected by a St. Paul young lady.

CURBING CUTTERS KICK.

A Duluth Order Results in a Strike at St. Cloud.

St. CLOUD, Sept. 14.—The curbing cutters in Nevins and Ashworth's quarry and their employers are in trouble over the cutting of 16,000 feet of curbing for Duluth.

Part of the curbing has been supplied by the state reformatory and the men claim that the work they were employed on is simply a sub-contract let by the reformatory.

The trouble affects about fifty men, who were employed on curbing, but does not extend to any other quarries or to the regular stone cutting in the Ashworth quarry.

HE HAS NOT ACCEPTED.

S. M. Owen Has Declined to Run for Congress.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 14.—"The report that I had accepted the nomination for congress does me a great injustice," said Sidney M. Owen, the man whom the People's party leaders have insisted must carry their banner in spite of his protests of unwillingness.

"I have not accepted the nomination and shall not accept it. The men who put me up don't seem to realize what an injustice they are doing me."

GROVER WILL STRADDLE.

He Will Make a Tariff Plank of His Own.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Herald this morning says that Mr. Cleveland in his letter of acceptance intimated, it is said, to depart from a strict interpretation of the tariff plank adopted in convention at Chicago and to appear on a carefully prepared modification of it.

It is said that much correspondence is going back and forth between the Democratic national headquarters and Gray Gables about the matter.

The Deacon Trial.

NICE, France, Sept. 14.—The trial of the action for divorce brought by Edward Parker Deacon against his wife because of her relations with M. Abelle, for killing of whom Mr. Deacon is now imprisoned, was fixed for Sept. 23, but it will be put off until three weeks later.

Hotel Burned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Seaside hotel at Rockaway, L. I., was burned to the ground early yesterday morning. The loss is estimated at $55,000.

OFFICIAL NOTICE.

City of Lakeside.

In the matter of the condemnation of an easement for slopes and embankments in the lands adjoining and on the line of Grand avenue, between East avenue and Park avenue, in the City of Lakeside, St.
Louis County, Minnesota.

Notice is hereby given, That the commissioners appointed for such purpose by the city council of said city have made and filed with the city recorder said city their assessment of damages for the taking in private property hereinafter described the following described easement:
To-wit: A easement sufficient for, and for the purpose of, making and maintaining slopes and embankments one and one-half feet on the lands adjoining and on the line of Grand avenue, between East avenue and Park avenue, and every deep cut or fill necessary to grade said portion of said Grand avenue according to the grade or profile thereof prepared by the city engineer and filed in the office of the city recorder on August 28, 1892, and the city council of said city will meet in the city hall in said city at eight o'clock in the evening of Monday, the 25th day of September, 1892, to confirm such assessment, unless objections are made thereto in writing by persons interested in land in which such easement is required to be taken or confirmed.

Dated Lakeside, September 14th, 1892.

AN ILL-FOUNDED ATTACK.

In St. Paul last Sunday a minister devoted his sermon to a denunciation of the newspapers because they devoted many columns of space to reports of the Sullivan-Corbett prize fight, while only a column or two were occupied with an account of the death of the Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. The ministerial diatribe was directed against the Twin city papers especially, and they were accused of pandering to the depraved classes of the community. If this charge were true, then it must apply to the press in all the large cities of the country. In New York, for instance, the Sun devoted twelve columns to the fight and two-thirds of a column to Whittier; the World, eighteen columns to the fight and three and a half columns to Whittier; the Herald, fourteen columns to the fight and two and a half columns to Whittier; the Press, seven and a half columns to the fight, and nearly two columns to Whittier. Each of these papers had editorials on both topics.

Now while it is true that most papers gave a greater amount of space to the fight than they did to Whittier's death, it does not follow that the St. Paul minister was correct in his assertion that they cattered to the lower classes of the community. In the first place, newspapers are not published for any one class of the community—that is, successful newspapers. Like The Herald, they are published for all classes, and therefore the news which interests each class must be given.

In the second place, those who were interested in the reports of the New Orleans fight were not alone of the lower classes. They included leading business men, and even numerous ladies, who would shudder or scream at the sight of a mouse, were deeply interested in the accounts of the fight and read every line of the reports. The St. Paul clergyman, by making a proper inquiry, will discover this to be a fact. It may be a proper subject for moralizing on his part, but it is a fact that cannot be dodged. The truth is the spirit of barbarism, or whatever you may call it, is not dead in the human breast and the people generally today are as much interested in feats of strength and trials of brute force and scientific training as were their ancestors. Consequently the readers of the newspapers demand complete reports of such events, and the newspapers, as is their duty, furnish them.

It will therefore be seen, that from the point of news value, the fight demanded more space than did the death of the poet, although in intrinsic importance the positions were reversed. When this St. Paul clergyman changes the inclinations and desires of the people generally, then it will be in order to condemn the newspapers, if in the presentation of news, they run counter to those desires.
The press is a mirror in which are reflected popular feeling and inclinations.

THE NEW YORK CANALS.

A convention which is to be held at Buffalo next month will discuss a subject which must interest all the cities on the great lakes, in view of its intimate relation to the great waterway from Duluth to Buffalo. It will be a celebration of the New York canal centennial. The Buffalo Express says that though the celebration of the work that the state canals have done is the declared object of the meeting, the future of the canals is very largely dependent on the sentiment shown at this convention.

According to the same paper many sincere friends of the canals are discouraged and given to declaring that they can never be brought back to their former state of usefulness, or, indeed, made to pay running expenses. Still,
the old canal men who believe in the state waterways, but are not now directly interested in them, are ready to join enthusiastically in any effort to restate them. The canals are worth saving and they must be saved. The coming convention is to set on foot a new movement in that direction. The work will be easy if the convention develops the enthusiasm it should.

There seems to be no disagreements to the nature of the aid to be asked from the state. "Give us two feet more water and we can make money at two cents a bushel," say the boatmen. "This will make it impossible for the railroads ever to undermine us again." So the work of the convention that looks to the future of the canals is to be wholly in one direction—two feet more of water.

The Express concludes: "No side-issue will be allowed to detract from the main question, no additional demands will be put on to load it down. Who doubts that a sentiment will be developed on these lines that will secure the necessary appropriations?" The people of Duluth and of the Northwest will watch the outcome of this convention with interest, because any improvement of the New York canals cannot fail to benefit this section of the country.

NELSON'S STRENGTH.
Knut Nelson is making a vigorous campaign in the southwestern part of the state at present, and all the reports agree in stating that never has any gubernatorial candidate in Minnesota aroused so much enthusiasm. The people recognize in Mr. Nelson one who is in sympathy with them, and who can be depended upon to insist upon legislation in their interest and to veto any measures that would be to their injury.

The Scandinavians, who were led away by the calamity howlers into the Alliance ranks two years ago, are returning in droves to the Republican ranks, and are forming Nelson clubs in all parts of the state. They have known Mr. Nelson for many years as a faithful and able representative, and when they compare him with such a political mountebank as Ignatius Donnelly, who is now leading the Populists' forlorn hope, it is not strange that they should decide in favor of the Republican candidate.

Mr. Nelson's strength, however, does not lie solely among the Scandinavian element of the population. Though born in a foreign land, he is intensely American and has fought to defend the flag of his adopted land and to prevent the dismemberment of the Union. In anything that goes to make a true and loyal American he is not lacking. He is likewise sound upon all the principles of the party to which he belongs. He will bring out every Republican vote in Minnesota this fall, and the result will be his election by the largest plurality ever received by a gubernatorial candidate in this state.

FACTS ABOUT WISCONSIN.

Governor Peck will be one of the speakers at the barbecue at South Superior this afternoon. He will no doubt claim that Wisconsin is going Democratic this fall and he will be elected.
The governor has a reputation as a humorist which must be maintained at any cost.

But those who listen to the governor's claim should not forget these facts:
Although Governor Peck two years ago had over 28,000 plurality over his Republican opponent, yet he had a total vote of only 160,338, whereas Harrison in 1888 received for president 176,553 votes.

In other words, the total vote in which Peck was chosen was nearly 40,000 short of the vote in a presidential year. He was elected because many thousand Republican voters stayed at home on election day on account of over-confidence.
They will all be at the polls this year,
and Wisconsin will give an old-time Republican plurality.

The News quotes Judge Fleming, of Bainbridge, as saying that President Harrison will be re-elected, and then insinuates that the judge is working for Judge Searle's election. Perhaps he is,
but he will not tire himself very much in an effort to elect Judge Searle.
Neither will the other Republican leaders in Crow Wing district. They cannot be led by the nose by the Republican bosses, as the bosses have found out to their sorrow in past years.

Judging from the large smile which Tammany now wears, Mr. Cleveland must have promised that body the patronage of New York state, in the event of his election. In return he probably demanded support now and an other nomination four years hence.

There is no foundation for the assertion that a protective tariff causes strikes.
Such an assert is an insult to the intelligence of the people. If the statement were correct, why were there 1740 less strikes in New York state in 1891 than there were in 1890?

There was a big Republican rally at Elwood, Ind., yesterday to celebrate the opening of a great tin plate factory there.
The factory has orders ahead for many car loads of tin plate. The tin plate liar has been pretty effectually squelched lately.

"If we can only get the niggers we are all right," says Col. Clark, of Texas, one of the Democratic candidates for governor. This will cause the New York Sun to shout with added emphasis, "Down with the force bill! No negro domination!"

The German government has decided to do away with white horses in the army. This is no doubt in deference to the feelings of the girls with the sunkissed locks who admire the young lieutenants.

Some of the sports who went to New Orleans would drink nothing but wine on the way down South. Water was good enough on the return trip.

A Pennsylvania minister has just accepted a call to another church at $700 less salary and against the unanimous wish of his present parish. So far his sanity is unquestioned.

Miss Phoebe Cousins has arranged to write syndicate letter from Chicago during the World's fair. The lady managers may expect to be well roasted by Phoebe's scathing pen.

The Democratic papers are shouting to Cleveland to "make it short." But how do they expect that Grover can get a whole encyclopedia in a half column of space?

The Populists did not poll one solitary vote in Vermont. Evidently the voters of Vermont are very sensible people.
They do not believe in the calamity howl.

Monday's election in Maine was the first held under the Australian ballot system, and to it may be ascribed a part of the decrease in the total vote.

Senator Carlisle has discovered that Massachusetts is a doubtful state. Why does not the senator also include Maine
in his doubtful list?

The Democrat that can extract any comfort out of the elections in Maine and Vermont is certainly of a very hopeful temperament.

There is no indication that one Isaac
P. Gray, of Indiana, has been placated yet.

It seems that Columbus has nine birthplaces. This beats Homer's record.

A Prisoner Ill-Treated.

The most cruel case of inhuman treatment of a prisoner was witnessed by myself and a friend late Monday night. It seems there was some trouble in a cheap lodging house on First avenue west and Superior street, in which a man was badly beaten and cut about the head.
Blood was pouring out of the gashes and curs, and yet that man was held there, in the cold night air, for a half hour or more, no attention being paid to his condition or arrangements made for his comfort or medical attention.

Is this the manner in which prisoners are treated in this part of the country?
Neglect of this kind is unheard of in the East. The attention of the mayor and public in general should be called to this case and something done for the better treatment of prisoners. A TOURIST.
Duluth, Sept. 14.

Governor Boies, of Iowa.

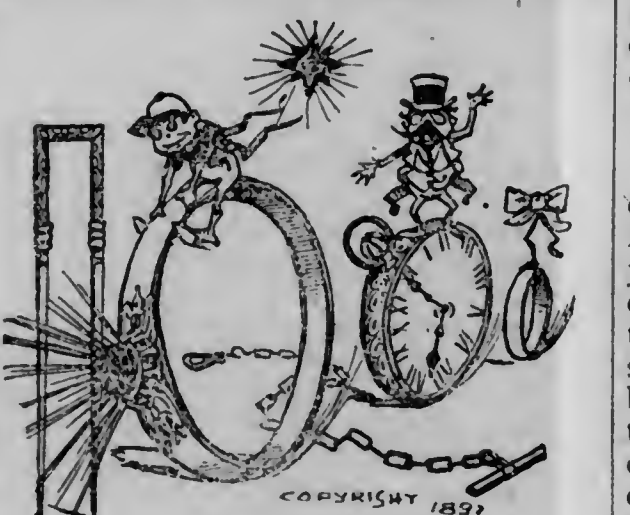

To the Editor of The Herald:
You say editorially in Tuesday evening's issue that "Governor Boies seems to have dropped out of sight entirely."
This may be your view of the case, and of the noble governor of Iowa, but if you don't find him the liveliest corpse before the eyes of Iowa, an Iowa friend temporarily sojourning within your gates misses his guess. Governor Boies is already booked for five speeches per week in the Iowa campaign, and when he speaks it is not to hundreds but to thousands. We knew him one time to speak in an Iowa town on the same day of two circuits, and he had a bigger crowd than both the shows. His voice will be heard in the land until "the cruel war is over." He is the hardest man the Republicans of Iowa have to contend with in all campaigns, and if he makes a thorough canvass of the state, as we know he will, you can safely put the former old reliable Republican state of Iowa in the Cleveland column. Governor Boies is one of the most thoroughly loved men in Iowa, and his face is an affidavit in itself.

No, Governor Boies has not dropped out of sight, as you will perceive as the canvass progresses. He is one of the most conspicuous men in national politics today, and he will yet be president of the United States if he lives.

HARD MONTH FOR BABIES.

Fatalities as Many Now as in Midsummer.

After Effects of Heat and the Results of Changing Weather.

Mothers Who Now Find it Necessary to Wean Their Infants.

September is as hard a month as August for infants. In Chicago last year 1205 babies died in August and 1002 in September.

The ill effects of the intense August heat are far-reaching. Little ones who have had a touch of the summer disease are often wasted from lack of nourishment, and the impairment of the nutritious process at a very important time in the development not infrequently produces scrofula and rachitis and other diseases.

No summer for years has seen so many deaths of little children in this state, and there was never more sickness among children in Duluth.

As cool weather comes on children require the most wholesome, nourishing and palatable diet possible, and lactated food should be in the hands of every mother. Sudden changes of the atmosphere are dangerous above all things to infants whose digestive apparatus is out of order, and the use of lactated food, the physicians say, is especially to be commended because of its corrective influence in cases of irritability of the stomach.

Then, too, the mother who has toiled through the summer trying hard to nurse her child, but growing weak and losing her own appetite until she is nearly worn out, and finds now that she must wean her infant, can do it as thousands of mothers have done it before upon lactated food.

The infant will like it and will grow strong and happy upon it. Its composition is simply this: Its basis is sugar of milk, with it is combined the digestive elements of wheat, barley and oats, producing a pure food which meets every requirement of the growing child.

THE SECOND CONGRESS.

Duluth Real Estate Men Preparing to Go to Buffalo.

The real estate men of Duluth are making arrangements to attend the second congress of the National Real Estate association to be held at Buffalo, Oct. 4, 5 and 6, and it is believed that a sufficient number can be secured to go from Duluth so that a special car may be taken. A round trip rate of less than $8 will be made from Chicago to Buffalo.
An exchange was organized at St. Paul Monday and it is quite probable that the Duluth and Superior delegations will go to St. Paul and join the delegation from that city. They will then proceed to Chicago, picking up delegates along the route and by the time that city is reached it is expected that the delegations will have grown so in numbers that a special train can be taken right through to Buffalo.

A Theatrical Wedding.
A large number of Duluthians went over to Superior last evening to see
"Niobe at the Grand," many of them having failed to attend the performance here. It is unnecessary to say that all were greatly pleased.

An interesting event took place in the company last evening, being nothing less than the marriage of two members of the company, Miss Ruth Hamilton and Mr. James Lackaye. The ceremony was performed at the Tower hotel and a wedding supper was afterward served.
Miss Ruth Hamilton takes the part of Caroline Dunn, the wife, and is a handsome woman. Mr. Lackaye appears as Parker Silox.

Some Lumbering Matters.
The Cranberry Lumber company has saved and piled 7,000,000 of the 10,000-Co feet of lumber which was sold by them about three months ago to the Export Lumber company, of New York.
This lumber nearly all goes to South America and will be used in the trade there.

Mitchell & McClure will put on a night crew this week and commence running twenty-four hours per day.
McClure & Ring's new planing mill which is being built to dress lumber for the Cranberry Lumber company will be completed by October. It will be one of the best mills at the head of the lakes.

The Plaintiff Won.
Judge Brown filed his findings yesterday in the case of William H. Alden vs.
Albert Lebrun et al, giving the plaintiff judgment for $1236. Duncan McEach-ern entered on section 24, 58-13 and contracted with Lebrun to hold his homestead and prove up. He furnished Lebrun $264 for expenses and made a contract by which the land was to be deeded to McEachern after proving up or $150 paid. The plaintiff was the assignee of McEachern's contract.

Found Hagerty's Mother.
A reporter of the Whig of Kingston,
Can., yesterday found the mother of Michael Hagerty, who was murdered by Frank Houck on Sept. 6 at West Duluth. She is a Mrs. Parsons, living there, and is a widow in moderate circumstances. She had not heard from her son in eleven years and was greatly overcome by the news of his sad fate.

The "Fast Mail."
The "Fast Mail" is not changed in the least from what it was when here

INTO THE RIVER.

St. Louis Bridge Fallen and Four Men Were Hurt.
The scaffolding of the span of the Terminal Belt Line bridge across the St. Louis river near St. Louis was torn away by a tug yesterday at noon and the whole bridge precipitated to the water.
Four men who were at work on the bridge and ran into and broke one of the guy lines and in an instant the huge structure of steel cords and false work tumbled and fell into the river.
The loss will be about $10,000 and will fall on the King Bridge company unless the tug line can be made to pay part of it. The accident will delay the completion of the bridge three or four weeks and will probably not be ready when the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road is completed. It is possible that the opening of the road and the shipping of ore will be delayed a month or six weeks.

THE MAGIC NAME!

THE MAGIC NAME!

LOCATED ON SOLID IRON!

VIRGINIA!

LOCATED ON SOLID IRON!

THE NEW CITY ON THE MESABA RANGE.

THE GREATEST PURE IRON ORE DEPOSITS KNOWN TO THE WORLD ON ALL SIDES OF THIS TOWN.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY HAS COME!

THE SALE OF LOTS IN VIRGINIA WILL TAKE PLACE

FRIDAY, SEPT. 16, AT 2 O'CLOCK P. M.

And Continue During the Evening, at Old Stock Exchange Rooms, near First National Bank.

Read a list of a few of the mines that surround Virginia and will pay daily tribute to her future growth:

Mesaba Mountain, Ohio, Virginia, New England, Lone Jack, Higgins, Wyoming, Ronchleau, Lincoln, Wymer, and Other Mines.

A man seeking an excellent business location or opening, this is the chance of his life. Never was a new town started with such a positive future assured for it as has Virginia. A system of water works for the town is in course of construction. A large bank has already been organized. There will be two railroads running into Virginia---the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern and the Duluth & Iron Range roads.

CURIAL WILL RUN.

Another Candidate Enters the Field in the Sixth Congressional District.

Edward L. Curial, of Anoka, Nominated by the Prohibitionists Yesterday Afternoon.

Sentiment in Favor of Endorsing Parsons But It Was Not Strong Enough.

Edward L. Curial, of Anoka, was placed in nomination yesterday by the Prohibitionists of the Sixth congressional district. There was a well defined movement in favor of endorsing A. C. Parsons, the People's party nominee, he being said to be a thorough Prohibitionist in principle, but it was not strong enough to carry. Mr. Parsons was present among the spectators and was evidently in expectation of securing an endorsement. The attendance at the convention was very light and a stranger would have been justified in assuming that it was a revival meeting rather than a political convention. Rev. James Pinkham, who was the Prohibition candidate for governor two years ago, was on hand and seemed to be there in the capacity of a dictator, although he protested that he was not and only "volunteered" information. But he made the old mistake of protesting so much that the impression was conveyed that he must have felt somewhat guilty.

Chairman Z. D. Scott, of the congressional committee, called the convention to order and after the reading of the call C. E. Shannon was made temporary chairman and Rev. E. E. Tyson temporary chairman. The appointment of a committee on credentials was moved and E. O. Sharpe, U. Burnham and C. S. Crosser were appointed. Z. D. Scott, of Duluth, W. G. Bilbee, of West Duluth and J. M. Douglas, of Anoka, were named a committee on resolutions. A motion was adopted entitling all voting Prohibitionists in the room to be entitled to sit as delegates.

The resolutions as reported and adopted were nearly exact counterparts of the national Prohibition platforms. The tariff and the liquor planks are the interesting. The former reads: "Tariff should be levied only as a defense against foreign governments which levy upon or bar out our products from their markets, revenue being incidental. The residue of means necessary to an economical administration of the government should be raised by a graduated income tax."

The liquor plank is: "That for the protection of life, liberty and property, the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes should be completely suppressed, and we declare that taxation or license of this criminal business in any form is an alliance of government with criminals for felonious purposes, a fraud upon the victims and an abrogation of the ordained use of civil government."

Majority and minority reports were presented on the financial question. The minority report which recommended the insertion of a plank was adopted despite a protest that the delegates in the convention were hardly competent to dispose of so great a problem. The plank as adopted is as follows:

"The circulating medium of the country may rightly consist of gold, silver and paper. It should all be of legal tender, and sufficient in quantity to meet the demands of business and labor. No private individual or corporation should be allowed to make any profit through using it; neither should it be possible for any man or combination of men to produce an artificial scarcity and secure exorbitant rates of interest."

The committee on credentials reported and a motion to make the temporary organization permanent was carried. The chair was here asked whether it was proper procedure for a convention to adopt resolutions before effecting a permanent organization. Chairman Shannon looked up at the ceiling a moment and then smiled remarking that according to the precedent established by a recent Republican convention in St. Louis county, a convention can do anything it wants to. A general laugh went up at this and business was proceeded with. I. M. Douglas, V. A. Burnham and H. G. Bilbee were appointed as a committee to recommend a candidate for congress.

After they had retired Rev. Mr. Pinkham was called upon for a speech and made quite a lengthy address. He roared the license laws of the state and declared them to be the work of the Republican party. He also paid his compliments to the Democrats saying that he could not see what they were here for anyway. Immediately afterward he launched into a good Democratic tariff argument as has been heard in Duluth for some time. He claimed that the tariff is paid by the poor man, the consumer, and there was no denying Mr. Pinkham, for he spoke from experience, having imported and sold goods himself. He declared that no man ought to be taxed on his imaginary possessions, on the necessities of life, but only on his actual possessions.

Chairman Douglas reported for the committee on nomination, saying that it had been decided to recommend the name of Edward L. Curial, of Anoka. The name of A. C. Parsons, he said, had been suggested, but the majority of the committee had thought best not to go outside of the party for a candidate. Mr. Douglas then started out on a laudatory speech, commending Mr. Curial's capabilities, but whether this was a part of the report or a nominating speech did not develop.

E. E. Tyson moved that the minority report be adopted. The chair did not understand that there was any, and Mr. Tyson explained that it had been reported by Chairman Douglas, that Mr. Parsons' name had been suggested and that a majority agreed on Mr. Curial.

He therefore supposed that this mention was intended as a minority report.

Rev. Mr. Pinkham bobbed up here to "give a little information." He said that there was no minority report, that the committee only mentioned incidentally that Mr. Parsons had been suggested. He then branched off into a eulogy of Mr. Curial, not intended to affect the action of the convention, but "only to give some information." He said there was probably not much hope of electing him, but the party should maintain its principles in defeat as well as in victory.

Mr. Tyson wanted, however, to vote for someone who had a chance of being elected. He said Mr. Parsons was a man whom he knew to be of Prohibition principles, and in addition he was from Duluth, where the candidate ought to come from.

Rev. E. O. Sharpe had been quiet but arose at this point and read from a copy of the People's party platform, the following: "While our sympathies as a party of reform are naturally upon the side of every proposition which tends to make men intelligent, virtuous and temperate, we nevertheless regard these questions, important as they are, as secondary to the great issues now pending for solution." Mr. Sharpe declared that Mr. Parsons stands on that platform and therefore the Prohibition party could not accept him. "We want a man," said he, "who will consider virtue, intelligence and temperance as primary issues."

That settled it. Mr. Curial was nominated with only the dissenting vote of Mr. Tyson. J. M. Douglas thanked the convention on behalf of Mr. Curial for the honor. The chairman was authorized to appoint a congressional committee.

CALVARY CEMETERY.

The New Roman Catholic Burying Place on the Howard Road.

Calvary cemetery, the Roman Catholic burying place, is rapidly nearing completion and interments are being made whenever occasion requires. The picket fence surrounding the grounds, which are forty acres in extent, is finished and the archway over the main entrance is also ready. The grounds were beautifully laid out by Landscape Architect A. W. Spalding, of Minneapolis. The general form of the central plot is that of a Maltese cross, but every space is utilized. Immediately facing the main gateway in a central plot, known as Division I, there is a representation of the memorable scene on Calvary, and this particular division is reserved for the burial of priests and sisters of the church. On either side, and a little to the front, are two large divisions, totally given over to flowers and small plants. A short distance from the entrance and overlooking division I is the last resting place of John J. Costello, whose body was the first to be interred in the grounds. It was placed to rest there July 22, 1892, in division H, block 23, and lots 4 and 5. The cemetery is a beautiful one and is six miles from Duluth, on the old Howard and Gnesen road, which is in very good condition.

TO BUILD A CITY.

The Story That Carnegie is to Start a Town Near Duluth is Repeated.

To Begin With a Population of 25,000 and to be Doubled in Two Years.

Mr. Frick Said to Have Been Looking Over the Ground at Sucker River.

The Superior Call last night published a letter from F. O. Bennett, formerly its managing editor but now residing in Chicago, in which he professes to give some details about the great manufacturing town which rumor has credited Andrew Carnegie with intending to establish at the head of Lake Superior. He claims that his informant is a reliable man who knows what he is talking about and is one of a dozen multi-millionaires who have supreme confidence in the success and profit of the vast enterprise which is in progress of formation. He adds:

It is now definitely known and announced by my informant, who is reliable in every way, that Andrew Carnegie has for two years or more had his eye on the head of the lake as the natural site for the great and representative American manufacturing metropolis, and that it has been his hobby to found there an industrial city similar in scope to the wonderful Chicago suburb of Pullman, and one which should be under the civil and municipal control and direction of Andrew Carnegie or his company.

These ideas of Mr. Carnegie's were largely the outgrowth and may entirely be attributed to the influence of reports made by ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, through Standard Oil company sources, regarding the vast natural wealth and advantages of the Superior region. Mr. Campbell has long maintained that in the course of a comparatively short time this would be one of the richest productive centers of the continent and that its interest, particularly in ores, grain and timber, in manufactured products and in freight rates to the seaboard and interior of the Northwest, would have a predominating influence upon the country's commerce. He also clearly foresaw and maintained that on the Superior plateau would rise the newest if not the last great city, which to the balance of the country appears far inland, but which practically is on tide-water.

Through the intermediary of Messrs. Frick and Frick, Mr. Carnegie investigated these vast prospects, and the result is that he is fully determined to found a manufacturing city at or near Superior. Of course it would never do at this stage of the enterprise to state exactly where the site determined upon is located, but the interested parties have decided where the new city is to be. There will be two companies in the operations. For the object of keeping control of the new city Mr. Carnegie will contribute the capital necessary for the site and buildings of a city at least 25,000 people and the other capitalists named will be interested in the various industries and incorporated in another company, which will operate in the suburbs and in the lands adjacent to the city site.

Upon his return to Pittsburgh Manager Frick found waiting him a cablegram from Mr. Carnegie instructing him to proceed forthwith in organizing and carrying out the enterprise, the details of which took him to the Northwest and which have in the main long been understood as contemplated by Mr. Carnegie. The new city will be named Carnegie in honor of its founder.

It is stated that the utilization of the water power of the St. Louis river is also contemplated. Next spring, it is asserted, will see the stupendous project under full headway. The city will start with a population of 25,000 and it is expected that in two years the population will be at least 50,000. The name of the parent company will be the Carnegie Land association, and, as stated, a dozen millionaires are directly interested in the project. Aside from railroad extensions and immense coal and iron docks, furnaces and reduction works, iron mills, foundries and factories, it is the intention of the promoters to build a fleet of iron steamers which will ply between Carnegie and Chicago and Carnegie and Buffalo, furnishing the lowest possible freight rates.

Among those interested in some of the mammoth deals growing out of the location of Carnegie are President McCleod, of the Reading road; Chauncey M. Depew, of the New York Central; President Hill, of the Great Northern; ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, and the Illinois Steel works. Mr. Carnegie, it is said, will make the new city in the Northwest the crowning effort of his life. As at Pullman, the entire city will be owned by the Carnegie Land association. In this way it is expected that all strikers and objectionable persons can be banished from the town because they will not be allowed to own their own homes, and all leases can be terminated at the option of the company at the expiration of ten days.

Mr. Carnegie will carry out in his northern pet city some of the ideas which he has had for many years. The buildings will be of the very best material, and sanitary and social conditions will be as nearly perfect as possible. He will erect magnificent libraries, construct parks and found hospitals at his own expense, carrying out his whims in this direction without regard to expense.

Whether this story is correct or not, The Herald is not prepared to say. Certainly there are several circumstances which occurred recently that lend confirmation to it. It is said that when Mr. Frick and party recently visited this section they did not go to the Mesaba range, as was stated at the time. They spent the greater portion of two days between Duluth and Two Harbors, and rumor says they were viewing the land in the vicinity of Sucker Point, with what object is not known. The presence of a party of surveyors there at this time is also a circumstance worthy of note in this connection. The town of Carnegie, if it materializes, is not unlikely to be at Sucker Point.

The Mason Building. Work on the Mason building at the corner of First street and Third avenue west commenced this morning. Stryker, Manley & Buck have the matter in charge and Vaddell & Willoughby are the architects. The building will cost about $30,000 and will be of brick, stone and iron, three stories high, with a ground size of 50 by 110 feet. The lower floors will be given over to stores and the upper floors to offices and flats. It will be completed this year or by next spring.

The Morning's Drunks. John Horgan, Henry Mason and Jessie L. Ames were three drunks who went on the hill for ten days from the municipal court. Judge Powell decreed that George Gerry and Matt Otto, laborers from Lakeside, and Dan Sullivan, a deckhand on the City of Traverse, would be better out of the city than in it and he suspended their sentence and told them to return to their work, which they did at once. Thomas Mason, who smashed Officer Rosck's nose the other day, was brought into court. His case was set for Monday and his bail at $25.

THEY WILL RETIRE

Two Distinguished Men Who Say They Have Had Enough of Public Life.

After Thirty-six Years in Congress Senator Henry L. Dawes Intends to Retire.

Congressman Blount, of Georgia, After Serving Ten Terms, Will Also Withdraw.

The simultaneous announcements of Senator Dawes and Congressman Blount that they will not accept re-election, but will retire at the end of their present terms, is a significant event. The men of the war era in congress are rapidly lessening. Senator Dawes' term ends next March, when he will be in his seventy-seventh year and at the end of thirty-six years in congress. Congressman Blount, of Georgia, is but fifty-five years old, but has served continuously in the house for ten terms.

Henry Laurens Dawes was born Oct. 30, 1816, in Cummington, Mass., was graduated at Yale in 1839, and after working some time as teacher and editor was admitted to the bar in 1842. He served in the legislature from 1848 to 1850, was then elected to the state senate, was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1853, and was elected to congress in 1856. Entering the Thirty-seventh congress as a new member at the age of forty-one, he rose so rapidly that he soon took rank as one of the leaders of the house.

His record for the next sixteen years is an important part of the history of the country. It would be difficult to name any great fiscal, economic or humanitarian legislation of the nine congresses from 1857 to 1873 which does not bear the marks of his workmanship. He was the author of many tariff measures, and as chairman of the committee on ways and means shaped all legislation of that kind for many years. He declined a re-election to the Forty-fourth congress and was immediately chosen to succeed Charles Sumner in the senate, that statesman's unexpected term having been filled by William B. Washburn.

On March 4, 1875, Mr. Dawes ended eighteen years' continuous service in the house and took his seat in the senate, where his eighteen years of continuous service are soon to end. Among the many great works for which he is noted his thorough reform of the system of dealing with the Indians has perhaps received the highest praise. He was appointed on a special committee to investigate the disturbances in the Indian territory, and his report thereon at once took rank as a political and governmental classic. He drew up and secured the passage of bills allotting lands in severalty to Indians, securing the treaty rights and educational and property interests of the Sioux and making the Indians amenable to the general criminal laws. The whole existing system of Indian education is the result of laws drafted by Senator Dawes.

He has withal done something in literature and applied science, and in conjunction with Professor Cleveland Abbe in 1880 he began the work which resulted in the present "weather bulletin." In short, it is but simple justice to say that among the working legislators of this age Senator Dawes has no superior, though he is not specially noted as an orator. His daughter, Anne, has also gained some reputation as a writer.

James H. Blount was born in Georgia, Sept. 12, 1837, and little was known of him outside the city of his residence—Macon—until he was elected to congress in 1872.

It was an era of political chaos in the south. All sorts of schemes of relief were suggested, and the voters in a sort of desperation were calling for any new leader who offered himself. At such times it too often happens that men of brilliant talents, but strangely deficient in power, the fact that Mr. Blount soon proved himself a safe and cautious, though progressive legislator, had much to do with the firm hold he soon secured on his constituents.

He began his congressional career in the Forty-third congress, was successively elected to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first and Fifty-second, and with the close of the Fifty-second—next March—his public life will close by his own act. It was tacitly understood in the Sixth Georgia district in 1890 that Mr. Blount would make that his last race for congress, and his opponents hinted that he wanted to go higher—to be governor and then United States senator. Be that as it may, he declared that ten successive elections to congress more than gratified his ambition.

Many amusing stories are told of Mr. Blount's talents in electioneering. He did not exactly know every voter in his district, but he did know every man of local influence, and knew his tastes and peculiarities. The story of his buying a lot of beaver traps at a job lot sale and sending them to a trapper constituent is an old one among Georgians, and it is scarcely necessary to add that every man of "trapper" tendencies voted for him on all possible occasions.

Where Women Do as They Please. The independence of Barrenese women is remarkable. They manage their own affairs, have stalls in the bazaar, with which no one interferes, marry when they choose and divorce their husbands as soon as they please. No jealous veils cover their faces; no melancholy seclusion prevents them from mixing with the male sex. They first dance and laugh with as many admirers as they choose, and last of all they smoke—not dainty cigarettes on the sly, taking a whiff while they read the latest French novel, as their European sisters do; no, but cigars—cigars longer than men use in Europe; cigars a foot long and two inches in circumference, the price about two cents, and they smoke them all day.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

Carriages fitted up with electric lamps were used by speakers during the late English election.

A patent has been lately granted for a machine for welding the spokes of metal wheels to their felloes by electricity.

If an electrified glass rod is carried near a jet of water falling in the form of spray, the jet will collect itself and fall more homogeneously. When the rod is taken away again the spraying will resume.

The number of incandescent lamps made in the United States is about 50,000 per day, or 15,000,000 per year, with an increase of about 3,000,000 per year. The average yearly profits from this industry is nearly $7,500,000.

The flash light for signals on Mount Washington is a success. Signals have been read distinctly at Portland, a distance by air line of eighty-five miles, and the messages were proved by telegraphic communication.

An Indiana man has invented an electric alarm system, arranged to be attached to all bottles or receptacles in an apothecary shop containing poisonous mixtures, so that when one of them is moved a gong strikes and warns the clerk.

A St. Petersburg man has invented a clock with a phonograph attachment, the dial of which is made to represent a human face, from the mouth of which announcements of the hours are made, as well as any directions that may be left with it.

FIVE-DOLLAR RATE

Its Extension Limited to October 1st—Those Desiring It Must Avail Themselves of It Now.

Mrs. Annie Ierland Describes the Result in Her Case of Neglected Catarrh.

The physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute make certain and distinct claims as to their superior skill as specialists and the thorough and successful character of their methods. They state that they are prepared by education, facilities, training and experience to cure diseases that have long resisted the ordinary methods. They recognize the right of those interested in determining the value of their claims to have an opportunity at a small expense. Therefore:

ALL PATIENTS UNDER TREATMENT OR PLACING THEMSELVES UNDER TREATMENT (EITHER AT THEIR OFFICE OR BY LETTER) BEFORE OCTOBER 1st, WILL BE TREATED UNTIL CURED AT THE RATE OF $5.00 A MONTH. THIS INCLUDES CONSULTATION, EXAMINATION, TREATMENT AND MEDICINE FOR ALL PATIENTS AND FOR ALL DISEASES.

CATARRH AND SLEEPLESSNESS.

Local Evidence Which Should be Investigated by Interested People.

[One of the most common and annoying effects of catarrh is a continual dripping in the back part of the throat, which is especially noticed while lying down in bed.]

A person so affected will drop off to sleep, only to awake presently from the irritating trouble. Coughing follows, and if slumber returns the morning finds the sufferer unfreshed and worn out. The food taken into the stomach decomposes, gas is formed, causing bloating and offensive eructations. Headaches and other pains result.]

Mrs. Annie Ierland, in speaking of her experience with the physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute, says: "For ten years I have had a chronic catarrh, my sufferings were something fearful. I often prayed for death to come and end my sufferings."

"I would not get such fearful headaches that I could not bear a light in the room. To have anyone speak to me would cause a fit of vomiting and my head to ache until great rigors would form on my forehead, and the perspiration would break out all over my body."

"Mucus dropped into my throat day and night, compelling me to hawk and raise all the time in order to keep it from filling up my throat and choking me. In the morning I felt writhed, my mouth was coated with slime and I had no appetite. Often I was unable to attend to my household duties. I coughed, my throat was sore, my eyes were weak and watered easily, my nose would stop up so I could not breathe through it. There were singing noises in my ears and my memory commenced to fail. If I laid anything down and left it when I wanted it again I could not remember where I had placed it. My trouble extended to all the organs of the body, and would belch up sour-smelling gas or wind. My stomach felt so tender I could not bear the weight of my clothes against it.

"I was treated by a number of doctors, one said I had female weakness; another told me that in order to get relief I must have all my teeth pulled out. But my condition did not improve. Finally I consulted Dr. Drenning, of the Copeland Medical Institute. After a thorough examination Dr. Drenning told me my trouble was catarrh of the head, throat and stomach and treated me for it."

"Since being treated my head has not ached once, and I do my own work. I feel better than I have felt in a great many years. I feel so grateful to the physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute, for they have been wonderfully successful in my case. I will be pleased to talk to anyone about my case who will call on me at my home, No. 516 Fourth avenue west."

NOTABLE CREDENTIALS. Dr. Copeland is a graduate of the Bellevue Hospital Medical College of New York city; was president of his class in that famous institution, and, after thorough hospital training and experience, devoted his entire time and attention to the special lines of practice named below. Passed through a similar course, Dr. Hunt and Dr. Drenning also devote themselves exclusively to the treatment of these specialties. Years of experience in their special lines, preceded by extensive hospital work, have fitted them in a notable degree for the practice of their profession.

Hosiery and Corsets

AT RARE BARGAINS.

LADIES

do you realize that when you buy of this retailer, you are paying three times unnecessary profits? The manufacturer sells to the commission house, the latter to the jobber, and the jobber in turn sells to the retail merchant. You must pay the manufacturer a profit first, and then pay each of the subsequent handlers a profit, not infrequently paying two profits to the retailer. The is a responsible syndicate which sells direct to the consumer. By investing in manufacturers' samples and the stocks of insolvent manufacturers, in connection with our regular commission holdings, we are able to sell to the consumer direct at the commission price, which is but one remove from the manufacturer's.

We offer the following bargains in hosiery: Ladies' extra length, full regular made, fast black and seamless hose, very fine gauge, (retailing everywhere at 50 cents) we will sell at 25 cents per pair in quantities of one-half dozen, or for $1.38.

This exceptional offer is made merely to introduce our name in your section. Send 15 cents additional and we will pay express charges at special rates secured by us for the benefit of our patrons.

We are positively offering as a leader the cheapest corset for the money in the world. The Jemess Tailor-Made Corset is made of heaviest crab jeans, with patent strips of gold. Made like a glove-fitting corset, boned with unbreakable stays. It retails everywhere at $1.50 and in remote sections at very much more. Our price is only 83 cents.

Send 15 cents additional to prepay express charges. Mention sizes desired in ordering hosiery or corsets. We will positively refund money if goods are not satisfactory and just as represented.

Orders must be accompanied by cash in either money order, postal note, stamps or registered letters, addressed to the

TWO MUST ANSWER

Frank Houck is Indicted for Murder in the First and Second Degrees.

Indictments Are Returned Against James Cogan as Accessory in Both Cases.

Houck is Arraigned and is Given a Day to Plead—The Boodle Case.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon found four indictments in the Houck murder case. Frank Houck for killing Michael Haggerty must answer for murder in the first degree. James Cogan is indicted as accessory thereto. For killing Jack Murphy, Houck is indicted for murder in the second degree and James Cogan is also indicted as accessory to this crime. Indictments were also returned against Lizzie Lyons and Peter Stone for selling liquor without a license and Ed Norton for keeping a house of ill fame at Stony Brook.
The grand jury is in session again this afternoon and the principal work seems to be the consideration of the aldermanic bribery cases. A large number of the aldermen are in attendance and the full jury is sitting on the matter.
Frank Houck was arraigned this afternoon on both indictments. He was given a day to plead. Phelps Martin will defend him. Thirteen other prisoners were arraigned, some pleading and others being given a day in which to make up their minds.
The jury in the case of Peter Isaakson vs. the Duluth & Winnipeg railway for $13,000 damages caused by fire, returned a verdict yesterday afternoon for $1075. In the case of Elizabeth Jarney vs. the Duluth Street railway, an action brought to recover $10,100, a verdict for the defendant was returned.

Does This Mean You?
It is wonderful how many persons injure their eyes by the use of cheap glasses, bought at haphazard and totally unsuited to them. It is like boring a hole in a sound tooth. Your hat, boots or shoes and clothes must be bought at intervals of not less than one year with the most economical. You cannot injure the person in such decisions as wearing apparel, but can totally ruin your eyes and sight by knowing nothing of the science of optics or the laws of refraction in getting glasses—therefore, do not depend upon your own judgment or trust to that of anyone else unless qualified by years of practice in this profession. Glasses unsuited to you must be changed very often, so that at the end of a short period the patient finds they have ruined their eyes or sight and have paid out more in a short period than they would have done, and saved their eyes and sight, had they consulted the proper authority. Get the glasses to suit you in the first place, and they will last you and save your eyes for from three to five, eight or ten years and will not cost you more than you would pay for a good hat or pair of shoes. Now the question remains with you whether your eyes are worth it. These remarks are called forth by the presence of Dr. Matthez at the Spalding, whose name and reputation as a scientist in his profession in the adjustment of glasses to the eyes is known and recognized in this country and in Europe. During his temporary stay in Duluth he has examined the eyes and fitted glasses to a multitude of persons. Do not lose this golden opportunity. He is at parlor "D," the Spalding, for a limited time.

Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy, is sold at all druggists. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for Heart Diseases. Mrs. Chas. Benoy, Loveland, Colo., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant Book on heart disease free.

WHEAT HAD A FALL.

The Session was Quite Dull and the Feeling Easy.
Little was done in the wheat market during the early hours of today's session except in cash and car lot wheat, which had an active demand and large sales. The lower milling grades also found a ready market. Cash wheats in store sold at 1/2c to 3/4c lower this forenoon, while track wheat of the lower grades sold about 1c higher than the same grades in store yesterday. The session after noon was quite dull and the close quiet at 1/2c to 1 1/2c lower than yesterday. The feeling was very easy at the close. Following were the closing prices:
No. 1 hard, cash 75c; September, 75c; December, 75c; May, 85c. No. 2 northern, cash, 67 1/2c; No. 3, 90c; No. 2, September, 75c; December, 74 1/2c; May, 84 1/2c. Car inspection today, 326. A FASHIONABLE AFFAIR.

Silberstein & Bondy's Fall and Winter Opening a Big Success.
The Silberstein & Bondy opening, which commenced today and continues tomorrow, is being very largely attended and if the flow of visitors is as heavy tomorrow as it was today, at least 8000 people will have passed in and out of the beautiful storerooms, which are so well known to Duluth's best people. Hoare's orchestra is furnishing the music and the various departments are decorated with a profusion of potted plants and flowers. In nearly every department the elegant stock is ahead of the needs of the city, and all branches are full and complete and far ahead of anything ever before shown here. The carpets and draperies embrace everything that recent looms or patient hand workers in finest laces could devise. A beautiful pair of Irish lace curtains, every stitch hand made, and worth $150, is shown, which, if made in this country, would cost at least $500. Then there are carpets of all grades, notably Gobelins, Wiltons, Axminsters and velvets; beautiful portieres, art squares, Smyrna rugs, fur rugs and oilcloths and crumblcloths. In the coat department is an enormous display of the new English topcoats of Kersey cloth, three-quarter length, in tans, navys and blacks. There is a fine lot of the ever popular "Watteau backs," in different styles, mixed and plain goods in all colors, and there is also a very fine line of new embroidered cloths. The famous Russian blazer coat is seen; it is a novel garment and will jump into favor. There is a great variety of fur-trimmed and fur-lined garments of squirrel, marten, chinchilla, goat, etc. Plain, fine tailor-made cloaks, capes in blacks, tans, modes and other colors are also seen. The Newmarket garment has a new wrinkle this season in a divided cape and hood and a large lot of new cloths. For children there are a lot of pretty new styles of capes and cloaks. Their fur goods department is very fine and has a number of decided novelties in all grades of furs, but the leader is the new military cape, 34 inches long which is made up in seals, astrachans, krimmers and minks. There is an elegant line of shoulder capes also.
Down stairs on the main floor every department is crowded with new goods in many of their direct importations by the firm, or choice first offerings which are snatched up by its experienced buyers in the East. Fans up to $60 each, feather novelties, high grade and shoulder length kid gloves and lots of other things in this line. In hosiery a complete new line of blacks and a bewildering array of colors, including the new "mode" tint, which is a combination of tan, brown and scarlet, is shown. Opera lengths prevail this year more than ever and the "pantella" is a new variety of hosiery beside which the longest opera length is but a dwarf. This latter "garment" is only made in black. The gents' furnishing goods department is very full and complete and entirely new. Young mothers will be pleased to know that a specialty is made of infants' layettes and a child can be furnished with everything used in the way of clothing or appliances from the hour of its birth. There is a new line of French flannels in exquisite shades and colors, and the dress goods department is too extensive for newspaper description—there are Scotch and domestic chevots, the storm sergees in all shades, colors and designs, and a very large lot of new silks and black goods. Trimmings galore and ribbons of wondrous beauty, jet and steel bodices and a well stocked notice department are some of the features of the opening which is one of the most successful ever had in Duluth or the entire Northwest.

VICTORY IS SURE.

President Clarkson's Stirring Address to the Republican League Club Delegates Today.

The Next National Campaign is to be Fought on the Labor Question.

He Thinks That Vicious or Pauper Immigration Should be Absolutely Forbidden.

Harrison and Reid Are Leaders They Can Find Pride and Victory in Following.

BUFFALO, Sept. 15.—A beautiful sunny morning greeted the National Republican league delegates this morning, and at an early hour the hotel corridors and the streets were filled with badge-bedecked delegates. The morning trains brought in a large number of delegates and at 9:30 they began to gather at Music hall. The local committee had made excellent arrangements and the delegates were seated according to the states and territories. The hall is elaborately trimmed with bunting and flags and a band stationed in a prominent place discoursed lively music. Prior to the opening, several of the delegations caused as to their choice

J. S. CLARKSON, J. S. FASSETT, for president and secretary, but the large majority were for Gen. Clarkson and Mr. Humphrey. The Pittsburg Tariff league, when it entered the hall, was loudly applauded, as were also the New York, Pennsylvania and Indiana delegations. The hour of meeting was set for 10 o'clock, but it was 11:15 when the meeting was opened by State Committee man John S. Scatcherd. Prayer was offered and then Mr. Scatcherd in a few happy remarks introduced Supreme Court Judge Albert Haight, who made a brief address of welcome. He said Buffalo Republicans were proud of the distinction offered them of having the league meet here. He looked with a great deal of amazement upon the large number of club delegates. "It was a sure omen of victory to see so many young men banding together to educate themselves and the less intelligent voter. On behalf of everybody in Buffalo, Democrat and Republican, he bade them welcome and assured them that the freedom of the city was theirs. When Buffalo hospitality was in question party lines were forgotten and the citizen of whatever political belief hastened to make welcome the stranger within the gates.

President Clarkson, on behalf of the clubs, thanked the speaker for the hearty welcome. The complete arrangements already apparent for the comfort of the visitors showed energetic work on behalf of the local committee. After the applause following the remarks had subsided, President Clarkson began the delivery of his annual address. He said in substance:

"The organization of the national league in Chickering hall in the autumn of 1887 made possible the election of a Republican president in 1888. In the changed conditions of American politics, with political parties becoming more closely matched in strength, and especially with the change from sentimental to economic issues, each party became convinced that a more detailed and more continuous plan of organization had become necessary. The Republican party saw the new condition of things first and moved forward to meet it, and thereby saved the presidential election of 1888. That it was right in its conclusion and action has been proved since both by its own success and by the fact that the Democratic party, which at first derided the league or club plan, has since the action of the Republican party imitated the better method and adopted a club plan of organization of its own.

"The league plan comprehends the fact that in the uneducated foreign vote in this country, in the illiterate vote of native and foreign born alike, are to be found the greatest fear of Republican defeat and the greatest peril to the republic itself. I am not of those who have fear of any good man or good woman who comes to the United States for the honest purpose of finding an honest home. Whoever comes with such good intention should be made welcome.

"I do believe, however, that any and all elements which come to us in foreign tongues should be more speedily educated in our language and made more thoroughly acquainted with our institutions than is now done. I believe beyond this that all vicious or pauper immigration should not be welcome nor allowed to enter in legitimate competition with our honest working people, but should be absolutely forbidden.

"The negro is already in politics and there to stay. There is no sentiment in the North which would put ignorant men in control of public affairs North or South, but never so long as the Republican party remembers Abraham Lincoln and its own origin and destiny can it give its consent to the enormous doctrine that any man may be disfranchised in this republic, because he is a Republican or because he is black. If the son of Frederick Douglass may be disfranchised today my son may be disfranchised tomorrow.

"The rising question of the time, in my question, the one on which the next national campaign is surely to be fought, is the labor question. By that time the McKinley bill will have fully demonstrated the wisdom of American policy and will have gained the approval of a majority of the American homes as the permanent policy of this republic. Next November the workmen and farmers and business men and all elements will join in striking down the declaration of the Democratic platform of 1892 in favor of free trade as the American rule, and free trade wages for the American workmen. The same good elements, I am sure, will also strike down with equal emphasis of disapproval the Democratic declaration in favor of destroying our present system of currency and finance for a return to the wretched and disastrous form of currency.

"I leave to others the discussion of general questions of the campaign. Having dealt so much at length with the league and its work I now salute the Republican National league with the hope that Republican victory is sure in November. We have in Gen. Harrison a man who has proved great and faithful in every great field of public life in America and in the distinguished editor and publicist associated with him, two leaders that even the party of Abraham Lincoln, W. S. Grant, Thaddeus Stevens and James G. Blaine may find pride and victory in following.

Gen. Clarkson was frequently interrupted by hearty applause and several times with cheers and when he finished there was prolonged cheering. The one solitary mention of President Harrison, made toward the close of the speech, was the cause of three hearty cheers.

FOUR MEN MAY DIE.

Serious Wreck on the Pennsylvania Road Last Night.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 15.—A wreck occurred about 7:30 last night on the Pennsylvania road near Princeton Junction by which thousands of dollars worth of property was destroyed or damaged, and four men so badly injured that it is thought they will die.

Two freight trains running at a high rate of speed collided, demolishing both engines and many cars, and piling the tracks high with wreckage. Traffic was delayed for over four hours. All the injured men are employees of the railroad.

A LYCHING IN PROSPECT.

One Hundred Armed Men After a Murderer.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 15.—Alonso Brookshire was secretly taken from the Lexington jail yesterday to Frenchburg for trial for murdering jailer Tipton and Deputy Sheriff Howard. The news comes from Mt. Sterling this morning that a mob of 100 armed men, armed to the teeth, left there last night for Frenchburg with the avowed purpose of lynching Brookshire this morning. They say they will not wait for night, because they have been foiled so often before.

MARKHAM NOMINATED.

Aitkin County's Sheriff Named for the Legislature.

AITKIN, Minn., Sept. 15.—[Special to The Herald.]—At the Republican convention for the Fifty-third legislative district held here today, J. M. Markham, of Aitkin county, was nominated for the legislature with very little opposition.

Geo. A. Whitney, of Wadena county, was elected temporary chairman, and Henry R. King, of Itasca county, secretary. The temporary organization was afterwards made permanent.

THE CHOLERA FLEET.

Four More Cases Reported to Have Developed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—It is reported that there are four new cases of cholera on the Scandia, and that one child on the Wyoming is suffering from a sickness which is thought to be cholera. The remainder of the fleet was in good condition up to 2 p. m.

Dr. Jenkins says the passengers of the Normanna will not be released from Fire Island until tomorrow by their request, as they prefer to wait until then and be transferred to the city by boat.

Wind brisk, northwest, clear.

The Vermont Returns.

RUTLAND, Vt., Sept. 15.—Returns of the recent election have now been received from the entire state. Fuller (Republican) for governor has 30,900; Smalley (Democrat), 19,526; Allen (Prohibition), 16,500; Fuller's plurality 10,664 and majority 18,014. Compared with 1888 it is a Republican loss of 9,662, a Democratic loss of 1 and a Prohibition gain of 278.

Shot by a Pup.

VIENNA, Sept. 15.—At Tarnopol, in Austrian Galicia, a school boy named Joahn Schwed, exasperated beyond endurance by the harshness with which he had been treated by Prof. Glowacki, shot him dead as he was leaving the classroom. Glowacki was noted for his severe treatment of the children under his charge.

Mrs. Harrison Improved.

LOON LAKE HOUSE, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Harrison passed a restless night but she is better, if anything, this morning. There has been no further accumulation of the watery matter in the lung cavity. Dr. Gardner reports that the progress of the disease has been temporarily arrested.

Lynched by a Mob.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 15.—Thomas Allison, the murderer of three men in Sullivan county, was found hanging from a tree near Dodson yesterday. He had been taken from the Dodson jail by a masked mob and lynched.

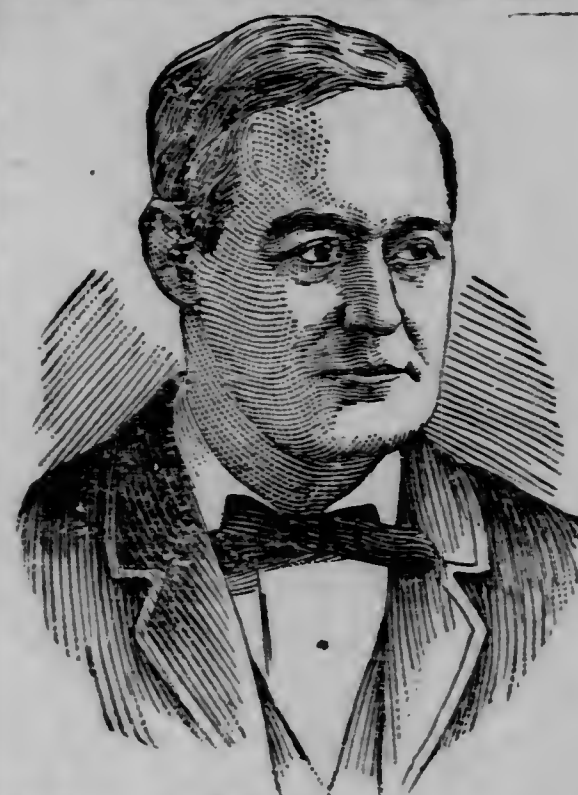

A CALAMITY HOWL

Governor Boies Again Asserts That Farming in Iowa Does Not Prove Remunerative.

He Tries to Discredit the Beneficial Effects of the Treaties of Reciprocity.

An Attempt to Convince the Farmers That These Treaties do Not Benefit Them.

CARROLL, Iowa, Sept. 15.—Governor Boies opened the Democratic campaign here this afternoon by addressing an audience of 3000 persons, mostly farmers. His speech was in reply to a recent address of Senator Allison. Governor Boies, after a few preliminary remarks, addressed himself to the tariff question, which he discussed at length. He also took up the reciprocity scheme, which he characterized as "free trade to the extent stipulated in the contract between this country and the country with which the agreement is made, accomplishing through mutual arrangements with individual nations instead of general laws that affect all nations alike."

He declared, however, that reciprocity treaties were never made to take large quantities of farm products; hence the farmer did not profit by them. Governor Boies repeated the famous statement made in his speech at the tariff reform banquet in New York in 1890, that the corn crop of Iowa had sold for $7.33 an acre, or 67 cents less than it had cost to produce it, saving nothing about the use of land on which it was grown. He then continued:

"The estimate of the cost of producing corn was based solely upon the opinion of practical farmers in our own state, and the yield per acre and the market price was taken from the most reliable statistics attainable. They presented, however, a most startling fact. They demonstrated a truth of which the farmers themselves had been ignorant, for it showed them that during those years they had been producing the most important crop raised on their farms at a heavy loss, if their labor was calculated at the price others received for similar work in other lines of business.

"There are few of you, my hearers, who do not still remember the spirit in which this great question so vital to the farmers, was met by the protective organs and members of the state. I want the farmers to realize what is true, that they of all others are the victims of a protective tariff, that it is upon them that its heaviest burdens are laid and to them that the least of its blessings are given, and notwithstanding this, if they still feel it their duty to uphold this system because they were Republicans when other issues were involved, or because their fathers before them were Republicans, this is their business not mine."

The governor then took up in turn the currency question, the federal elections bill and prohibition, closing with a review of state issues.

THE DALTON GANG CAUGHT.

Desperate Fight Between the Marshal's Posse and the Robbers.

PARIS, Tex., Sept. 15.—A dispatch from Deeming, N. M., says that Deputy Marshal Sam Williams, of Paris, has captured Bob Dalton, Grant Dalton, Amy Dalton, Sam Wings and "Three-Fingered Jack," of the Dalton gang of train robbers.

In the fight between the marshal's posse and the robbers two of the latter were killed and five captured. Three of the gang are yet at liberty. It is supposed that the gang intended to rob the Southern Pacific while on their way to the Mexican border. Marshal Williams had several fingers of his right hand shot off.

Shortly after the last raid by the outlaws, which occurred at Adair, I. T., July 14, Williams started in pursuit of the desperados. He followed them out of the territory into Kansas, thence to Colorado and New Mexico, where the capture was made. The Dalton gang is wanted in the Indian Territory, Kansas, New Mexico and California to answer to the charge of train robbery.

The rewards offered by the officials of the railroads and of the express companies robbed in Kansas and California aggregate $22,000.

Wants a Dreibund.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—The Gaulois learns from a diplomat in Rome that an offensive and defensive alliance between France and Russia was to have been signed this month, but that the signing of the treaty has been postponed owing to the desire of the pope for a dreibund formed of France, Russia and Turkey.

HE IS IN FICTION.

The Original of Charles Dickens' Inspector Bucket is Still Alive and Well.

A Pleasant Chat With One of the Characters in the "Bleak House."

How Dickens Used to Accompany Him to the Dens of Thieves and Vagabonds.

James Tuckett, formerly inspector of the detective department of Scotland Yard, London, has been making a long visit to friends in Duluth, Minn. The ex-inspector, who is now eighty-two years of age, rose from the ranks as an ordinary constable to the position which he afterward held. His work was so good that he was repeatedly promoted, and he became one of the famous "Bow Street runners" before the special department of detective police was established at Scotland Yard.

Mr. Tuckett was one of the characters in Dickens' famous story "Bleak House," where he figures as Inspector Bucket.

In a pleasant chat with a San Francisco Chronicle reporter he said: "My happiest reminiscences are connected with my association with the famous novelist, who at the time I first made his acquaintance was writing his sketches by Bow Street. The first time I saw him he was prowling around Golden square, Solo, in a suspicious manner, and I followed him and asked his business. He said he was in search of material for newspaper stories, and he thought no wilder or more prolific field could be found than in the great metropolis. He was a quiet, unassuming young man then, but he interested me very much by his flashes of wit and the evident acquaintance which he had with the sub-strata of London life.

"For years after our first meeting, and until I became inspector at Scotland Yard, he regularly met me at the station or left word where I could meet him, and together we have visited every quarter of London, from Connaught square to the slums of Limehouse hole and Ratcliffe highway, and every den and hole on the river side. At times we would enter the dens of thieves and evil characters of all kinds, and the early morning dawn would find us at my post to report, with scarcely a word said between us; but all the time, furtively glancing at his face, I could see how profoundly he was impressed by all that we both saw and heard, and I knew instinctively that he was quietly gathering material and storing it away for future use in these wonderful novels of his which have made his undying fame.

"To most men he was silent, but with me, after a tramp of eight or ten miles, when I was released from duty he, accompanying me to my home in the old Kent road, would make my flesh creep with his vivid epitome of what we had seen. Our friendship grew very strong as the years rolled on, and when fame and fortune came to him and I had ceased active duty and was a welcome guest at Gad's Hill, we would together revisit the old haunts and recall earlier days.

"The last time we were together on a tour of this kind was when he was writing the unfinished story of 'Edwin Drood,' and then he confined himself entirely to the Thames shore, on the north and south sides, below Waterloo bridge. On Wednesdays I was always relieved from duty early in the evening, and it was a custom for my good wife to have 'tripe and trotters' for supper, of which dish Dickens was particularly fond. He invariably dropped in just as the meal was ready and sat at the table with us. His pet was my little daughter Emily, now married and living in Australia."

THE FATHER OF ARBOR DAY.

Career of J. Sterling Morton, Nebraska's Democratic Leader.

Hon. Julius Sterling Morton, once governor and now the Democratic candidate for governor of Nebraska, is sometimes called the father of Arbor Day. It is very largely owing to his exertions that Nebraska advanced so rapidly in the establishment of artificial groves, now having about 250,000 acres of growing forest and some 800,000 planted trees, besides a vast area of fruit trees, grape vines, bushes and minor plants. He was born in New York state in 1832, and was graduated from Union college in 1854.

At the early age of sixteen he was engaged to be married, and soon after getting his diploma, at the age of twenty-two J. STERLING MORTON, he and the lady were wedded and at once started for Nebraska, which has since been their home. Politically he has always been a Democrat, and as a candidate has been strong with the people. He represented his state at the Philadelphia Centennial and Paris exposition, and his career as congressman and advocate of tariff reform is well known. His home is at Nebraska City.

Statistics of the Sexes.
The last census reports show that the females as compared with the males have lost relatively since 1880 in the United States as a whole, the numerical loss being 1,564 to each 100,000 males as against a relative loss in 1880 of 1,237 females to each 100,000 males. There has been a relative loss during the decade of 2,070 females to each 100,000 males in the north Atlantic division; of 1,716 females to each 100,000 males in the south Atlantic division and 1,411 females to each 100,000 males in the south central division. There has been a slight increase relatively, on the other hand, of 369 to each 100,000 males in the north central division, and 4,550 females to each 100,000 males in the western division. In nineteen states and territories there has been a relative increase of females to each 100,000 males, while in twenty-nine states and territories there has been a relative decrease of females to each 100,000 males.

Can the Prize Be Won?
A prize of 100,000 francs is bequeathed to the science section of the Institute of France for the person, of any nationality, who shall discover within ten years from the present time a means of communicating with a star and of receiving a reply.

Irresistible.

One of the many advantages of an education is displayed in the case of a negro woman who not long ago married a man of unimpeachable appearance and anything but an amiable disposition.

She had formerly been a servant, and one of the young ladies of the family with whom she had lived asked her how she ever came to marry Pompey.

"What in the world did he say to you, Dinah," she inquired, "to persuade you to marry him?"

"Law sakes, Miss Mary, chile!" ejaculated the good natured Dinah, "you know dat I couldn't mak' no answer to Pompey when he come a-cottin' ob me, cawse Pompey, he's edicated, honey, don't you see? Why, I s'aise dat he got some ob his words out de jogaify, an a whole possey of 'em out de dictionary, an so, co'se, Miss Mary, it wa'n't no use ob me tryin' to hold out against Pompey!"—Youth's Companion.

Willing Feet.

She—Why in the world does he call his feet poetic?
He—Because they go to meet er, you know.—Life.

Their Cases Somewhat Similar.

There could hardly have been a greater contrast between two men who had been clowns at school and afterward at college. The first had a tinge of gray in his hair, wrinkles on his brow and was round shouldered from long hours spent over a desk. He was trudging slowly home ward.

The second was well dressed, and when he walked had a more elastic step than the first. But he wasn't walking; he was driving as usual. There were some lines of care on his face, but altogether he looked prosperous and happy.

"That man's worth half a million," said one of the two men who had stopped to watch him drive past.

"And that man isn't worth $500," said the other, nodding toward the one who was trudging along on the other side of the street.

"I knew them when they were both poor," said the first. "Both started out to become rich, and for a year or so it seemed an even thing. Each was striving and struggling for the same end."

"I know, and one failed." He—"Both failed."

"I mean one failed to get rich," said the other. "Both failed to get rich. The other went into bankruptcy and paid ten cents on the dollar. That's how he did get rich."—Duluth Free Press.

Still Waiting.

"Waiting for dead men's shoes" is a sorry occupation. No man can follow it long and independence he may once have had. But few people are frank enough to admit that they are on that "waiting list."

"Well, Brown," said Smith, as they met for the first time in several years, "are you married yet? Did that rich old grandfather of yours leave you money?"

"Waal, no, I ain't married yet, nor ain't likely to be nutler, 's fer I kin see. Ef Grandfather Green had done as he ought ter have done I s'pose I'd been settled down in a house of my own years ago. He!"

"So he didn't leave you a cent, eh? That's too bad I declare."

"Jes' so. Puts Mary and me in 'a awful bad place. There ain't nutthin' fer us ter do now but to wait fer some o' her folks to die."—Youth's Companion.

She Colicided.

A young man with a wide brimmed straw hat on the back of his head and a look of forgiveness for everybody on his face entered a suburban car at a South Side depot yesterday afternoon, scanned the few passengers who had gone aboard and took his seat by the side of a pretty, black-eyed young woman half way down the aisle.

"I beg your pardon," he said with an engaging smile. "The car isn't full yet, but it soon will be and I think one runs less risk of getting an undesirable seat mate if one makes the selection one's self. Don't you think so?"

"Yes, sir, I do," she replied, rising up at once and taking a seat by the side of a white haired old lady on the other side of the car.—Chicago Tribune.

Society Note.

Johnny Fizzlepot accompanied his sister to a party at the residence of Colonel Percy Yenger. In accordance with the prevailing fashion the ladies were low necked dresses, very much to the astonishment of the aforesaid Johnny. Next morning at the breakfast table Johnny, being engaged in reading the morning paper, said:

"Pa, what do they mean by unanimous?"

"Unanimous, my son—well, when everybody wants the same thing, then they are said to be unanimous."

"Well, then, those ladies at the ball last night were unanimous, for they all wanted the same thing."

"What was it, my son?"

"Clothes,"—Texas Siftings.

"Well, Tommy," said the visitor, "how do you like your baby brother?"

"Oh, lots and lots—only I don't think he's very bright."

"Why not?"

Nothing to Fear.

Jimson—I tell you what it is, old boy. You ought to see Dr. Cureall about your case.

A New Internal Machine.

It was rumored not long ago that Wizard Edison, the inventor, had agreed to construct an improved infernal machine for the Emperor William—a machine capable of destroying a town at a range of thirty miles or of wiping out an army corps. This rumor has been denied most emphatically by Edison, but there was scarcely any need for him to do so, as his humanitarian principles are well known. The American tendency in the matter of invention is toward the useful and the practical. Every day brings forth its convenient inventions or improvements, of which the new sleepers recently put on its night trains by the St. Paul & Duluth railroad are excellent samples. This popular route, known as the "Duluth Short Line," is always "fast" when it comes to increased facilities or improvements in service, and it invariably has the best. Always take the Duluth Short Line when traveling between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, West Superior, Houghton and Taylors Falls. For information apply to ticket agents or Geo. W. Nervous and Chronic Diseases

Office in New York Block, cor. Tower avenue and 14th Street

West Superior, Wisconsin.

The physician in charge of this office is a graduate of the medical department of Harvard University.

YOUNG MEN Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or in a manner which the patient cannot account for. On examination it will be found that the urine deposits aropy sediment and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color will be a thin milky hue, and again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of weakness.

They will therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice that you are treading on dangerous grounds when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedies for your complaint. Then for the first time you will realize what negligence means. Our success in such cases can be best understood when we will positively declare that over 100,000 have been treated by us in different parts of the world. Call and get the benefit of our experience.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN There are many of the age of 30 to 50 who are troubled with to frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by slight smarting sensations and weakening the system in a manner which the patient cannot account for. On examination it will be found that the urine deposits aropy sediment and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color will be a thin milky hue, and again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of weakness.

LADIES Finding it not convenient to call at the office can be treated by mail by sending a full description of their case. DR. SPEER & CO., will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases. Examination and advice free. Remember the place.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it?

To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for family uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking.

Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

THE CHOCTAW WAR

Sixteen Men Are Said to Have Been Killed During the Present Trouble.

A Mob of Twenty-Eight Indians is Charged with Having Done the Work.

The Presence of United States Troops is Necessary to Prevent Further Bloodshed.

DENISON, Tex., Sept. 15.—A prominent man wires a friend here: "I have received authentic news that sixteen men have been assassinated. The killing was done by a mob of twenty-eight Indians. They started to kill Green McCurtain, our national treasurer, and a very influential man. He may be dead now. I look for killing by the wholesale within the next twenty-four or forty-eight hours at the latest. Governor Jones is on the grounds with a small force of militia, but will have a sufficient force of men in a few hours to effect arrest or kill the assassins."

"All of the present trouble in my county grows out of the recent election. The Jackson party is crying 'Fraud,' and the newspapers have worked them up to a state of frenzy. All of the election boxes are sealed up and cannot be tampered with. They will be opened in the house of representatives when the council convenes in October. Governor Jones is a fine man, and if the returns give Jackson one majority, the governor will step down and out. The report that Jackson is elected cannot be relied on, for the result is not known. The official vote will settle that. When the council meets in October it will certainly require the presence of United States troops to prevent bloodshed. The Indian policy will not cut a figure. They are nearly all Choctaws and have their sympathies with either one side or the other. Bushwhacking is the great danger. The fighting will be confined to San Rios county."

Judge J. L. Boyd, attorney general of the Chickasaw nation, is in the city. Judge Boyd regards the trouble in the Choctaw nation as serious and will certainly result in further trouble. "The end is not yet," remarked the judge. "The Choctaws are bad when they get started." As to the merits of the recent election the judge declined to express himself.

ONE HUNDRED MILLIONS.

The Western Union Increases its Capital To Divide the Surplus.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Western Union Telegraph company directors today passed a resolution increasing the capital stock $13,800,000, making the capital stock $100,000,000.

This is the first step toward the division of the surplus which has been looked for for several years, and is expected that the new stock is formally authorized at the annual meeting of stockholders on the second Wednesday of October, that the directors will immediately meet and declare a stock dividend. The usual quarterly dividend of 1 1/2 per cent was declared at the meeting.

HAYNES FOR MAYOR.

The Minneapolis Democrats Nominate the Second Ward Alderman.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 15.—The Democrats yesterday nominated James C. Haynes, at present member of the council from the Second ward, for mayor. The ballot was exciting, and the scene at times disorderly. On the informal ballot 353 votes were cast, making 177 necessary for a choice. J. C. Haynes received 171 votes, James Holbrook 140, Charles M. Foote 25, scattering 14. The first formal ballot was taken amid suppressed excitement. It resulted: Haynes 173, Holbrook 171, scattering 15. Necessary to a choice 175.

The scenes at this point became disgraceful. John Tichette, candidate for Holbrook, although second in the balloting, declared the nominee by acclamation. C. M. Foote arose to address the chair, and Tichette turned and made an ungentlemanly attack on him, throwing off his coat and acting riotously. The convention was at once in an uproar, and Tichette was seized and taken from the hall. The second formal ballot resulted in the nomination of Haynes by a vote of 184 to Holbrook's 170. Joseph P. Scallen was nominated for treasurer and Solon Armstrong for clerk.

ELOPERS WERE CAUGHT.

A Runaway Couple Captured by an Angry Father.

ABERDEEN, S. D., Sept. 15.—Miss Vanga Hayes, the 16-year-old miss, and C. Batchley, a brakeman, aged 23, both of Watertown, who eloped a week ago and have since been passing as man and wife, were apprehended by Sheriff Eisenboud and the father of Miss Hayes last evening while occupying rooms at the Occidental hotel.

They were taken completely by surprise and were badly broken up. The girl, who is very small for her age, was taken home by her angry parent, while Batchley is being held for appearance by the Codington county officer and will be prosecuted.

The couple say that they have been married, but their stories disagree so materially that no credence is placed in them. Batchley is a giant in build. He spent several days at Groten with the girl.

No Yellow Fever. MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 15.—Telegraphic inquiry came yesterday from several neighboring cities, saying it was reported that there are five cases of yellow fever in Mobile. The health officer and mayor have answered that there is no yellow fever here, and that this summer has been the healthiest in the history of the city.

Fusion in South Dakota. YANKTON, S. D., Sept. 15.—The Democratic state executive committee adjourned without effecting fusion with the Independents. The committee will meet

IT FLOODED THE TOWN.

An Artesian Well at Huron Floods the Streets.

HURON, S. D., Sept. 15.—At 2 o'clock yesterday morning an immense stream of water suddenly burst from the artesian well being drilled near the First National bank. The flow was preceded by a deep roaring sound and was heard by a policeman two blocks distant.

Fourth street and Dakota avenue were flooded for three blocks, the sewers being too small to carry off the water. There was no one at the well when the stream burst, drilling having been shut off for the night. The force of the stream was so great that efforts to fit a cap over the pipe were unsuccessful for several hours.

The well is a monster and is visited by crowds of people. It is nearly 1050 feet deep.

HAVE NOT MADE UP.

Politicians do Not Believe Hill and Cleveland Are Friends.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Politicians in Washington are still of the opinion that Cleveland and Hill have not yet arrived at an understanding. Although Hill is going to speak in Brooklyn, his intimate friends here say that he has made no deal with Cleveland. They argue that Hill is a Democrat and whether Cleveland is forced to bow to his shrine or not he would be compelled to make some outward show of support for the party nominee.

Chairman Harbry, of the Democratic national committee, in an authorized interview says that the Democrats are certain to carry Wisconsin. He also predicts success for the Democrats in other states heretofore Republican.

THE WHALEBACK WETMORE.

She Lies on an Even Keel and Can Yet be Righted.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 14.—A special from Marshfield says: The wrecked whaleback Wetmore was boarded today for the first time. She was found to have some water in her but was lying on an even keel. A number of men will be placed on her tomorrow for the purpose of throwing her cargo of coal overboard. It is thought if the weather remains favorable the vessel can be got off.

Horrible Affair.

CAMILLA, Ga., Sept. 15.—Yesterday evening a cabin on the place of Judge J. H. Scait was destroyed by fire. Two small children and their crazy grandmother were in the yard at the time it caught fire. The old woman carried the children into the midst of the flames and there left them, where they were burned to death.

Suicide of a Gambler.

VIENNA, Sept. 15.—The Neue Fre Presse, of this city, reports that a woman named Jane Armstrong said to be of New York, 28 years of age, has committed suicide with a revolver at Monaco, where she had lost $250,000 by gambling in ten days.

IS IT CONVICT STONE?

St. Cloud Granite Cutters Aroused Over a Duluth Contract.

There is considerable agitation among the granite cutters at St. Cloud over a contract for 14,000 feet of curbing which Nevin, Son & Ashworth, of that city are filling for M. T. Hulett & Co., of Duluth. There has already been about 3000 feet furnished. There is a great deal of feeling among the St. Cloud granite cutters against the state reformatories and for some time they have had reason to believe that that institution has been in collusion with contractors and furnishing "convict" stone to them.

For some reason the union men became suspicious that the Hulett contract was connected with the one which they were informed the reformatory had partly filled, and they proceeded to make an investigation. A committee was sent by the union to Duluth and made an examination as to where the stone was being set and by whom received. This committee also visited the reformatory where it made an examination of the books to discover to whom the curbing was shipped from there. As a result of these investigations the union has come to the conclusion that its suspicions were correct. A long session of the union was held Monday evening and it was decided not to cut any more curbing on the Duluth contract.

A member of the granite cutters' committee said that they had been misled as to who the real contractor was by "blind" shipments. They were satisfied that this was the same work for which the reformatory had recently furnished 3000 feet of curbing. Mr. Ashworth denies this and says that his was an entirely separate contract and that he never had touched it had he supposed that the reformatory was the contractor. Messrs. Ashworth and Nevin are in Duluth making a personal investigation.

Will Make Trial Trips.

The new engines and new electrical machinery at the street railway power house were put in motion yesterday and worked very smoothly. Several trial trips of the big car of the Highland avenue line will be made today, but regular trips will not commence for several days yet or until the Fifth division sale of the Highland Improvement company.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Sept. 15.—Fair pleasant weather prevails over the entire country. An area of high barometer moving eastward over Canada, and another low area is now forming over the southern part of Montana.With the exception of a light shower at Manistee, Mich., and one at Buffalo, there has not been any rainfall during the past twenty-four hours.The temperature has risen slightly over the Eastern and Western states and fallen over the extreme northwest, where it is now below freezing.The highest temperature here yesterday was 57°, the lowest last night 46°.DULUTH, Sept. 15.—Forecast till 8 p. m., tomorrow: Continued fair weather; slight change in temperature; light north to west wind.B. H. BRONSON, Local Forecast Official.WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Forecast till 8 p. m., tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair; cooler; frost Friday morning, west to northwest. Winds for Minnesota: Fair; cooler; with frosts in western portion Friday morning; slowly rising temperature in western portion; northerly winds becoming variable.

TO THE HEALTH BOARD.

Duluth is in a dirty condition. Perhaps it is not worse than many other cities. It may be cleaner than some.
But nevertheless it is not in a proper sanitary condition to cope with the cholera. The dread disease has gained a foothold in New York. The authorities there say they do not fear an epidemic. But their judgment may be astray. The same people felt sure that the strict quarantine would prevent the entrance of the disease. It did not prevent it. The insidious cholera sneaked into the city in some manner, and several deaths have resulted. No new cases are reported, but no one can tell when there will be some.It is said that immigrants who arrived on August 29 from Antwerp brought the infection to this country. They stopped in New York and the cholera germs, which were no doubt carried in their clothing or baggage, were deposited there. There is a strong probability that they have carried the deadly germs to other parts of this country, and consequently an outbreak of cholera at some point distant from New York would not be surprising.The danger which confronts every city in the land is therefore apparent.
Duluth is in as great danger as any other city. Cholera is a disease produced by dirt. It is propagated by filth and spread by filth. Cleanliness is its most powerful conqueror. Good sanitary conditions will put it to rout. They will erect an insurmountable barrier in its march across the land. Duluth can be kept free from the disease, but only by a thorough cleaning of the city. This duty should be attended to at once.Two weeks ago the board of health was authorized by the common council to take any extraordinary measures that are deemed necessary to clean the city.
The board has been working to that end
since that time, but not with sufficient energy to satisfy The Herald. This is no time for half measures or slow action, and the board of health should arouse itself. The people of Duluth do not want the cholera in their midst, and they are prepared to endorse any expenditure, no matter how large, which is needed to make the sanitary conditions in the city as perfect as possible. The health board should not therefore feel that its hands are tied.Wherever there is a house on the line of a sewer which has no connection with the sewer, the owner should be compelled to make the connection at once.
The board of health has repeatedly said that it intended to push matters in this respect, but there is no evidence that anything has been done. There are many streets, alleys and backyards that are in a very unclean condition. The board can provide a remedy, if it will.The Herald demands, on behalf of the people, that more energy be displayed by the board, and at once. The time for fooling has passed.

MR. CLEVELAND'S DILEMMA.

Ex-President Cleveland seems to be having considerable trouble with the preparation of his letter formally accepting the Democratic nomination. It is now stated that it will not be made public until the latter part of next week, and perhaps not until the week following. The platform adopted by the Chicago convention is a serious obstacle to Mr. Cleveland, and he is finding much difficulty in dealing with some features of that wonderfully-constructed affair.
Mr. Cleveland is understood to object particularly to this sentence in the platform:—"We declare it to be the fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the government whenhonestly and economically administered."It will be remembered that the above declaration was not contained in the report of the committee on resolutions.
On the contrary, the committee report,
which was presented to the convention by Senator Vilas, one of Mr. Cleveland's trusted friends, and which had been previously approved by telegraph from Gray Gables, was of an entirely different character, so far as the tariff plank was concerned. The sentence which now gives Mr. Cleveland so much trouble was inserted by a combination of the extreme free trade Democrats and opponents of Mr. Cleveland's desires, who desired to weigh him down with an even more extreme free trade plank than that on which he sank to defeat in 1888.In his speech of acceptance at Madison Square Garden on July 21, Mr.
Cleveland very deliberately avoided reference to this feature of the platform.
He complained only of the inequality and unfairness of the tariff laws now in force. He failed to endorse the declaration that the federal government has no constitutional power to create a protective tariff. Neither will he endorse it in his formal letter of acceptance, according to all reports. Mr. Cleveland, it is said at the Democratic national headquarters, will confine himself to a discussion and comparison of the differences between foreign and domestic wages, showing that they are not correspondingly as the differences in the prices of commodities. How this dodging of the free trade features of the platform will be received by Henry Watterson and the other Southern brigadiers remains to be seen.Mr. Watterson is on record as saying that Mr. Cleveland wanted a straddle on the tariff question in 1888. He failed to get it then, and was defeated. Now that he has been placed upon a platform that is even more intensely free trade, it is hardly to be expected that he will command as much support as he did four years ago.Ignatius Donnelly says that Jim Hill offered him $100,000 to get out of the gubernatorial race. This story is improbable on the face of it, because Mr.
Hill is not in the habit of paying more for an article than it is worth, and a jury not long ago valued the sage at $1. Perhaps that was Mr. Hill's offer, and Ignatius has added the ciphers.The cabin passengers on the quar-antined vessels in New York harbor have been loudly complaining that they were not permitted to land. No doubt it is a hardship, but what is a little hardship of that kind compared to the peril to which millions of people in this country might have been exposed by their being allowed to land at once.The Seattle Telegraph says: "The British system of taxation is conceded by all economists to be more nearly fair than any other now in force." Then why in thunder does not the Telegraph go where that beautiful system prevails?An artesian well in a South Dakota town went on a bender early yesterday

heard by a policeman two blocks away.
A well that can awaken a policeman at ested in the two-headed boy. He was

To the Editor of The Herald:In last evening's Herald a gentleman signing himself "A Tourist" complains of the treatment of prisoners. This gentleman claims to have witnessed the cruel treatment of a prisoner on Monday night, but he must have been loaded with the same beverage that the disturber of the peace in the cheap lodging was loaded, or he would have known the difference between Monday night and the few small hours of morning. It is not often we find respectable tourists prowling around such localities at such early hours in the morning. If this tourist had taken the trouble to inquire he would have found the wounded man was not a prisoner but was kept to identify the party that was supposed to have committed the assault. The officers arrested two men and brought them and the wounded man to the police station where the wounds were dressed by Dr.
H. S. Davis and his partner. The wounded man, having no means to pay for lodging, was made as comfortable as possible at the police station until morning.It is customary east, west, north and south, when an assault is committed, for the officer first to pursue the party making the assault, as there is always some good citizen to care for the wounded.
But in the above case our fault-finding tourist did not feel like acting the part of the good Samaritan. The locality was deserted by all other respectable citizens at that hour, Yours, etc.,

AMUSEMENTS.

"A Knotty Affair."
John C. Rice, the comedian, will appear at the Temple Opera house on Saturday night in "A Knotty Affair," the vehicle which he has selected to display his ability as an artist and dancer. Mr.
Rice will be remembered in connection with the Monroe and Rice combination which amused thousands in the farce-comedy, "My Aunt Bridget." He is an exceptionally good comedian, a graceful dancer, and a man who is always somewhere surrounded with competent people, and it is natural to suppose that the company this season will be fully up to the standard. One thing is certain, and that is that all who attend his performance will get an evening of amusement and witness a funny comedy replete with incident and an interesting plot and surrounded by a clever company of players.
The scenery and costumes are all new and the music is made up of the best as handsome as money can buy. Mr.
Harry Sloan, for many years connected with the Hanlons in a business capacity, is the manager of this company."Leaves of Shamrock." J. P. Sullivan, the Irish comedian and vocalist, will appear at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday evenings in "Leaves of Shamrock," an Irish comedy drama, which is highly spoken of. Mr.
Sullivan's wit and humor are said to be excellent and keep his audience thoroughly amused.District Court Matters.

has been conducting the sales at every point in the circuit, including the state fair last week. He is at Rochester this ing at the St. Louis hotel.The Pavilion Closed.

The Duluth pavilion is closed for the GRAN FEES CUT DOWN.

The Charges For Inspection Have Been Cut Down.At a meeting of the railroad and warehouse commission it was decided to make a reduction in the fee for inspection of grain of 5 cents per carload and 10 cents per 1000 bushels to vessels, to take effect at once. At the commencement of the crop season a year ago the fees then in force were 20 cents per carload for weighing and 26 cents per carload for inspection.At that time the commission, in view of the large surplus of $43,000, deemed it proper and advisable to lower the inspection, and for the past year the fees for inspection have been 20 cents instead of 25 cents per car. Notwithstanding this reduction the large crop of the past season has enabled the department to maintain an efficient service and still add to the surplus fund.The commission therefore concluded that another reduction could safely be made. It was decided to make no change in the weighing fees, but to reduce the inspection fees to 15 cents per car and 30 cents per 1000 bushels to vessels, as stated. These fees are from 40 to 75 per cent below those charged in other departments of the kind in this country.The commissioners have also inaugurated an improvement in the weighing service by stationing men in the bottom of large elevators to note improper loading, wastage, etc., and to co-operate generally with the weighman stationed at the top of the houses in attendance at the scales, thus securing a thorough supervision of the grain in its transit from the cars to the scales and lessening the chances for loss in weights.

SUPERIOR NEWS.

The Barbecue a Great Success—Gen.
Bragg Speaks.The South Superior barbecue yesterday was a grand success although there was some disappointment at the absence of John C. Spooner and Gen. Bragg, the former having telegraphed that he could not come and the latter not reaching Superior until 1 o'clock. Speeches were made by Dan Buchanan, Jr., Democratic candidate for congress, and Nils P.
Haugen, his Republican opponent. W.
F. Street also made a speech and Charles
A. Towne, of Duluth, was called upon and made one of his best speeches, expressing Duluth's good will and hearty co-operation. Congressman Thomas A.
E. Weedcock, of Bay City, Mich., also made a fine speech. Col. Pope and Jesse B. Thayer were also heard.Gen. Bragg, who achieved notoriety by his now famous saying of Cleveland, when facing the Tammanyites at Chicago in 1884, "We love him for the enemies he has made," spoke in Superior in the interests of Democracy to a large audience last evening.The stock of George M. Drum has

THE RACE MEETING.

The Duluth Driving Park Will be Ready on Time.The Duluth Driving park is very nearly ready for next week's races and will certainly be entirely finished by Saturday. The amount of work which has been done in the last sixty days is enormous. At least 25,000 yards of dirt has been moved during that time. The track is entirely graded with the exception of about sixty feet and that will be completed by tonight. The space inside the track is leveled off so that every part of the track is in full view. There will be ample accommodation for teams inside the track. The grand stand is well under way and the judges' stand is nearly completed. The latter is very handsome architecturally and is strong and substantial looking. The stables are nearly completed. They will accommodate fifty horses. Altogether there is every prospect that Duluth's first race meeting will be a great success.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

Two Plays to be Selected From Julia

"Cymbeline," "The Hunchback,"
"Twelfth Night," "As You Like It,"
"Romeo and Juliet," "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Pygmalion and Galatea" with the curtain raiser, "Rogues and AGAINST CHOLERA.

Mayor d'Autremont Calls a Meeting of the Board of Health for This Afternoon.

Will Recommend That Strong Measures Against the Introduction of Cholera be Taken.

Four Hundred Immigrants From Europe Said to be Headed Toward Duluth.

Mayor d'Autremont has called a special meeting of the board of health for this afternoon at 3 o'clock to take special and radical precautions against the introduction of cholera. The appearance of the dreaded disease in New York has awakened the authorities to a realization of the fact that Duluth is greatly exposed and that precautionary measures cannot be taken too hastily.

Another fact which has prompted the mayor to call this meeting is that it is reported that 400 immigrants from North German and Scandinavian ports are now at the Canadian Soo and are to pass through Duluth going westward. They will be detained there about twenty-four hours and will reach here probably day after tomorrow.

There is considerable complaint to be heard against the board and the health authorities. At the council meeting on Sept. 2 the following was one of the resolutions passed:

Resolved, That the board of health be and are hereby authorized to use such extraordinary means, and to employ such men and teams as the emergency of the case may require to place the entire city in a first class sanitary condition. The cost where practicable to be assessed against the property from which the refuse is removed.

So far as known no extraordinary or even ordinary means have been taken. Up to a few days ago not more than one team was employed in the work of placing the city in first class sanitary condition.

CHOLERA PRECAUTIONS.

Some Valuable Information Circulated by a Drug Firm.

Hugo & LeRicheux, the druggists, are having the following cholera precautions printed for general distribution:

Asiatic cholera, or cholera infensa, is an infectious disease very probably caused by germs called cholera bacilli, being introduced into the system through the alimentary canal. The evacuations of a cholera patient are the original source of infection and should be thoroughly and promptly disinfected.

All garments, bed clothing, towels, rags, etc., should be either burned or thoroughly disinfected with a strong solution of carbolic acid of from 5 to 10 per cent. Filth and moisture furnish a suitable culture medium for the development of germs. Cholera poison may affect the entire water supply and in that way propagate disease to a whole city.

The virulence of the disease depends on the people. Intelligent quarantine, thorough disinfection and energetic sanitary precautions will tend to prevent the appearance of the scourge. Strict attention to personal hygiene will diminish the chances of it attacking any single individual.

The disease is not contagious in the sense of being communicable by contact. The conditions favoring the production of cholera are that cold kills its progress and heat favors its development. It is generally acknowledged that in dirty, dark, moist dwellings, in alleys inaccessible to the sun and wind, where a crowded population lives huddled together, that cholera produces the most fatal results. An immoderate mode of living and improper food are the most predisposing causes of cholera.

Precautions to be taken in order to prevent the advent of this disease are extreme cleanliness of streets, public squares, empty lots and dwellings. Stagnant pools, dunghills in the vicinity of establishments, such as markets, vegetable stores, butcher shops, fish stalls, etc., should be thoroughly disinfected. Cleanliness, fresh air, ventilation of rooms, filtered water, good plain food should be used. All foods, water, milk and everything else that goes into the system should be thoroughly cooked and boiled before partaken of. All fermentative liquids, such as beer, ale and porter, should be avoided. Fruits and salads should be avoided. In fact, everything not cooked should be avoided. Carbolic acid in a 5 per cent solution is the best disinfectant, and scent bags have no power.

When you are disinfecting a room with phenic acid or carbolic acid, throw it only where the invalid is. It is not likely that bacilli will be propagated after disinfection. If you become ill drink as hot as ever you can grog, camomile tea, no matter what, provided that it is hot. Then if your limbs grow cold plunge into a steaming hot bath.

ARE TRACED BACK.

The Source of the Cholera Cases in New York City Has Been Partially Found.

Immigrant Passengers That Arrived Over Two Weeks Ago From Antwerp Brought It.

Three Other Cases Have Been Reported to be of a Suspicious Character.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Herald this morning, in its article about cholera at length obtaining a foothold in New York, says three other cases have been reported as suspicious, but have not yet been approximately determined. The investigations of the Herald have shown where the cholera probably came from in at least one case, and suggested the source of the other contagious. It came through the port of New York. Immigrant passengers on the steamer Frieland, which arrived here Aug. 29, seem to have brought the disease to little Minnie Levinger who died Sept. 11.

They are traced back to Antwerp where they reached from other cities in Europe no doubt infected with cholera. When they reached quarantine there was illness reported on board, and after a few hours detention and so-called fumigation they were permitted to proceed. From the steamship pier the passengers scattered over the city and country. Four young women of the company went to No. 411 East Forty-sixth street, where little Minnie lived. It appears that, being greatly interested in the child, they spent some idle hours playing with it. There is every reason to believe that the infection was in their clothing; that they innocently carried it about with them, escaping the danger themselves, and that from their clothing the child got the disease which carried the little one off in twenty-four hours.

In the case of Callahan, a plausible connection seems to be established between him and immigrants who, arriving in the city by trans-Atlantic steamers, went South by the Mallory line, to whose pier Callahan was often taken by his business. He was a butcher. In the other instances the relatives and physicians have not been able to suggest the precise method of the infection, but it seems not unlikely that it came about in some similar way.

The bulletin issued by the health department says that in the forty-eight hours to a m. today no new cases of cholera have been discovered or developed.

All Are Well. QUARANTINE, Sept. 15.—The North German Lloyd steamer Trave from

Bremen, arrived here early this morning. She brings 200 cabin passengers and all are well. The Trave passed the Hamburg steamer Bohemia at 8 a. m. Wednesday. The Bohemia should reach this port tonight.

WANT IMMIGRATION STOPPED.

Mayors of Many Cities Petition the President.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 15.—Mayor Pingree sent telegrams to the mayors of a large number of cities asking if they would join with Detroit in requesting the president to stop all immigration for at least ninety days. He received affirmative answers from Cleveland, Toledo, Duluth, Milwaukee, Chicago and fifteen other cities, but several other mayors did not agree to the policy of prohibition, among them the mayor of Buffalo. Mayor Pingree has telegraphed the president that many large Western cities desired him to exercise his authority and to prohibit immigration for at least thirty days.

NONE NEED CATCH IT.

Healthy Stomachs Are Said to be Cholera Proof.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Times is printing a series of letters on cholera written by well known physicians who are making tours of cholera infected and other places in Russia. Among the letters is one from Berlin. The writer warmly praises the authorities of that city and says it is entirely due to their prompt action that cholera is totally absent from the municipality.

He adds that the alleged panic exists entirely in the columns of the press, though he concedes that the anxiety with which many papers heap up Hamburg horrors is not unlikely to create a scare. The highest figures of the epidemic in Hamburg show that daily one person in one thousand of the population is afflicted and that over one-half of those attacked recover. The epidemic wherever it exists in Europe is practically confined to the working classes who are careless in their eating and drinking and who are habitual sufferers from chronic bronchitis and indigestion.

The writer of the letter adduces post-mortem examinations of cholera victims in St. Petersburg as proving the existence of long-standing acute indigestion. He sums up the result of observation thus: "It is not too much to say that healthy stomachs are cholera proof. Humanly speaking none need catch the disease unless he or she likes."

BABYLON WAS EXCITED.

Stories That Passengers Had Escaped From Fire Island.

BABYLON, L. I., Sept. 15.—Babylon was excited at midnight by stories to the effect that cabin passengers of the Normannia had escaped from Fire Island. Conductor Freeze, of the Long Island Railroad company, came to the Watson house late last night, and said he had a passenger from Babylon for New York who had paid his fare in German gold. The passenger was accompanied by several women, and the party was nervous. Later a boatman said to some persons whom he met, that he had earned $130 since dinner by bringing a party of persons from Fire Island that had come from the Cepheus.

A QUARANTINE "TRUST."

State Boards of Health, Including Minnesota, May Combine.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The Illinois state board of health held an executive session at the Grand Pacific hotel yesterday, with C. N. Hewitt, secretary of the Minnesota state board of health; Dr. Solon Marks, president Wisconsin state board; Dr. J. F. Kennedy, Iowa state board; Henry B. Baker, president Michigan state board; C. O. Probst, secretary of Ohio state board; D. C. N. Metcalf, Indiana board of health, and J. M. McCarnacle, of the state board of health. Dr. W. A. Haskell, of the Illinois board, presided. Dr. Haskell said his idea was that the states represented should combine, and if necessary, establish quarantine at the borders of the territory included in the combination. This would do away with the necessity of establishing quarantine stations at each line, and the concentrated effort would result in more thorough quarantine. The question has been raised of compelling the railroads to bear the expense of establishing quarantine stations.

SIX DEATHS ON BOARD.

A Steamer Reaches Canada With Several Cases of Cholera.

QUEBEC, Sept. 15.—A report comes that the Beaver line steamer Lake Huron, now on her way up the river and which passed Father Point yesterday morning, has Asiatic cholera on board and that six deaths have occurred during the voyage.

The Lake Huron has not yet reached quarantine, and until she does no confirmation or denial of the report can be expected. Later—The steamship Lake Huron, from Liverpool for Montreal, which passed Father Point yesterday, is now at Grosse Isle quarantine. She reported that during the passage there were several deaths of children on board, but from what cause was not stated. It is however denied by the quarantine officials that there are any cholera cases on the ship.

AN EXTREME MEASURE.

Cincinnati is to be Declared Under Quarantine.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 15.—Health Officer Prendergast, when informed that the cholera had broken forth in New York, said: "I will declare the city of Cincinnati under quarantine. It will be as strict as martial law during the war. We are threatened with an enemy whose ravages are horrible to contemplate, and no effort will be spared to prevent its introduction into the city. Every port in the state will be quarantined."

RAILROADS ON GUARD.

Methods to Prevent Carrying Cholera Infected People.

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—The railroads leading east from this city have begun to adopt methods to prevent the transportation of cholera infected immigrants. In addition to this, several of the lines have issued strict orders to station agents and all keepers of buildings over which the company has control, directing that a careful and full examination and report be made at once of all unsanitary conditions, which the agents have not the means or authority at hand to remedy at once.

"God helping me," cried Columbus, "though fair or foul the breeze, I will sail and sail till I find the land beyond the western seas!" So an eagle might leave its eyrie, bent, though the blue should bar, To fold its wings on the loftiest peak of an undiscovered star! And into the vast and void abyss he followed the setting sun: Nor gulfs nor gales could fright his sails till the wondrous quest was done. But Oh, the weary vigils, the murmuring, torturing days, Till the Pinta's gun, and the shout of "Land!" set the black night ablaze! Till the shore lay fair as Paradise in morning's baln and gold, And a world was won from the conquered deep, and the tale of the ages told! Uplift the stary Banner! The best age is begun! We are the heirs of the mariners whose voyage that morn was done. Measureless lands Columbus gave and rivers through zones that roll, But his rarest, noblest bounty was a New World for the Soul! For he sailed from the Past with its stifling walls, to the Future's open sky, And the ghosts of gloom and fear were laid as the breath of heaven went by; And the pedant's pride and the lordling's scorn were lost, in that vital air, As fogs are lost when sun and wind sweep ocean blue and bare; And Freedom and larger Knowledge dawned clear, the sky to span, The birthright, not of priest or king, but of every child of man! Uplift the New World's Banner to greet the exultant sun! Let its rosy gleams still follow his beams as swift to west they run, Till the wide air rings with shout and hymn to welcome it shining high, And our eagle from lone Katahdin to Shasta's snow can fly In the light of its stars as fold on fold is flung to the autumn sky! Uplift it, O Youths and Maidens, with songs and loving cheers; Through triumphs, raptures, it has waved, through agonies and tears. Columbia looks from sea to sea and thrills with joy to know Her myriad sons, as one, would leap to shield it from a foe! And you who soon will be the State, and shape each great decree, Oh, vow to live and die for it, if glorious death must be! The brave of all the centuries gone this stary Flag have wrought; In dungeons dim, on gory fields, its light and peace were bought; And you who front the future—whose days our dreams fulfill—On Liberty's immortal height, oh, plant it firmer still! For it floats for broadest learning; for the soul's supreme release; For law disdaining license; for righteousness and peace; For valor born of justice, and its amplest scope and plan Makes a queen of every woman, a king of every man! While forever, like Columbus, o'er Truth's unfathomed main It pilots to the hidden isles, a grander realm to gain. Ah! what a mighty trust is ours, the noblest ever sung, To keep this Banner spotless its kindred stars among! Our fleets may throng the oceans—our forts the headlands crown—Our mines their treasures lavish for mint and mart and town—Rich fields and flocks and busy looms bring plenty, far and wide—And stately temples deck the land than Rome's or Athens' pride—And science darts the mysteries of earth and wave and sky—Till none with us in splendor and strength and skill can vie; Yet, should we reckon Liberty and Manhood less than these, And slight the right of the humblest between our circling seas—Should we be false to our sacred past, our fathers' God forgetting, This Banner would lose its luster, our sun be nigh his setting! But the dawn will sooner forget the east, the tides their ebb and flow, Than you forget our radiant Flag and its matchless gifts forego! Nay! you will keep it high-advanced with ever brightening sway—The Banner whose light betokens the Lord's diviner day—Leading the nations gloriously in Freedom's holy way! No cloud on the field of azure—no stain on the rosy bars—God bless you, Youths and Maidens, as you guard the Stripes and Stars! EDNA DEAN PROCTOR.

COLUMBUS DAY.

Practical Suggestions on the Proper Observance of the Anniversary.

SEPTEMBER 21 will be a gala day from one end to the other of the United States, and it is but proper that it should be so, for it is not Columbus Day, and will it not commemorate the discovery of a world which in the comparatively short time of four centuries has emerged from the blackness of the forest and the ignorance of the savage into the blazing sun of prosperity and the noontide of intelligence?

Now that the official programme for the uniform popular celebration of Columbus Day has been published, the question of the participation by this community in the national exercises becomes a live issue.

It goes without saying that the people of this locality will not be backward in evidencing their patriotism by an appropriate celebration of the memorable day, and a few suggestions as to the best method of executing this commendable design may not be amiss at this time.

In the first place, it should be borne in mind that it is intended that the school children should be the principal participants in the exercises. The pupils are to be at their places in school at 9 o'clock as usual. It is desirable that business be entirely suspended so that the relatives of the pupils may also be present. Printed programmes should be provided when possible, and the exercises will of course be subject to the limitations of the scholars, but everything which may be done should tend to the central ideas of Columbus' achievement and the remarkable progress of the country under the impetus of education. Appropriate patriotic decorations are necessary, and allegorical tableaux will add greatly to the effectiveness and enjoyment of the exercises. Music is also desirable.

In the afternoon comes the citizens' celebration, but, as in the morning exercises, the school children should take the most prominent part. Of course in the country districts this will not be the case, and the afternoon should be devoted to games for the young people and social gatherings for their elders, though every house should be decorated with the national colors. In the towns the afternoon should be devoted to some sort of formal celebration, in which all of the civic and military organizations should be invited to participate. A review of school children after they have reached the reviewing stand and saluted the flag will add much to the "life and color" of the scene. A mass meeting of the citizens should follow during the day, when the best orators of the locality, and the most eloquent of the declaimers among the children—say one from each school—might deliver addresses appropriate to the occasion. The topics of these speeches will readily suggest themselves, but it must be borne in mind that anything relating to Columbus will be more interesting than anything else on such an occasion. The flag salute, the ode and the patriotic songs should be executed by the children without a hitch, and for this reason a great deal of preliminary work will have to be done by them.

Upon the school teachers will devolve the greatest portion of this labor. Each teacher should at once, if it has not already been done, present the matter of the celebration of Columbus Day to his pupils, and it should be laid before the young people in such a manner that each will be anxious to contribute as much as possible to the success of the affair. Enthusiasm is what is wanted and needed, for without it failure must result. Let each teacher select committees on reception, on decorations, on exercises, on printing, on newspapers, on arrangements and on finance. The principal must be actually if not nominally the directing spirit of each committee.

At the morning exercises at the schools the veterans should have charge of the flag and should also act as guards of honor to the schools on the march to the reviewing stand. The peculiar appropriateness of the veterans being the special patrons of the school celebration is apparent. Money and the active co-operation of the citizens at large are absolutely necessary to the success of the celebration, and these should and probably will be promptly forthcoming.

Only the general outlines of exercises suggested in the official programme are here given. These may be enlarged or contracted to conform to the wishes and possibilities of the celebrants.

The Wife of Columbus.

What about Mrs. Columbus? She ought to figure somehow in the celebration, although there is no picture of her extant. She was a Miss Palestrello, of Lisbon, and became the wife of Columbus in 1470. Her father was a navigator, and from old Palestrello's charts Columbus got his first ideas about a western passage to the Indies.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

The Summer Girl.

The Summer Girl is coming home, All browned and plump and rosy, Prepared to make the winter seem Extremely nice and cozy. She's bathed and danced and walked and sailed And read a book and flirted, Till to the young men she has left The whole world seems deserted. The flush of health is in her cheeks, With fun her eyes are dancing, The flush of conquest in her heart Makes life seem most entrancing. Ah! soon she'll be the Winter Girl, And we shall low before her, For she was made to be adored, And therefore—we adore her. —Somerville Journal.

He Had His Reasons.

Mother—Johnny, where have you been? Johnny—In swimming. Mother—Didn't I tell you I'd whip you if you went in the water? Johnny (frankly)—Yes'm. Mother—Then why did you do it? Johnny—Cause the flickin' wout' hurt more'n fifteen minutes, and the swimmin' I feel good for a week.—Exchange.

Her Wish.

He wrote some verses on her gown; She thought they were quite fine; And then upon her new fall hat— She thought they were divine. He wrote upon her fairy form, Her eyes, her golden hair, The color of her dimpled cheeks, And then, in his despair, He asked her for some newer theme. She blushed and hung her head— "I think this time I'd like something Upon my lips," she said. —Tom Mason in Detroit Free Press.

Catechizing Him.

Tabby—Where were you last night, sir? Tom (with one ear slit, half his whiskers gone and footprints of a high old time all over his face)—I was assisting at an out of door concert, my dear. Tabby (elaborately sarcastic)—It was a grand affair, no doubt, sir! Tom—It was a howling success, my dear. —Chicago Tribune.

His Answer.

"What is this 'old, old story,' sir, Of which so much is said, And authors often so refer Unto in books I've read?" Thus queried Miss Van Winkle when One one at tea—she. She sat with Mr. Pumpkin A-near the garden gate. "The 'old, old story,' miss, said he, With look uncommon sage, 'That the spinsters tell when she Is asked to give her age.' —Boston Courier.

A Parsecing Boy.

First Boy—Why didn't you get a safety like mine? Second Boy—Huh! Wouldn't have a safety; that's why. "But that big wheel kind you've got is old fashioned." "That's all right. These old fashioned ones suit me. Can't carry bundles on 'em."—Good News.

Nay, Nay.

A man will shovel in the coal, And the carpet he will beat, And he'll worry himself with stocks and bonds For his wife upon the street. He'll build a fire in the kitchen stove Each morn at the break of day, But he won't put the stinks in his wife's clean shirt, Because he ain't built that way. —Clothier and Furnisher.

The Stock Gave Out.

Wife—How did you get along while I was away? Husband—I kept house for about ten days, and then I went to a hotel. "A hotel? Why didn't you go on keeping house?" "Couldn't. All the dishes were dirty." —New York Weekly.

After the Summer.

Broked! Broked! By thy sad gray sands, O sea! And oh! for the shining shelds spent That will never come back to me. Ah! well for the hotelman, And the bookmaker chipper and gay, But alas for my wad of early June, That has vanished like mist away. —New York Herald.

Fair Warning.

Clara—Do you love him well enough to marry him if he should ask you? Maud—But the man hasn't asked me yet. Clara—I know it. But last night after I had refused him he said he was going to—Detroit Free Press.

The Retort Courteous.

To the pert laundry maid His bill he'd not paid, "What wouldst thou," he cried, "tell to me?" "To listen, you'll surely hear one of them say, When she quickly replied, "I am washing and waiting for thee." —Exchange.

Youthful Ignorance.

Willie—I didn't see anything funny last night about that fellow's mustache. Mrs. McBean—What are you talking about? Willie—I heard sister tell him that it tickled her half to death.—New York Herald.

Salted.

She sat on the steps at the evening tide Enjoying the balmy air, He came and asked, "May I sit by your sister?" And she gave him a vacant stare. —Cape Cod Item.

The Changes of Time.

Freddie—The man will come out if we climb the apple tree. Bobbie—He didn't when I went up it a month ago. Freddie—That was because they weren't ripe then.—New York Evening Sun.

A Question of Dress.

When you find two women conversing today With earnestness, if not afraid To listen, you'll surely hear one of them say, "And how are you having it made?" —Exchange.

He Confessed to His Sister.

Marie—There, now, you've given that hateful Miss Green six diamond rings, and I have but one. Her Brother—Never mind that. Yours is genuine.—Jewellers Weekly.

It's Lively.

The campaign waxes lively, And hot enough 'twill prove, For the green is on the malon, And the cholera's on the move. —Washington Star.

What the Press Says of Her.
We do not hesitate to say that for literary style, rhetorical finish, elegant antithesis and logical grip, the speech of Miss Mary T. Lathrop made at the First Congregational church last evening was a masterpiece. We doubt if a speech so well worth hearing has been made in Springfield by a man in ten years.—Daily News, Springfield, Ill.
It is difficult to analyze Mrs. Lathrop's oratorical power. It is essentially masculine in breadth and logic and yet never for a moment does the woman disappear.—Editorial Bureau Record, New York.
Mrs. Lathrop will speak at the First M. E. church next Sunday night.

The Sudden Rush Made Yesterday

On the Hosiery and Underwear Department looked as though everyone had come suddenly to realize the necessity of securing Underwear. Those Fine Wool Shirts and Drawers in Cream seem to be the favorites at $1.50 and $1.75. They are indeed very fine, soft, and warm. The Ribbed Goods at 90c, however, come in for their full share of patronage; and the Wool Cashmere Hose in all sizes for Misses and Ladies were liberally bought. Equestrian Tights and Combination Suits are selling in the finest grades. We call especial attention to our line of Hosiery from 15c to 35c in the Wool.

WHEAT WAS DEPRESSED.

The Market Ruled Dull and Prices Went Lower.

The wheat market was quiet today, except for car lots, which had an active demand early for milling purposes at 1/4 to 1/2 lower than yesterday. There was considerable scattered trading during the early hours in futures, including some May deals. Prices on futures dropped 3/4c before noon. Early cables were quiet and had a depressing effect upon early prices. The export demand is not encouraging to long holders of wheat. Track No. 1 northern sold late in the afternoon at 72 1/2c for a large number of cars. December sold at 74 1/2c but dropped 1/2c on the next trade, selling late at 72 1/2c. September ranged from 72 1/2c to 73 1/2c during the morning. The afternoon session was quiet, and another cholera scare killed the trading. The close was dull at 1c to 1 1/2c below yesterday. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard cash 72 1/2c; September 71c, December 75 1/2c; May, 81c. No. 1 northern, cash 71 1/2c; September 71 1/2c; December 75c; May 79c. No. 2 northern, cash 66 1/2c; No. 3, 58c. Rejected 49c. On track—No. 1 hard 71c, No. 1 northern 72c.

Car inspection today, 219. Receipts—Wheat, 26,821 bu. Shipments—Wheat, 31,333 bu. Cars on track, 529; last year, 510.

ACCEPTED THE SCALE.

The Northern Pacific Railway Adopts the Operators' Schedule.

Two weeks ago the operators on the Northern Pacific railway submitted a schedule of wages to the road for acceptance. The road demurred somewhat, but yesterday afternoon word was given out that the schedule had been accepted. This will have the effect of raising the wages of operators somewhat, several of them in Duluth getting quite an advance.

That Insurance Rate.

The School Board and Insurance Men Will Have a Conference.
The matter of the insurance rate on the Central High school of $1.25 as fixed by Compact Manager McLeran is agitating the school board pretty thoroughly and the directors are determined not to pay it. At the board meeting on Saturday evening, the insurance men will be present and will have a hearing before the board. The board stated that if the directors would take out $200,000 insurance the rate would be lowered to $1, but the board of directors declare that the rate of $1.25 was fixed before the insurance men knew anything about how much insurance would be placed on the building.

Secretary Le Richeux is now corresponding with the school boards of other cities in regard to insurance rates. Ex-President White suggests that the board carry its own insurance and that it can be done by taking the amount paid for insurance each year, which will now be nearly $5,000, and place it in a sinking fund. This would accumulate in the course of time into a very large sum. There has never been but one loss on school property and that was a light one. The high school is especially well protected. There are three stand pipes on each floor and one in the manual training room. The space under the stage is ricinated as is also the laboratory. The entire basement is cemented and the floors laid over the cement and hall floors are tiled. There are also to be two Babcock extinguishers on each floor. The boilers are in a separate building, and there is never any fire in the building. Besides these precautions there are two pumps in the boiler building; a night watchman is employed and the fire department is on a corner diagonally opposite.

The directors believe that all business men who believe insurance rates to be too high should be interested in seeing the high school rates reduced.

AN ORIGINAL IDEA.

Suggestion That a Market Place be Established Under the Viaduct.

Officer Robert Smollett thinks he has hit upon a solution of the problem of where shall the Duluth city market be located. Mr. Smollett suggests that the space beneath the Lake avenue viaduct, between Superior street and the railroad tracks, be utilized for the purpose. The ground or space cannot be used for any other purpose and the framework of the viaduct will permit of its being conveniently and very cheaply made into suitable stalls. It can be easily kept clean, is in a central location and the roadway above will form a water-tight roof.

A well attended meeting of the Young Men's Catholic club was held last evening in the Catholic club rooms. A large number of new names were received. Bishop McGolrick was present and addressed the meeting on the object of forming the club and of what benefit it would be to the members to be together in such a society. Several gentlemen addressed the meeting and expressed themselves heartily in favor of the movement. A committee of fifteen was appointed to solicit members and report at the next meeting. The committee on constitution and by-laws reported progress and was continued until the next meeting when it will be prepared to make a full report.

Riotous Strikers Create a Disturbance in Belgium.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 15.—At Grammont, in East Flanders, a serious affray occurred today between the police and militia on the one side and factory strikers on the other. The strikers attacked some workmen who had taken their places, and the police went to the rescue of the men who were assailed.

The strikers then turned furiously against the police, and a severe struggle followed in which the police were nearly worsted. The military were then called out. The rioters were ordered to disperse, but stubbornly held their ground. Then the military charged with fixed bayonets and wounded a number of the strikers. The mob, feeling that the soldiers were in earnest, dispersed.

SHIP OF DEATH

The Steamship Bohemia Has Reached New York With More Cases of Cholera.

Eleven Children Died During the Voyage From the Effects of the Scourge.

Four Cases Were Transferred From the Vessel to Swinburne Island This Morning.

Another Death in New York City Declared to be Due to Asiatic Cholera.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Another plague ship in port and another story of disease and death on the voyage. Eleven more victims added to the long list of those who have died of cholera between Hamburg and New York. This is the story of the steamship Bohemia which reached New York last night and anchored in lower quarantine. Her coming has been dreaded as much as the coming of her sister ship and sister death house, the Scandia. She left Hamburg at the time when the pest was at its worst, and her 80 stowaway passengers, gathered in the infected regions of Germany and Russia, were confidently expected to bring the cholera with them. The Bohemia sailed from Hamburg September 3, and was due yesterday morning. Wednesday morning 450 miles east of Sandy Hook she was passed by the health officers waiting for her coming. She was not reported from Fire Island which she passed at 10 o'clock in the afternoon, nor from Sandy Hook which she reached at 9 o'clock. Half an hour later she was added to the cholera fleet which rides in the lower bay. Captain Schroeder was unwilling to say much about the deaths on board until he had made his report to the health officer, but he admitted the essential facts of the misfortune that had befallen the company. "We have had eleven deaths on board," said the captain. "They were all of little children. There is no sickness on board at present."

"Of what did the children die?" "A diarrheal disease," was the reply. "The last death was five days ago. Nobody has been ill on board since then."

"How long after you left port did the first death occur?"

"About the fourth day. The children were all very young. The oldest was between 4 and 5 years. They were all in the steerage. No adult passengers have died or even been sick."

Captain Schroeder said he was unable to give the names of the children, but they would appear in his report today, when the ship's surgeon would make known all the particulars of the case. The Bohemia is of the unlucky Hamburg-American line. She has been many years in the service and since the appearance of the fast express steamers she has been devoted almost entirely to the immigrant business. She brings no cabin passengers.

BROUGHT TO THE CITY.
The Normannia's Passengers are Now at Liberty.

FIRE ISLAND, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The passengers of the quarantined vessel Normannia were this morning placed on board the Cepheus by the transport vessel Ripple. The vessel sailed at 9:30 for New York. The Wyoming's passengers will be sent to Fire Island until tomorrow.

The Cepheus, when opposite Oak Island, ran aground and the life-saving crew went to her assistance. One hundred passengers have gone via Babylon under military escort. They left by the Ripple at 9:15 a. m. The Cepheus floated off uninjured at 11 a. m. and is practically deserted. The police, reporters, operator, hotel help and the detachment of troops are the only people here. This state of affairs is in marked contrast to the general air of activity displayed during the last few days, but it is most probable that the end is not yet, and that by tomorrow another crowd of quarantined passengers from some of the vessels now detained in New York bay will be sent here.

At 7:30 a. m. the passengers that were willing to go to New York via the water route were on board the Cepheus. Only about thirty refused to go by the steamer and after a deal of telegraphing between them and the state officials permission was granted to Dr. Voight to allow them to go to Babylon and avail themselves of the railroad facilities in reaching New York. All were armed with a clean bill of health in order that no trouble might ensue with the Babylon health authorities. A bodyguard of soldiers were sent with them in order to meet any emergency that might arise.

The Cepheus got away about 9:10. A shout went up from the people when the anchor was weighed and all seemed to be pleased that they were at last homeward bound after so many vicissitudes. At 9:20 the remaining passengers were all on board the Ripple on the way to the Babylon shore. When the Ripple came alongside the Babylon dock very few citizens were on hand to watch the proceedings. It is doubtful whether the fact that any of the passengers would be landed was generally known here. There was not the slightest suspicion of a demonstration on the part of the townspeople of Babylon.

Only Cholera Morbus. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—Tenement house No. 452 Lombard street was quarantined from early this morning until noon because of a suspected case of cholera. Mrs. Carrie Jacobs, the wife of a tailor who recently returned from Europe on the steamer British Princess, was the victim. Doctors Anney, of the board of health, and Welsh of the municipal hospital, were in constant attendance and at noon they decided that it was a clear case of cholera morbus. The quarantine was then raised.

LIST OF THE VICTIMS.

Four Cases From the Bohemia Taken to Swinburne Island.
QUARANTINE, S. I., Sept. 16.—It was 5 o'clock this morning when the report regarding the Bohemia published in a morning paper came over the wire to quarantine, creating consternation in the ranks of the few newspaper men on watch. Dr. Jenkins went to bed at 1 o'clock and his operator slept with his ear to the telegraph instrument.

Before retiring the midnight census had been received from Swinburne island and Dr. Byron went to bed having heard nothing from the Hamburg ship. This morning he visited the Bohemia. He reports that there were eleven deaths at sea on the steamer and that four cases were removed to Swinburne island this morning. He reports that those who died on board the vessel died of gastro-intestinal trouble. The names of those who were removed to Swinburne island are Max Feingold, aged 6 years; Chage Bass, 28 years; Leo Handfeldt, 26 years, and one small child of the steerage.

The Bohemia's condition as to cleanliness is first class. The following is the death list of the Bohemia: Sarah Disler, aged 25; Sept. 6; Peshe Disler, 3 years; Sept. 6; Kivke Wesse, Sept. 8; Jenkel Fuwodnich, 1 year old, Sept. 8; M. A. Marine Radowski, 2 years old, Sept. 7; Schiende Bass, 1 year old, Sept. 8; Mosiche Weisbord, 8 years old, Sept. 12; Selig Lapsohn, 1 year old, Sept. 15; Taube Mandelsohn, 3 years old, Sept. 15. When Dr. Jenkins came from his private office with the telegraph report of Dr. Byron's visit to the Bohemia he said: "I am mighty glad that this is the last of the ships we expect serious trouble from."

THE SCOURGE IN NEW YORK.

Another Death Declared to be Due to Cholera.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The death of Charlotte Beck, which occurred Sept. 13, was today officially declared to be due to Asiatic cholera. The health board bulletin, posted at 10:30 this morning, announces another suspected case of cholera in the city. The bulletin reads as follows: "The only suspected case of cholera in this city since last bulletin is Edward Hoppe, of 1625 Madison avenue, who died yesterday. It is under investigation."

Dr. Laboucher, the physician of the Five Points mission, this morning reported to the board of health a suspicious case of probable cholera in Sullivan street. The board has sent an inspector to investigate. Dr. Bryant, who is attending Mary Conerty, who was taken to the reception hospital yesterday suffering from cholera, reports this morning that there is a good chance of the woman's recovery.

It is reported that a case of cholera has occurred among the convicts on Blackwell's island.

TO PROHIBIT IMMIGRATION.

A Final Notice to be Given the Steamship Companies.

LOON LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The president is alive to the welfare and general interests of the American people, notwithstanding the great affliction under which he is laboring. He sent a telegram to the secretary of the treasury, saying that the attorney general has sent him an opinion to the effect that he had full power under the law to prevent the landing in this country of all immigrants coming from ports infected with cholera or any other contagious disease.

Mr. Harrison suggested that the secretary of the treasury convey this information to the various trans-Atlantic companies, together with an official notice that unless they acted in strict accordance therewith he would issue an executive order prohibiting entirely all immigration from infected ports without exception.

Hawaiian Cabinet Resigned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—African from Honolulu by the steamer China states that the legislature passed a vote of no confidence in the ministry who thereupon resigned. The queen had not named a new cabinet up to the time the steamer sailed.

Armour's Yacht Safe.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Sept. 16.—Allison V. Armour's steam yacht Cyphon, which was supposed to have foundered in Lake Michigan with all on board, arrived safely at this port shortly after midnight.

HAS DECIDED.

Julia Marlowe Will Play "Cymbeline" and "The Hunchback."

The item which appeared in The Herald last evening stating that Manager Condon was undecided what plays to have Julia Marlowe produce upon the occasion of her engagement here and asking opinions from citizens, brought him nearly 200 answers before 1 o'clock today. There was an almost unanimous demand for "Cymbeline" and for the others the opinions were largely in favor of "The Hunchback." He has therefore decided to put these two plays on. "Ingomar" has been selected for Superior.

Too Many Males.

The following births, all boys, were reported at the health office this morning: A son to O. D. and Lizzie Porter, at 514 East Fifth street; a son to Isaac and Talbo Asinsky, at 371 Lake avenue south; a son to Ed and Hilda Anderson, at 821 East Third street; a son to Chan and Smith, at 14 East Fourth street; a son to A. P. and Lacey, at 2513 Helm street. The physician who turned in the two last named births will be hauled over the coals by the health department. His reports are incomplete.

CHILD MURDERER.

Sensation Over the Discovery of Wholesale Murder in an English City.

A Manife Detected While Throwing Corpse of an Infant Into a Canal.

A Blood Trunk and Other Evidencees of Murder Were Found in Her House.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A sensation has been caused at Manchester today by the discovery of what appears to be a methodical system of wholesale child murder, and perhaps of the murder of adults. Mary Ann Hall, midwife, has been arrested on the charge of concealing the birth of a child. It appears that the Hall woman was about to throw the corpse of a child into the canal, when a person who saw her called the attention of the police.

The Hall woman was arrested. The police searched her house and there they found a bloody trunk, which had evidently contained one or more bodies. They also found buckets of lime and jars of chemicals, sufficient for the wholesale disposal of bodies. There is no doubt that murders have been committed at the house.

The midwife was arraigned before a magistrate today, and after evidence had been taken to the above effect she was remanded, in order to enable the police to proceed with the search for evidence.

MURDER AND ROBBERY.

Thieves Kill an Austrian Jeweler in His Store at Noon.

VIENNA, Sept. 16.—A cruel murder and robbery are reported from Schonbrunn, the summer residence of the imperial family of Austria. Thieves entered the shop of one of the leading jewelers about noon, the busiest hour of the day.

Appearances indicate that they were detected in their operations by the proprietor, and that before he could make an outcry they killed him. He appears to have struggled desperately for his life and it is amazing that the struggle did not result in his death. The thieves escaped with their booty.

SELLING BRISKLY.

Virginia Lots Are Placed on Sale and Sell Rapidly.

The sale of lots in Virginia opened in the old stock exchange room at 2 o'clock today and a great crowd was on hand. No sale of property has been advertised in Duluth more thoroughly than this and as a crowning effort the city band paraded Superior street shortly after noon. Col. "Bob" Carr officiated as emcee and was voted a "dandy." The sale opened briskly and by 2:30 o'clock a large number of lots were disposed of. The highest price paid up to that hour was $430 for a single lot and the lowest was $35. The bidding was lively and the lots were rattled off briskly. The location is generally admitted to be a most excellent one and no town on the range has better prospects.

A Prominent Visitor.

William Allen Butler, Jr., of New York, is in the city and is being entertained by W. H. H. Stowell. Mr. Butler is son of the noted lawyer William Allen Butler of New York, who is the attorney of the great Hopkins' estate as well as several others and is the senior member of the firm of Butler, Stillman & Allen. Mr. Butler, Sr., has also some literary pretensions, being the author of "Nothing to Wear," "General Average," "Two Millions" and other well known poems. Mr. Butler, Jr., will be here for two or three days.

Only Two Drunks.

C. S. Anderson and Ed. Johns were the two terrible tipplers who had to choose between ten days at Hotel Sharvy or a $12 fine in the municipal court this morning. They choose the former and the next municipal court case to come up before Judge Powell was that of S. Johnson for obstructing a street. As the obstruction had been removed and the court officers had made a little mistake in the service of the papers the case was dismissed on motion of the city attorney. There are a large number of petty criminal trials to be heard this afternoon and both judges are sitting.

Will Visit the Pavilion.

The Duluth Street Railway company has extended an invitation to the Bethel Sunday school to visit the pavilion tomorrow afternoon. It has been accepted and the children will go up on the 2 o'clock car in charge of their teachers. Dr. Salter will, of course, be on hand.

Rushing the Viaduct.

The viaduct on Lake avenue is going up quite rapidly now. The iron work is being rushed and some idea of its proportion can be gained. It rises somewhat from Superior street although only slightly. A large force of men are at work and it will be completed at the earliest possible time.

FAMOUS FAT MAN.

A New Jersey Colored Man Who Decided He Was Too Fat to Work.

He Gained Weight so Rapidly That He Weighed Over Five Hundred Pounds.

The Result Was He Lost Interest in Life and Died Without Pain.

Furnan Schenk, colored, of New Brunswick, N. J., weighed 470 pounds on his fortieth birthday last spring. Unfortunately for him, as it would appear, he then decided that he was too fat to work, as he had recently been doing, and so went to live quietly at his brother-in-law's. He then gained weight so rapidly that he soon weighed 520 pounds. He lost interest in life, became listless, took to his bed and in two days died without pain or apparent distress.

It was then made known that he had been with Harman and on Coney Island as a freak, and had saved enough money for a good funeral, and so the colored people of New Brunswick gave him one that will long be remembered. The preacher, Rev. George C. Ayer, began his funeral sermon thus:

"My brethren, I did not know our departed brother except by sight. But that doesn't make a bit of difference. I can give a man just as good a funeral if I never saw him before in my life. As far as size was concerned the departed was a champion. He ranks with the largest man that ever lived. In life he weighed over 500 pounds, they tell me, but now he does not weigh anything. He is not dead. It is only his flesh that remains below.

FURNAN SCHENK.

"His size calls my attention to ancient history, to the time when men grew to be larger, to Sam and Goliath, who were more than nine feet high. But this man was unlike those men in many respects. For instance, as to height he was no higher than an ordinary man. But he was very stout. * * * When there are more cars than there is steam the train won't move. There was too much flesh in this man—500 pounds—and not enough mind to push it along. That is the reason he died. Had he been twice as small he would have lived twice as long, probably eighty years. His mind was not more than yours, but his body was more. He died exactly when he was full grown. His body was too big for his mind. We will now take up the text."

WEDDED ON GOAT ISLAND.

The Interesting Romance of a Gallant Lighthouse Keeper.

San Francisco journals give a deal of space to the details of a recent marriage, with the heading "McCarthy-Lewis." Well they might, for it was the first wedding ever celebrated on Goat island, and the event was undoubtedly the most notable and blissful one that ever occurred on that brown, rugged and lonely rock in the middle of the bay, and so the day was a memorable one.

The groom was Charlie McCarthy, the lighthouse keeper, and the bride Mrs. Jennie Lewis, he was a widower of fifty-one and she much younger, but twice widowed. Besides these elements of importance there was a picturesque charm about the scene of it, the romance of love and lighthouse, the lapping of salt waves and the roar of breakers and lonely winds seemed to mingle with the music there, and the human interest that attaches to all spicing of hearts the world over was present too.

Mr. McCarthy has a record, too, of which his bride may be proud. He was born in a seaport and reared on the sea. He went through the war between Chili and Peru as a gunner on the famous Chil-

MRS. MCCARTHY. MR. MCCARTHY. in ironclad Huascar, and he was for a good while either bos'n or gunner on the United States revenue cutter Richard Rush. Four or five years ago he was transferred to the lighthouse service. He was first assistant keeper of the lighthouse on East Brothers' island, San Pablo bay, for eighteen months, and for a year he kept the dismal fog siren at the Point Bonita lighthouse, going on foggy and stormy nights. In 1890, when the queer little lighthouse at the entrance of Alameda creek was established by the government, in place of the one maintained by the Southern Pacific company, he was put in charge of it, and he has kept bachelor's hall in the little box on piles ever since. He was lonely. He met Mrs. Lewis by accident and was charmed at first sight. All the rest followed in due course. Mrs. Lewis, wife of the lighthouse keeper on Goat island, introduced the two to each other and insisted that the wedding should take place in her little parlor. And so it did.

DIBDIN'S GHOST.

Dear wife, last midnight whilst I read
The times you so despise,
A specter rose beside the bed
And spoke in this true wise,
"From Canaan's hostile coast
I've come to visit thee,
For I am Fergall Dibdin's ghost!"
Says Dibdin's ghost to me.
I had him welcome, and we twain
Discussed with buoyant hearts
The various things that appertain
To bibliomaniac love.
"Since you are fresh from Pother side,
Pray tell me of that host
That tressered books before they died,"
Says I to Dibdin's ghost.
"For in the life they've won
There are no auctions to molest,
No creditors to dun;
Their heavenly nature has no bound—
Beside that Jasper sea—
It is a joy unknown to Lowndes!"
Says Dibdin's ghost to me.

Much I rejoiced to hear him speak
Of bibliomaniac love,
For I am one of those who seek
What bibliomaniacs love.
"But tell me—for I long to hear What doth concern me most—
Are wives admitted to that sphere?"
Says I to Dibdin's ghost.

"The women folk are few up there,
For 'twere not fair, you know,
That they our heavenly joy should share
Who vex us here below!
The few are those who have been kind
To husbands such as we—
They knew our Ode and didn't mind,"
Says Dibdin's ghost to me.

"But what of those who scold at us
When we would read in bed?
Or, wanting victuals, make a fuss
If we lay books instead?
And what of those who've dusted not
Our motley pride and boast?
Shall they grieve that sacred spot?"
Says I to Dibdin's ghost.

"Oh, no! They tread that other path
Which leads where tortures roll,
And worms—yes, bookworms—vent their Wrath
Upon the guilty soul!
Untouched of bibliomaniac grace
That saveth such as we,
They wallow in that dreadful place!"
Says Dibdin's ghost to me.

"To my dear wife will I recite
What things I've heard you say,
She'll let me read the books by night,
She'll let me buy by day,
For we together, by and by,
Would join that heavenly host—She's earned a rest as well as I!"
Says I to Dibdin's ghost.

Right in the Fashion.

She was a tall, angular woman of fifty, in a plain, straight-waisted calico dress, heavy shoes and a black straw hat, with long streamers, and the younger and smaller woman with her was patterned after her. They were evidently from the headwaters of the creek, and the city was a novelty to them. They were also a novelty to the city, and all unconsciously attracted the attention of everybody on Woodward avenue as they sauntered along looking in the windows and giving vent to their delight in various exclamations. Finally a city girl passed them wearing the latest, and the elderly woman saw her. She gazed a moment in open mouthed amazement and caught the other woman by the arm.

"By gravity, Sallie, do you see that?" she exclaimed.
Sallie's eyes followed her finger, and she nodded.
"We ain't up with the percession, air we?" she asked doubtfully, as she surveyed her attire.
Sallie shook her head sadly.

"Come on," exclaimed the elderly woman suddenly, and catching the young one by the hand she started for a gent's furnishing store across the street and went in with a whirl.
"Young man," she said to a clerk, "have you got any galluses for twenty-five cents a pair that'll fit me and Sallie here?"
Fifteen minutes later there were not two prouder women on Woodward avenue, and surely no two who were so much the observed of all observers.—Detroit Free Press.

"Do you not love to wander in the moonlight?"
"Yes," she answered.
"Why?"
"Because it saves gas."

"Will you be mine?"—Washington Star.

Fell Dead.
These words are very familiar to our readers, as not a day passes without the report of the sudden death of some prominent citizen. The explanation is heart disease. Therefore beware if you have any of the following symptoms: Short breath, pain in side, smothering spells, swollen ankles, asthmatic breathing, weak and hungry spells, tenderness in shoulder or arm, fluttering of heart or irregular pulse. These symptoms mean heart disease. The most reliable remedy is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which has saved thousands of lives. Book of testimonials free at all druggists who sell the New Heart Cure.

A New Infernal Machine.
It was rumored not long ago that Wizard Edison, the inventor, had agreed to construct an improved infernal machine for the Emperor William—a machine capable of destroying a town at a range of thirty miles or of wiping out an army corps. This rumor has been denied most emphatically by Edison, but there was scarcely any need for him to do so, as his humanitarian principles are well known. The American tendency in the matter of invention is toward the useful and the practical. Every day brings forth its convenient inventions or improvements in service, and it invariably has the best. Nervous and Chronic Diseases

Office in New York Block, cor. Tower avenue and 14th Street
West Superior, Wisconsin.

The physician in charge of this office is a graduate of the medical department of Harvard University.

YOUNG MEN Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this chance. DR. SPEER & CO., will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases of weakness of private diseases of any kind or character they undertake or forfeit $250.

They will therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice that you are treading on dangerous grounds when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedies for your complaint. Then for the first time you will realize what negligence means. Our success in such cases has been treated by us in different parts of the world. Call and get the benefit of our experience.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN There are many of the age of 30 to 50 who are often accompanied by slight smarting sensations and weakening the system in a manner which the patient cannot account for. On examination it will be found that the uric acid deposit a rosy sediment and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color will be a thin milky hue, and again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of weakness.

LADIES Finding it not convenient to call at the office can be treated by mail by sending a full description of their case. DR. SPEER & CO., will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases. Examination and advice free. Remember the place.

Parties wishing to consult Dr. Speer & Co., at West Superior will have their railroad fare deducted from the price of their treatment.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it?

To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for families.

It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking.

Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.

FLYING TO DEATH.

Fate of a Brave Female Aeronaut Dashed Against an Electric Light Tower.

Ballooning is Growing More Dangerous but There is No Diminution in Ascensions.

The Fearful Fascination Which Makes Men So Eager to Risk Their Lives.

"I will go up in that balloon tonight if I die for it. There has been fooling enough about my part of this exposition programme." So spoke brave little Gertrude Carmo on the Detroit Exposition grounds the other evening, when her friends urged that the weather was very unfavorable. The wind was coming and going in short and fitful gusts. A light rain was falling, and at seven o'clock it was already beginning to grow dark. But her ascension had been put off from day to day on account of the weather, the spirit of her art was aroused, and to a final renunciation she said: "It is no use talking, I will probably be the last ascension that I will ever make, but I am going up. You people are all singing the same song tonight. I tell you, as I told them, that nothing will prevent my going up. See that the balloon is in shape to do the fair thing by me, Curly."

This last to her assistant, who was inflating the globe with hot air. It is impossible not to admire such nerve. It looks foolhardy, but it is just such spirits as Gertrude Carmo who have made all the startling discoveries. It was the spirit of Columbus and Mungo Park, of Bernard Plösch and Montgolfier, the first great balloonist. Many fall, but when one succeeds the world is enriched by his success.

The globe was soon inflated and 5,000 people looked on as Gertrude Carmo took hold of the trapeze, and the swaying bulk was released and shot upward. The next instant a strong air current struck and swept it against the electric light tower. It swung off again.

The crowd held its breath.

GERTRUDE CARMO.

At the height of 150 feet another current hurried it directly upon the tower. There was a crash as the electric light globe smashed. The aeronaut found herself for a moment tangled in an electric light burner. When she succeeded in extricating herself she was hanging by her hands. She hung there in mid-air a second and then loosened her hold and fell.

When they reached her she was still breathing, but in a few seconds all was over. The rest may be left to the imagination. She was but twenty-two years old, a native of Germany, and her true name was Margaret Clansen. The saddest feature of the case is that her parents arrived at Detroit that evening to visit her, whom they had not seen for three years. They found only her mangled corpse and weeping sister.

The spirit of aeronauts is necessarily that of extreme daring, and the record of tragedies among them is appalling. The singular fact is, however, that the earliest aeronauts were most successful in landing, and as late as 1870 a historian of the art asserted that down to that time only twenty-five persons had lost their lives in balloon accidents. Certainly twice that many have since been killed.

The first balloon of which we have a certain record was sent up by Stephen and Joseph Montgolfier, June 5, 1783. They used hot air. Only five months later Pilatre de Rozier and the Marquis d'Arlandes made the first ascent, rising 3,000 feet. The world went wild over it, and before the close of 1784 nearly 100 ascents were made. The next year Blanchard, the greatest balloonist of the age, with Dr. John Jeffries, of Boston, crossed over the channel from England to France, and soon after occurred the first accident. Pilatre de Rozier and Romaine Laine tried to cross the channel by a combination of hydrogen gas and hot air. Their "Montgolfiere," as it was called, or heater to supply the hot air as fast as it was exhausted, set the gas on fire and they fell 3,000 feet, striking on a rock on the French coast.

Blanchard died in 1809 and his wife, who had often ascended with him, made many daring ascents alone. At length in 1819 she attempted to go up from the Trovi garden in Paris with fireworks exploding below the car as she arose. The wind carried the fire into the globe; it exploded and the brave lady was dashed to pieces on a housetop. Green, the eminent English aeronaut, made 1,400 ascents in thirty-six years and fell into the sea twice. Mr. John Wise, the American aeronaut, passed from St. Louis to Henderson, N. Y.,—1,130 miles—in a little over nineteen hours, or very nearly a mile per minute. In 1904 Gay Lussac outdid all his predecessors by rising 13,000 feet, and a little later reached 23,000 feet; but in 1892 Messrs. Gishner and Coxwell, for the Royal Society, outdid all before and after them by rising 37,000 feet or seven miles above the earth. Birds thrown out of the car fell like stones, and must have gone down nearly six miles before reaching a sustaining atmosphere.

In 1890 Mr. Thurston was carried up from Adrian, Mich., while holding to the ropes of a balloon, and what was thought to be his skeleton was afterward found in the northern woods. Since the parachute descent and the trapeze have been added the accidents have been very numerous, yet the number who will venture increases rapidly. There is a wild fascination. The case of Griswold, the Chicago Journalist who was lost with Professor Donaldson, is still fresh in the public memory. Pretty and daring Gertrude Carmo is but the last of many, the brave and the rash who have found death in the air.

Mutual Advice.

The benevolent old gentleman was plainly from the suburbs—possibly farther out. It was equally plain that he was horror struck at the sight of a street urchin pulling away valiantly at a big, rank looking cigar.

"My dear child," he exclaimed, "don't you know that will make you sick?" "Not in my nether life!" was the confident response. "Not me!"

"What! used to it, and at your age?" he moaned.

"Smoked ever since I was weaned," ejaculated the lad, expectorating copiously to emphasize his independence.

"And your parents allow it?" "What's them?"

"Why, your mother." "Ain't got no mudder."

"Poor boy! And your father?" "Ain't got no fadder."

"No father! Well, let me give you some good advice, my boy; smoking at your age stunts the growth and produces deadly diseases. It will kill you. Do throw away that wretched cigar."

"Not enny! Yer old yer nut, Whiskers. Smokin's good, prevents p'risis. Yeought'er 'a' tried it."—Detroit Tribune.

Dr. Jones was wandering down the road, soliloquizing on the beauty of nature, when his old friend Smith hailed him from a dogcart.

"How do?" said Dr. Jones. "Taking a drive for your health?"

"Not precisely," was the answer; "I am going to see a man who wants to buy a horse. What will you give me for my nag, Jones?"

Dr. Jones viewed the animal, and then answered with a professional air, "A prescription."

About seven miles from Ash Grove, Mo., is a natural phenomenon known as "Boggy mound." It is ninety feet in circumference and ten or twelve feet in the center. It seems to be saturated with water, and the whole mound may be shaken as if it were constructed of jelly or India rubber.

A puzzle to navigators which they have never solved is what becomes of the water which meets midway in the Mediterranean sea. A continual stream is always flowing down through the Dardanelles, and is met by another stream which flows up by the rock of Gibraltar. Where the water goes is a mystery.

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Sept. 16.—Continued fair weather prevails, as the whole country is covered by an area of high barometer, with a center over Minnesota and Iowa.

No rainfall of any consequence has fallen and all that did fall was along the lower lakes.

The temperature is slowly rising in all sections except over the Red river valley, where it is still low.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 57°, the lowest last night 46°.

DULUTH, Sept. 16.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Continued fair weather; slight change in temperature; north to west wind.

B. H. BROWN, Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Fair; slightly warmer in western portion; winds becoming east to south. For Wisconsin: Continued cool, fair weather with few clouds Saturday morning; probably warmer by Sunday; variable winds.

THE SATURDAY HERALD.

There is no question about which paper in Duluth has the popular call. The superiority of The Herald is recognized by all. Even its would-be rivals are compelled to admit that it excels them every day in the week in the presentation of the news of the world, while its advertising columns bear witness to the fact that the leading merchants know it is the best advertising medium, because its circulation exceeds that of the two morning papers combined. These facts speak louder than any words that The Herald can utter itself.

The Saturday edition of The Herald has long ago left the Sunday papers in the rear, both as regards the quality and quantity of its literary features and the completeness and attractiveness of its news columns. No paper in Duluth publishes as much local news as does The Herald. No other paper gives as complete a telegraphic service. All the news of the day is given on the day on which it occurs.

The Saturday Herald will be an interesting paper tomorrow in many ways. First and foremost will be the weekly letter of Bill Nye. This is a feature which the readers of The Herald always look forward to with interest. This week the genial humorist gives some interesting data about the razor back hog, and also tells of the Etruscan black bear which flourishes in the home of Senator Vance. At the same time he does not neglect to talk about the senator and why his home is called Combroon. Appropriate illustrations accompany the article.

Helen E. Gregory-Fletcher, M. A., contributes a special article, beautifully illustrated, on five bright women of whom Canada is proud on account of their brilliancy as writers, while Eliza Archard Conner furnishes some remarks on "What We Mean by Pecuniary Independence for Women." Both these articles will be read with interest by the ladies.

The Herald is publishing a series of special articles in connection with the coming celebration of Columbus day. Tomorrow there will be one by J. H. Beadle on the famed Santa Maria, the flagship of Christopher Columbus, in which it will be compared with modern sailing vessels. A portrait and sketch of Miss Edna Dean Proctor, who wrote the ode for the Columbus day celebration, will also be presented.

The latest news in the literary world will be given, with notices of coming publications. The attractions at the local theaters and general dramatic gossip will be treated at length, and all the doings of Duluth's society circles, past and prospective, will be given. The coming race meeting at the new driving park, the first in Duluth's history, will naturally call for extended reference, and all the local and telegraphic news will be presented in the attractive and complete form characteristic of The Herald.

CLEAN THE CITY.

The proclamation by Mayor d'Auremont calling upon the citizens to assist in putting the city in a perfect sanitary condition is timely. The Herald trusts that every citizen will heartily unite with the city authorities in cleansing the city thoroughly, and thus provide an effective safeguard against the dreaded cholera. There is no cause for alarm, but there is every reason for exercising the greatest care and precaution. It cannot be too often insisted that filth produces this terrible disease. The cholera germs increase and multiply where dirt abounds. They can obtain no hold where cleanliness prevails.

The duty of the hour is therefore plain. No measures should be neglected which will improve the city's sanitary condition. The health board cannot do this work alone. It must have the co-operation of all the people. Every house owner or occupant should obey the mayor's request to thorough clean their premises and avoid showing filth or garbage in the streets or alleys. All persons who know of the existence of any filth or nuisance of any kind should immediately notify the health board, and if no action is taken by the board to remove it, let them send word to The Herald and the complaint will receive immediate attention.

It is safe to say, however, that the board will now awaken from its lethargy and perform its whole duty. There is already evidence that it means business. Several people who have refused to obey its orders have been prosecuted, and it is announced that all other offenders will be similarly treated. At the same time the board must clean out the alleys and remove the rubbish from the streets, and this must be done without delay. The question of expense is of little consequence compared with the public health.

At the same time The Herald trusts that the matter of sewer connections will not be neglected. This is an important point. Duluth can never be put in a good sanitary condition as long as many houses are not connected with the sewers. Although Duluth has many miles of sewers, comparatively few sewer connections have been made. It is surely within the power of the health board to order that these connections be made at once, and to compel compliance with the order. The Herald hopes that the board will give this matter immediate attention.

CLOSE THE GATES.

Another death-laden ship reached New York this morning. Eleven more deaths from cholera on the voyage from Hamburg to New York are added by it to the already lengthy list of victims of the terrible disease. The vessel now rides at anchor with the other pest-laden steamers at quarantine in New York bay. All the passengers on this boat are immigrants. They left Hamburg early in the present month when cholera was already raging with the most frightful virulence.

The company that owns the vessel must have known that ship immigrants from that port at such a time meant inevitably the carrying of the deadly disease to this country. This shows that but little aid may be expected from the mercenary steamship companies in preventing cholera from gaining a foothold in America. It means that every vessel which arrives must be placed in quarantine and the work of guarding against the cholera's entrance increased.

There is no reason whatever why the existing state of affairs should be continued. More extreme measures than those now in force must be adopted. All immigration must be absolutely prohibited. This is the only solution of the difficulty which the federal and state health authorities are now experiencing at New York. President Harrison has it in his power to put an end to immigration until all danger of the infectious disease has passed.

The state health board of Michigan a week ago urged him to take such action. The mayors of numerous Western cities, including Duluth, have within the past few days sent telegrams to the president making similar requests. An affirmative answer to these requests should be no longer delayed. The time has arrived when the gates should be closed to all immigrants.

Mrs. Harrison's recovery is now said by leading physicians to be impossible. She may live a few days, perhaps weeks, but that death is near at hand seems certain. President Harrison will have the earnest sympathy of the entire country in the severe trial that he is now experiencing. This is an occasion when all political animosities are buried out of sight by that feeling of sympathy which makes the whole world kin.

Two men who stole diamonds in Tennessee have been released from custody, because they said they committed the crime in a drunken frenzy. It might be said that this is a novel view to be taken by the court, were it not for the fact that Duluth can furnish a precedent.

Woman is indeed a curious creature. There is a widow in Atchison county, Mo., who not only has forgiven a man who assisted to lynch her husband twenty years ago but is about to marry him.

Let every citizen make himself a committee of one to see that the city is thoroughly cleaned. He can accomplish this result by beginning work on his own premises.

Another South American president has declared himself a dictator. President Rodriguez of Costa Rica, apparently forgets the fate of Balmaceda.

American watch factories produce 35,000 watches per week. This explains why there are so many watches in the pawnbrokers' windows.

While You're Looking

For Jewelry permit us to remark that our stock is worth examining. A purchase of Jewelry is very properly made with more solicitude and care than is exercised in buying groceries. The latter are quickly consumed, and, if unsatisfactory, better goods can be bought next time. An investment in Diamonds or Watches is made once for all, and, if unsatisfactory, the difficulty can't be remedied. Hence the necessity for care and the wisdom of dealing with reliable firms. Every article we sell is exactly what we represent it and every statement we make can be relied upon. Don't fail to see our magnificent display of these goods, in the selection of which special care has been taken.

AMUSEMENTS.

"A Knotty Affair."

To many people the name of John C. Rice is unfamiliar for the reason that for a number of years he was a partner in the firm of Monroe and Rice, who delighted thousands with their roaring farce comedy, "My Aunt Bridget," and consequently his first name was, comparatively speaking, unknown. Last year the firm dissolved by mutual consent, and Mr. Rice started out on his own hook in a farce entitled "A Knotty Affair," and met with unprecedented success throughout the entire country. Unlike most pieces of this character, "A Knotty Affair" contains a highly interesting story and an intricate plot. The piece was written solely to amuse, and fills the bill; nothing more can be desired. "A Knotty Affair" will be produced at the Temple tomorrow evening.

"Leaves of Shamrock."

"Leaves of Shamrock" will be produced at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday evenings by John P. Sullivan and his company. "Leaves of Shamrock" is an unusually interesting story running through the play. It is entirely unlike the ordinary run of Irish comedy-drama, as the author was particularly careful to avoid utilizing any of the old conventions and Irish features which are generally pervasive Irish plays. His aim was to present a clean, natural comedy, and he endeavored to garnish his work with a goodly portion of fun, frolic, charming songs and characteristic dancing. The play is interpreted by a carefully selected company of artists who have each been chosen for their individual capabilities.

NEW CHOIR FOR ST. PAUL'S.

Arrangements Made for a Surplused Choir of Men and Boys.

It has been rumored for some time that St. Paul's Episcopal church was to have a large, surplused choir. A Herald reporter this morning met the rector, Rev. W. M. Barker, and inquired whether the report was correct. Mr. Barker promptly confirmed it, and added that definite arrangements have been concluded for a large surplused choir of men and boys, and as soon as some alterations have been made in the church the new choir will be introduced. It is necessary to alter the church to provide a suitable choir room.

The conductor of the surplused choir will be A. F. M. Custance, who has just arrived here from St. John, N. B., where he has been choir master in St. John the Baptist church for several years. He was also head master of the Davenport school there. Mr. Custance is an exhibitor of Brazenose college, Oxford, England, and has had extensive experience in the conduct of choirs. He is also thoroughly at home in orchestral work, being conductor of an orchestra of thirty pieces at St. John and also conductor of an equally large orchestra in England. It is also needless to say that Mr. Custance will be a valuable addition to musical circles in Duluth. St. Paul's church is to be congratulated upon obtaining such an efficient choir conductor.

Republican Orators Coming.

Hon. Knute Nelson, the Republican candidate for governor, is to speak in Duluth on Oct. 15. The meeting will take place at one of the opera houses. Professor Carlson will speak in the interest of the Republican party on Oct. 1 in either the Swedish or Norwegian language.

A LARGER CROWD.

The Second Day of the Republican League Meeting Showed a Bigger Attendance.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster Addresses a Meeting of Women Interested in the Party.

The College Clubs Also Held a Gathering Which Was Quite Largely Attended.

BUFFALO, Sept. 16.—The second day of the Republican league meeting opened auspiciously this morning, the sun shining brightly. The attendance is much larger than yesterday, many new delegates arriving last night and this morning. There was a tardiness in gathering this morning owing to the royal good time which the Buffalo club gave its guests at the famous White house last night. Today is the busy day of the convention and no less than four separate meetings were on the program.

The morning business session was supposed to open at 10 a. m., but it was near 11 when there was a quorum present and the president's gavel fell. In an adjoining hall at the same time Mrs. J. Ellen Foster was presiding over a meeting of interested women, and there was a very good attendance. Mrs. Foster opened the meeting with some preliminary remarks preparatory to the work that the women expected to do in the campaign. She said that it was an acknowledged fact that the influence of women was great and why should it not be as great in politics, in pure politics as in other pure things. The relation of women to politics would be to purify them, to make the issues moral ones and to educate at least their sons, the voters, to vote for their country's welfare and not simply in a blind way for a party.

She said the object of the association was to encourage women to study Republican doctrines and to arouse good men to action and to help the election of Republican candidates. She launched into a long explanation of the advantages of Republicanism to Democracy, and closed by urging the women of Buffalo to organize so as to aid in encouraging the men. Many clubs, she said, were forming in the country and their membership is largely increasing. The first New York women's state club was organized in Glens Falls last Friday.

Shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon the American Republican college league began its session in a small hall adjoining the main convention hall. There was an excellent attendance and much enthusiasm. The college delegates numbered about 150 and represented Yale, Harvard, Cornell, Union, Rutgers and Ann Arbor, besides many preparatory and high schools. The meeting was called to order by President James Francis Burke who made a lengthy address. He said in part:

"For the first time in the history of American politics, on the eve of a presidential election, the college and university Republicans of the nation have sent their representatives to participate in the proceedings of a convention which has for its object the perpetuation of the principles of the Republican party, the triumph of Republican candidates and the continuation of Republican administration. We have entered this field with the keenest realization of the duties and responsibilities which it brings, and with a firm resolve to discharge those duties as becomes the courage and the conscience of American youth. We come to face the issues of the day as Americans and Republicans and our labors will have ceased when every duty of our party has been performed and her every pledge redeemed."

The address was received with applause and the glee club sang some selections.

Louisville, Ky., and the second Wednesday in May next were decided upon as the place and time for holding the next Republican league convention.

Gen. Clarkson was re-elected president of the Republican National league by acclamation. A. B. Humphreys was re-elected secretary, and W. S. Lounsbury treasurer.

DR. TEIGEN'S HOMESTEAD.

Is it in Any Way Connected With a Mining Company?

Concerning Dr. Teigen, the third party candidate for congress in North Dakota, who is alleged to have taken up a claim in the Duluth land district and swore that he intended to settle on it, the Fargo Dakota says:

March 25, 1892, there appeared at the land office at Duluth a smooth-shaven, well-clad and corpulent man, who called himself Martin O. Teigen, of Fargo, N. D. He said he had come with the honorable intention of taking up a claim upon which he intended to settle with his family. This Martin O. Teigen, who solemnly swore that it was his bona fide intention to settle in said quarter section of land in Minnesota, is the same man who now seeks to be elected congressman from North Dakota. If Mr. Teigen intended to do as he swore in his affidavit, he must have established actual residence on said land by Sept. 25. Will the doctor have the kindness to write a few more explanations, and kindly answer the following questions:

First—Was it ever his intention to settle on said quarter of land?

Second—If so, is it his intention to move there, or give up the land?

Third—Was this quarter section of land in any way connected with the mining company in which he said he was interested last spring, after his return from Duluth, and of whose stock he promised to present his friends some shares?

Fourth—Is this quarter of land the same as the mineral land he said he had bought and from which he expected such great wealth?

Nuncios from Rome.

Two Prominent Prelates Who Will Soon Visit the Northwest.

The Northwest will be honored within the next few weeks, by the presence in St. Paul of two of the most exalted officials of the church of Rome and special emissaries of the pope. The fact that Archbishop Satolli is on his way to America as papal nuncio to look into the affairs of the church in this country has been kept very quiet for diplomatic reason, but such is the case, as also the farther fact that Monsignor O'Connell is the other emissary referred to. Archbishop Satolli, whose title, by the way, is archbishop of Lepanto, the scene of the famous victory of the Turks, is rector of the College for Noble Ecclesiastics and professor of dogmatic theology at the propaganda. The college for the noble ecclesiastics is chiefly for the purpose of giving priests a diplomatic education, so that it goes without saying that the archbishop is a diplomat of more than ordinary ability. His close alliance with the head of the church is plain when it is shown that the pope brought him from Perugia, the pope's own diocese, before he was made pope, and where Satolli had been for ten years a professor.

Monsignor O'Connell is an American, well known in the Northwest. He is rector of the American college in Rome, a young man of great attainments, and one of the most promising diplomats in the holy city. He is what is known as a domestic prelate to the pope. Under his rectorship the American college has been very flourishing. He is known by almost all the Americans who have visited Rome in the last ten years and is much honored for his unvarying courtesy and kindness to people from this country, of whatever denomination, who go to Rome.

These distinguished representatives of the church in Rome will represent the pope at the meeting of the archbishops to be held in New York in October, and also at the Columbian exposition in 1893. Their chief mission is of course to take part in the discussion of that gravest of Catholic problems, the school question, which will be the principal matter before the prelates of the American church this year. The sending of special emissaries from Rome to represent the pope in the discussion is evidence that the situation is looked upon as a serious one by the propoganda.

The question for discussion has nothing to do with the Faribault system, the controversy on that point having been settled by the decision of "tolerari potest," which has since been officially interpreted as meaning "permitted without question." The problem to be taken up, though, is one of great moment in America, viz, the means to be adopted for the religious education of Catholic children who do not attend the parochial schools.

The militia circle at this place is considerably tickled over the action of a corporal and squad who left camp last evening to bring in a private who was known to be visiting a young lady. The corporal boldly rapped at the door and upon gaining admittance said, "Billy, I want you," and Billy replied "all right, wait till I get my hat" and disappeared for the hat, but did not again reappear. The squad watched the house until 2 o'clock and then returned to camp, and Billy turned up in camp this morning. It seems that the joke is on the corporal.

Mayor d'Autremont by Proclamation Calls on the People for Co-Operation.

Complaints to the Board of Health Against Nuisances Will be Treated as Confidential.

The board of health met yesterday afternoon in Mayor d'Autremont's office, pursuant to his call for a special meeting to take precautionary measures against cholera. Those present were Health Officer Dr. Goffe, Ald. Thomas, Ald. Cox and Messrs. Ash and Heisler. The situation was thoroughly discussed and it was emphatically resolved that the city must be thoroughly cleaned and without delay. Cholera thrives in filth and squalor and seldom appears in clean and wholesome localities.

Mayor d'Autremont has issued a proclamation calling upon the people for co-operation. All owners and occupants of property are requested to at once thoroughly clean their premises and to throw no garbage in the streets or alleys. The people generally are also requested to notify the board of health if they have knowledge of any disease-breeding nuisance in any part of the city. These complaints will be treated as confidential, so there need be no hesitation on the score of arousing any ill feeling.

Following the example of other lake cities, Mayor d'Autremont has telegraphed President Harrison recommending that navigation be stopped for ninety days.

The board of health is thoroughly aroused and has already commenced active work. Property owners who disobey notices are going to be prosecuted and fined, instead of having their work done and charged up to them.

The fire warden is after the people who kindle fires in the streets and alleys in the various parts of the city, as it is clearly against the provisions of the fire ordinance. He is also taking extra measures to act in unison with the board of health and will insist on a rigid cleaning up of all combustible material which may breed disease or afford a chance for fire of any description. He says his orders must be complied with or wholesale arrests and prosecutions will follow.

THE DATES FIXED.

Republican Legislative and Judicial Conventions Called for Oct. 6.

All fears of a snap Republican legislative convention are now dissipated. The committee yesterday decided that the convention shall be held at the city hall in Duluth, on Oct. 6, at 2 o'clock, and the call was published this morning. St. Louis county is given thirty-three delegates, Lake county four and Cook county two. Three candidates for the legislature are to be nominated.

The judicial committee called a convention of the Eleventh judicial district to meet at the city hall in Duluth at 11 o'clock on October 6, the same date, for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for the judgeship. St. Louis, Lake and Cook counties are allowed the same number of delegates, and Carlton county gets eight delegates.

SUPERIOR NEWS.

Water Was Turned Into the New Dry Dock Yesterday.

The Steel Barge company's dry dock was practically completed yesterday. Water was let into it shortly after noon for the purpose of testing the immense gate which holds the outer floods away after the inside has been pumped out. The dock filled in about one hour. It can be pumped out in two and one-half hours when not occupied by a vessel, otherwise in two hours. The pumping machinery is turned by two Porter engines of 125 horse power, working separately yet in conjunction, and throwing 16,000 gallons of water per minute. The dry dock is not an elevation, but a vast hole in the ground lined with solid square timbers and deep enough and long enough so the largest ship may sail into it when it is full of water. It is said the dock will have work even before a competent crew of ship carpenters can be secured.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the register of deeds yesterday by the Billings Hardware company. The capital stock is $300,000 and the company will do a wholesale business in heavy hardware. The directors are W. P. Cockey, R. J. Wemyss, W. B. Banks and D. L. Billings. W. P. Cockey will be manager and P. M. Kendrick will take the place made vacant by Mr. Cockey's resignation in the Warehouse & Builders' Supply company.

The work of construction on the York furnace plant will be commenced at Superior next week.

Bids for Harbor Work. The bids for doing the dredging in Superior bay, provided for by an appropriation of $70,000 for Superior in the river and harbor bill, were opened yesterday by Capt. Fiske, government engineer. There were three bids, scow measure, as follows: Chicago Dredging and Dock company, 20 cents; Williams, Daugherty & Upham, 14 1/2 cents; Capt. C. S. Barker, 14 1/2 cents. The bids have been forwarded to Washington.

Palmer-Cameron Nuptials.

The marriage of Miss Maude Cameron, daughter of Mrs. C. P. Craig and Mr. George S. Palmer, of Spokane Falls, Wash., was celebrated on Wednesday last at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Craig, Rev. W. M. Barker performing the ceremony. The wedding was a private one and only the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present. The bridal couple left in the afternoon for Spokane Falls, where they reside in future. Mr. Palmer is manager of the Washington Water Power company, of that city.

ARE GOING TO CHICAGO.

Duluth and West Duluth Companies to Take a Trip.

On the morning of Wednesday, Oct. 19, three trains loaded with the soldier boys of the three regiments of Minnesota's national guard will leave Minneapolis and St. Paul for Chicago, where the men will participate in the ceremonies attendant upon the opening of the World's Columbian fair. The First and Third regiment companies will all rendezvous at St. Paul, while the Second will go across country in order to get the more direct route. The Third talks of assembling at St. Paul in time for a field day before going on to Chicago. Of the three trains there will be one for the First, one for the Third and one for such companies of the Second as may start from the Twin cities. These trains will start from Minneapolis. The mounted troops will go with the Third regiment, as that command has but eight companies to ten for the other regiments.

Gen. Bend and staff will leave on the evening of the 18th, arriving in Chicago the next morning, and will see to it that every preparation has been made for the troops. The trains will run with very few stops, and the men must take one day's rations with them. The trains will run into the fair grounds and the men will be quartered in the mining building on the grounds.

The number of men who will go is likely to be much larger than was at first anticipated. Col. Reeve expects to take at least forty men from each of his ten companies, and these, with the field staff, non-commissioned staff and band will swell the total to 440 men at a low estimate.

In the Third regiment the reports from the commanders of the various companies give the following estimate: Adah 45, Anoka 45, Spring Valley 50, Zumbrota 45, A of Duluth 45 or 50, G of West Duluth 40, H of West Duluth 40, and these with the field, staff, non-commissioned staff and band, will bring the total close up to 400.

As the Second there is no estimate at hand, but it ought to do as well as the First.

Dress uniforms will be taken, for it will be a show occasion. The men will be absent for five days, two days in Chicago, Sub-sistence will be provided for them while in Chicago. The overcoats of the First regiment will be completed by that time so that they can be taken along. The First has been agitating the question of the number of men to take in the band, as that will be a considerable expense. Thirty-two musicians will cost $500, and twenty musicians $400.

The brigade will reach Chicago on the morning of Thursday, the 20th. On that day there will be a great civic parade, which the men may witness if they choose. On Friday, the 21st, the dedication of the buildings will take place with a great military parade in which the command will participate, and will be followed by a review by the president of the United States. Other features of the dedication are not yet announced.

ENDORSES THEM.

A Granite Man Who Thinks the St. Cloud Stonecutters Are Right.

Manager Walter Arnold, of the Northern Granite company, of St. Cloud, in speaking of the action of the St. Cloud granite cutters in refusing to cut stone for Nevins, Son & Ashworth, on their Duluth contract of 14,000 feet of curbing, said to a St. Cloud reporter a day or two ago:

"I think the action of the stonecutters is justifiable, and believe they would have taken the same course if that had been the only contract in St. Cloud in which they could work. It is done to protect the trade, and the sooner the contractors at Duluth realize that they cannot get cheap stone for the reformatories for part of their contract, and get the rest filled by free labor, the better it will be for the stone industry. The only bad feature about the affair is that it may possibly lead to sand stone being used for curbing at Duluth instead of granite as at present. The city council has stipulated for granite this year."

Superintendent Myers' last trip to Duluth was made for the purpose of looking after some granite business. He said in St. Cloud, however, that he is only furnishing a few corners to complete an old contract.

THE RACE TRACK.

Great Amount of Work Done Yesterday—Everything Promising.

An enormous amount of work was put in on the race tracks and driving park yesterday. The track is entirely to grade and is getting hard. The center field is entirely leveled, and after being harrowed and fixed up somewhat, will be made an excellent place for carriages. The grand stand is being rushed very rapidly and will be completed tomorrow. Two car loads of chairs for the stand were received yesterday. A box has been provided in the grand stand for the reporters, directly opposite the judges' stand and under the wire. The fifty tables are completed and men are at work on the big gate.

SHE CANNOT LIVE.

The Physicians Say That There is No Hope of Mrs. Harrison's Recovery.

Her Condition is Unchanged From Yesterday, the Disease Being Temporarily Checked.

All the Chances, However, Are Against Her Being Able to Survive Long.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—A dispatch from Loon Lake says that Mrs. Harrison passed a fairly good night, and her condition this morning is about the same as yesterday. There is little hope entertained, however, that she will recover. One of the leading physicians of Washington said yesterday:

"The recovery of Mrs. Harrison is impossible. Of course, her physicians will not acknowledge this fact without reservations, but the president and the people should know the actual condition of the wife of the president. I can explain it to you very simply. Mrs. Harrison had tuberculosis of the right lung and subacute pleurisy, with rapid effusion of water.

MRS. BENJAMIN HARRISON.

"Now, the pleura is a serious membrane. It is like a double sack, and each separate pleura encloses a lung. In this case the right pleura is filling with water. It is a sack of two thicknesses, and between its serious walls there is an accumulation of water. As the pleura swells it presses upward upon the lung and causes suffocation. The right apex of the lung is hardening. The apex of the lung is under the collar bone. It is supplied with less blood than the lower part of the lung, and, consequently, less nutrition. It is the weakest point.

"The presence of fluid in the pleura prevents expansion of the lung, and frequently causes sudden collapse of the lung. Tapping the pleura releases the accumulated fluid, and relieves the lung. But every tapping is a traumatic or surgical shock to the patient. The loss of blood each time weakens her. These tapplings are only made when it is certain that the patient will die without such relief. The result is only to prolong life a few hours. The unfortunate lady is now in such a condition that her recovery is absolutely impossible."

A SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT.

Physicians Are More Hopeful Than They Were.

LOON LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Shortly before noon the physicians went to the Harrison cottage to make an examination of the patient. They are exceedingly gratified at the slight improvement shown in Mrs. Harrison's illness since the critical period of Tuesday and Wednesday, and while they will not give any great encouragement to the president and his family, it is evident that they are more hopeful than they have been at any time this week.

Mrs. Harrison, however, is still in a critical stage, and a change for the worse might come from the nature of the disease with surprising suddenness.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

A Wealthy Michigan Citizen Confesses a Brutal Crime.

HARRISVILLE, Mich., Sept. 16.—Confronted by two detectives last night, Alfred Henshaw, one of the most prominent and wealthy citizens here, broke down and confessed to a brutal murder committed by him at Strathroy, Ont., ten years ago.

At that time Henshaw was a lumberman at Strathroy and became involved in financial troubles. His partner, one Richard Drake, found fault with his conduct and one night in a quarrel Henshaw stabbed him to death in their office, locked the body in the safe and fled. Ten days later the body was discovered, but no clew could be found of the murderer. Large rewards were offered, but nothing came of them.

Six months ago the son of Drake offered two local detectives $1000 if they caught his father's murderer. The men accepted the task and after a long chase through New York, Mexico, San Francisco, Chicago and Michigan, finally located Henshaw here.

NO FOOD OR DRINK.

Intense Sufferings By the Crew of a Wrecked Vessel.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 16.—Three members of the crew of the British bark hope, wrecked in a gale on August 22, were brought to this port yesterday having been rescued from a raft off the grand banks, after floating four days. Their captain, David Jenkins, the mate and four of the crew were drowned.

The vessel was turned completely over in the gale and the crew made a raft of the lumber with which the vessel was laden. One by one they were washed off until only the boatswain, William Rees, and Seaman Arthur Jolliffe and John Nichols remained. They floated four days without food or drink and their sufferings were intense.

A MYSTERIOUS MARSHAL.

The Reported Capture of the Dalton Gang Doubtful.

DEMING, N. M., Sept. 16.—Deputy United States Marshal Williams, who telegraphed from here to the marshal at Paris, Tex., that he had captured the Dalton gang of train robbers, has not put in an appearance since Wednesday morning.

He asked for money and instructions as to the disposal of his prisoners and told the manager of the telegraph office that nothing must get out regarding the capture. He drank heavily. He stayed in his room Tuesday night until after dark. He showed his landlady legal papers and a number of railroad passes and said he was a United States marshal.

A bottle of whisky in his room had a stopper made of two United States court subpoenas for witnesses issued by the United States circuit court of Paris, Texas. There was no indorsement to show that they had been executed. It is believed here the marshal is in the mountains waiting to secure the balance of the gang; also that it is a job to throw the United States marshals off the right track of the gang.

All a Hoax.

SA FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—A Santa Fe dispatch says the reported capture of the Daltons is a hoax. The Southern Pacific company also received news that it was false.

DESERTS HER AFFIANCED.

A Janesville Woman Makes Up With Her Old Lover and Weds Him.

JANESVILLE, Wis., Sept. 16.—A sensation occurred in the social circles of this city Wednesday evening, caused by the marriage of Jennie Louise Schecker to Frank W. Wheelock after the engagement had been made and broken and the bride affianced to David G. Maxwell, a prominent Chicago manufacturer, and the invitations for the latter event issued.

The announcement was made that Wheelock and Miss Schecker had made up, that the ceremony had been performed and that they had taken the 6:20 train for Chicago. People did not believe it and many insisted that it was impossible. The matter was settled by the Rev. S. P. Wilder, pastor of the Congregational church. When called upon he exposed his blank, duly filled out, which he certified to the marriage of Frank W. Wheelock, aged 23, and Miss Jennie Louise Schecker, aged 21.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Schecker, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wheelock, one of Janesville's most solid merchants. Janesville has not had such a sensation in many a day.

TROUBLE IN COSTA RICA.

Another President Has Made Himself a Dictator.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The Herald's cable dispatch from San Juan Del Sur, Costa Rica, says: Trouble has arisen between the legislature and the executive. Among other things President Rodriguez favors religious instruction in the public schools. In this he was opposed by a majority of congress.

He in consequence dissolved congress and ordered new elections. He defended his action in a proclamation to the people. He is strongly supported by the bishops, the clergy and the lower classes. A deputation of 3000 of his admirers called on the president a few days ago and assured him of their support.

President Rodriguez on Tuesday declared himself dictator and suspended all constitutional rights. Public feeling runs high and trouble is feared.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

It is Likely to Affect Politics in Wisconsin and Illinois.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The New York Herald says today: "Whatever may be the merits of the old school controversy, which for several years has been agitating some of the Northwestern states, it is manifest to everybody that the menaces of the Roman Catholic prelates and the German Lutheran pastors change the face of the political horizon. Of course, the national Republican party is not responsible for the local statutes of Illinois or Wisconsin. Nevertheless, when men are moved to bolt the state ticket of a party they are likely to elect their electoral ticket as well. President Harrison's campaign managers will have to do a goodly share of harmonizing elsewhere than in New York."

ANOTHER SAFE COMBINE.

A Gigantic Trust to be Formed With a Big Capital.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16.—The success of the Herring-Hall-Marvin safe combine has led to another contemplated trust of a similar character and magnitude. It is reported here that the Miller Safe and Iron works, of this city, one of the largest in the country; the MacNeil & Urban and the Mosler Safe company of Hamilton, O.; the Diebold Safe and Lock company, of Canton, O.; the Cincinnati Safe and Lock company, of Cincinnati, and the Cary Safe company, of Buffalo, and some others will be included in the combination.

The organization and incorporation of this company will be effected about Oct. 1, and the capital stock will be not less than $5,000,000.

AN AWFUL PLUNGE.

A Whole Family Thrown Over a Twenty-Foot Embankment.

MASON CITY, Ia., Sept. 16.—A terrible accident has occurred three miles north of this city. B. A. Fellows, with his wife, mother and two children, were driving over the bridge spanning Lime creek. The embankment had settled, leaving the bridge elevated about eight inches, and when the wagon struck this the ever broke. The wagon turned and went over a twenty-foot embankment. All are seriously injured, the mother and one child fatally.

Howells Has Resigned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—William Dean Howells has resigned his position as editor of the Cosmopolitan, and the October number comes out without his name on the cover. Mr. Howells was in the Cosmopolitan office but three months, having been unable to agree with Mr. Joan Brysen Walker, the proprietor. This is denied at the office of the Cosmopolitan.

KEPT FROM TEMPTATION.

A Woman Who Has Never Been Out of Doors.

ANSONIA, Conn., Sept. 16.—The attention of the local humane agents was recently called to the case of a woman 22 years of age living in the center of Torrington, a little town up the Naugatuck valley, who has never during her life been out of doors, never been to church or Sunday school, and has, as far as possible been out of the world about her. The King's Daughters and the Woman's Relief Corps have interested themselves in the case and the girl has been provided with suitable clothing.

Recently she has been taken to Sunday school and to a picnic. The scenes were strange and bewildering to her, and her pleasure was so great that she seemed to go wild with joy. The reason given by those who had held the girl in confinement was that she was too ill-looking to be seen in public and that she had no clothes to wear. As the girl is quite pretty when she is dressed in suitable clothing, this reason seems to be a manufactured one. Afterward it was learned that an elder sister of the girl had been led astray, and her parents determined to save the younger sister from any such temptation of the world. The young girl is not ignorant, having been fairly well taught by her parents.

GONE TO THE WALL.

Another English Building Society Has Added to the List of Building Society Failures.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Another has been added to the list of building society failures. The Provident Bank and Building society today posted notice of suspension. The Provident society was founded thirty years ago and has a large number of small depositors.

Since the stoppage of the London and General bank there has been a persistent drain on the Provident, and since the run on the Birkbeck bank began the demands of the Provident's depositors have increased to such extent as to absorb all available funds. Unlike the Birkbeck, the Provident was unable to bear up under the strain and notice of suspension was therefore given.

The Keeley League Now.

DWIGHT, Ill., Sept. 16.—The Keeley league is the new name just adopted by the Bichloride of Gold clubs. The third annual meeting will be held at Cincinnati on the second Tuesday of September, '93. An executive committee and officers were elected yesterday as follows: President, S. E. Moore, Pittsburg, Pa.; secretary and treasurer, John M. Keeley, Pittsburg.

Presentation of Petitions and Other Communications.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 12, 1892.
To the Honorable the President and members of the Common Council of the City of Duluth:
Gentlemen:
A great many of the ladies of Duluth, as will be seen by the enclosed petition, have asked that the salary of the police matron of this city be increased from $35 to $50 per month, for the reason that her present salary is insufficient to pay her expenses, she being liable to be called upon at any hour of the night or day, cannot engage in any other occupation.
I am also informed that the present matron is a very fit and capable person, for the position has fulfilled the duties of her place well and done a great deal of good in the city of which no account has been publicly made.
Under the circumstances it would seem that if we have a police matron here, for the position is a necessary one, she certainly should receive enough pay to live upon.
I would therefore respectfully request that your honorable body increase her salary from $35 to $50 per month.
Very respectfully yours,
C. D'ARTEMONT, JR., Mayor.

Referred to police committee.

The Honorable the President and members of the Common Council of the City of Duluth:
Gentlemen:

A committee of the Duluth Humane society called upon me and asked that I would request your honorable body to appropriate the sum of $25 per month towards paying the expenses of their agent in carrying on a good work in which they are engaged in Duluth.

From the report of the agent hereto attached you will see that the society has been very active and diligent in Duluth for the past eight months, not only in caring for stray animals but in looking after the welfare of little children, and also general humane work.

Considering the good work they have already done and the vast amount that they may do in the future with a little help from the city, I would respectfully ask your honorable body that you appropriate the sum of $25 per month to aid and assist them therein.
Very respectfully yours,
C. D'ARTEMONT, JR., Mayor.

Referred to the police committee.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 12, 1892.

To the Honorable the President and members of the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:
I hereby return, without my approval, an ordinance amending an ordinance entitled, "An ordinance relating to the Duluth & Northern Railway and Terminal Company the right-of-way to run over and across certain streets and highways in the city of Duluth, Minnesota," passed May 29, 1892, said unapproved amendment was passed Sept. 1, 1892.

While the ordinance as it now exists provides that the said railway company "shall with reasonable dispatch and as rapidly as the same can be utilized, construct and put in operation its tracks upon the right-of-way granted," and while the first part of the proposed amendment down to the proviso, is an improvement on the ordinance as it now exists, still the effect of that proviso, as I look upon it, would be to give the Duluth & Northern Railway and Terminal Company a franchise on Railroad street, without constructing a track thereon, with right to hold the same forever, if no other railroad should give it a franchise, and notice that such other road required trackage on that street. If after such notice the terminal company should fail to construct its tracks upon the right-of-way, and because of such failure the city should be forced to forfeit the franchise, it would be incumbent upon the city in order to avoid such forfeiture, to prove that the "necessities" of such other road "required" a track on Railroad street, which after a four months' notice the said Duluth & Northern Railway and Terminal Company had failed to construct, the proof of such "necessities" might be considered.

It would seem better to provide by an amendment, that the said railroad company should have its road laid out ready for operation on all the streets over which right-of-way is granted by July 1, 1893, or else forfeit all rights to such streets, on which it had not seen fit to construct its road within that time; and also to embody therein the first part of said proposed amendment down to the word "provided" in the ninth line of section 1 thereof.

This ordinance was presented to me on Sept. 6, but one day since then, and it is returned to you within the required time.
Very truly yours,
C. D'ARTEMONT, JR., Mayor.

On motion of Alderman Thomas the communication was received and filed.

A communication was read from the board of fire commissioners, asking the city to purchase a team for the fire department.

Referred to committee on fire department.

A communication was read from S. A. Thompson, chairman of the joint committee on the celebration of the centennial of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, and on motion of Alderman Long, the chair appointed a committee of three, consisting of Aldermen Helm, Wilson and Dingwall.

Office of the Board of Public Works,
City of Duluth, Minn., Sept. 10, 1892.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:
The board of public works has had under consideration the resolution of your honorable body relative to the connection of a sewer in the alley between Superior street and First street, from Twenty-second avenue west to Twenty-fourth avenue west, and has investigated the proposed improvement, recommended the following:

1. That the contemplated improvement is necessary and proper.
2. That the improvement is not petitioned for by a majority of the owners to be assessed therefor.
3. That real estate can be found benefited to the extent of the damages, costs and expenses incurred in making said improvement.
4. That the estimated expense thereof is $2,900.40.

We herewith send you a profile of said improvement and an order for your adoption if you desire the work done.
Yours, s, says 9.

HENRY TRULSEN,
President.

T. W. ABELL,

Superintendent Craig Denies That the Aldermen Get Free Gas and Water.

W. H. Peers Gets a Verdict Against Charles Nichols in the "Mutton" Case.

Fred Russell was before the grand jury yesterday giving testimony to various matters connected with the city government. One portion of his testimony was quite sensational. He was handed the envelope received by Morris Thomas and asked if he could identify the handwriting, and replied that he would know it anywhere as that of Frank Burke, Jr., city clerk. Superintendent Craig was also before the jury but not very much was gained from him except a denial that the aldermen received their gas and water free. President Hugo and Aldermen Sorensen, Helm and Nelson were also examined but they were questioned only on the city printing matter. Emil Schmidt and M. A. Hayes were examined and also Comptroller Ten Brook.

This afternoon the jury is in session again and expects to get through with all witnesses. Frank Burke, Jr., is to be examined this afternoon and will probably be before the jury for some time.

Before Judge Stearns, in room No. 1, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $200 in the case of Peers vs. Nichols, which proves that the carcass which the defendant seized was mutton and not venison. In the case of the Marine National bank vs. Montague & Lazier the court instructed the jury to return a verdict for the plaintiff. They did so and fixed the amount at $1301.65. Case 120, F. H. Barnard vs. the State bank of Duluth, is now on trial.

Before Judge Ensign, in room No. 2, the case of Alexander McKillop vs. the Duluth Street Railway company will reach the jury this afternoon, and another case, probably No. 132, will be taken up.

STRONG WHEAT MARKET.

Trading Very Active and Prices Ruled Higher.

The wheat market was strong, firm and active today. There was a good demand for both cash and futures, and prices ruled higher than yesterday. Cash No. 1 hard opened firm, with a fair demand, a number of car lots selling at 1/2c higher than yesterday. Cash No. 1 northern had good trading at 1/2c advance, and there was active trading in No. 2 northern, with large sales at 1/2c higher. September started 1/2c up, with large trading, and lost the advance with further heavy transactions, but rallied again before the close. December was very dull, May No. 1 northern opened at 75c and advanced under small transactions to 75c. The close was irregular and from 1/2c to 1c above yesterday, as follows:
No. 1 hard, cash, 74 1/2c; September, 74 1/2c; December, 74 1/2c; May, 74 1/2c.
No. 1 northern, cash, 75c; September, 75c; December, 75c; May, 75c.
No. 2 northern, cash, 69 1/2c; September, 69 1/2c; December, 69 1/2c; May, 69 1/2c.
Rejected, 50c. On track, No. 1 hard, 74 1/2c; No. 1 northern, 74 1/2c.
Car inspection today, 216. Receipts—Wheat, 205,331 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 221,435 bus. Cars on track, 307; last year, 460.

Outside Markets.

AMERICAN STORE.

A. T. Stewart Once Said:

"If you want to prove the alertness of the many, show an article with an intrinsic value at a low price; it will at once become recognized without saying anything."

We have found the above assertion true in every instance in the store.

A SUIT WAS ONCE BROUGHT AGAINST P.T. BARNUM for failing to fulfill the claims of the bill-board circulars. He brought into court a special sale advertisement of one of the local dry goods houses and proved him to be the greatest liar of the two.

IN THE DEPTHS

The Steamship Vienna Sunk in Sixty Fathoms of Water Near Whitefish Point.

Was Run Into by the Nepigon in a Clear Light Early This Morning.

The Crew Saved by Jumping Aboard
the Nepigon as the Vienna Went Down.

Nothing Can Now be Seen of the Vessel, Which Was Ore Laden.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 17.— [Special to The Herald.]—The steam ship Nepigon, Capt. A. C. May, up-bound light towing the schooners Melbourne and Delaware, and the Vienna, Capt. J. W. Nicholson, down bound, iron ore laden towing the schooner Mattie C. Bell, came into collision at 12:25 this morning four miles this side of Whitefish Point.

The Nepigon's stern and forefoot are badly crushed. The Vienna did not make water very fast and did not go to the bottom until the Nepigon had towed her within one mile of shore, where she sank in sixty fathoms of water, six miles this side of Whitefish Point light. She was in tow of the Nepigon for one hour.

The crew jumped aboard the Nepigon
as she went down, and were rescued all their effects. They arrived here on the Nepigon at 4 o'clock this morning.
The tug Merrick left to bring in the schooner Bell. The two consorts of the Nepigon are lying under Whitefish Point. No cause can be assigned for the accident as both steamers whistled for port, and the Nepigon struck the Vienna on the port side. The weather was fair and the light clear.

The steamship Vienna was built by Quayle & Sons in 1873, was owned by the Orient Transportation company, of Cleveland, was valued at $46,000, was classed A2 and was of 821 tons net.
Nothing can be seen of her.

Oscoda and Consorts Missing.
ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 17.—Considerable concern is being felt for the safety of the steamers Oscoda and consorts, Ida Corning and Donaldson. Nothing has been heard of them since they locked through the Soo Monday.

THE CHOLERA FLEET.

The Wyoming's Passengers Refuse to Go to Fire Island.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—At 9 o'clock
the fleet of quarantined vessels at the lower and upper stations stand as follows: In lower quarantine are the steamships Normannia, Moravia, Rugia, Scandia, Heligoland, Bohemia and Suevia.

The Wyoming left the lower quarantine at 7:30 and anchored in the narrows. At the upper station are the Willamet, State of Nevada, Bothnia, City of Chester, Mohawk and the Fuerst Bismarck.

Dr. Voigt reports to Dr. Jenkins that the Wyoming's passengers refuse to go to Fire Island, claiming that the Wyoming is not an infected ship. The doctor will compel them to go tomorrow even if he has to use force.
One of the cases from the Bohemia, on Swinburne island died during the night.
There are no new cases reported in the city.

THE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Delegates and Visitors Arriving at the Capital.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The program of entertainments arranged for the G. A.
R. at the encampment next week will be carried out, with the exception of the reception at the White house. This will probably not take place, owing to the serious nature of the illness of Mrs. Harrison.

The streets are filling up rapidly with delegates and visitors, and at 10:15 the road stations the crush now equals the heaviest at inauguration times. Gen.
Palmer, commander-in-chief, will arrive from Albany tomorrow night.

IS FEELING BETTER.

Mrs. Harrison Shows Considerable Improvement Today.

LOON LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Mrs.
Harrison passed a comfortable night this morning she said that she was feeling better. When Dr. Gardner and the members of the president's party walked over from the Harrison cottage to the hotel for breakfast this morning, they looked bright and cheerful, and showed by their general appearance that refreshing sleep had come with the passing of danger to the distinguished patient. The president looked much better than he has since the early part of the week.

CANNOT SPEAK ENGLISH.

Over 34 Per Cent of the Aliens in Minnesota Thus Affected.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The census bureau has issued a bulletin on the color, sex and general nativity of the population of the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Of the male populations of these states,
taken as a whole, over 21 years of age, 19.59 per cent are aliens; 64.23 per cent have been naturalized; 7.31 per cent have taken out their first papers. As to the remaining 8.87 per cent nothing has been learned.

Of the aliens in Ohio, 35.43 per cent cannot speak the English language. In Indiana, the per centage is 26.10; in Illinois 30.24; in Michigan 27.09; in Wisconsin 42.23; and in Minnesota 34.26.

HEAVIEST EVER KNOWN.

The Outlook For Fall Trade is Exceptionally Good.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Dun & Co's weekly review says that the heaviest trade ever known at this season is now in progress. The same is true of other cities, almost without exception, and the outlook for fall trade is at all points regarded as exceedingly good. Money is in ample supply and the demand from the interior is less than usual at this season, and large amounts are held out of the loan market by people who are looking for exceptional opportunities to buy cheaply.

At all Western points collections are reported very good. The demand for structural iron is very encouraging and plate mills are well supplied, but quotations are variable and bar iron is unsettled. In dry goods there has been a noticeable increase in the number of buyers. The business failures during the past seven days number for the United States 154, Canada 28, total 182, as compared with 170 last week, 176 the week previous to the last and 230 for the corresponding week of last year.

BIG FIRE IN BROOKLYN.

Half a Million Dollars' Damage in the Navy Yard.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 17.—An extensive fire in the navy yard early this morning destroyed nearly half a million dollars worth of property. It broke out in the three-story wooden extension of the machine shop, in which was stored the machinery of the new cruiser Cincinnati.
It was totally destroyed.

The flames extended to the two-story brick machine shop and caused much damage.

Washburn Quoted.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Senator Washburn has arrived in the East and in an interview says: "Minnesota will cast her electoral vote for Harrison. There is no particular enthusiasm for him, but neither is there any hostility to him among Republicans in our state. We will carry Minnesota this year simply upon the merits of Republican principles."

Wished Sullivan Success.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 17.—James J.
Corbett, the world's champion pugilist, appeared last night at the Grand Opera house and sparred with Jim Daly. The crowd was immense and enthusiastic.
He returned thanks and said he wished John Sullivan all possible success. He was given a supper after the exhibition and left for New York at midnight.

May Go to London.

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Rev. M. R. Deeming, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, formally tendered his resignation last night. He has four calls for consideration, one of which is to join Dr.
Pierson in the London tabernacle of the late Rev. Dr. Spurgeon. His decision in regard to the call is not yet made.

Short in His Accounts.

KANSAS CITY, September 17.—August-us T. Kerr, formerly head bookkeeper of the Kansas City office of the Jarvis Conklin Mortgage Trust company, headquarters for the western business of the company, is short in his accounts something like $30,000. Kerr is now in England.

The Gambler Won.

LITTLE FALLS, Sept. 17.—George Driver, a country school teacher, got into a row with a gambler yesterday over the possession of a razor and they came to blows. Driver was "done up."
His head was jammed against a picket fence and badly cut. He was found unconscious by the police.

Two Old Men Killed.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 17.—F. J. Nichols, an inmate of the soldiers' home, and Wm. Stevens were almost instantly killed by a train on the Newark & New York branch of the Central railroad of New Jersey about 8 o'clock this morning.
Both were old men.

Four Children Perished.

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 17.—A special received from Missouri valley this morning says the house of Mrs. Andrew Eckenboch burned this morning and her four children, the eldest 8 years old, perished.

Was Offered a Bribe.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Judge Woodman caused a pronounced sensation in his court room this morning in deciding the case of the Garfield Park habitues, by stating that M. C. McDonald, a stockholder in the Garfield Park club, had offered him a bribe of $300 to discharge the prisoners.

Peck Will Fight.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The case of Charles F. Peck, commissioner of labor statistics, charged with burning state records, was adjourned to-day until September 20. Peck says he will fight to the bitter end.

A Bad Wreck.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 17.—A Lehigh Valley train with G. A. R. veterans collided with a switch engine this morning. Andrew Brown, engineer, and George Enterline, baggage master, were fatally injured. About fifteen passengers were seriously hurt.

BOILER EXPLODES

Seven Men Killed Outright and Twenty Others More or Less Scalded and Injured.

A Horrible Scene Created by the Explosion of a Stave Mill's Boiler.

Fortunately Many Men Were Absent Owing to the Earliness of the Hour.

COMBER, Ont., Sept. 17.—A boiler in Force & Dickinson's stave mill at Staples, a small village on the Leamington & St. Clair railroad, four miles from here, exploded this morning, killing seven men outright, fatally injuring one,
and twenty others were more or less scalded and injured. The names of those killed are: John Ewing, Michael Duquis, John Papineau, Isiah Chauvin,
Jerome Chauvin, Peter Daust, Maisie
Ouellette. J. Boane is fatally scalded, and those less seriously injured number at least twenty.

When the night watchman gave way to the regular day engineer, there were twenty-five pounds of steam in the boiler.
It is supposed that there was eighty pounds pressure on the boiler at the time of the explosion. Fortunately there were a great number of hands absent, owing to the earliness of the hour. The scene is most horrible.

The air is full of rumors regarding the condition of the boiler. Some say it was old and unfit for use, while an employe of the mill says the boiler was in good running condition, but he believes that scales had formed on the plates and interrupted some of the valves. The boiler was blown fully forty feet. The two Chauvins and Daust were single men. The others were all married, with families depending on them for support.

Burned to Death.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—The house of Robert Craven at Ashbourne was burned last night by the up-setting of a coal oil lamp and his two children and servant were burned to death.

IS A NUISANCE.

S. D. Allen's Building Will Receive Attention From the Health Authorities.

Considerable complaint has arisen about the condition of an old blacksmith shop in the alley, a little to the east of the rear of the Congregational church. It is now used as a rag sorting warehouse by a lot of rag pickers and the smell is very offensive.

The building belongs to S. D. Allen, who claims that he can not order the tenants out, as they have a year's lease and pay their rent. The board of health was notified yesterday, but declined to take any active measures. Mayor d'Auremont will take the matter in charge today.

The Special Term.

In special term today, Forbes vs. Sullivan and Helmer vs. Sellers were stricken from the calendar. Hanley vs.
Franklin was heard and submitted. A stay was granted in Culver Bros. vs.
Scott & Holston. Several cases were continued. New trials were denied in O'Brien & Knowlton vs. Moses Stewart, Jr., and Long vs. Howard.

Another Democratic Club.

At a meeting of the Democrats of the West End held in the Allen block, the West End Democratic club was organized with seventy-three members enrolled.
The officers elected were: Jas. Hart, Jr., president; John McCarthy, vice-president; Geo. L. Roberts, secretary; J. C.
Porter, treasurer.

Smith Not in It.

Professor Lewis and Herman Smith were to wrestle at the Parlor theater last night. There was an immense audience, but Smith gave a miserable exhibition of wrestling, being clearly overmatched by Lewis. Andy Donaldson was referee. The first bout, Gracco-Roman, was won by Lewis in an easy roll over in three minutes. The second bout, catch-as-catch-can, was also won by Lewis, in another roll, in four minutes. George C. Curtis challenged the winny and Lewis accepted and the match will take place in three weeks.

Fun in a Barber Shop.

Richey's barber shop, corner of Superior street and Lake avenue, was somewhat demoralized last evening by a gas explosion. Illuminating gas had been accumulating in the basement and last evening a lighted cigar stub was thrown on the floor of the shop and immediately touched off the gas in the basement.
The windows were broken and the floor
somewhat wrecked but no one was hurt.

A Careless Blast.

A heavy blast was carelessly exploded
last evening at the corner of First street and Third avenue west and a window in the fifth story of the Brighton hotel was shattered either by the concussion or by a flying stone. There is a great deal of careless blasting done in the city, and somebody will be hurt before the evil is remedied.

Two Mining Leases.

Two mining leases were filed with the register of deeds yesterday running from the Midway company to S. F.

DULUTH SOCIETY

A Very Quiet Week Has Passed With Nothing to Disturb Its Serenity.

The List of Comings and Goings is as Large as that of Previous Weeks.

The Cliff Dwellers Will Revive Their Pleasant Dances—A Few Weddings.

Socially Duluth has been very quiet during the week, with about the usual list of goings and comings. The wedding craze, which started somewhere near the Euphrates river, in Asiatic lands, seems to be still with us, and more than the usual number of weddings, in all classes of society, is reported. Some of the clubs which have been dormant during the outdoor term are showing signs of returning life, and some of their entertainments are down on social notebooks for an early happening.

Dry goods openings are taking up much of the time of the ladies, who the gentlemen are engaged with politics, district court and other matters.

Social Mention. The "Cliff Dwellers" have bobbed up serenely after a short cessation from their pleasant parties, and invitations which have just been issued show that the "successful fifty" will give their twelfth informal hop at Temple hall next Wednesday evening, September 21. The overture is at 8:30 o'clock.

The marriage of Mr. Frank Burrows to Miss Elizabeth O'Kelley was duly solemnized at Pembroke, Ontario, last Wednesday, in presence of a large number of intimate friends of the contracting parties. The happy couple are now on their wedding tour in the East.

Ladies of the G. A. R. circle had a very pleasant musicale last Monday in the Hayes block. Those taking part were Mr. and Mrs. James Porter, Miss Annie Farrell, Mrs. Marie Price, Messrs. McMillan, Quillard, Gerhart Pearson and Byron.

It has been suggested that the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Bowers, born last week, be named "Park" as she was the first infant born at Hunter's Park.

Miss Mamie Finn, who has been visiting here for some weeks and who has returned to her St. Paul home, was pleasantly surprised by a number of friends Tuesday evening at 1025 West First street. An enjoyable time resulted.

The marriage of Mrs. Jessie Chalmers, sister of Mr. Simon and Mr. Thomas Clark, to Mr. Dennis Clark, took place Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at 22

West Fifth street, Rev. C. C. Salter, officiating. There was a large company present and the bridal couple left the same evening for a month's tour in the East.

The marriage of Mr. J. C. Hammond and Miss Lizzie Kohlen was celebrated Wednesday night.

Mr. Robert Bloodell and Miss Mamie Power were married Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Meining.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Jopling, of Marquette, formed a Spalding house bridal couple this week. They were married Wednesday and the bride was Miss Bessie Mather.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Longyear and children, from Merritt, are spending a day or two in Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Osborn, of West Duluth, have gone to Grand Rapids, Mich., for a short visit.

Miss Wanless, at West Duluth, is enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. John Smith, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. M. S. Brink, Mrs. James Brink and Mrs. L. Rose are with the G. A. R. people in Washington.

Mrs. Woolcott and Miss Woolcott, who have been summering in Duluth, have returned to New York.

Mrs. G. C. Sheldon, Miss Minnie Sheldon and Miss Blandy, all of Houghton, Mich., are visiting in Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bernard, of Grand Rapids, Minn., were in the city Thursday, calling on many friends.

Mrs. D. H. Bacon, Mrs. E. F. Chalk and Mrs. W. E. Harwood, of Tower, visited Duluth during the week.

Mrs. Silas Robinson and two daughters, of Tower, are the guests of Mrs. Charles Kieren at West Duluth.

Mrs. J. R. Myers, at 101 Eighth avenue west has for guests, Mrs. M. H. Armistead and Miss Mary Armistead, of Houston, Texas.

Social circles will sadly miss Mr. Harry Chandler, who is spending some months in the Mexican capital. He will be back by the holidays.

Mrs. Hubbell, of Manistique, Mich., with two of her daughters, were here during the week. The young ladies are attending the school here.

Mrs. E. A. Shores, Miss Mabel Shores, Miss Maude Shores and Miss Bessie Shores formed an Ashland family party who were in Duluth this week.

Mrs. Asa Dailey, Mrs. E. R. Jefferson, Mrs. D. A. Moon, Mrs. W. D. Robbins and Mrs. M. Plummer are among the Duluth ladies now in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Brenizer have gone to St. Paul. They were called there by the receipt of intelligence that the veteran Major Brackett was dangerously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Crandall, of St. Paul; Miss Georgia Crandall and C. S. Crandall, of Owatonna, formed a family pleasure trip party here during the week.

WILL THE JUDGE RESIGN?

Stearns and Todd County People on Judge Searle's Position. (Sank Center Avalanche.)

SAUK CENTER, Minn., Sept. 13.—Editor Avalanche: I read your answer to my letter of last week. I am surprised that you should think Judge Searle is not the kind of a man who "resigns" because you seem to think it is "right" that he should do so and still that he won't. Judges are supposed by the people generally to try to do what is right and I can't see why Judge Searle should want to do differently from what is thought to be the proper thing. I have heard it said that the judges should be kept out of politics and I am sure Judge Searle will not want to break the rule. I see he has stated in the newspapers that he will not try any cases while he is a candidate for congress but he does not say that he will not draw his pay during that time. I see, too, in the newspapers, that it is supposed he has promised the office to different persons if they assist him in his election. I think he would get more votes if he would resign in time for the people to elect a judge in his place than he will by holding the office to trade for votes, because a great many people do not think it is right and they expect a judge to do as near right as he can. I wish you would publish in your paper how this matter is and oblige.

YOUR CONSTANT READER.

LONG PRAIRIE, Minn., Sept. 14, 1892.

—Hon. E. P. Barnum, editor Avalanche, Sauk Centre, Minn. Dear sir: Your article last week on the judgeship has been much talked about here. I see the daily of the Journal-Press, of St. Cloud, in its issue of last Saturday, says: "We understand that Mr. Searle has postponed his resignation at the almost unanimous request of the members of the bar of this district, irrespective of party. Judge Searle's resignation will be in the hands of the governor some time before election." Now I write to ask you if it is true that the bar of the district has made any such request. I have heard the lawyers here talk about it and every one of them thinks he ought to resign and give the voters of the district their just privilege of selecting some one for his place. Of course those he has promised the office to would be opposed to an election. The idea of trading the position of judge for political preferment is not popular in this county. I was in another county of the district last week and heard the matter spoken of by several lawyers and did not hear one approve of the course the Journal-Press says Judge Searle has determined upon. If he follows the course indicated by the Journal-Press it will not help him in this county, in my opinion. Yours Truly, D.

On Sunday evening, at the First Baptist church, a series of short sermons will be begun on "Bunyan's Pilgrim." Each evening the stereopticon will be used and the beautiful illustrations of this most wonderful Christian allegory will be thrown upon the screen with calcium light. The services will commence at 7:45.

ALL NOW READY.

The Gas and Water Company Will Make a Proposition to the City. The Gas and Water company is now prepared to make a proposition to the city regarding the extension of the water mains to Lester Park and the location of a pumping house there. President Belknap, of New York, and Superintendent Craig will meet the members of the council Monday afternoon and will inform them what the company will do and what it expects of the city. The Gas and Water company has had a force of engineers at work for over two months getting out the plans and estimates for the extension.

Just what the proposition will be is still somewhat in the dark, but it will probably call for the issue of a portion of the city bonds authorized for the construction of a separate system of water works, some time ago. One thing is impressed upon the minds of the aldermen and that is that the city water supply must come from a purer source than at present. Further than this the sewer at Fourteenth avenue east must be plugged up and very soon. The Gas and Water company entered a protest when the sewer was built two years ago.

RANSOM & HORTON. The Old St. Paul Furriers' Display of Fine Fur Wraps, September 19th to 21st, at "The Big Duluth."

AT THE THEATERS.

J. P. Sullivan's "Leaves of Shamrock" to be seen at the Lyceum Next Week.

"The Still Alarm," Joseph Arthur's Great Success, Coming to the Temple Saturday.

"A Knotty Affair" at the Temple Tonight—Julia Marlowe Coming in October.

The production of "Niobe" at the Temple Monday evening was the theatrical event of this week and was one of the finest performances ever seen in Duluth, both as to dramatic ability and character of the play. The theater was crowded with a fashionable audience and a thoroughly appreciative audience. The company, like Frohman's, contained no advertised stars but each member was an artist, nevertheless. "Fast Mail" drew a fair house on Tuesday evening but very little can be said of it except that the scenic effects are fine. "A Knotty Affair" will be produced at the Temple this evening. Next Monday and Tuesday J. P. Sullivan's "Leaves of Shamrock" will be produced at the Lyceum and on Saturday evening Joseph Arthur's "Still Alarm" will be given at the Temple.

John C. Rice and His Comedians at the Temple Tonight.

It is somewhat hard to believe in these days that a farce-comedy should have achieved success by such elements as a clever and interesting plot and a genuinely comic array of situations. Yet this is what is claimed for "A Knotty Affair," which John C. Rice, with his own company of comedians, will produce at the Temple this evening. But good as a farce-comedy may be, it is not likely to please the people if the comedians and specialists are not up to the mark. It is claimed for the cast of "A Knotty Affair" that it is really above the average, and the names of several beside the star, if Mr. Rice assumes that title, are familiar as those of popular favorites. Among the new things he will introduce will be a dance that he has created a furor elsewhere, and is called "The Atmospheric Glide." Will H. Sloan has with him a number of comedians and comedians who are well known to the audience. The author has wisely attempted no burlesque of the Irish character, but has constructed his piece with a view of bringing out the pleasing native wit and humor. While it is not claimed that "Leaves of Shamrock" is startlingly original, yet the author is said to have introduced some unconventional scenes. Plenty of mirth and music are promised and the production, it is claimed, will be complete in the detail. Mr. Sullivan assumes the chief role, but the drama is by no means a one part play, as the supporting characters are important. Mr. Sullivan is the possessor of a sympathetic, high baritone voice. There is considerable singing, in which all members of the company participate. The Minneapolis Tribune says of the company: "In 'Leaves of Shamrock' J. P. Sullivan is the right man in the right place. He has a fine voice and stage presence and is able to sustain interest and create amusement in a play so 'talky' that, except when its characters are fighting, it is as drowsy as the droning of a bumblebee or the dreary hum about a Dutch beer table. The familiar material of all Irish melodramas is worked over and nothing new has been attempted. The ladies of Mr. Sullivan's company are very spirited and saucy the villains, not to mention their sweethearts, in a most captivating manner."

"LEAVES OF SHAMROCK."

J. P. Sullivan, the Irish Comedian, at the Lyceum Next Week.

John P. Sullivan will be at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday in "Leaves of Shamrock." Mr. Sullivan's first venture as a star was made in Ireland. "Leaves of Shamrock," it is said, succeeded in pleasing the theater goers wherever it was presented in England and Ireland. The author had wisely attempted no burlesque of the Irish character, but had constructed his piece with a view of bringing out the pleasing native wit and humor. While it is not claimed that "Leaves of Shamrock" is startlingly original, yet the author is said to have introduced some unconventional scenes. Plenty of mirth and music are promised and the production, it is claimed, will be complete in the detail. Mr. Sullivan assumes the chief role, but the drama is by no means a one part play, as the supporting characters are important. Mr. Sullivan is the possessor of a sympathetic, high baritone voice. There is considerable singing, in which all members of the company participate. The Minneapolis Tribune says of the company: "In 'Leaves of Shamrock' J. P. Sullivan is the right man in the right place. He has a fine voice and stage presence and is able to sustain interest and create amusement in a play so 'talky' that, except when its characters are fighting, it is as drowsy as the droning of a bumblebee or the dreary hum about a Dutch beer table. The familiar material of all Irish melodramas is worked over and nothing new has been attempted. The ladies of Mr. Sullivan's company are very spirited and saucy the villains, not to mention their sweethearts, in a most captivating manner."

"THE STILL ALARM."

Joseph Arthur's Successful Comedy at the Temple Saturday.

"The Still Alarm" will appear at the Temple Saturday evening next. Nearly all Duluthians will remember Joseph Arthur, the author of "Blue Jeans," who was here during the engagement of that play. Mr. Arthur is also the author of "The Still Alarm," which is called one of the strongest plays on the road and was Mr. Arthur's first attempt. The drama deals with topics and events of modern times, and is a charming story of everyday life and scenes in the great metropolis. It has for its motif the fortunes and misfortunes of a New York fireman, and gives an admirable picture with realistic surroundings of a vigorous phase of man's duty, and while telling in the progress of the play a well-constructed plot, it incidentally calls attention to the excellent work and discipline of a brave set of fellows. On the role of heroes the gallant fireman has been strangely neglected by the realistic dramatist, and to Mr. Arthur must be long the success of installing the brave fireman as the hero of a pulsating and exciting melodrama.

Little Tuesday, a wonderfully clever child actress, is the feature of the "Still Alarm" company. An exchange says: "In the third act 'Little Tuesday,' a sweet tot dressed in a long white dress and with golden hair hanging on her shoulders, appeared. The applause which greeted her shook the chandelier. She dances with all grace and sings with the sweetness of Lillian Russell. She was encored four times last night and seemed anxious to please the audience, which went all but wild over the child wonder."

Julia Marlowe.

Early in October the talented and brilliant young actress, Julia Marlowe, will appear at the Temple. Miss Marlowe on the occasion of her former visit completely captured Duluth and the announcement of her coming will be a welcome one to theatergoers.

Lew Dockstader Coming. Lew Dockstader, the old time leader of minstrelsy, will appear at the Temple on September 27, at the head of one of the strongest companies of black face artists ever gathered together. The singing is said to be unusually good and the specialties all original and clever.

Dramatic Gossip. Bronson Howard is finishing his new play, "Aristocracy," in the Adirondacks. Ariel Barney will manage the Potter-Bellew company for Mr. John Stetson. Mrs. D. P. Bowers will not appear in "Ye Earle Trouble," as has been announced.

"Our Bachelors" and "Married Life" will be in Stuart Robson's repertory this season.

Alice Johnson, it is said, has captivated a very rich Denver bachelor, and a wedding will be the result.

Dame rumor has it that Margaret Mather is backed by the Pabst brewery of Milwaukee, and Flora Moore is jealous.

Miss Pauline Hall is this week finishing her successful run of "Puritania" at the Boston Tremont theater with 100 consecutive performances.

The Philadelphia newspapermen that have been boycotted by the Philadelphia managers do not speak of visiting attractions in the highest terms of laudation.

Sarah Bernhardt is playing "Cleopatra" in Brussels to crowded houses. She goes thence to Antwerp, having not the least fear of cholera.

Joseph Jefferson's season will begin at the Star theater, New York, Nov. 10. Edwin Varney, Maude Monroe, Emma Vaders and George T. Nash will be members of his company.

Mrs. James Brown Potter was landed in Boston on Saturday from Europe, and there is quite a fuss among the Hubites because she was not fumigated. She is in good health but looks very thin and frail.

Says Mr. Stuart Robson: "Did it ever strike you as odd, how every theatergoer constitutes himself a judge and jury and sits on the merits or demerits of play and player? Nine out of every ten men when asked as to the beauties of coloring in this picture or that would profess ignorance of pigments and modestly state that they were not in a fit position to judge conscientiously. In nearly all branches of art and of literature we find the same modesty of opinion as regards the layman. In the theater alone does the man who knows it all discourse most glibly on ethics in plays and their constructive drawbacks, when he knows not even the A, B, C's of dramatic workmanship. The dramatic critic's poet is fast becoming a sinecure, for he writes for people who knew it all before the critic did."

SHE WANTS A DIVORCE.

The Wife of Billy Madden Has Begun a Suit.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Annette L. Siegrist, a singer and dancer, has brought suit for an absolute divorce and alimony. She alleges in her complaint that her husband, who is Billy Madden, the well known sporting man and manager of pugilists, married her under the common law on Feb. 2, 1888, and eloped with Ellen McGuinness on July 15, since when she has not seen him.

Madden is now managing Joe Goddard. There will be a hearing next week on the motion for temporary alimony.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

Surgeon General Wiman Does Not Fear An Epidemic.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—"I have no fears of an epidemic of cholera in this country," said Surgeon General Wiman this morning. "We may expect to hear of alleged cases springing up here and there in different parts of the country. Now that cholera has at last made its entrance into New York city cases of cholera morbus, dysentery, colic and kindred ailments will all be magnified into cholera cases. People should be prepared for these idle rumors and not get alarmed. I have perfect confidence in our ability to hold the disease in check."

Drunkennes an Excuse.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 17.—The of Joe Smith and J. H. Lackhart, sheriff and deputy of Warren county, Ala., charged with larceny of $200 worth of diamonds from a New York drummer while in Nashville, were nolle in the criminal court yesterday. The defendants admitted the guilt, but said the robbery was committed in a drunken frenzy.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH.

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Sept. 17.—Fair weather still continues, and something out of the ordinary, no rain has fallen during the past twenty-four hours, this does not happen often. An area of low barometer is now central over the country north of Minnesota, and an area of high barometer is central over the Ohio valley.

There has been quite a rise in temperature over the west and northwest since yesterday, while there has been a slight fall over the southwest.

There is not a single cloudy station shown on this morning's chart in either the United States or Canada and it is partly cloudy at only five places.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 70.2, falling again last night to 52°.

DULUTH, Sept. 17.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Continued fair; slightly warmer today, showers are probable tomorrow with slight change in temperature; winds shifting to south and southwest.

B. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair; warmer; southerly winds. For Minnesota: Fair; southerly winds; warmer in southern portions Sunday morning.

A GREEDY COMBINE.

In the rate demanded by the insurance companies upon the new High school building the merchants of Duluth have a striking example of the grinding policy adopted by the insurance combine in nearly every city in the country. First the companies demanded that the school board should pay them $1.25 on each $100 of insurance. When the members of the board declined to pay such an exorbitant rate and said they could secure insurance in reliable non-board companies for 75 cents, the combine drew in its horns and offered to give a rate of $1 if the board would insure the building for $200,000. It is a fact, however, that the rate of $1.25 had been fixed by the compact manner before the companies knew how much insurance the school board intended to place on the building.

It is hardly necessary to go any farther than this action by the combine to show the shameful manner in which the public are fleeced by it. Why should the rate be lower for $200,000 of insurance than for $100,000? Did the character of the risk change, when the amount of insurance changed? It is a favorite song of insurance men that rates are graduated according to the hazard connected with the risk. An instance of the kind mentioned shows the utter fallacy of such a claim. It is untenable in the face of such a reduction being offered if the amount of insurance were placed at a fixed figure.

But how does even the rate of $1 compare with that charged in other cities for ordinarily constructed school buildings? The rates in Chicago are, or were recently—the combine may have raised or lowered them since at its own sweet will—as follows: Brick school houses with metal roof, 60 cents; shingle roof, 75 cents; frame, $1. Extra charges, of course, are made for hazardous exposures, but those are the card rates.
Now why should a building constructed so solidly and so nearly fireproof as is the Duluth High school be taxed $1 or $1.25 for insurance, when an ordinary brick school house, with metal roof, in Chicago is taxed only 60 cents? Can any insurance man in Duluth give a valid and substantial reason for such discrimination?

This difference in rates is not confined to school buildings. It applies to structures of all kinds. Three-story brick buildings in Chicago pay only 40 cents, store buildings being about 10 cents higher. What do the merchants of Duluth think of this, in comparison with the extortionate rates they are compelled to pay to this greedy combine? In Chicago also brick dwellings and contents pay only 30 cents and detached frame dwellings average but 60 cents. Let the owners of dwellings in Duluth compare these figures with what they are paying,
and they will see the manner in which they are being robbed by the insurance combine.

Insurance men will say that the principle on which rates are computed are so plain and so certain that the fixing of a rate on any risk becomes merely a mathematical calculation on the part of the man who is sufficiently posted. This is utterly fallacious. No man in the insurance business in Duluth will attempt to say that he can compute the rate on a risk with any certainty of having it approved by the manager of the combine.
No two men can compute a risk independently with any certainty of agreeing on their figures. Where then is the unerring mathematical principle? There is none, and The Herald defies any insurance man to prove that such a principle has any real existence.

It is notorious that insurance rates in Duluth are very much higher than they are in Eastern cities of similar size, yet a wooden city in the East is as subject to fires as one in the West, and vice versa, a substantially built city in the West is as safe as one in the East. The fact of location has nothing to do with the problem. The character of the structures and the efficiency of the fire protection alone should be taken into account. Judged by this standard Duluth is discriminated against, and the case of the high school building is a notable example of the extortion that is practiced here by the combine.

A PROSPEROUS PERIOD.

The commercial agencies report that the heaviest trade ever known at this season of the year is now being done.
The prospects are also equally bright.
The outlook for fall trade at all points is reported to be exceptionally good. This shows that the whole country is enjoying a period of great prosperity. It is likewise on the eve of the most prosperous era in its history. The fortunate state of affairs is not confined to any particular section. It is general. All portions of the country are sharing in the happy conditions.

Collections in the West are stated to be good. This shows that there is plenty of money in circulation among the people. The golden returns from the magnificent crops last year have been received by the farmers, and with another good crop harvested, they are in shape to discharge all their obligations and make liberal payments.

Under the influence of the prosperous conditions the iron trade has revived and shows signs of great improvement.
Iron is a faithful barometer of the country's prosperity, and the increased demand for iron in its various forms is undoubted evidence that the day of the calamity howler has departed and that his occupation has gone.

A STARTLING STORY.

On the seventh page of this issue will be found a dispatch from Chicago, giving the gist of an article occupying twelve columns in the Chicago Herald of today on an alleged combine to defraud the farmers of the Northwest. It is a resume of a book which has just been issued professing to give the details of the workings of a gigantic wheat ring, composed of elevator men, millers and railroad men, by which the farmers,
the merchants and the people in general are deceived and swindled.

Our Chicago namesake asserts that it is a startling expose of a gigantic conspiracy and that all the statements in the book are accompanied by the most convincing proofs in the shape of facsimiles of letters and documents written by the parties who are credited with being connected with the combine.

The home of the ring is said to be in Minneapolis, and from that point its operations to control the price of wheat paid to the farmers are directed. It is also credited with controlling the politics of this state, and the election of Senator Washburn is said to have been purchased by it, while Governor Merriam is alleged to be its willing tool.

There is no doubt that the book will create a great sensation among the farmers of the Northwest, and whether its statements be true or false, they cannot fail to have considerable effect upon the coming elections.

The arrest of Commissioner Peck, of New York, at the instance of Cleveland Democrats will not tend to restore the harmony which is now conspicuously absent in the Democratic ranks in New York state. The anti-Hill Democrats and the mugwumps are making a sorry mess of things, as they will discover when the Hill men use their knives in November.

The News said this morning: "The Herald says there is no cholera in New York and that it is a perfectly safe and healthy place to live in." The Herald never made such a statement. Probably the News refers to the New York Herald, but it should be more careful to particularize.

Who says that this is not a great country? A woman in North Carolina has just given birth to six children, all boys, and all are alive. This fact illustrates either the "glorious climate" of North Carolina, or the remarkable lying capacity of the correspondent who sent out the dispatch.

The Superior papers claim that the directory figures for that city show a population of 44,310. It will not be astonishing now if Cloquet claims 50,000.
All that is necessary to figure out these claims is to use a sufficiently high multiple.

The work of cleaning the city must be continued until it is in a good sanitary condition. Every citizen should see that all rubbish and garbage are removed from his own premises.

The cholera is not likely to reach Duluth, but while there is the slightest possibility of such a visitation prudence suggests that thorough cleanliness be the rule.

WHILE YOU'RE LOOKING

For Jewelry permit us to remark that our stock is worth examining. A purchase of Jewelry is very properly made with more solicitude and care than is exercised in buying groceries. The latter are quickly consumed, and, if unsatisfactory, better goods can be bought next time. An investment in Diamonds or Watches is made once for all, and, if unsatisfactory, the difficulty can't be remedied. Hence the necessity for care
and the wisdom of dealing with reliable firms. Every article we sell is exactly what we represent it and every statement we make can be relied upon. Don't fail to see our magnificent display of these goods, in the selection of which special care has been taken.

TWO TITLED WOMEN FIGHT.

A Duel Which Is Now the Sensation of Europe.

All the aristocrats of Europe are in a cold sweat of horror, and all plebeian Europe is indulging in a broad smile over the recent performance of two grand dames of Vienna. A duel between two ladies of the highest rank? Shocking! The first thought among the nobility was that it was only a sham duel, but that made the matter worse, as that would have been to add fraud to indecency, so the truth of the matter was soon admitted.

It was a real fight, and both were wounded—no hair pulling or plain scratching, but a duel with rapier—and both ladies are of the creme of the creme. The Princess Pauline Metternich is the lady who cut such a figure in Paris while her husband was an ambassador to the court of Louis Napoleon and Eugenie, and whose recent promise to publish her private memoirs of that time threw so many nice French people of the royalist and imperial parties into cold shivers. The Countess Kilmarsgagh, wife of the stattholder of Lower Austria, bears a name that has been noted for centuries, and which, through the performance of certain members of it who accompanied George I to England, has been a standing joke in that kingdom ever since.

The Princess Pauline was honorary president of the Vienna Musical and Theatrical exhibition and the Countess Kilmarsgagh was president of the ladies' committee.
They differed as to the details in preparation, and quarreled over their respective powers in the case. The lie was passed, or what amounts to the same thing or worse
among ladies, and both wanted to fight.
They retired to Vaduz, a village of Liechtenstein, and went at it with rapiers. In the third round the princess had her pretty nose slit and the countess got it through her sword arm. There were screams and tears—then repentance. The Baroness Laudrizska, a Polish lady who has a doctor's degree, dressed their wounds, and then their seconds, the Princess Schwarzenberg and the Countess Kinsky persuaded them to kiss and make up. Historic names these. No wonder Europe is astonished.

The princess began life as Pauline Clementine Marie de Sandoz, and her father was the very famous cavalry officer, Count Maurice de Sandoz-Slawin, of whom it was said that in all his life he never once showed fear. When he was but three years old his nurse held him up to fondle the ears of a horse, whereupon the animal nipped him on the leg quite sharply. Without uttering a cry he promptly seized the horse's ear with his teeth and bit it savagely, exclaiming, "Ah! you bite me, I bite you!"
When the children in their play fixed up a
"bogy" to frighten him he promptly seized a cane and went at it. No man of his time could mount a horse more gracefully or make a finer appearance in the saddle.

But it is on the other side that she is truly noble, for she is both the granddaughter and the daughter-in-law of the great Metternich, the man who outwitted Bonaparte and organized the coalition which overthrew him. This remarkable man entered public life at seventeen, was active in it till past seventy, and died at eighty-six. When he presented his de-tailments to Bonaparte in 1800 the latter said:

"You are very young to represent so powerful a monarchy."

PRINCESS METTERNICH.

"Your majesty was not older at Auster-litz" was the ready reply.

He married the heiress of the great house of Ka. and thus became one of the wealthiest land owners of Germany.
Their daughter, Leonine, was the mother of the present princess. The oldest son of Metternich and consequently her heir to the title was Richard, son of a second wife.
At the age of twenty Pauline startled Europe by marrying this Richard, her mother's half brother. This was in 1854, and many readers can recall the great-to-do over it, the trouble in getting a "dispensation" and all that sort of thing. As she was heiress to immense estates it was at first taken for granted that it was merely a "marriage of convenience," as they say in Europe, but it did not prove so. Apparently they were lovers. At any rate they lived as man and wife, and this was not much scandal about the princess.

It was in Paris and soon after her marriage, in the most glorious era of the Third Empire, that the Princess Metternich, then the wife of the Austrian ambassador, went at a bound to the front rank of grand dames and remained there in a continuing blaze of glory. Nothing could be done without the ravishing, the elegant, the witty princess, and the fete of the day was. Balls at the Tuilleries, fetes at the various country seats, grand displays on the Champs Elysees, private theatricals "in aid of charity," at which single costumes cost thousands of dollars, and the arrangements of the banquets for international affairs—the princess gave the final word in all.

Scandal was active of course, but it ached rather lightly, for she had been threatened to tell all about the inner life of Louis Napoleon's court. The empire went to pieces, and Eugenie no longer set the fashions, but the Princess Metternich ruled at Vienna, and she ruled as she had at Paris. She is now fifty-six years old, probably a little "parsy," as we say in American French, possibly a little spiteful, as aged beauties are apt to be, but still as superb as Pauline Vintio gave her the first supper in her book on the "Great Ladies of Europe" and dedicates the volume to her.
Such is the gay and imperious princess who has just "pinked" the comparatively unknown Countess Kilmarsgagh.

Careless with His Money.

Four thousand dollars in government bonds were found in a room of a Rochester
(N. Y.) hotel, wrapped in an old newspaper.
The owner, who reclaimed them soon, said that he had been carrying them in his hip pocket, and that they had dropped out.

OPENS NEXT WEEK

Northwestern Conference of the Norwegian and Danish Churches to be Held in Duluth.

Church Representatives From Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Other States Will Come.

Lake Superior Elevator Company's Answer in the Steamer Rust Libel Case.

The Northwestern conference of the Norwegian and Danish Methodist Episcopal churches will be held in Duluth on Sept. 21, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26, inclusive. This conference includes the states of Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska and North and South Dakota. Milwaukee, Minneapolis and other cities tried hard to secure the meeting but Duluth captured it nevertheless.

The meeting will be held in the Norwegian and Danish church at the corner of First street and Twenty-first avenue west. The conference will be led by Bishop D. A. Goodsell, D. D., one of the most prominent divines in the church. The sessions will open at 9 o'clock each morning and continue until noon. In the afternoon there will be preaching in the Norwegian language at 3:30 o'clock and again in the evening at 8 o'clock. The sessions are open for everybody.

On Friday evening Bishop Goodsell will lecture on the countries of China, Japan, and Korea. He has traveled extensively in these lands and is therefore competent to give a most entertaining and interesting lecture. He also preaches Sunday evening. A large number of people from outside will attend the convention and members of the Duluth parish are making preparations to entertain them handsomely.

A DIFFERENT STORY.

Lake Superior Elevator Company Files Its Answer to the Libel.

The Lake Superior Elevator company has filed its answer in the libel commenced against it by the owner of the steamer D. W. Rust and the schooner, W. H. Rounds to recover $1,501.17 for damages to the vessels caused by the falling of the elevator trestle on May 19 last. A number of technical denials are made and the company also denies that it knew of the unsafe condition of the trestle.

Its story of the affair is then given as follows: The trestle was constructed of the best material and until the morning of May 19 the company had no idea it was unsafe. On that morning one of the employees went into the gallery and found it swaying badly and the belt out of line. He immediately notified the foreman of elevator B and also the mate of the D. W. Rust that the trestle was commencing to give way. The foreman also sent a man to the steamer Rust to warn it to move. The captain was up town and the mate was told but said he would take the chances and stay there, that it had stood the wind all right during the night. This warning is alleged to have been given three times.

The company represents that sufficient warning was therefore given and that it is not liable for any damages and asks the dismissal of the libel.

REVIVAL OF BUSINESS.

Fifteen Culprits Before Judge Powell

The morning session of Judge Powell had a very long session in the municipal court this morning. There were fifteen culprits before him charged with various offenses. John Oleson, Michael Sullivan, J. Clarke, Allen Cope, John Kelly, C. F. Moore, John McDermid and Dave Smith were drunk and went on the hill for ten days. George B. Butler and Henry Cosky were also drunk but paid their fines. John McGill, who had been hurt a couple of weeks ago by a wagon rolling over him, was drunk, but was given a suspended sentence during good behavior. Thos. Hurley, who is bordering on delirium tremens, and had a second offense charged up against him, was given thirty days in the county jail. Peter Latoffa, also a second-timer, had the option of paying a $30 fine or putting in thirty days; he chose the latter. George Leditsky, for obstructing Eighth avenue east, was fined $12.50. Charles Peterson, the drunken and disorderly teamster who attempted to brain officer Nelson with a crowbar yesterday, pleaded guilty but begged for mercy. The judge gave him $20 or twenty days, and his friends paid his fine. Matt Gellan was given a $25 fine or thirty days in jail last night for assaulting Mrs. Bonska on Garfield avenue. A large proportion of the convicted drunkards were either laborers from Lester Park or steamboat deck hands.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

Mrs. Hanegan, of Sargent, Receives Serious Injuries.

Mrs. Hanegan, who lives at Sargent station, was struck by the incoming main line passenger train on the Duluth & Iron Range road this noon, and was quite severely injured. She was crossing the track near the London depot, and someone who noticed the approaching train called to her to come back. She did so, but not soon enough, and the engine caught her somewhere above the hip, throwing her to one side. She is quite a large woman and the shock was rather violent. She was taken on the train to her home at Sargent and County Treasurer Crossett, who happened to be on the train, telephoned to his office and notified E. H. Hanegan, her son, of his mother's accident. At last accounts she was unconscious and is probably injured internally.

God and Business.

Robert Nourse, who lectures on "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in the Congregational church on Monday evening, has consented to speak to men on "God and Business" in the Congregational church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Robert Nourse is the great "dramatic orator" of America. Singing will be led by a male chorus.

A VEXED QUESTION.

Superior is Bringing an Action to Test Her Improvement Bonds.

The city of Superior is to bring a suit in the state court to settle the question as to whether its city improvement bonds are a part of the general or only of the special indebtedness. Some of the best legal authorities in the country have declared them to be a part of the special indebtedness but there is still a doubt. The papers in the case are being prepared now. The suit itself will be brought by and in the name of a private citizen. The complaint will set forth the entire amount of the city's indebtedness, the amount of the special bonded indebtedness and the last assessed valuation of the property of the city. It will state that 5 per cent of that valuation, which is the constitutional limit of municipal indebtedness, is exceeded by the amount of the bonded indebtedness including sinking funds and all other credits. The complaint will also set forth that the special bonded debt has been provided for by the special assessments; that is to say, whenever improvements have been done or ordered the cost thereof has been assessed back on the special property abutting on and benefited thereby. The prayer of the suit will be for a writ of injunction restraining the issuance of bonds now on hand. The city will enter a demurrer and when Judge Marshall of the circuit court gives his decision, no matter what it is the case will go to the supreme court.

The new city directory gives 15,412 names for Superior, an increase of 2,147 over last year. Using the multiple of 5/8 this would give Superior 14,310 people.

The excursion given the Manufacturers and Jobbers union by the South Shore road comes off this evening. A special palace car has been provided for the party and it is expected that twenty-five will go. The party will get to the Soo tomorrow afternoon and will stop three hours, and from there to Mackinaw where the night will be spent. Monday afternoon will be devoted to looking over Marquette. Tuesday is for Ishpeming and Negaunee; Wednesday to Houghton and other points and the return will be made Thursday.

RACE FOR OFFICE

Republican Politicians are Figuring on the Three Candidates for the Legislature.

O. D. Kinney is Said to be Averse to Again Becoming a Candidate.

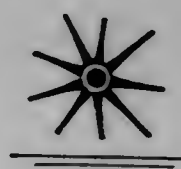

Lon Merritt, H. C. Kendall, John Owens, S. F. Snively and John McKinley Named.

The Republican legislative convention having been called, there is some skirmishing now going on regarding the candidates to be nominated. The retiring members are O. D. Kinney, H. C. Kendall and J. D. Boyd. The latter has left the state. Mr. Kinney, it is understood, is not a candidate, owing to his numerous private interests, which require close attention. Whether Mr. Kendall is or not is not definitely known. He says he has been urged to enter the field but has not decided, but his friends are already at work in his interest.

Lon Merritt is an avowed candidate, and there seems to be a general agreement on all sides that he will be one of the three nominees. John Owens, of Tower, will seek nomination, that is he is in the hands of his friends and he is ready to accept. The Vermilion Iron Journal came out yesterday in his favor. The names of John McKinley, S. F. Snively and M. Nelson, of Two Harbors, are also being mentioned, and there will probably be several others in the race before the end of the month.

Fell Dead.

These words are very familiar to our readers, as not a day passes without the report of the sudden death of some prominent citizen. The explanation is "heart disease." Therefore beware if you have any of the following symptoms: Short breath, pain in side, smothering spells, swollen ankles, asthmatic breathing, weak and hungry spells, tenderness in shoulder or arm, fluttering of heart or irregular pulse. These symptoms mean heart disease. The most reliable remedy is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which has saved thousands of lives. Book of testimonials free at all druggists who sell the New Heart Cure.

FILLING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

I have filled thousands of teeth without pain by my methods; I can fill the most sensitive tooth without pain, have all the drugs, hot air, and vitalized air appliances for that class of work. There is no branch of Dentistry so much abused as this by the reckless use of powerful poisonous drugs, by means of which the pain is deadened and the tooth is eventually deadened. Another manner of filling teeth without pain is to fill it poorly, take the money, and then let the patient howl afterwards. However, there are honest, legitimate methods of filling most teeth without pain. You must have the proper appliances, the proper drugs, a thorough knowledge of their properties, skill, humanity, and common sense, and a proper regard for your patient. We very modestly claim to have all of these to an eminent degree.

I CAN EXTRACT ANY TOOTH WITHOUT PAIN,

and do it when advisable, but the powerful agents that are necessary to render one unconscious—or that are required to deaden the tissue—are agents that must not be trifled with or used indiscriminately, or given without a practical knowledge of their effects, and common sense will tell you that in the hands of the ignorant or unscrupulous they are extremely dangerous. Therefore, while we make use of all the legitimate methods of painless extracting it is not done recklessly or without consulting the welfare of the patient.

ALUMINUM PLATES, $15.—These Plates are made of the very best Dental Aluminum, lighter than gold, thin, lasting, healthy, cleanly, and in every way desirable. I agree to make and warrant the first 100 sets of Aluminum for $15 per set; usual prices from $30 to $45. If you are wise you will call and investigate this.

BEST SET ON RUBBER, $8.—We have thousands of sets in this city and we challenge anyone to show that they are not as represented, and we very respectfully insist that superior workmanship in this line cannot be shown in the state. We make half the Plates that are made in Duluth.

GOLD PLATES are being worn again very extensively and can be made for from $30 to $40.

GOLD AND OTHER BRIDGES, where they can be worn to advantage, are much superior to Plates. We pay special attention to this specialty.

A WEEK OF SPORT

Opening of the Great Autumn Meeting at the Duluth Driving Park Next Tuesday.

Track, Grounds and Buildings All in Fine Shape and Ready for the Races.

Great List of Flyers Entered—The Speediest Horses in the Northwest.

Duluth horsemen and Duluth sports as well, are happy. On Tuesday next the first meeting of the Duluth Driving Park association opens at the new driving park. This will be the beginning of a series of annual autumn races in Duluth and it is not at all improbable that a summer running meeting will be given each year. Duluth has long been in need of a race course and in this respect has been behind many of the smaller towns of the state such as Winona, St. Cloud, Rochester and Stillwater. That the Duluth track will be a great success no one for a moment doubts and all that is needed to make this the best meeting of the entire circuit is a little consideration from the powers that control the weather machine.

The Duluth Driving Park association was organized late in July. The project was first agitated and brought to the attention of Duluth horsemen by R. F. Jones, of Minneapolis. Mr. Jones has been connected with the turf and sporting matters generally for some time and is thoroughly familiar with the details of horse racing, and of the conduct of a race meeting. When he first suggested the idea it was enthusiastically taken up at once and no scheme has ever gone through quicker and more earnestly in Duluth than did this one. An association was formed at once and the capital stock raised in a few days. G. G. Hartley was elected president; Paul Sharvy, vice president; T. W. Hoopes, treasurer, and R. F. Jones, secretary. John McKinley, G. G. Hartley, Paul Sharvy, B. F. Howard and T. W. Hoopes were elected directors.

A location was at once chosen and active operations begun. The site selected is a beautiful spot, one of the prettiest on the Woodland line, and is about a mile beyond the Hardyschool, on the left side of the street car line going out, just beyond the park on the big hill. The park is about a block off Woodland avenue. Work was commenced less than sixty days ago, but a perfect transformation has taken place. The prospect of grading a track in that location within that time would have staggered an ordinary person, but nevertheless it has been done and well, too. Over 25,000 yards of dirt have been moved, the track is perfectly graded and leveled by Tuesday will have been so thoroughly rolled and sprinkled that it will be as hard as could be desired. On one side of the track a heavy fill was required and on the other a deep cut. This left in the center field quite a hill, but this has been entirely cut down on a level with the track and dirt used to bring the center field up to the grade. This space will be utilized as a standing place for private carriages and will be most excellent for that purpose, every part of the track being visible.

To the track itself especial care has been devoted with the view of making it substantial and permanent. Its drainage will be perfect. In spots where there are any signs of water drain tile has been laid across it two or three feet below the surface. A large culvert 300 feet long has been built about twelve feet under the track as a channel for the creek. The ultimate design is to have an artificial lake in the center field and this creek will then form an outlet. The track is a regulation half mile track. In time it may be enlarged to a mile and the present one is so laid out that this can easily be done.

No better evidence of the permanency of the association and its park can be cited than the character of the buildings. All of them are substantial and expensive, and not even a shed around the place has a temporary or cheap appearance. The grand stand is a beauty and reflects credit on the architects, Traphagen & Fitzpatrick. It is 200 feet in length and has two balconies. Its seating capacity is 2000 and comfortable chairs are to be provided, two carloads having already arrived. The stand is to be covered, but the entire track will be visible from any seat. The judges' stand is a neat structure somewhat smaller than ordinarily, but plenty large enough. On the first floor is the weighing room. A small box projects from the front for the benefit of the starter. The stables, and there are accommodations for fifty horses, are arranged in the form of a hollow square. The buildings are well built and give no impression of having been thrown together hastily. A large wind mill is provided for drawing water, and a fine sprinkling cart, better than any in use in the streets in Duluth, has been purchased for use on the track. The big gate is a handsome one, and if any criticism were to be offered it would be that it is too massive and heavy. Two driveways are provided as well as an entrance for foot passengers, and a neat ticket office on one side.

The races will open on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and will continue through until Friday inclusive, opening at the same hour each day. The races are sure to be good. When the Duluth Driving Park association was organized it at once joined the Northwestern trotting circuit. This included the cities of La Crosse, Rochester, Duluth and Hamline, the state fair. Horses entering in one entered in all, and a fine entry was thereby guaranteed. The program of races is as follows:

First day, Sept. 20—2:50 class, trotting, purse $500; 2:25 class, trotting, purse $500; 2:35 class, trotting, purse $500.
Second day, Sept. 21—2:55 class, trotting, purse $500; free for all pacing, purse $500; 2:40 class, trotting, purse $500.
Third day, Sept. 22—2:45 class, trotting, purse $500; 2:35 class, trotting, purse $500; 2:40 class, pacing, purse $500.
Fourth day, Sept. 23—2:30 class, trotting, purse $500; 2:20 class, pacing, purse $500.

$500; 2:20 class, pacing, purse $500; free for all trotting, purse $500.

As will be seen from the above Duluth offers $5000 in purses and besides this a large sum is reserved for special races. This is a larger string of purses than is offered by any of the other cities in the circuit except at the state fair. McCarthy, the starter who officiated at the great meeting in Independence two weeks ago when Nancy Hanks lowered her record on a kite shaped track to 2:05 1/4, has been engaged to act as starter at the Duluth meeting. C. G. Dempsey, who was selling pools on the Northwestern circuit will sell them here also, during the day at the park and in the evening at the St. Louis hotel.

The list of horses entered includes some great flyers. Day before yesterday Almont Bashaw, owned by Frank Burns, of Davenport, Iowa, and entered in the free-for-all pacing race, made 2:12 on the Rochester track, said to be the fastest time made in a race on a Minnesota track. Birchwood, owned by the Oaklawn farm, of Mendocino, Wis., also entered in this race made a two-year-old record last year of 2:18. Tommie Linn, record 2:15 1/2, Johnny Smoker, 2:16 1/4, also start in the race. Lena Willets, another, the property of B. J. Sawyer, son of the late A. J. Sawyer, lowered her record to 2:14 last week.

In the free for all trotting race there is Mark Sirus, who attained a record of 2:17 1/4 at Hamline; May Hill, belonging to H. W. Phelps, of Minneapolis, with a record of 2:17 1/4, and Greenleaf, owned by John C. Oswald, of Minneapolis, who made 2:20 1/2 at La Crosse on a half mile track. Besides these there will be a great many stables represented. The Midway Park stables, D. W. Woodman's manager, will have a string and G. W. Spear, the well known Minneapolis horseman, will have a number.

The City band has been engaged and will give concerts each afternoon at the grounds. Refreshments of every kind except liquors, will be obtainable on the grounds.

A SEVERE TYPHOON.

Two Hundred Houses Destroyed and Many Lives Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The steamer China brings news that a severe typhoon passed over the island of Formosa recently, causing great destruction of property. In one village 200 houses were destroyed and many lives lost. Northern China has been visited by further serious floods, resulting in considerable loss of life and property. In some instances the people did not have time to leave their homes, and in consequence were swept away with the wreckage. In three days the river rose from 50 to 93 feet.

Corbett Challenged.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Joe Goddard has challenged Corbett and posted $1000 forfeit. He wants to fight for $5000 or $10,000 a side and the championship of the world. The challenge is open for four weeks.

THE WHEAT RING

Combination of Elevator Men, Millers and Railroad Men to Swindle the Public.

The Head Center of the Infamous Ring is Said to Be in Minneapolis.

Senator Washburn and Charlie Pillsbury Said to Be Leading Members of the Combine.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The Herald this morning says: Farmers in the wheat-growing states of the Northwest will be astounded by the revelations made in a book which will be issued from the press today, and which will lay bare for the first time the vicious workings of a combination of elevator men, millers and railroad men to deceive and swindle the farmer, the merchant and the world at large. For years it has been known that a combine existed, but so widespread and so powerful was its influence that it successfully baffled the efforts of conscientious men to expose its iniquity. The home of the combine is in Minneapolis. From this favored point it has been enabled to fasten its fangs upon such great wheat-growing states as the two Dakotas, Washington and Oregon. But while it was reaching out to delude and swindle the farmers of those states, it did not overlook the wheat growers of its own commonwealth.

The startling publication links the names of United States Senator Washburn, Charles Pillsbury, the "flour king," and other elevator and milling men and representatives of the great railroad interests in the infamous ring, and the array of evidence which it produces in eighty pages of closely-printed matter cannot have any other effect than to bring the thousands of farmers in the great wheat belt to a realizing sense of their peril and an understanding of their impoverished condition.

Throughout this reign of stealthy robbery and incredible duplicity, the Herald claims, the combine has enjoyed the all-powerful immunity which the Republican party of Minnesota could extend to it. The exposure now so complete and so unanswerable involves the potent influence of the men already named, but H. L. Loucks, president of the Farmers' alliance of the United States, who is now party in Texas, and who is charged in the book, was brought under the influence of Pillsbury in a most remarkable way. The book does not assume that the trust exists and then seek to show how it can be wiped out, but it begins with the proof of the actual existence of the combination, and such proof is by letters written by members of the alleged combine themselves. This is its force, and it will necessarily have tremendous effect on the campaign.

It has been said that it will stir up the farmers of the Northwest to such an extent that there may be scenes enacted in Minnesota and its neighboring sister states, paralleled by the doings of the farmers several years ago, when they burned elevators to avert suspicion that the elevator companies were robbing them of a living price for their grain. The book claims that the proof presented is the first authentic evidence of the combine's existence. It is not entirely clear, however, and proof was obtained, but that the letters, facsimiles of which are given, were written by Charles A. Pillsbury, Senator Washburn and half a dozen other presidents of railroads, elevator companies, banks, etc., there is very little doubt.

The letters were mostly written to the Credit Lyonnais bank in response to an inquiry from that bank as to whether or not the elevator companies of the Northwest were paying dividends, if so how much and whether it would be safe to lend them money for meeting their current requirements. No little part of the sensation attending the publication of the document will be the position of the bank which wrote the confidential inside information, obtained the confidence of the elevator magnates and millers and then betrayed it.

The book affirms that the combine has been paying for several years such a low price for wheat that it can sell it in Minneapolis and Duluth at a net profit of from 10% to 25 cents per bushel. The evidence begins with a description of the Minneapolis Millers' association which is alleged to have been the combine up to 1885, when its charter expired. This organization, it is shown, fixed what was known as the "list price" for wheat, and that the twenty-five or thirty elevator companies, each running from 100 to 150 elevators at country points, entered into articles of agreement by which they agreed not to pay over the list price.

This agreement is set forth in the book and particular attention is directed to two clauses. The first of these provides that no offer over the regular list is to be made for wheat in any case, and no offer is to be made for wheat before it is delivered to the elevators. The second clause provides that in no case shall the minimum dockage on unclean wheat be less than one pound per bushel. The book says that there are four methods by which the farmer is robbed of his wheat. The four robberies are alleged to be committed at the country elevators, and are in addition to systematic robberies practiced at the terminal elevators and are boldly said to be by the orders and under the direction of the officers of the elevator companies.

The four principal systems of robbery practiced at the country elevators are taken up and described serially. It is alleged that as all the elevators are banded together and refuse to pay more than the fixed price, which is the list price, for grain, the farmer is prevented necessarily from going to any other elevator and getting a higher price for his wheat. It is claimed that the railroad companies co-operate with the elevator companies and refuse him cars so that he cannot ship the wheat to terminal points himself, and is obliged, therefore, to sell it to the country elevators.

Numbers of independent buyers have gone to country towns where combine elevators are paying this low or list price for wheat and have paid the farmers a higher price, but they have not been permitted to continue paying a good price for wheat. The trust is alleged to have gotten rid of them by one means or another. In some cases it is said they were bought off, in others they were intimidated, and in others they were ruined by tricks which, if the book did not contain so much that was powerful evidence, would read more like romance than fact. The country elevators, by this combination, each received a pro rata share of the wheat brought in by the farmer, and it is claimed, and averaged up their profits in such a way that no one elevator had more than any other elevator. It is said that the affairs of the Minnesota Republican party are settled in Pillsbury's home and that he and those associated with him control Governor Merriam and induced him to pardon out of the penitentiary the young man Holcomb, whose admissions of thievery have heretofore been given. It is alleged that Holcomb was merely a scapegoat for wealthier and more influential people, and that he is said to have received $50,000 for spending in Stillwater a term which would have amounted to one year had not Governor Merriam pardoned him out. A letter from the warden of the Stillwater penitentiary is printed, showing that no petition was ever filed for Holcomb's pardon and that this act of Governor Merriam's was by the secret influence of the wheat combine.

It is also broadly hinted that United States Senator Washburn paid $500,000 to be elected to the United States senate, and from a casual reading of the book it appears that the wheat combination absolutely controls not only the warehouse and railroad commissioners, and all of the machinery of that political office, but also the Minnesota legislature itself.

The Herald goes into details and prints fac-similes of letters and other documents. The story in all occupies twelve columns. The book has been printed in lots of 100,000, and has been distributed throughout the Northwest, the West and the South.

A TRAGEDY IN MAINE.

A Young Woman Shot by a Cripple Who Then Suicided.

BELFAST, Me., Sept. 17.—A double tragedy occurred in Belmont, five miles from this city, yesterday. Samuel A. Moody, a cripple living with his sister near Johnson's corner, shot Fannie Nichols, aged 22, and then shot himself. The spot where the tragedy occurred is a lonely one in a pasture near a spring on land belonging to Adam Nichols, the girl's father.

Miss Nichols was last seen alive between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when she took a pail and said she was going down to the spring to get some blackberries. The two bodies were found at 6:30 p. m. by a neighbor on his way to the spring for water. Miss Nichols was dead, but Moody was alive, though he remained unconscious until his death at 8:45.

There were two bullet wounds in Miss Nichols' head, either of which would have been fatal. Moody had one wound through his forehead into the brain. The weapon was a 38-caliber revolver. Moody was about 40 years old. He had been married twice, his second wife at the time being the wife of Charles Stain, son of the slain who is now in state prison at Thomaston for complicity in the murder of Barron, the Dexter bank cashier.

The girl has borne a good reputation, and no motive is assigned for the tragedy. Moody was a man of violent temper and had a hard reputation.

THE SITUATION CRITICAL.

Bands of Armed Men at the Choctaw Nation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The commissioner of Indian affairs yesterday received a telegram from Agent Bennett at the Choctaw nation, in which he states that there are over 200 Jones men congregated two miles south of McAllister, who express dissatisfaction with the peace agreement made last Tuesday and declare a determination not to abide by it.

Agent Bennett adds that the situation has again become critical, and Thursday night 100 Jones men, heavily armed, demanded the release of two men who had surrendered to the authorities, but were warned off by the Indian police. Unless the armed force disbanded today, Agent Bennett says that he will be constrained to order military aid from Fort Reno, which post has been directed to hold troops in readiness.

ODD FELLOWS WELCOMED.

Delegates to the Sovereign Grand Lodge at Portland.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 17.—Delegates to the sixty-eighth annual session of the sovereign grand lodge, I. O. O. F., began arriving yesterday afternoon, and by noon today they will have arrived. Representatives were met by a committee of arrangements which assigned them to their quarters.

The city is clad in a dress of bunting and evergreens, and on every hand is to be seen the word "Welcome." The program for today is an excursion to the mouth of the Columbia river, where a clambake will be had.

An Ex-Confederate Dead. MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 17.—Thos. H. Watts, ex-governor of Alabama and attorney general in the Confederate cabinet, died here at 3 o'clock this morning after several weeks' illness. The deceased was born in Butler county, Ala., in 1816.

To Be Sold at Auction. NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A meeting of the stockholders of the Metropolitan Opera house today, it was decided to sell the opera house at public sale with its incumbrances and indebtedness. Thirty-two of thirty-seven stockholders were present.

HO, YE THAT SUFFER!

That Which Has Been Done for Others Can Be Done for You.

There are Many Who are Hopeless From Long and Fruitless Effort to Secure Health.

And these Should Read This Counsel and Heed the Words of the Witnesses.

"I have read the statements of many of those who have been cured. Their cases are parallel to mine. It seems to me that what has been done for others may be done for me."

This is the introduction of a letter received by Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning last week, and its simple, forceful reasoning is such that it is given to the public as a thought that must appeal to everyone who is ill. It is not for those who are well that these articles are written. It is for those who suffer.

There are many people who have been ill for years; they have sought medical aid, have paid large doctor bills and have used every drug; they have been patient and faithful in following instructions, and yet they have in no way improved in health or removed the disease which is the cause of their pain, suffering and impairment of functions.

To these Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning desire to say: "What has been done for others may be done for you." The statements of patients who have been cured are printed each week, to show what can be done. From these it will be seen that Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning have succeeded, in almost every instance, in effecting a cure where other physicians have utterly failed. "I have been cured of ever recovering," is a common expression of these witnesses. "I went to one doctor after another and spent hundreds of dollars in medicine, but obtained no relief."

If the reader finds that the statement of one or more patients presents identical symptoms with his or her own there is only one sensible thing to do, and that is to go to the physicians who effected the cure.

Do not let any compunctions as to "advertising doctors" or "irregular practitioners" deter you. Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning are regularly graduated, highly trained physicians, their location in the city of Duluth is a permanent one, their leases and contracts are for a term of years, and they have an immense practice. They are not quacks, but scientifically skilled medical men, abundantly able to handle any case that comes under their care, and can present a clean bill of health as the best doctor in the city.

Their system has been organized so as to place their service within the reach of even the poorest. When their splendid work has been considered, recollect that they treat patients for a nominal fee per month, furnish medicine free, and devote with zealous enthusiasm their attention to each individual, determined to make a cure where cure is possible, and to relieve suffering anyway.

"What has been done for others may be done for you."

Charlie, as he is familiarly called by his many friends, has a story of more than ordinary interest to tell, and we give it here in his own words.

MR. CHARLES BLOSSOM, 312 NINTH AVENUE EAST.

"For more than a year I had catarrh of the head," said Mr. Blossom. "My nose would stop up first on one side then on the other. I caught cold easily but I paid no attention to it until about three months ago when my throat became so sore that I could not swallow anything without pain. There was a dull heavy feeling just over my eyes and mucus would drop continually into my throat back of the soft palate. I was always hawking and spitting, trying to clear my throat of the mucus which would collect there. While conversing with anyone I would be compelled to clear my throat before I could talk. My breath smelled bad. A cough, of a dry hacking nature, annoyed me very much. Sharp shooting pains would dart through my chest and side and extend through my shoulder blades. My sense of smell was impaired and I would blow scabs from my nose. I lost flesh rapidly and always felt tired. I read of Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning and was treated by them. I am glad to say that they did wonders for me. I gained five pounds the first week I was under their treatment and I feel like another man altogether. I cannot say enough in praise of Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning. I recommend all suffering as I did to try the physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute, before they say catarrh is incurable."

ONLY TWO WEEKS

Remain in Which the Public Can Take Advantage of the Five-Dollar Rate for All Diseases.

The physicians of the Copeland Medical institute make certain and distinct claims as to their superior skill as specialists and the thorough and successful character of their methods. They state that they are prepared by education, facilities, training and experience to cure diseases that have long resisted the ordinary methods. They recognize the right of those interested in determining the value of their claims to have an opportunity at a small expense. Therefore:

ALL PATIENTS UNDER TREATMENT OR PLACING THEMSELVES UNDER TREATMENT (EITHER AT THEIR OFFICE OR BY LETTER) BEFORE OCTOBER 15, WILL BE TREATED UNTIL CURED AT THE RATE OF $5.00 A MONTH. THIS INCLUDES CONSULTATION, EXAMINATION, TREATMENT AND MEDICINE FOR ALL PATIENTS AND FOR ALL DISEASES.

Testimony of Friends and Neighbors. MRS. ANNA IERLAND, residing at 516 Fourth avenue west: "I am thankful to Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning for what they have done for me. I feel like a new woman."

MRS. SARAH JOHNSON, residing at 215 West Superior street: "Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning cured me of lumbago—muscular rheumatism of the back."

MR. ALEXANDER McDONALD, who resides at 1122 East Fourth street, says: "I have had catarrh of the head, throat and stomach for eight years. The physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute have improved my condition so much that I feel that I will soon be entirely well."

MR. D. P. McDONALD, of 2428 West Superior street, says: "I am an enthusiastic believer in the skill of the physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute. They did for me what other physicians failed to do."

HOW DOES THIS STRIKE YOU?

—Five dollars a month for the best medical treatment with medicines furnished free.

—Treatment for children unexcelled anywhere. Treatment for adults confessedly satisfactory.

—Fair, honest and candid diagnosis and a desire to secure for the patient the shortest road to recovery.

—A challenge of $100 to anyone who will disprove the authenticity and correctness of published testimonials.

—Absolute immunity from publicity. Statements for publication come voluntarily from those who furnish them.

WANTED

At the Copeland Medical Institute, people who have been given up by their physicians, or who have failed to obtain relief from their doctors, to submit their cases for special treatment. Chronic diseases must go! Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning can be depended on to cure them.

Treatment by Mail.

To the public: The system of mail treatment pursued by Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning guarantees the same effective results to those who desire to submit their cases through correspondence as to those who come in person. Their "question blank," if properly filled out, will diagnose your case in a thorough way, and, as medicines are promptly shipped, those living out of the city have the same advantage as those who come to the office.

Write for the treatment by mail, medicine free, and rid yourself of the most painful and annoying disease in the catalogue of human ills.

NOTABLE CREDENTIALS.

Dr. Copeland is a graduate of the Bellevue Hospital Medical College of New York city; was president of his class in that famous institution, and, after thorough hospital training and experience, devoted his entire time and attention to the special lines of practice named below. Passed through a similar course, Dr. Hunt and Dr. Drenning also devote themselves exclusively to the treatment of these specialties. Years of experience in their special lines, preceded by extensive hospital work, have fitted them in a notable degree for the practice of their profession.

PROCLAMATION

MAYOR'S OFFICE, CITY OF DULUTH.

To the Citizens of Duluth:

Asiatic Cholera having actually appeared in the city of New York, it is the duty of all residents of Duluth to do all in their power to put the city in a perfect sanitary condition, as cleanliness is the greatest preventative of the disease. All owners, agents or occupants of property in the city are therefore requested to at once thoroughly clean their premises, and to throw no filth or garbage in the streets or alleys, and to report immediately to the Health Department at the City Hall if they have knowledge of any filth or garbage on the premises of any one else, or on any street or in any alleys, or of any disease-breeding nuisance in any part of the city, all of which communications will be treated as strictly private and confidential by the Health Department.

All departments of the city government are directed to do all in their power to see that the city is thoroughly cleaned and that the health ordinances are strictly enforced. The city authorities will do all that is possible, and ask the people to unite to help them to put the city in a condition to successfully fight the scourge should it appear in our midst. "Prevention is better than cure." Clean your premises! Clean the city!

Perfect Rest.

Savannah, Ga., News: Mr. Marcus S. Baker is a gentleman well known in this community, and his character one of integrity, well known and understood, thoroughly practical in what he says and does. The letter which follows, signed by Mr. Baker, speaks much in behalf of the one to whom it is addressed and is a valuable endorsement:

For some time I have been troubled with imperfect vision, and toward its correction employed the best methods I could secure in the examination of my eyes and the glasses, believing that I was seeing as well as optics or glasses would enable me to see, and preserving such sight as I normally possessed, and following the best measures calculated toward a preservation of the sight. When Dr. Matthez came, he announced himself at the De Soto, implicitly relying upon the judgment of Dr. Duncan and other members of the medical faculty, concluded to give Mrs. Baker the benefit of such knowledge as he might possess toward relief to her eyes, which had been troubling her for some time, apparent unsuitability of the glasses she was wearing. Dr. Matthez at once discovered and demonstrated practically, a very great diversity in the sight of the two eyes, a fact Mrs. Baker had never previously ignorant of, and had never been corrected by those who examined her eyes and furnished the glasses. Practical tests were made, and the fact that by comparison the one eye lacked at least three quarters of the sight possessed by the one least impaired. Carefully watching the case, found that he gave Mrs. Baker a careful, thorough, painstaking, intelligent examination, and at several different appointments. When that was finished a measure of the face was taken, the frames being made and fitted to her individual requirements, glasses being ground and fitted thereto, which she wore, and now, speaking from a practical stand point, can say that she can see as well with the poor eye as with the nearly good one; that the vision is equalized. I was convinced that the defect of imperfect vision was a peculiar one, requiring, I believe, more than ordinary ability to correct. Though believing my own case fitted to its need, I yet submitted my own eyes for examination, to find a practical demonstration convinced me that methods which I thought perfect were very far from being correct, and after placing myself in the hands of Dr. Matthez for examinations and glasses, find as a result that I see with much greater ease and distinctness than heretofore, and that with the perfect adjustment my eyes and sight are improving. I paid Dr. Matthez for work which, in the case of myself and Mrs. Baker, is superior to anything I have ever seen or worn, and having the practical conviction in our own immediate cases of his competency and reliability feel that in stating these facts I not only do him justice in a commendation, but I serve the public a benefit. He keeps complete records of each individual case so that at any time a patient loses or breaks the glasses they can be duplicated. M. S. BURROWS & CO., 175 Walburg street, Savannah, Ga., Feb. 22, 1890.

Dr. Matthez needs no introduction, his merit and work are already known in Duluth. The letter above explains many interesting facts concerning eyes and glasses and we can only say in conclusion that if you are in need of spectacles to suit your eyes and to preserve them see Dr. Matthez at the Spalding.

NOT HIS WRITING

Frank Burke, Jr., Denies that He Wrote the Address on the Thomas Envelope.

He Also Makes an Explanation Regarding the Duluth & Northwestern Franchise.

The Grand Jury Returns Indictments Against Cugin—McKillof Gets $2000.

Probably the most interesting session of the grand jury which has been held was that of yesterday afternoon. Frank Burke, Jr., was on the stand and was closely questioned but nothing was learned from him. He denied that the handwriting on the envelope received by Ald. Thomas was his and produced copies of the alderman's name written by him at different times, calling particular attention to the great difference in the writing of the letter "T." He was also questioned about various matters connected with the city government and was asked among other things if he had any suspicions as to who the boodle came from. He said that he had at the time suspected that it might be from the Duluth, Red Lake Falls & Northern road, but nobody supposed they had $600; then he thought of the Northeastern road, but there was considerable opposition there and he finally concluded that it was someone else. The Gas and Water company, he also thought of, but the settlement it made with the city was not a very advantageous one and he finally concluded that he did not know anything about it.

When the discovery was made that the Duluth & Northwestern franchise granted that road the entire right to Railroad street, whereas the aldermen only supposed they were giving a conditional right, there was a good deal of astonishment. One of the aldermen went so far as to openly say that one of the type-written pages in the ordinance had been changed by Frank Burke, Jr. He was not directly questioned on this yesterday, but brought the matter up himself. He told the jury that he had the copies of the ordinances, which were revised in lead pencil and from which the new copies were made. In the final ordinance, which was acceptable and from which the last copy was made and presented in the evening, the corrections were made in Mayor d'Auremont's handwriting and the ordinance passed reads exactly as this copy.

Acting City Engineer Reed was questioned about the Piedmont avenue contract and some of the estimates and admitted an oversight on the part of the then city engineer, President Truelsen was also examined upon a number of matters. W. C. Sargent and John Williams were also before the jury but nothing was gained from them.

The grand jury came into court at 2:30 o'clock today and returned two indictments against James Cugin charging him with being accessory to murder in the second degree in the case of John Murphy and in the first degree for the murder of Hagerty.

Before Judge Stearns case 129 was dismissed on account of the failure of the plaintiff's attorney to appear. In the street railway suit McKillof secured a verdict of $2000. The following setting of cases has been made:

Tuesday—62, 66, 67, 70.
Wednesday—30, 79, 81, 82, 93, 136, 139, 144.

Judge Stearns will be absent until Wednesday at St. Paul at the meeting of the board of regents of the state university.

THE MOTHER FOUND.

Talk With the Mother of Hagerty Murdered at West Duluth.

The Herald a few days ago published a special dispatch from Kingston, Ont., stating that the mother of John Hagerty, one of the men murdered at West Duluth, lived there. The Kingston Whig has received, which gives the following interview with Mrs. Hagerty:

She said that when Capt. Hamilton ran a mill at Battersea John Hagerty worked for him. His name was not John Albert. In the mill he had the top of a small finger cut off by the machinery. He boarded with Mrs. Parsons' sister at Battersea. When he was about 11 years of age he accidentally cut a large toe with an axe while chopping wood.

"What was your husband's first name, Mrs. Parsons?"

"His name was Peter and he died a great many years ago. His remains and those of John's grandfather, and a little brother are buried in St. Mary's cemetery. He, no doubt, referred to them when he asked to be buried alongside his friends at Kingston. When here John worked in Stevenson's piano factory and afterwards in Strachan's mill. He was born within five miles of the market square, and on the 1st of January would have been 33 years of age."

"When did John go away?"

"He left Kingston with an uncle and aunt. He said he was determined to see the western country. They settled in Minnesota and purchased claims. John built a house on his land. I was then at Kingston in the fall of Mr. Hepburn, and corresponded regularly with my boy. He wrote me once that he had built a house. I wrote back in a jocular way, 'Now that you have got the cage you will get the bird.' He wrote back, 'There are no birds out here that will suit me. I wrote back that I would send him two car loads of pretty girls from Picton if he would give the order. This was the last correspondence I had with John. Eleven years have passed since then. I expected him to write me. He used to write and say he would surprise me. Mr. LeHeup, son of Watchmaker LeHeup, was here the other day and said that John was once a policeman in Minnesota."

"What is your name?"

"My name was Harriet Barter. John's grandmother's name is Elizabeth O'Brien; she is still living in Picton. She thought a great deal of John, and if she heard of his death the shock might kill her. She is 77 years of age. In his dying moments John must have lisped his mother's christian name, and grandmother's surname. I will make some enquiries about the death of John. I am positive the young man referred to by son. Had not a neighbor brought in the Whig last night I would have still been in darkness."

THE BOOK REVIEW

One of the Best Editions of the Waverly Novels About to be Issued.

The Only Complete and Authentic Life of Grover Cleveland by George F. Parker.

Dr. Sayre Writes in the October Forum on How to Prevent the Cholera.

"The Dryburgh Edition" of the Waverly Novels, the first volume of which is announced by the Messrs. Macmillan & Co. for November, promises to be one of the best yet issued. The text has been most carefully collated with the interleaved copy on which Scott made his last corrections; and the illustrations are made a noticeable feature, each volume being entrusted to one artist. Among the well-known wielders of the pen engaged are Charles Green, Gordon Brown, Hugh Thomson, Walter Paget, Frank Dadd, W. H. Overend and Stanley Berkeley, besides members of the Royal Scottish Academy. Each volume will contain all the author's introductions and notes, with the additional notes contributed by the late David Laing, LL. D., as well as a carefully-prepared glossary and index. In addition to the ordinary issue there will be a large paper edition specially printed on hand-made paper.

The October number of the Forum will contain a "Review of a Decade of Civil Service Reform," showing just what has been accomplished under the law since it was enacted, by John T. Doyle, secretary of the commission; and a comparison of the civil service records of Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Harrison, by Lucius B. Swift, editor of the Civil Service Chronicle, of Indianapolis, who, as a civil service reformer, voted for Mr. Harrison in 1888, but will vote for Mr. Cleveland in 1892.

There is a very powerful story in the Argonaut of Sept. 12 entitled "If Thine Enemy Thirst." It is narrated in the dialect of a London thief, and tells how a young wretch, who has been persecuted—and, perhaps, as he thinks, forced from the straight and narrow path—by an over-righteous preacher, avenges his wrongs in a most terrible manner during a shipwreck in the Indian ocean. The story, in spite of its tragic character, is amusing, because of the dialect, which is the result of careful study. It is from the pen of Thomas J. Vivian, formerly a well-known journalist in San Francisco, and now chief of a bureau in the census department. He will be remembered as the author of a number of amusing tales in the Argonaut, the first of which was "The Waiter Smiled."

The September number of the Mother's Nursery Guide contains medical articles on "Natural and Artificial Feeding of Infants," "A Short Talk About Disease Germs," "Some Common Nervous Diseases," etc. Other subjects are: "A Mother's Duty in Mental Child Training," "Kindergarten-at-Home Stories," "A Child's Vocabulary," etc. The medical editor answers questions as to the proper hours for nursing and bathing, the advantages of sea and mountain climates, the uses of fat in food, the value of vegetables for the nursing mother, etc. Lighter topics are discussed by the mothers themselves in the "Mother's Parliament." $2 a year. Sample copies free. Babyhood Publishing Co., 5 Beckman street, New York.

"Philip Meyer's Scheme" is the title of a new book to be issued by I. S. Ogilvie, and written by Luke A. Hedd, from the standpoint of a workingman, and discusses the question of labor and strikes in a very effective and unique way. It will certainly deserve and receive a careful criticism from those who are interested in the labor question.

The startling revelations made in the September number of the Forum by Mr. Cook of his studies of the venality of voters in Connecticut will be followed by still more interesting disclosures in the October number, along with an explanation of the methods by which this merchandise of votes is handled.

While the publishers of some magazines and periodicals in this country and Europe make efforts and present to their readers gift pictures which may or may not be works of art, the Godey Publishing company, of 21 Park Row, New York, announce that they will present to each purchaser of Godey's Magazine published in its new form September 15 (for October), with an art subject which is worthy of its name, and is so beautiful, in conception, drawing and coloring that the picture will be in great demand by all art lovers. The subject is known as "Godey's Idea of the World's Fair," and the artist, W. Granville Smith, is widely known as one of America's most promising and talented colorists. The publishers wish it understood that, in addition to the magnificent October number, retailing for 25 cents, this beautiful picture (size 7x9 inches) will be given free as a supplement.

The only complete and authentic life of Grover Cleveland that has yet been written will be published immediately in Cassell's Sunshine Series. The author is George F. Parker, editor of "The Writings and Speeches of Grover Cleveland," published by the Cassell Publishing company, and he has had the authorization of Mr. Cleveland in his work. Besides Mr. Parker's "life" of the great Democratic leader, there will be added to the book a literary estimate of the ex-president by Richard Watson Gilder, and a review of his legal career by his late partner, W. S. Bissell, of Buffalo.

The October number of the Forum will contain an article on the cholera, how it has been prevented and may be prevented, with a statement of preceding epidemics, by the eminent Dr. Lewis A. Sayre, who was resident physician in the city of New York when the disease came to that port in 1866.

"Messages from Mars" is the title of a new book to be issued by J. S. Ogilvie (D. Appleton & Co., New York), is rather a bright, entertaining little story of a peculiarly trying experience, resulting from a remarkable chain of circumstantial evidence. On its social side it suggests the lesson of not imagining evil, putting the best, not the worst, construction on facts, even though puzzling, and not borrowing trouble. On the legal side it is an ingenious demonstration of the unreliability of purely circumstantial evidence, and the danger of allowing the methods and habits of the detective unrestricted sway. It is just the book for a leisure hour.

"A Tale of Twenty-five Hours," by Brander Matthews and George H. Jessop (D. Appleton & Co., New York), is rather a bright, entertaining little story of a peculiarly trying experience, resulting from a remarkable chain of circumstantial evidence. On its social side it suggests the lesson of not imagining evil, putting the best, not the worst, construction on facts, even though puzzling, and not borrowing trouble. On the legal side it is an ingenious demonstration of the unreliability of purely circumstantial evidence, and the danger of allowing the methods and habits of the detective unrestricted sway. A. C. McClurg & Co. have in press "France in the Nineteenth Century: 1830-1890," by Elizabeth Wormley Latimer; "A History of Modern Philosophy" (from the Renaissance to the Present), by B. C. Burt; "Sound and Music," by Professor John A. Zahn, profusely illustrated; "References for Literary Workers," by Professor Henry Matson; and "A Short History of English Literature," by Elizabeth S. Kirkland.

Henry Holt & Co. have in press the second volume of Ten Bink's "Early English Literature," "German Literature in its Chief Epochs," by Professor Kuno Francke, of Harvard; a translation of Professor R. Falkenberg's "History of Modern Philosophy," from Nicholas of Cusa to the present time; "Hume," by Professor Aikens, of Trinity, N. C.; "Hegel," by Professor Royce, of Harvard; a "Dictionary of Botanical Terms," popular as well as scientific, by A. A. Crozier; and "Physics," by Professor George F. Barker, of the University of Pennsylvania.

"The Traveling Companions," by F. Anstey (Longmans, Green & Co., New York, $1.75), is a bright little comedy reprinted from Punch. The persons are several tourists who by chance or otherwise meet at various places on the continent. The characteristics of the several nationalities represented are happily shown, and the dialogue is vivacious and entertaining. The illustrations are exceedingly good and add to the humor of the scenes. The whole is a sparkling bit of nonsense and makes capital reading for a lazy hour.

Harper & Brothers' list of new books includes "The Danube: From the Black Forest to the Black Sea," written by F. D. Millet, and illustrated by the author and Alfred Parsons; "The Principles of Ethics," by Professor Borden P. Browne; "A Family Canoe Trip," by Florence Watters Snedeker, illustrated; "The Woodman," by Jules de Glouvet (M. Guernay de Beaupre, procurer general and prosecutor of the anarchists) translated by Mrs. John Simpson (nee Senior), and a new edition of "The Maid of Killeena," by William Black.

Daudet says that he does not think anything of literature as a profession. "After all," he declares, "there is nothing so weary as brain work, and it is practically impossible to keep up the sort of strain undergone by every literary man for many years without breaking down." His advice to young people who come to consult him on the question of taking up a literary career always is: "Stick to your profession, and if you have it in you to write anything really good, you will always find time to do it."

The epic "Story of Columbus," supplemented with the information embodied in later discoveries, documents and illustrated with reproductions of rare portraits, charts, historical painting and photographic views, fittingly heads the October number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly. The leading contemporary women painters in France, including Mmes Rosa Bonheur, Madeleine Lemaire, Henriette Konner, Demont-Breton and Fleury, and Mmes. Rongier, Breslau, Abbena, Lacombe de Presle, and others, are introduced in an interesting article by Arthur Hornblow, with numerous portraits, autographs, and reproductions of the work of the artists mentioned. Another artistic and exquisitely illustrated paper, "Frieda Voelter Redmond's 'Letter From Monastery,' Caracas, the capital city of Venezuela, is described by Don Ramon Paez. Nelly Hart Woodworth writes charmingly about birds and "The Songs They Sing," and Geo. W. Hayes gives some vivid and entertaining pages from "A Washington Correspondent's Notebook." All that is known about that interesting planet, "Our Neighbor Mars," is told in a succinct article by Arthur Voelter Redmond. There is, as usual, a great variety of stories, poems and miscellany.

THE SANTA MARIA

The Famed Flagship of Christopher Columbus Compared With Modern Sailing Vessels.

A Wonder How the Navigator Crossed the Ocean in His Little Caravel.

A Facsimile of the Little Vessel Has Been Made for the World's Fair.

Spain is now in the midst of a series of fetes in commemoration of the discovery of America which will last till late in October. On the 3d of August, the sailing of Columbus from Palos, the jubilation began, and of all the sights the exact reproduction of the flagship of Columbus, the Santa Maria, excited most amazement. Among the sailors in the vast gathering there was a loud chorus of astonishment and belief. Almost unanimously they declared that such a ship had not done the thing—it was impossible.

THE NEW SANTA MARIA.

It is indeed hard to believe that the little caravel of 240 tons at the outside could have made such a voyage, and when one compares it with the large sailing vessels of today he may well be incredulous. With the achievements of steam and practical science we are tolerably familiar, but the fact then (though sailing vessels antedated written history, the progress therein since 1492 is as great as in anything else) comes to one as a great surprise. Compare the little Santa Maria with, for instance, the magnificent Shenandoah, the American four masted bark and queen of all sailing vessels, which a few months ago went from San Francisco to Liverpool with 5,000 tons of wheat on board.

Consider first the big sailor. The Shenandoah, commanded by Captain Murphy, was one of the five which left the Bay of San Francisco last year on the famous race around the Horn. They sailed at high tide, of necessity, as they drew twenty-seven feet of water. The weight of wheat aboard, 5,000 tons, was the greatest cargo of the kind ever placed in a vessel and equivalent to 166,733 bushels, or the crop of an average agricultural county. An adequate description of the Shenandoah would fill a column. Sailer as she is, she "makes sail by steam," as sailors say—that is, the sails are pulled into place by a little donkey engine, and of all glorious sights to the seaman's eye there is none more glorious than to see her swell from bare poles to full rig of snowy sails in less than five minutes.

The Santa Maria might have been placed on the deck of the Shenandoah without adding perceptibly to her weight of cargo. She was a decked vessel, and while the Spanish historians do not deal in exact measurements they are so minute in details of her capacity that her size is known. Captain Gustavus W. Fox, after a very careful calculation, declares that her length was "63 feet over all and 57 feet along her keel," with 20 feet beam and 10½ feet in depth. Her crew consisted of fifty-seven men, and in the list are found the names of one Englishman and one Irishman. It is really a pity that this list is not certainly authentic; it would be interesting to know the name of the first Irish emigrant to America. This historic vessel was wrecked on Christmas eve, 1492, on the coast of Hispaniola, a calamity due to the gross carelessness of the sailing master.

Small as she was, her consorts, the Pinta and the Nina, were considerably smaller, being mere barks, called caravels, without decks, unless the high prow and stern may be so called. In the center such a vessel was absolutely open, and in no respect superior to the fishing craft and other light coasting vessels of today. That men should have been willing to dare the passage of the stormy Atlantic in such craft gives us a high idea of their courage, and as a matter of fact only Columbus, Las Casas, the Pinzon and two or three other mad enthusiasts were willing.

The crew consisted of thirty or forty characters compelled to take the trip. Many were released from prison to go, and some had been condemned to death and volunteered as a bare chance for life. Our astonishment is but slightly mitigated when we read that Columbus did not ask for large vessels, for there were many in the Spanish ports larger than these. He firmly believed that the voyage would be comparatively short and the sea where he was going always smooth, and he particularly requested such vessels as would enable him to run close in along the shores and sail up the rivers. On his third voyage, when he actually reached South America, he complained of the size of his vessel, which rendered coast exploration difficult.

The Spanish authorities declare that the Santa Maria of 1892 is an exact reproduction in every detail of that of 1492. It has the same old fashioned shape, the same primitive masts, rigging and sails, and even the same armament of falconets and mortars, halberds and arquebuses. The cabin of the commander is furnished in the style of the fifteenth century, and its table is littered with maps, documents and nautical instruments of the period. Finally, its mastheads are decorated with the royal standards of Castile and Leon, in exact imitation of the flags which Columbus planted in the New World on Oct. 12, 1492. The vessel is manned by an excellent crew, obtained from among the fishermen and sailors of Cadiz and San Fernando, and placed under the orders of a detachment of officers of the royal navy.

At the opening of the Spanish fetes, on Aug. 3, the war vessels of all nations were at Huelva to salute the new Santa Maria on her first voyage down the river, and her entrance into the Bay of Cadiz was greeted by deafening salutes. As there was almost a dead calm, however, she had to be taken in tow by a gunboat, which marred the representation somewhat. Later, however, she sailed out beautifully on the route taken by Columbus, and returned to receive renewed salutes. At this naval congress of nations the fact was humorously commented on that Columbus took with him for interpreter a scholar who knew Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Arabic, Coptic and Armenian, in addition to Spanish; that this learned gentleman was a failure in the New World, and that the first to master any of the Indian tongues were the most illiterate sailors. But this is an oft repeated experience.

J. H. BEADLE.

EDNA DEAN PROCTOR.

She wrote the Ode for the Columbus Day Celebration.

Miss Edna Dean Proctor, the descendant of a highly honored New England family, was born at Henni, N. H. In early life she became a contributor to the best literary publications and published a volume of poems, mostly patriotic, which gave her a leading place among American poets. After traveling extensively in the east she wrote "A Russian Journey" in a vivid, picturesque Latin style, which has become a classic.

EDNA DEAN PROCTOR.

Her later poems have been slowly produced, but are everywhere held to be masterpieces of art and among the strongest voices of patriotism in our literature. She lives much of the time in Boston and at Framingham, Mass.

Miss Proctor was honored by the committee of the popular Columbus Day celebration soliciting her to write the ode which is to be rendered in every locality of America on Oct. 21. The lyric is the result of months of labor, and will take permanent rank as one of the foremost poems ever written on America.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

He Recommends the General Observance of Columbus Day on Oct. 21.

Whereas, by a joint resolution, approved June 20, 1892, it was resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, "That the president of the United States be authorized and directed to issue a proclamation recommending to the people the observance in all their localities of the 40th anniversary of the discovery of America, on the 21st of October, 1892, by public demonstrations and by suitable exercises in their schools and other places of assembly";

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States of America, in pursuance of the aforesaid joint resolution, do hereby appoint Friday, Oct. 21, 1892, the 40th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, as a general holiday for the people of the United States. On that day let the people so far as possible cease from toil and devote themselves to such exercises as may best express honor to the discoverer and their appreciation of the great achievements of the four completed centuries of American life.

Columbus stood in his age as the pioneer of progress and enlightenment. The system of universal education is in our age the most prominent and salutary feature of the spirit of enlightenment, and it is peculiarly appropriate that the schools be made by the people the center of the day's demonstration. Let the national flag float over every school house in the country, and the exercises be such as shall impress upon our youth the patriotic duties of American citizenship. In the churches and in the other places of assembly of the people let there be expressions of gratitude to divine Providence for the devout faith of the discoverer, and for the divine care and guidance which have directed our history and so abundantly blessed our people. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this 21st day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and seventeenth.

A New Infernal Machine. It was rumored not long ago that Wizard Edison, the inventor, had agreed to construct an improved infernal machine for the Emperor William—a machine capable of destroying a town at a range of thirty miles or of wiping out an army corps. This rumor has been denied most emphatically by Edison, but there was scarcely any need for him to do so, as his humanitarian principles are well known. The American tendency in the matter of invention is toward the useful and the practical. Every day brings forth its convenient inventions or improvements, of which the new sleepers recently put on its night trains by the St. Paul & Duluth railroad are excellent samples. This popular route, known as the "Duluth Short Line," is always "next" when it comes to increased facilities or improvements in service, and it invariably has the best. Always take the Duluth Short Line when traveling between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, West Superior, Stillwater and Taylors Falls. For information apply to ticket agents or Geo. W. Bull, General Passenger Agent, or W. A. Russell, Asst. G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

Additional Sleeper to Chicago via the Short Line. Commencing Sept. 13, "The Northwestern Line," C. St. P. M. & O. Ry., will run two elegant vestibuled sleepers to Chicago on the limited, leaving Duluth daily at 5 p. m.

Passengers for the East can now be assured of the best sleeping car accommodations and superior service on the Short Line to Chicago. Ticket office: 332 Hotel St. Louis block. H. L. SISKLER, City Ticket Agent.

D. & S. S. Transit Company.

Beginning Monday, Sept. 12, the new and elegant upper cabin passenger steamer "Ossifrage," the fastest passenger steamer on Lake Superior will make two trips a week between Duluth and Houghton, stopping at Two Harbors, Bayfield, Ashland, Washburn, Ontonagon, Houghton, Hancock, Lake Linden and Eagle Harbor.

Leaving Duluth at 10 a. m. Mondays and Thursdays for all south shore points; returning to Two Harbors and Duluth Wednesdays and Saturdays, connecting at Two Harbors with trains to the Vermilion and Mesaba ranges, and at Duluth with trains South and West.

For further information apply to local agent or on boat. SMITH-FEE CO., Fifth avenue west, Duluth.

Take Advantage

Of the low rates and take a trip East; $28 to Washington and return via "The Northwestern Line."

Two elegant drawing room sleepers are now in service between Duluth and Chicago on the limited.

Only $28.00 to Washington, D. C., and Return via the Popular Northern Pacific, and return via the Central Line. Tickets on sale Sept. 13 to 20, good to return until Oct. 10.

The Wisconsin Central and Baltimore & Ohio have been selected as the official route by the Minnesota department G. A. R., but tickets will be sold via any line beyond Chicago.

Reserve sleeping car berths early as trains will be crowded. For further information and tickets call on addresses F. A. Conley, City Ticket Agent, Northern Pacific R. R., 416 West Superior street, Duluth.

Out This Out for Future Reference. Harvest excursions will be run via "The Northwestern Line," C. St. P. M. & O. Ry., on Aug. 30 and Sept. 27, 1892, from St. Paul, Minneapolis and stations east and north of St. Paul to all points west of and including St. James and Sleepy Eye, Minn., in Minnesota, South Dakota, Northwestern Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming and the Black Hills on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, Chicago & Northwestern and Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railways.

Harvest excursion tickets will also be sold to Omaha, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth and Kansas City and to all points in Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas and to certain points in Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana.

Tickets will be sold at very low rates and will be good to start on day of sale and good to return within twenty days.

For rate on any particular point, through car service or any information call on agents of "The Northwestern Line" or address T. W. TEASDALE, General Passenger Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

The Reasons Why

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway is the favorite. It is the oldest and was the first in the field.

It's train service is the very best. It is the first to adopt improvements. Its sleepers are palaces on wheels. It runs elegant drawing room sleepers on all night trains.

It's trains are lighted by electricity. It runs luxurious chair cars on day trains. It is the only line using the electric berth lamp.

It's dining car service is unexcelled. It's trains run solid to Milwaukee and Chicago. It is the best route to St. Louis and the South.

It is the best route to Kansas City and the West. It runs four daily trains to Milwaukee and Chicago.

It runs four daily trains to St. Louis and Kansas City. It is the Government fast mail route. It is popularly styled the "Old Reliable."

It furnishes safety, comfort and speed to patrons. For information as to the lowest rates to all points in the United States, and Canada via "The Milwaukee," apply to any coupon ticket agent, or to

WHAT SHALL BABY EAT?

Question Answered by Howard Reilly's Aunt.

Infants Die on Account of the Ignorance of Parents.

The Beautiful, Healthy Boy Happy as a Summer's Day.

What shall the baby eat? Mr. T. H. Reilly, editor of the New England Associated Press, has a beautiful child, Master Howard, whose aunt has written the following interesting letter from Asbury Park, N. J., which truly answers the question:

Baby Howard Reilly cried morning, noon and night for ten months. Every one pronounced him the most troublesome, crying young one ever born. Poor little fellow, how he suffered from the day he saw the light of day until 10 months old! No one could tell why he cried and seemed the most distressed. Several doctors examined him, and every remedy was resorted to. His bowels never moved naturally. Convulsions and scarlet fever resulted. Pen cannot describe the distress he and everyone around him endured. His mother finally weaned him; still the same trouble.

At last his tired, discouraged mother happened to read in a Boston paper an account of lactated food, and with no faith, but eager to grasp at any hope, commenced using this food. She had previously nursed him for six months, had tried cow's milk, barley water and every blessed food ever heard of, but only with increasing convulsions. Strange, but true, in three days Howard began to improve. He actually began to crawl and coo, and in a week there was a marvelous change for the better.

He has now been taking lactated food for four months. He never cries, sleeps well in the day time and all night, something he never did before. The child had evidently been suffering from improper food and imperfect digestion.

I wish every mother could see this beautiful, healthy, rosy boy, happy as a summer day.

His mother happened to read the experience of some mother, who was grateful enough for the food to tell about it in the paper, and every woman who has had her baby helped in any way should let the world at large have the benefit of her experience.

The hot weather is at hand. Think of the infants who will die from sheer ignorance of the blessing they know nothing about! Think of the number of children dying every month for want of the proper nourishment which lactated food will supply.

I don't want anyone to read this and imagine it is an advertisement. I am writing it of my own free will and for the benefit of the manufacturers of the lactated food. Let every mother who has seen the good it has done her baby write her experience. When you know a good thing for babies, don't keep it to yourself.

I thank the manufacturers of lactated food and bless them for giving us peace in the family.

I understand they have made arrangements this summer to give to the poor sick children in large cities, those who live in hot, crowded tenements. This will not only relieve the children, but their poor, tired mothers. Gratefully yours, HOWARD REILLY'S AUNT.

Something of Interest to You. The St. Paul & Duluth railroad will on Sept. 27 sell harvest excursion tickets in connection with all lines out of St. Paul and Minneapolis at very low rates. These tickets are first class and cover most all points south-east, south, south-west and west. For further information apply to F. B. Ross, Northern passenger agent, St. Paul & Duluth railroad, 426 West Superior street.

Twenty-five cents for a box of BEECHAM'S PILLS, worth a guinea. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway.

If you are going to Milwaukee or to Chicago, or to St. Louis, or to Kansas City, remember the "Milwaukee," popularly styled "the old reliable," is the favorite line out of St. Paul.

From St. Paul, Milwaukee and Chicago, four trains each day from St. Paul to St. Louis and Kansas City, two trains each day. Close connections made in St. Paul Union depot for East, South and West with all trains from Duluth. For further information as to lowest rates, etc., enquire of any ticket agent or of J. T. CANADA IS PROUD

The Dominion Points With Pride to Five Bright Women Who Are Authors.

They Have Made Names for Themselves in the Literary and Journalistic World.

One of the Best Known is Sarah Jeannette Duncan, Who is a Novelist.

Of none of her daughters is Canada more justly proud than of those who have made names for themselves in the literary and journalistic world.

SARAH JEANNETTE DUNCAN.

"With what do you mix your paint?" was once asked of a famous painter. "With brains," was the truthful if rather conceited reply. And with brains and perseverance these young Canadian writers have carved themselves niches in the temple of fame.

Perhaps one of the best known is Miss Sarah Jeannette Duncan, the author of "A Social Departure" and "An American Girl in London." The former, it will be remembered, is a clever and most amusing account of the very unconventional trip around the world taken by two girls alone.

Sarah Jeannette Duncan is the daughter of a prominent merchant of Brantford, Ont., and was born in that city in a pleasant, old-fashioned house surrounded by trees. As a child she was an insatiable and omnivorous reader of every book and magazine she could obtain. From her Irish mother she inherited both wit and brilliancy and a keen sense of humor.

Her first venture in the journalistic field was a series of letters descriptive of brilliancy and vivacity of expression. While in New Brunswick she married the late Hon. A. Seely, a prominent government official in the maritime province, and after her marriage she traveled for a number of years, visiting Germany, Belgium, Great Britain, Russia, Bessarabia, India and South America.

Shortly after Mr. Seely's death she settled in New York and there married Count Adolphus Norraikow, an exiled Russian noble, who had been a wealthy and well known lawyer in St. Petersburg, but whose opinions did not please the imperial government. The countess is a "woman of the world" in the best sense of the term, a fine musician and an accomplished linguist. She is a constant contributor to the Harper publications, The Cosmopolitan, The Independent, Lippincott's Magazine, etc. Lately she has written a play which is to be produced by Manager Palmer, of New York, during the coming season. She has crossed the ocean no less than eighteen times, and in both London and New York society has a large circle of connections and friends.

One of the first writers to explore the French Canadian field for character and descriptive sketches was Frances Harrison, better known as Senatus. Mrs. Harrison, who is a native of Ontario, began writing reviews for the Toronto Mail at the early age of sixteen, and was for four years editor of The Week, Toronto, at that time in the hands of Professor Goldwin Smith. To Temple Bar, of London, The Cosmopolitan and New England Magazines she has been a constant contributor. Of her book "Crowded Out" both the New York and English press spoke most highly, as they also have of her latest works, "Pine Rose," and "Fleur-de-Lis." Senatus is also widely known in the musical world as a composer of several songs and piano forte pieces, which have been published at various times in New York, London and Philadelphia.

Like Miss Duncan, Mrs. Harrison has a strain of Irish blood in her veins.

SOPHIE ALMON-HENSLEY.

though she is a native born Canadian. Of medium height, with brown hair, dark blue eyes and an aquiline nose, Mrs. Harrison gives an immediate impression of intellectual attainments.

Her husband, Mr. J. Harrison, is a professional musician, lately of Bristol, England, but resident now in Toronto, where he is prominent in musical circles.

A very charming woman and equally charming writer is Sophie Almon-Hensley. Poetry is her special gift, and her published pieces show rare depth and tenderness of feeling. Two of her sonnets, "There is No God" and "Triumph," appeared in Douglas Sladens' "Younger American Poets." She is a disciple of Professor G. D. Roberts, inasmuch as he directed her studies and taught her the principles of ancient and modern poetry.

Strange to say, neither Mrs. Hensley's father nor mother nor any other member of the family has devoted any time to literature in any way, so she owes nothing to heredity. Barely twenty-six years of age, she has ample time before her in which to develop the promise of her youth. Two little baby daughters occupy all the time not devoted to literature, though in spite of her domestic cares Mrs. Almon-Hensley is now at work upon a novel which will in all probability be published this autumn.

Her bright, attractive manner makes her a host of friends wherever she goes, and she particularly excels—where so many literary people, both men and women, fail—in being a brilliant conversationalist. Mr. and Mrs. Hensley at present reside in New York.

A Canadian, by adoption, Mrs. Sarah Curzon is an English woman by birth, but as she came to Canada young and all her literary work has been done there, Canadian subjects forming the principal themes of her facile pen, she may be fairly called a Canadian. A short time ago she published a collection of poems, including one of the best known of her works, a drama entitled "Laura Secord," based upon a historical incident in the life of that Canadian heroine.

Mrs. Curzon has from time to time occupied various editorial positions, besides being the special correspondent for numerous daily and weekly papers.

She is the mother of a family and a most earnest advocate of the higher education and advancement of women. For what she has accomplished she has had a severe struggle, for her attention was turned to literary and educational matters at a time when to be considered "blue" was to be regarded as bold and repulsive, if not positively wicked. In addition to her regular work for Canadian journals, she is a valued contributor to many English and American magazines.

Latterly Mrs. Curzon has been devoting her pen to monographs upon historical subjects, and in recognition of her services in this line she has been created an honorary member of several historical societies and associations.

Verse, the simple life of the ballad and the grand flow of the Alexandrine, has always had a charm for her, and from time to time she published a number of fugitive pieces. The most important of these she has republished in her book, which has been most favorably criticised and reviewed.

Mrs. Curzon began a literary career at a time when prejudice was strong against women doing so, and to her belongs the honor of having fought many battles that have rendered it now comparatively easy for any woman who has the desire to enter the arena upon equal terms with all comers.

HELEN E. GREGORY-FLEISHER, M. A.

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

What We Mean by Pecuniary Independence for Women.

Some of my friends have been taking me to task for harping so constantly on the "pecuniary independence of women."

Would I have women take all the trades and professions out of the hands of men and have husbands sit at home and be supported by their wives? They say, No! I would not. It is evident these good critics do not understand the meaning of pecuniary independence for women. It does not mean that all women shall work in the trades and professions for their bread, or that homes shall be broken up and our sex cease to be housekeepers. It only means that for such women as are obliged to earn their bread there shall be the fullest, freest opportunity.

They shall have what our southern brethren would call a "fair chance" all along the line. All trades and professions shall be open to them to select from; they shall have just as good opportunity for education and preparation for their work as boys have, and they shall have equal pay for equal work. On the other hand, wives shall cease to go like slaves to their husbands, begging for a dollar or a dime that is flung to them as a bone to a dog. The wife shall have a regular, fixed income for herself to spend as she likes, after all the household expenses shall be provided for, and be accountable to nobody as to how she spends it. The income shall be neither more nor less than the husband's wages justly, but just the right sum. Further, it means that girls shall be able to take care of themselves and never descend to that last, lowest way of getting a living, marrying for a home. Finally, it means that all girls shall be educated to a fine self respect which will not permit them to hang about men like beggars, throwing out hints and suggestions that men shall take them to the theater or to oysters and ice cream, and give them presents. It is degrading to women and hard on men for women to take money from men in that way. When the full industrial emancipation of women is achieved women will only marry when and whom they please. They can and will pay for their own ice cream. There is no fear that the world's work will give out through the entrance of women into the industries, for the field of labor is ever broadening. New occupations are constantly arising and will continue to arise. This glorious world of work is big enough for everybody. Now do you catch on?

A Jewish friend informs me that in the Hebrew marriage service the bride does not promise to obey and never did, even in the old Bible times. Exactly the same pledge is exacted of both bride and groom.

For the first time since I can remember, it appears to me that women have something to hope for from a political party. The Republican party in the present campaign really seems to begin to take women seriously.

That good and talented girl, Cynthia Westover, can do almost everything. But I have only learned lately that she is an inventor. She speaks her abhorrence and early youth with her father among mines in the west, and while there invented an improved truck for conveying earth out of mines and diggings. For this the French Society of Inventors have lately made Miss Westover an honorary member of their association and have awarded her a gold medal and first class diploma. It is to be added, however, that she did this under the impression that "C. M. Westover" was a man.

Edwin Checkley, the athlete and teacher of physical culture, says: "Women complain always that men are so bad. Well, women have always had the training of men in the most impressionable years of their lives. Why have they not made them better?" I, for one, cannot answer.

Alice Ives says the women who assure people that they are not in the least strong minded have no need at all to do that. Nobody would ever accuse them of it.

There are 37,000 women telegraphers in the United States.

Oh, yes there is Labouchere—"Labby"—complaining because he was left out of the new British cabinet. It served him right for opposing women as he does. He to call himself a radical and be against woman's rights!

The president of the Women's National Republican association is Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, and its headquarters are at the Hotel Savoy, New York city.

Mrs. N. E. Beasley, of Chicago, has invented a pipeline for the transportation of grain over long distances. The grain will move twelve miles an hour, and the cost of transportation from Chicago to New York is expected to be three cents a bushel.

Mrs. Brooks, of South Berwick, Me., is the proprietor and manager of a foundry and building plant that turns out a new railway engine every day.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Robert C. Smith (a single man) mortgagor, to Alexander Macrae, mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1891, and with a power of sale therein contained, and whereas the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 18th day of November, A. D. 1891, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 85 of mortgages, on page 149, said default consisting in the non-payment of the semi-annual installment of interest due upon said mortgage on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1892, amounting to the sum of forty ($40) dollars, the payment of which was secured by said mortgage; and whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and is actually due, at the date of this notice, upon said mortgage, the sum of forty and 99-100 dollars interest upon said mortgage debt, and fifty dollars attorney's fees stipulated for in said mortgage, in case of foreclosure thereof; and whereas on the 5th day of November, A. D. 1891, said mortgage was duly assigned by said Alexander Macrae to A. J. Eastabrooks by an instrument, bearing date on said day, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds for St. Louis county, Minn., on the 18th day of November, A. D. 1891, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 74 of mortgages, on page 22; and whereas, no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and pursuant to the statutory provisions in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and contained in said mortgage, to-wit: That tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

Lot one hundred and sixty-eight (168), in block prime (P), Duluth proper, Third division, according to the recorded plat thereof; which said premises, together with the improvements and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes and any and all premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law by the sheriff of said St. Louis county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 4th day of October, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated August 30, A. D. 1892.

NYE ON THE HOG

He Writes of the Versatile and Slab-Sided Razorback of North Carolina.

The Etruscan Black Bear Which Flourishes in the Home of Senator Vance.

Remarks About the Popular Senator, and Why His Home is Called Gombroon.

Black mountain is the name of the large Etruscan black bear, Big Tom Wilson and Senator Zebulon Baird Vance. Four times in six years Big Tom Wilson has written me: "Come up as soon as possible. I have caught the bear owned by you for killing purposes. Please hurry up, as he is eating his head

A BEAR TO BE KILLED. Off. Four times affairs of state have prevented my going up to Black mountain, and so other hands have killed my bear.

The bear of Black mountain is of the order of Carnivora and tribe Plantigrade, and is a tribe of the family Ursidae. They walk on the soles of their feet and have five toes on each foot. Their tales are not serial tales, being brief and to the point. The tail of the Black mountain bear is extremely rudimentary, and in some cases is merely a depression.

Some species of the bear hibernate in the winter, occupying a hollow tree or cave in the earth. They remain stationary at such times, living on the record of their glorious past. The Kamchatkan bear is found in Kamchatka. The flesh of the black bear of Black mountain is eaten for food. It tastes like a hot box. People who can get codliver oil to eat seldom eat bear meat. The bear eats mostly berries, roots and herbs, and therefore should be good eating himself, but he breaks over the rules sometimes after Lent and eats a colored child.

Now and then one at dusk hears the shrill cry of a shot down the shady valley of the north branch of the Swan-nanah. Then the country of Black mountain crouch closer to each other, and they call in their great wealth of dog where it will be safe, for they know that Senator Vance is feeding the bear with one of his clipper built hogs.

Senator Vance's hogs come of a hardy race of ridge rosters easily detected by the long, sad face. He is a mountain hog and fond of liberty, reminding one of William Tell, except that his legs are longer. He is sure footed and clings to the crags and precipices like a chamois. "Yesterday," said the senator, "we killed a rattlesnake and I wanted the boys to keep it to show you, but I've got thirty or forty hogs running around here loose in the woods waiting for chestnuts or the third party or something of that kind to come along, and so they ate it up."

These hogs during the summer diet and train themselves down a great deal, take long walks and otherwise bant themselves till they look like autumn leaves. Then, when the autumn leaves and the nuts and acorns come on, you will see the razorback, if the crop be good, fling his tail gayly over the dashboard and let bygones be bygones, being of the Buff Oochin hen at maturity. Should the mast, as this crop is called, be short, or only a half crop, of course his tail will naturally hang at half mast, but that is neither here nor there.

When taken up and fed a month or so after this course of chestnutting the Black mountain sandy shote or coral insect soon becomes a delicious morsel, the hams being as large and juicy as those of the Buff Oochin hen at maturity.

I ate a couple of these hams at Senator Vance's table, and I shall never speak lightly of the ridge roster again. He is subject to none of the diseases peculiar to corpulence. He breathes good air, eats the pokeberry in midsummer till his ceilings and wainscoting are as red as a Chinese demonstration; then he eats the wild cucumber which falls from the cucumber tree after the squirrel has had all he wants; and the result is that by November he is ready to take a course of corn in the ear or elsewhere, and winds up at the glorious yuletide when the holly berries are red and the mistletoe and the persimmons are both ripe, still slender and girlish in figure, but as tender and juicy as a Brazil nut.

Sometimes one strikes a mountain hog, however, that will not make on flesh, but remains thin and angular. These are often killed and dried just as they are, and may be used to clean lamp chimneys with.

Senator Vance lives on the saddle of a ridge in such a position as to have in front of the house the highest peak of Craggy mountain, while at the back of the house, straight down 500 feet, you peer the roof and tumble of the North Branch. Here stands Gombroon, the restful and ideal home of North Carolina's favored son and senator.

"What made you call it Gombroon?" asked Mrs. Vance as I ate another watermelon and concealed the rinds in Major Stedman's umbrella. I asked this question because a pizen political adversary said that it was mighty poor taste for a United States senator to name his summer home for a little covey of decayed and flea infected hovels on the Persian gulf.

"The little seaport on the Persian gulf had nothing to do with it," said Mrs. Vance. "I'd been reading an article on 'The Vagaries of Eminent Men,' and among others the dream of De Quincy that seemed to haunt him in all his later years, that he had conquered, owned and ruled a distant island called Gombroon. In all his work and in all his leisure, as a purple background to the picture of actual life, stood this ever present country which he called Gombroon."

"So, when in the midst of this, husband wrote me that if he could think as earnestly and industriously of the coming convention as he did of the cows and the orchard upon Black mountain he would probably be more successful as a politician, I named the home Gombroon, and Gombroon it is likely to remain."

You get off the R. & D. train at Black Mountain station, and there you secure a fiacre drawn by two melancholy mules. Black Mountain station is not a financial center, but is still dictated to by Wall street. A large political meeting was being held there at the school house on the afternoon of our arrival, and good, pure Democratic doctrine was coming out through the open window, together with the flavor of honest toil and unrefined spirits.

The road to Gombroon is eight miles in length and reminds one of Pennsylvania avenue in some respects. The route crosses and recrosses the Branch just often enough to keep the feet of one's mules tidy, and the boulders which you drive over are well worthy of the attention of the geologist. Four years ago I would have said that the road to Gombroon was rough and irregular, but since then I have driven over Patton avenue and South Main street in Asheville, and I am gentler in my judgment of mountain roads since that.

I gathered from what Senator Vance let fall while we were conversing on political matters that he is a Democrat. So is Mrs. Vance. Yet they had nothing to say of the Republican nominees except in a tone of the most kindly commiseration. We spoke very little on political matters, however, as Major Wilson was there also, and if any one spoke of politics he promptly but gracefully changed the topic of conversation by referring to the third party candidates.

The nominees on the third party ticket in North Carolina seem to be having some trouble already, one having been arrested for using profane language in the postoffice, another for carrying concealed weapons, another charged with eloping with his wife's sister, and another with stealing a hog from a widow woman during our late war. I trust that these grave charges will be refuted at an early date.

Senator Vance has many agricultural ideas in common with my own. His watermelons mature in October. So do mine. He has been unsuccessful in perfecting a coreless baked apple from seedling trees. So have I. His voracious apple for train fare has never reached maturity. Neither has my own.

But vegetables generally have done well in both cases. We had an abundance of all truck from the garden, and fresh potatoes that would do more for home rule than all the enthusiasm and arnica of those political meetings and stellular fractures in Ireland, where all joint discussions are held in the run joints of that liberty loving island.

Gombroon is a handsome summer home built of native timber grown on the place, cut on the place and hauled by the Vance mules, Peier and Repeter, to a little mill down the Branch, where the timber was sawed, dressed, kiln dried and prepared for the building. In digging for the foundation a bed of beautiful building sand was found, and a quarry of excellent stone was struck within a four minute walk of the house and a little above it, so that with a stone boat and the speckled steers, Eyether and Nyether, Senator Vance easily hauled in a few days stone enough to build the foundation of the house.

I ATE ANOTHER WATERMELON. The building is finished in the very justly celebrated woods of North Carolina, and I may be allowed at this point to speak, I hope, of the lack of enthusiasm shown in the collection and preparation of such things for the big fair from this state. It is doubtful if any other state in the Union has such an unbounded wealth of beautiful woods, and yet I tremble when I think what a feeble showing it bids fair to make at Chicago. Nebraska, which is a magnificent agricultural state, but not celebrated as a timber state by any means, will tumish the $1,000 hammer with a handle of Nebraska woods with which to drive the last nail in the woman's building. Why couldn't North Carolina, with every variety of staple and ornamental wood covering the entire Blue Ridge in this state to a depth of 80 to 100 feet, serve herself up to supplying the handle of such a hammer? She would not feel it in fifty years from now.

Gombroon, with its oaken stairs and halls, its ceilings of curly poplar and maple, its rooms finished in cherry and mountain mahogany, its library with massive dark beams of native wood and oaken floors, is a good advertisement of what there is lying untouched and undeveloped in what Professor Guyot says is the most magnificently wooded mountain range in the world.

Mr. Suttle, to whose mules we were indebted for a delightful ride of eight miles up to Gombroon, said that the estate embraces 2,500 acres, I believe, which gives the senator's pigs a feeling of perfect freedom that is entirely absent in the illiterate but arrogant hog of the congested metropolis.

The Vance hog may be known at once by the back of his eye and the firm, erect and defiant tail. His face is long and thoughtful, but there is an elasticity to his step which reminds one of the antelope, the springbok or the gazelle.

Senator Vance began life and gradually worked his way up to congress, where he has nothing to do from morning till night but legislate in the interests of good government daytimes and answer letters from his constituents at night.

As a young lawyer he attracted the attention of the court by his Craggy mountain methods of settling matters with opposing counsel. "Will you step outside and repeat that remark?" he would say in a low tone to counsel, motioning over his shoulder with his thumb. Then, if counsel said yes, they would slip out quietly and in an expert method arrange the matter, returning later with two or four eyes closed and resume the trial.

One of his earlier cases was taken by Mr. Vance on shares or at the halves, he to receive 50 per cent. of the judgment for his work. His client during the trial developed into a person criminally liable, and under the old statute received a verdict of fifty-seven lashes. Ever since that Mr. Vance has accepted no cases except at an agreed price. He was afraid that he might deprive some poor man or his family of the lashes that they needed for the winter.

What Johnny Will Do.

Mr. Slowmatch—Johnny, what do you think you'll be when you're a man? Johnny—Why, if you've got any spunk I'll be your brother-in-law. Truth.

And Nature Slept. "Ma-a-swell-ton's banks aw bo-o-o-mny."

The notes pierced the night air. The sound reminded the solitary horseman, who might have been observed wandering his way through the forest, of the shriek emitted by a rusty nail when it is drawn from a rotten cupboard.

"Dag it!" hissed the horseman. Putting spurs to his steed he was soon lost to sight.

"Wh-ay-e-e-early falls the d-e-e-w." The cadences echoed among the trees. The tramp who had fallen into a fitful slumber behind a haystack moved restlessly upon his pillow and rose hastily. "Gee Christopher!" he groaned.

A shadowy figure glided into the darkness. It was the tramp.

"And terwas thayer that Annie La-awse gie-ed me hyer promise terne!" With arm upraised the assassin was about to sing his victim in the neck.

"Ha!"

He paused.

"Gie-ed me hyer promise terne!"

The sonant climax thrilled the brigand. It made him tremble. It had the same effect on other movable objects.

"Wh-ich ne-e-er fawgot will ba-e-e."

The footpad lowered his arm.

"And faw bo-o-o-mny Annie La-awrie Pd le-ay me de-own and da-e-e."

"Cue the lack!"

The assassin turned upon his heel brusquely and left the spot.

Within the vineclad cottage the blond maiden fingered the guitar nervously and wondered if she would sing the second verse. The outside world awaited anxiously her decision. The two boarders in the front room up stairs breathed stertorously. They were insensible.

"I guess—"

The blond maiden yawned.

"I'll go to bed."

And tired nature, kept awake all the evening, sighed and went to sleep.—Detroit Tribune.

Well Timed.

Parson Jones had just completed his long discourse, the benediction had been pronounced and the congregation was dispersing.

Said Deacon Brown, a great admirer of the parson, "A fine sermon, and well timed too."

"Yes," replied Synnek, "it was certainly well timed. About half the congregation had their watches out most of the time he was talking."—Boston Transcript.

Hosiery and Corsets

AT RARE BARGAINS.

LADIES

do you realize that when you buy of the retailer you are paying three unnecessary profits? The manufacturer sells to the commission house, the latter to the jobber, and the jobber in turn sells to the retail merchant. You must pay the manufacturer a profit first, and then pay each of the subsequent handlers a profit, not infrequently paying two profits to the retailer. The Manufacturers' Commission Co. is a responsible syndicate which sells direct to the consumer. By investing in manufacturers' samples and the stocks of insolvent manufacturers, in connection with our regular commission holdings, we are able to sell to the consumer direct at the commission price, which is but one remove from the manufacturer's.

We offer the following bargains in hosiery: Ladies' extra length, full regular make, fast black and seamless hose, very fine gauge, (retailing everywhere at 50 cents) we will sell at 25 cents per pair in quantities of one-half dozen, or for $1.35.

This exceptional offer is made merely to introduce our name in your section. Send 15 cents additional and we will prepay express charges at special rates secured by us for the benefit of our patrons.

We are positively offering as a leader the cheapest corset for the money in the world. The Jemness Tailor-Made Corset is made of heaviest drab jeans, with patent strips of gold. Made like a glove-fitting corset; bonded with unbreakable stays. Has double busk and side stays. Is retailed everywhere at $1.50 and in remote sections at very much more. Our price is only 83 cents.

Send 15 cents additional to prepay express charges. Mention sizes desired in ordering hosiery or corsets. We will positively refund money if goods are not satisfactory and just as represented.

Orders must be accompanied by cash in either money order, postal note, stamp or registered letters, addressed to the Manufacturer's Commission Co., 221 Fifth Avenue, CHICAGO, ILL.

BIDS WANTED.

Bids will be received at the office of the undersigned architect until noon of Sept. 25th, for the erection and completion of a brick and stone school house, to be erected in the village of Lakeside.

A certified check for $300 to accompany each bid. The school board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

FIVE O'CLOCK EDIT.

THREE CENTS

A Duluth Clothing House Exclusively Owned and Controlled by Duluth Men
ESTABLISHED 1881.

Our store is open every Monday and Saturday Evening and closed other evenings at 6:30 p. m.

WHY?

You have at last put on your thinking cap. No wonder. It's high time that you did. You are interested in Boys' Clothing. Not far away you saw a suit of clothes in a certain window marked $9. It caught your eye. You thought it cheap. You went in and examined it. You nearly bought it, but you didn't quite. You went further. You had in your mind the Old Store. You saw exactly the same kind of a suit for $7.50. You went in. You examined it carefully, and you bought it. Now, why this difference in price? First, we have the largest business. Second, we sell at small profits. Remember, too, that there is such a thing as trade honor, just as there is personal honor, and that our reputation is our stock in trade; that when we tell you to buy, in confidence that both the material and price are exactly what we claim, you may depend absolutely upon our statement.

A Fireside Talk on Boys' Clothing.

It's a hard matter to decide sometimes upon a Suit for the boy. Let us help you. No one in the business more competent to do so. No one, perhaps, in the United States, has a stock that can compare with ours in style, variety and size. We wish especially to commend about 1000 Suits—a grand display of which is in our window—in Bannockburns, Cheviots and Homespun, at $8. Our word for it that at this price they are GREAT VALUES.

With every sale of a Boy's Suit or Overcoat, the price of which is $2.00 or over, we give the boy, free of charge, his choice of a Handsome Pocket Knife or Express Wagon.

CLOTHING, FURNISHINGS, HATS, SHOES, TRUNKS AND VALISES

THE NEW!

Ten years service is about what you can reasonably expect from a good carpet. If you have got to live with the carpet ten years, it is important that the style be advanced. THE PATTERNS ARTISTIC. THE COLORS PLEASING. THE TEXTURE DURABLE. THE DYE FAST.

The new carpets which I have secured for the fall trade combine all of these good points with a price which will give satisfaction at the outset and prove still more satisfactory when the ten year test shows how much the money commands.

THE OLD!

This fall every one should have their carpets carefully and THOROUGHLY cleaned as a precautionary measure as well as for neatness' sake.

I CLEAN CARPETS.
I TAKE UP CARPETS.
I RE-LAY CARPETS.
I CLEAN RUGS.
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

My wagons and men call for carpets as per order and return them when cleaned as per request without any charge for transportation. My prices for carpet cleaning are very low and you need have no worry in trusting to me the very finest carpets.

LONG SENTENCE.

The Would-be Assassin of Chairman Frick of the Carnegie Company Convicted.

Found Guilty by a Jury and Sentenced to Twenty-Two Years in Prison.

Berkman Had no Attorney and Did Not Produce Any Witnesses in Defense.

He Read a Lengthy Statement, Which Was Anarchistic and Inflammatory.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 19.—The trial of Alexander Berkman, who attempted to kill H. C. Frick July 23, was called before Judge McClung in the criminal court today. No one not having business in the court room was permitted to enter. Berkman, when brought in, maintained the same indifferent demeanor that has characterized his conduct since his arrest. He had no attorney and did not cross-examine witnesses. He had no witnesses for his defense. The prosecution was conducted by District Attorney Burleigh, who in his opening speech presented the seven indictments, charging Berkman with offenses ranging from felonious assault and battery down to carrying concealed weapons.

H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel company and the victim of Berkman's assault, was the first witness. He described the location of the Carnegie office, and stated that the assault was made between 12 and 1 o'clock July 23. Witness saw Berkman pacing the hall outside his office, when he entered. Shortly after Berkman was announced, and when he came he shot at witness who fell to the floor. He tried to rise, but received another bullet wound. A photograph showing the disarranged furniture after the shooting was shown, as was also the clothing that Mr. Frick was wearing at that time.

Berkman was then asked if he had any questions to ask and said "no." Then in broken English: "You think that I wanted to shoot Mr. Leishman too?" Mr. Frick said he did not know about that, and left the stand.

Dr. Litchfield gave medical testimony relating to the wounds. Mr. Leishman, vice-chairman of the Carnegie Steel company, who was in Mr. Frick's private office at the time, did not see Berkman or know of his presence until he heard the revolver shots. He grappled with Berkman. Berkman tried to shoot him, but the weapon missed fire. Mr. Frick came to Mr. Leishman's assistance and together they grappled with Berkman, who then drew a knife and stabbed Frick several times.

Berkman said: "That statement is untrue," and asked Mr. Leishman: "Are you positive I tried to shoot you?" "I am positive my statements are correct," was Mr. Leishman's answer. Other witnesses described details of the assault.

Here the prosecution rested and Berkman asked for an interpreter, which was granted. He then said: "I am not guilty. I have a defence," and began to read irrelevant matter from a roll of paper which the court checked but finally permitted him to proceed. The statement was an anarchistic and inflammatory address, written in German. Berkman continued his argument from 11:45 until 1:05 o'clock, when the court shut him off.

Berkman was convicted by the jury and sentenced to twenty-two years' imprisonment in the penitentiary.

A Minister Cowhided.
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19.—Dr. A. E. Bridger, pastor of the Congregational church at Jennings, was cowhided yesterday by D. E. M. Burke, who acted for the male portion of the congregation, for uttering blasphemous and inflammatory remarks concerning the characters of the women of the town generally. Dr. Bridger did not flinch under the punishment.

Mashed Into a Jelly.
DAYTON, Ohio, Sept. 19.—Early this morning, as a Big Four switch engine was backing a number of box cars, they ran into a cow. Three cars were derailed and thrown into a heap into the ditch. Conductor Michael McGlynn was instantly killed. His head was mashed into a jelly. Brakeman Charles Davis was badly injured but will recover.

Two Trotters Burned.
FLINT, Mich., Sept. 19.—A long stretch of horse sheds at the Industrial fair grounds were destroyed by fire early this morning. There were a dozen trotting horses in the sheds and all were rescued except Garfield (22½) and Yet Eve. Garfield was valued at $3000 and Yet Eve at $1000.

Three Days Overdue.
BOSTON, Sept. 19.—The steamer Carroll with 100 passengers and forty sailors, which is nearly three days overdue here from Halifax and concerning which great anxiety has been felt, arrived at Booth Bay, Me., this morning with her crank pin broken but otherwise all right.

Died From Debility.
LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 19.—James B. Francis, consulting engineer of the Locks and Canal company, died yesterday from debility succeeding an operation. He was 77 years old and had served in both branches of the city government.

Fasting Enjoined.
OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 19.—A pastoral letter was read yesterday in all Roman Catholic churches of the arch-diocese of Ottawa urging co-operation with the authorities in preventing a cholera outbreak and enjoining fasting and self-mortification with the hope that the epidemic may be staid.

MURDER IN CHICAGO.

A Watchman in the Rock Island Yards Shot a Companion.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—James Duffy, a watchman in the freight yards of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad, shot and instantly killed one of his fellow-workmen, Antonio De Mersh, at 4 o'clock this morning, and wounded two others, Robert Markey and Charles Johns. The wounded men will recover.

The murder was the outcome of a quarrel between Duffy and Markey. The latter, with a half dozen other employees of the road, was sitting in Duffy's shanty when Duffy ordered him to switch. Markey arose and struck Duffy two violent blows in the face, whereupon the enraged watchman stepped outside and, thrusting a revolver through a window, began firing indiscriminately.

The first bullet passed through De Mersh's neck and killed him instantly. The second shot struck Johns on the right arm and the third wounded Markey in the side. The murderer offered no resistance to the police and was held without bail.

SIGNS OF DEPRESSION.

Evidences of Hard Times Existing in Great Britain.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Another significant proof is given of the existing commercial and industrial depression. The Commercial Deposit & Permanent Building society gave notice today of its intention to dissolve. The reason stated is the increasing withdrawal of deposits consequent upon the growing lack of public confidence in such institutions.

Advices from Glasgow state that considerable anxiety exists owing to the depression in the ship yards of the Clyde. Fifteen thousand men are idle, with little prospect of any improvement of their condition, and it is feared that widespread destitution may drive the sufferers to lawless acts as well as greatly increase the burdens of the community.

A NASHVILLE TRAGEDY.

An Old Man Foully Murdered by a Negro.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 19.—Robert Dark, an aged white man, was foully murdered by an unknown negro early this morning. Dark keeps a fish store in North Nashville. The negro came in and bought some fish, and while being waited on drew a knife and cut Dark's throat from ear to ear and robbed the store of $5. If caught the negro will be lynched, as his victim died in a few minutes.

A Priest Released.

DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—Father Humphreys, well-known nationalist priest, was released this morning from jail to which he had been committed on the charge of contempt of court and his examination on the original accusation of riotous conduct was set down for a hearing at Tipperary on Wednesday.

Hugh O'Donnell's Case.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 19.—There was a small crowd in criminal court No. 3 this afternoon. O'Donnell applied for bail this afternoon. There is a large number of witnesses to be examined and the case will likely continue until late in the day. Hugh Ross has failed to give himself up, and the constables are still on the lookout for him.

Postmaster at Two Harbors.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The president has appointed George H. Schulz postmaster at Two Harbors, Minn.

Furniture Firm Assigned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—O. Bopp & Co., manufacturers of parlor furniture at No. 23 Pitt street, assigned today without preferences.

No More Cases.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The 10 o'clock bulletin of the health board, this morning, says: "No cholera has appeared in this city since the last bulletin."

THE DISTRICT COURT.

A Number of Prisoners Arraigned Among Them James Cogan.

At the opening of the district court this morning Judge Ensign was the sole occupant of the bench. The first work was the arraignment of several prisoners. Michael Wallace for murder in the second degree, a new indictment, given one day to plead. M. La Chance, for concealing mortgaged property, pleaded not guilty. His bond was fixed at $300 to be approved by the county attorney, the defendant to appear in court from day to day during life of bond. James Cogan, accessory in first degree, to murder of John Haggerty, pleaded not guilty. His bail bond was fixed at $2,500 to be approved by the county attorney. Second papers were ordered issued to John Mattson, of Russia, and Peter Rown of Denmark. In case 145, H. E. Long vs. E. C. Thurston the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff, assessing his damages at $230.10. Case 139, Chas. Ith vs. the City of Duluth, was continued by stipulation. Case 150, Catherine Zeller vs. Fred Rott, was then taken up and was dismissed because there was no appearance on part of the plaintiff. Case 35, Tuffe vs. Oleson, was continued as neither side appeared. Case 51, Sanderson vs. Potter, was taken up and is now on trial.

WILL BE REMOVED.

Mrs. Harrison to be Taken Tomorrow From Loon Lake to the White House.

The Change is to be Made at the Wish of Herself and Family.

With no Reproduction of the Fluid in the Pleura, Hope Has Revived.

LOON LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The condition of Mrs. Harrison is improved this morning. She passed a comfortable night. A cold rain began falling over Loon Lake shortly after midnight and it continued steadily until morning. The sudden change in temperature excited some apprehension as to whether it would have any effect on the condition of Mrs. Harrison, but when Dr. Gardner came over to the hotel from the president's cottage for his breakfast he reported that his patient was better and stronger, having passed a comfortable and restful night.

According to the statements about her, there is little in Mrs. Harrison's present condition to excite serious apprehension. With the non-appearance of the dreaded watery accumulation in the cavity of the pleura, hope has revived in the hearts of the patient and the members of her family and the suggestion that she be removed to Washington will be carried out. She will probably be removed tomorrow.

A consultation was held this morning between Doctors Trudeau and Gardner, and it was decided to grant the wish of the president, his family and Mrs. Harrison herself that she be taken to Washington. The removal, it is now definitely stated, will take place tomorrow, and the train having the distinguished invalid aboard will be due in Washington Wednesday morning. Shortly after the consultation Dr. Gardner made the following statement to a United Press reporter:

"Mrs. Harrison, if everything is favorable, is to be removed to Washington tomorrow. She expressed a strong desire to be taken back to the White house, and the president and the other members of the family are also anxious that she should be taken there, if the removal can be accomplished with any degree of safety. We find that Mrs. Harrison is much improved. There has been no reproduction of the fluid to any extent, and in view of the fact that the members of the family wish to move the patient to Washington she will be removed, being in two or three days she may not be able to be taken away as the fluid is liable to be reproduced at any time. She passed a very comfortable night and is feeling much stronger this morning."

EVERYTHING IS READY.

Opening of the Races Tomorrow at the Driving Park.

The race announce tomorrow and every indication points to a successful meeting. Remarkable work has been done in the past two days in getting the track into shape and it is now hard and in good condition. The grand stand is nearly completed and will be ready on time. The horses are commencing to arrive and a number of them are already stabled out at the driving park. Secretary Jones urges everybody to come early. The accommodations for carriages are especially good and everybody will be provided for.

The races on for tomorrow are the 2:30 and 2:22 trotting race and the 2:28 pacing race. In the 2:30 trot one Duluth horse is entered, Fred R., owned by S. L. Rice. In the 2:22 trot May Hill and Belle W., two speedy horses, are among those entered. The pool selling will be commenced this evening, if possible at the St. Louis hotel and in the afternoon pools will be sold on the grounds. The City band will give concerts each afternoon.

THE FIRST INTERMENT.

Remains of Father Lautezan to be Buried in Calvary Cemetery.

J. L. Crawford, of Durkan's undertaking establishment, left this afternoon for Crow Wing where he will take up and remove to this city for permanent interment in the new Roman Catholic cemetery, the remains of Rev. Laurentius Lautezan, an heroic priest who lost his life in a snow storm in 1858, while trying to reach Crow Wing en route from Red Lake Falls. He started out to visit a sick man but was overtaken by the storm and perished. Rt. Rev. James McGolrick has ordered the removal of the remains here and they will be given the distinction of being the first placed in the priests and sisters' reservation. The bishop will personally conduct the services and there will be nearly fifty priests in attendance next Thursday. The consecration of the new cemetery will also be gone through with just prior to the burial of Father Lautezan.

IT IS ALL RIGHT.

Bond Buyer on the Financial Condition of Duluth's School District.

H. O. Pebbles representing Spencer, Trash & Co., of Boston, bond buyers, was here Saturday figuring on the school bonds. In conversation with City Clerk Burke yesterday he said that the financial condition of the Duluth school district is not equalled by that of any other city of its size in the United States. The total valuation of school property, and the buildings are all of the finest, is nearly $1,500,000 and on this there is only a bonded indebtedness of $510,000 including the $100,000 just issued. This Mr. Pebbles said, is a fine showing, one of the most remarkable he had ever heard of.

FIGHT FOR ASHES.

The Mortal Remains of Mme. Blavatsky Have Been Distributed Among Three Cities.

A Lively Struggle For the Ashes of the Dead Priestess of Theosophy.

The Londoners Have Completed Their Shrine in Imitation of an Oriental Tomb.

To have three places contenting for the custody of one's ashes is an honor accorded to but few persons. Mme. H. P. Blavatsky, the founder of the Theosophical society, died in London a little less than one year and a half ago and her body was cremated. She had never expressed her desire with reference to the final resting place of her ashes, and a lively discussion at once arose among the different branches of the society, each one of which wanted to have the honor of the custodianship of all that remained on earth of the dead high priestess.

THE LONDON RECEPTACLE.

As Mme. Blavatsky had died in London the theosophists of that city asserted that her ashes should rest there, the East Indians thought that her dust should find its last abiding place there, because the high priestess had received her inspiration from the traditions of the east, and had more-over always looked upon the Bombay society as the leading one of the world, while New York's claims were urged on the ground that it was there that Mme. Blavatsky had organized the society, and it was submitted that the ashes of the founder should logically be returned for their everlasting rest to the place where the seed had first been planted and the tender shoot nurtured into life.

So earnest did the discussion become that a consultation was held in London by representatives of the rival sections, and it was finally decided that the ashes should be divided into three equal parts, and that New York, London and Bombay should each have one. This decision has already been carried into effect.

The Londoners have completed their shrine, and Mme. Blavatsky's ashes have been deposited therein. It is made in imitation of an oriental tomb. The material used is copper, from the top of which a silver lotus flower, with golden petals representing a flame, proudly rises.

That portion of the ashes which were sent to America will be deposited in a marble niche in a house in New York.

The ashes which went to India will be placed in a genuine dagoba or tomb, modeled after what is said to be the handsomest mausoleum in the world.

Theosophy has been brought into prominence in connection with the cholera scare by a speech recently delivered in New York by Mr. William Q. Judge, the leader of the American society.

Just was "Epidemics from the Theosophical Standpoint." Cholera came in for its share of treatment, and it was sought to be shown that there are mental and psychic epidemics, and that all can be traced to the evil thoughts of men.

According to Theosophy, thoughts are stored up as pictures in the ether recognized by scientists and exert a hypnotic effect on the minds of men. There is also a theory that the vast accumulations of evil thoughts have so polluted the ether that when conditions are favorable they become the cause of plagues of various kinds. It is claimed that a 5,000-year cycle will end in a few years, when a great deal of this stored up psychic force will be precipitated, causing wars, epidemics and catastrophes.

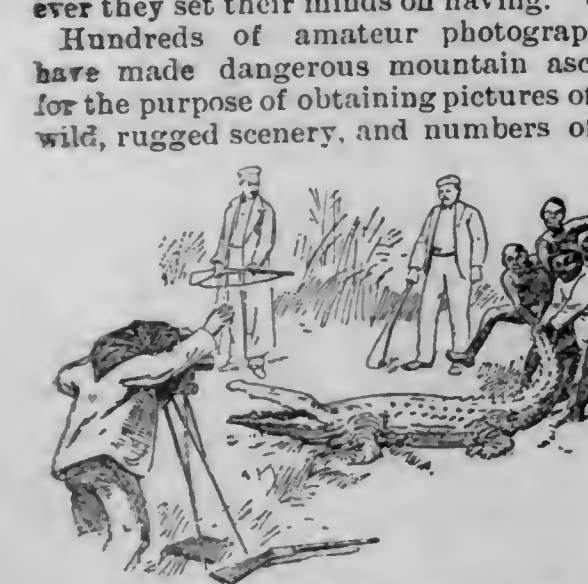

The only permanent escape from all such calamities, Theosophists argue, lies in the purification of the thought plane and the spreading of the doctrines of reincarnation and karma as a basis for ethics, and they advocate the formation of a nucleus, at least, of a universal brotherhood.

A SAURIAN PHOTOGRAPHED.

An Involuntary Sitter in the Shrine Highlands of South Africa.

Amateur photographers are said to be as persistent as lightning rod or fruit tree agents. Some of them certainly do go to great lengths in the pursuit of queer "subjects." Thousands of photographic devotees went to the top of the Eiffel tower during the great exposition for the purpose of getting snapshot birdseye views of the city of Paris. And they got them too. It's a way they seem to have of getting whatever they set their minds on having.

Handreds of amateur photographers have made dangerous mountain ascents for the purpose of obtaining pictures of the wild, rugged scenery, and numbers of enthusiasts have even gone up in balloons and from their dizzy heights snapped away at this little mundane sphere of ours with their cameras.

The most unique adventure on record, however, in which a snapshotter participated occurred some time ago near Blantyre, in the highlands of South Africa. A party consisting of several members of the Scotch mission came suddenly upon a number of crocodiles while they were out hunting one day. The enormous saurians were lazily basking in the sun, but despite the admonitory "Sh!" of one of the nimrods they took alarm at the approach of the photographers and beat a hasty retreat toward the water, which all of them entered except one straggler, whom the hunters succeeded in catching by the tail, when the amusing scene depicted in the accompanying illustration ensued.

The four natives who seized the crocodile by that portion of his anatomy which would have entered the water last, had he succeeded in eluding them, were away violently from side to side by the violent writhing of the powerful creature, but they held on manfully until Mr. F. Mohr had got his camera around in front of him, when, click! and the great African amphibian had had his picture "took." The sequel was a particularly sad one for the crocodile, for after the "sitting" he was dispatched by a rifle shot.

BEHIND THE FOOTLIGHTS.

A stock company will be the feature of the Union Square theater, New York, in May, 1893.

"Relly, the Mail Girl," is the lurid title of a play which recently received its initial performance in Erie, Pa.

Abbey's new theater in New York, at Broadway and Thirty-eighth street, will cost $600,000 when completed.

E. J. Swartz has written a new play which will have its first production soon. It is entitled "Rossett's Fairy."

Lizzie Evans' new play, "The Little Blacksmith," by Martha Norton, was recently produced in Steubenville, O.

Mason Mitchell has been engaged by Manager John Stetson to support Kyrie Bellew and Mrs. Potter this season.

A. L. Fanshawe has named his new comedy "The Arena Venn." It was originally intended to call it "The Circus Rider."

Francis Wilson is not going to remain idle this season. He has gone to Europe, but will return in time to open his tour Nov. 14.

Mrs. Osmond Tearle (Minnie Conway) is said to have retired from the stage and settled down at her husband's country seat near Carlisle, England.

Johnstone Bennett will have a rival in the person of Grace Sherwood, who has been engaged to play the title role with the special "Jane" company.

Robert Buchanan, the playwright, will make his first attempt at comic opera this season, besides filling the commissions he has in hand for plays for E. S. Willard and Beerbohm Tree.

Henry Irving has accepted a comedy written by J. M. Barrie, the author of "Walker, London," which has had such a successful run at Toole's, that Mr. Toole was forced to forego his usual vacation.

Three men claim the authorship of the "Face in the Moonlight," which R. B. Mantell recently produced at Proctor's theater, New York, and all three are reported to be intending to go to court over it.

James Owen O'Connor, the eccentric actor, was recently committed to the Morris Plains (N. J.) insane asylum on the order of County Physician Converse, of Hudson county, who has no doubt of his insanity.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

A moth insurance company is the latest. Europe consumes about $90,000,000 worth of gold and silver yearly for plate, jewelry and ornaments.

The standard yard of America is said to be one thousandth of an inch longer than its British parent.

Glass type is now used for printing. The glass is of the malleable kind, and the type is said to make clearer work and last longer than that made from metal.

Samples of tea grown and cured at Summerville, S. C., have been received in Baltimore, which expert tea dealers have pronounced superior to East India tea.

One of the natural curiosities of Asia is the great salt desert of Persia. It is many miles in extent, and is a solid incrustation of salt several feet thick.

Women dentists have proved so popular in London that a scholarship has been founded for assisting women without means in the study of their profession.

In Balakany, near Baku, the center of the Russian petroleum industry, is witnessed the anomaly of the water used for the steam boilers in the several establishments costing more than the fuel.

A woman of Port Huron, Mich., has taken out a patent for a device to secure glass in the doors of stores and furnaces to allow the process of baking in ovens to be watched without opening the doors, and also to save fuel by preventing needless opening of doors.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Eau de cologne may be safely employed to remove spots from light silken and woolen materials.

Extract of beef is made by chopping raw beef fine and pressing through a lemon squeezer or a meat press.

Velvets should be held over the steam of boiling water and kept well stretched until the moisture has evaporated.

Black serge or cashmere dresses are improved and cleansed by being sponged with this mixture: A tablespoonful of ammonia and another of spirits of wine to three of boiling water.

Lamp chimneys can be washed easily by holding them over the nose of the teakettle when the water is boiling. This will make them beautifully clear. Wipe with a clean dry cloth.

Black silks of every description are much benefited by having the dust removed by rubbing with a clean towel, and then sponged on the wrong side with the following mixture: A teaspoonful of soft water and seven or eight drops of liquid ammonia.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

Tennessee has eleven universities and forty-three colleges.

One thousand American girls and women are now studying art in Paris.

Mrs. Sarah W. North has been elected a school director in Boulder, Colo.

The biggest university in the world is at Cairo, Egypt—a country which is not mentioned at all in the statistics—and it has 11,000 students.

The friends of Bucknell university, at Lewisburg, have raised for that institution the sum of $100,000 to add to the endowment fund, thus increasing the fund to over $400,000 and the entire assets of the institution to $500,000.

The Brown university resolution for opening all its degrees to women has been supplemented by another, giving to women holding bachelors' degrees the opportunity to pursue all courses of instruction intended for graduate students.

Fail to do Their Duty. Everybody has at times failed to do their duty towards themselves. Hundreds of lady readers suffer from sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. H. Herbecker, Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from nervous prostration, sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without success. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine caused sound sleep every night and she is feeling like a new person. Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, Laramie City, Wyoming, who tried all other remedies, declares that after three weeks' use of the Nervine for headache, nervous prostration, etc., she was entirely relieved. Sold by all druggists. Trial bottle free.

PROCLAMATION

MAYOR'S OFFICE, CITY OF DULUTH.

To the Citizens of Duluth:

Asiatic Cholera having actually appeared in the city of New York, it is the duty of all residents of Duluth to do all in their power to put the city in a perfect sanitary condition, as cleanliness is the greatest preventative of the disease. All owners, agents or occupants of property in the city are therefore requested to at once thoroughly clean their premises, and to throw no filth or garbage in the streets or alleys, and to report immediately to the Health Department at the City Hall if they have knowledge of any filth or garbage on the premises of any one else, or on any street or in any alleys, or of any disease-breeding nuisance in any part of the city, all of which communications will be treated as strictly private and confidential by the Health Department.

All departments of the city government are directed to do all in their power to see that the city is thoroughly cleaned and that the health ordinances are strictly enforced. The city authorities will do all that is possible, and ask the people to unite to help them to put the city in a condition to successfully fight the scourge should it appear in our midst. "Prevention is better than cure." Clean your premises! Clean the city!

do you realize that when you buy of the retailer, you are paying three unnecessary profits? The manufacturer sells to the commission house, the latter to the jobber, and the jobber in turn sells to the retail merchant. You must pay the manufacturer a profit first, and then pay each of the subsequent handlers a profit, and infrequently paying two profits to the retailer. The

Manufacturers' Commission Co. is a responsible syndicate which sells direct to the consumer. By investing in manufacturers' samples and the stocks of insolvent manufacturers, in connection with our regular commission holdings, we are able to sell to the consumer direct at the commission price, which is but one remove from the manufacturer's.

We offer the following bargains in hosiery: Ladies' extra length full regular made, fast black and seamless hose, very fine gauge, (retailing everywhere at 50 cents) we will sell at 25 cents per pair in quantities of one-half dozen, or for $1.38.

This exceptional offer is made merely to introduce our name in your section. Send 15 cents additional and we will prepay express charges at special rates secured by us for the benefit of our patrons.

We are positively offering as a leader the cheapest corset for the money in the world. The Jenness Tailor-Made Corset is made of heaviest drab jeans, with patent strips of gold. It is like a glove fitting for the body, and with unbreakable stays. Has double back and side stays. Is retailed everywhere at $1.50 in remote sections at very much more. Our price is only 83 cents.

Send 15 cents additional to prepay express charges. Mention sizes desired in ordering hosiery or corsets. We will positively refund money if goods are not satisfactory and just as represented.

Orders must be accompanied by cash in either money-order, postal note, stamps or registered letters, addressed to the

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.
Sept. 19.—Generally fair weather prevails in all sections and no rain of any consequence has fallen during the past twenty-four hours.
An area of low barometer is forming over the extreme Northwest. Over the rest of the country an area of high barometer dominates with a center north of Lake Superior.
The temperature remains low in the Northwest, Minnesota and White River, Canada, reporting 30. The highest reported is 38 at Kansas City, Mo.
The highest temperature here yesterday was 90, falling again last night to 85°.

DULUTH, Sept. 19.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Cloudy today; slightly cooler than yesterday. Fair and slight change in temperature Tuesday; east to northeast wind.

H. H. BUONOMO,
Local Forecast Official.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair; northerly winds, becoming easterly; cooler Tuesday morning with probable light frosts in northern and central portions. For Minnesota: Fair; winds becoming easterly to south; slowly rising temperature.

PECK'S REPORT SUPPLEMENTED.

The Democratic journals are making strenuous efforts to overcome the effect of the report made by Labor Commissioner Peck, of New York. They are engaged in a desperate attempt to discredit his statistics, but so far they have been unable to weaken the force of the excellent report that he has issued. The legal proceedings to compel Mr. Peck to show the private letters upon which his statistics are based are merely one feature of the scheme to minimize the effect of the report. The Cleveland Democrats are anxious to see them in order to pick to pieces some individual statements and thereby possibly discredit the whole report. It is hardly likely that the courts will grant their request.

But while they have been fretting and fuming over the body blow delivered by Mr. Peck, another Democratic official of New York state has also dealt them a blow that is likely to be about as effective as that administered by his friend Peck. Charles M. Preston, the superintendent of the New York state banking department, has issued his semi-annual statement on the condition of the state's savings banks on July 1, and it bears testimony to the prosperity of the workingmen of New York state since President Harrison assumed office in 1889.

On January 1, 1889, or only two months before Mr. Harrison assumed office, there was due to the depositors in the savings banks of the state $523,677,575.
Large as this amount was, the workingmen have added to it, million after million, until, on July 1, 1892, it has risen to $610,560,031.35. They have thus increased their funds in the savings banks in the course of President Harrison's administration $86,882,516.35. Moreover, the resources of the savings banks have increased enormously. They amounted on January 1, 1889, to $615,889,796, and on July 1, 1892, to $701,112,873.48, or an increase of $85,223,077. Mr. Preston furthermore reports that the savings banks have a surplus of $90,257,380.81.
There were reported to be 1,362,852 de-positors in the savings banks on January 1, 1889; and July 1, 1892, it was reported that there were 1,536,133 depositors in the same banks.

In a summary of Mr. Preston's report, the New York Tribune points out that the increase in the number of depositors and in the total amount of their deposits is the more remarkable from the fact that the trustees of savings banks for four years past have been refusing to receive large deposits, or to pay interest on more than a fixed amount, and have thus prevented thousands of persons from putting their money in these banks.
Furthermore, the rapidly increasing building associations in the cities diverted millions of dollars from the savings banks which would, in former years, have been put in these banks.
Notwithstanding all these checks, as stated above, the increase in the liabilities to the savings bank depositors since
Jan. 1, 1889, amounts to $86,882,516.35.

It is also learned from Mr. Preston's report that the amount of interest credited and paid in the course of the six months ending July last was $10,417-349.51. In the same period there was withdrawn from the savings banks the sum of $99,514,152.05, and there was deposited the sum of $110,932,068.23. The net increase of deposits, accordingly, was $10,417,915.28. Inasmuch as this is the record of only six months of the present year with the business world prosperous, it can be predicted that the net deposits in the savings banks of the state for the present year will be $20,000,000.

For a state whose population is described by the Democracy as suffering from the burdens of the McKinley act and Republican legislation generally, says the Tribune, this has the effect of a startling surprise. That the poor workingmen should be able to make savings in six months amounting to $10,000,000, exclusive of interest, is so astonishing that Democrats may be inclined to admit that it is at least possible that the tariff is not a tax, and that the McKinley prosperity is not a figment of Republican hallucination.

CLEAN THE ALLEYS.

An "attache of the health department" is quoted in a morning paper as saying that it is not the duty of the health board to clear away boxes and building matter in the alley, but that it is bound to remove only actual filth or dirt. He says this work belongs to the fire commissioners and the fire warden.

This is an old song that has been sung by the health department for several years, and the people are rather tired of it. The board of fire commissioners was not constituted to clean the streets and alleys. Its business is to run the fire department. It is no doubt the duty of the fire warden to order the removal of anything that is likely to be a danger in case of fire, but the health board nevertheless has full power to clean out of the alleys every box and heap of building material that are in them. Furthermore, the public demand that the health board shall perform its duty in this respect. The council has given the board full authority to incur any expense deemed necessary to put the city in a good sanitary condition.
The board cannot therefore offer the old-time excuse that its funds are limited.

The same official is reported to have said that the alley between Superior and First streets, from First to Second avenues west, is "the dirtiest alley in Duluth today." This is true; and the condition of this alley is a standing disgrace to the health board. The attempt to transfer the responsibility to the fire warden is disgusting to every person who wants to see the city cleaned. If the fire warden is culpable, the board is equally so. It is as much the business of the board as it is his to clean the alley. The people are tired of these attempts to shift responsibility from one department to another.

THE HIGH SCHOOL INSURANCE.

The school board did not take any action Saturday evening on the proposition of the insurance men to give a rate of $1 on the new high school building, if insured for two-thirds its value. It is announced that the board will probably adopt the plan practised in several cities, by carrying its own insurance. Instead of paying extortionate rates to the greedy insurance combine, it will place the amount usually paid for premiums in a sinking fund to be drawn upon in case of loss by fire.

It is very seldom that school buildings are damaged by fire and consequently this fund is likely to reach large proportions before it is necessary to draw upon it. In this way the board will not be compelled to pay tribute to the insurance robbers, while at the same time it will be amply protected from loss. The board should promptly cancel its insurance on the other school buildings and bring them under the same plan.

The Graphic, Chicago, for September 17, contains an elaborately illustrated article on the state University of Minnesota. The sketch contains a comprehensive outline of the university courses, and a concise historical review. Views of all the principal buildings are given,
and portraits of several of the principal instructors and others who are or have been identified with the institution. The excellent wood engraving of President Northrup will be much appreciated by his friends.

Vice-President Morton addressed the G. A. R. men at Washington today in behalf of the president, who is detained at Loon Lake by Mrs. Harrison's illness.
This is about the first time since his election that Mr. Morton has had an opportunity to make a public address.

Dispatches today report significant signs of the existing commercial and industrial depression in Great Britain.
At the same time this country is enjoying the greatest prosperity in its history.
Why this difference? Is it the McKinley bill?

The insurance men say the risk on the High school building would be greatly reduced if the manual training school were removed from the building. As no fire is used in the manual training school,
how is the risk increased by its presence?

"Young Folks Want Mills" says a Minneapolis paper, reporting a Christian Endeavor Union meeting.
That may be the case in Minneapolis,
but in Duluth the young folks want dollars.

The Canadian position was that they had no right to discriminate against American traffic through the Welland canal, but it was not convenient to stop doing so until next season.

Every one will rejoice that Mrs. Harrison's condition is improved, and that there is even a faint hope of her recovery. The president has the earnest sympathy of the nation.

New York newspapers are now sprinkled with carboic acid as they pass through the press. The disinfecting process should be maintained every day in the year.

A St. Paul judge has decided that one Irish drama is as original as the other,

which shows that his honor must be a fairly regular attendant at the theaters.

The Mesaba iron boom seems likely to break out afresh and with greater vir-lence at an early date.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Leaves of Shamrock."
J. P. Sullivan will appear at the Lyceum tonight and tomorrow night in his Irish comedy drama, "Leaves of Shamrock." Mr. Sullivan achieved great success with this play in Ireland and the Dublin Express says of his appearance
there: "The play is already familiar,
and it is, therefore, unnecessary to recount the trials which beset the path of Moyna and her sweetheart, Redmond
O'Neill, or dwell upon the amusing episodes of Carroll Daly's courtship. The latter character is represented with much humor by Mr. J. P. Sullivan, whose dialogue is marked by a considerable amount of raciness, which has its due effect in keeping the audience amused throughout."

"A Knotty Affair."
A Knotty Affair" drew only a small audience Saturday evening at the Temple. The farce does not amount to much and John C. Rice really ought to have something better. For a farce comedy it drags and is dull, lacking the essential "go." Rice does some good work in his role and his dancing is the feature of the whole performance. He is undoubtedly one of the easiest and most graceful male dancers on the stage. W. H. Sloan was especially good in his imitations of the Chinese opera being particularly excellent. Sally Cohen dances well and takes her part in an acceptable manner but the balance of the cast deserves no mention.

A CLOSE CORPORATION.

Seven St. Cloud Men Will Run Searle's Campaign.
St. Paul Globe: "Judge Searle is thoroughly frightened, and is holding onto the judgeship tighter than ever,"
was a remark made by a St. Cloud gentleman at the Merchants' yesterday.
"When he commenced his campaign he and his lieutenants did it with a flourish of trumpets, heralding it far and wide and all he had to do was to say 'Thumbs up' and the entire Stearns county Democracy would rush pell-mell to the polls and vote for him. Well, he has learned that the Stearns county Democrats are not easily worked" as he imagined. They are for the Democratic ticket—state, national and congressional.
They are for Grover Cleveland and a man who will vote in congress to sustain Grover Cleveland's administration."

The fact that Judge Searle is feeling weary and decidedly doubtful is attested by the fact that he declines to resign the judgeship, although his course in regard to it is damaging him greatly. But a few days ago a move was made that more clearly indicated the discounten-ment of the Republican nominee. Hon.
C. S. Benson was named as chairman of the congressional committee in the beginning. Mr. Benson is a shrewd worker, and at once went to work for his chief. Whether he failed to give the "close corporation" that endeavors to run the state of Minnesota through the reformation at St. Cloud satisfactory as-urances that the judge was going to pull through or not, the fact remains that a meeting was called a few days ago and the following advisory committee was named to conduct the campaign:

F. E. Searle, chairman; Wm. Westerman, M. D. Taylor, D. H. Freeman, W.
B. Mitchell, John Cooper, N. P. Clarke
and J. E. West.

Of course, such a committee was not authorized by the Duluth convention, but desperation knows no law and obeys
no precedents, and so the Sixth district Republican campaign will be run by this committee of seven.

WHILE YOU'RE LOOKING

For Jewelry permit us to remark that
our stock is worth examining. A purchase of Jewelry is very properly made
with more solicitude and care than is exercised in buying groceries. The latter are quickly consumed, and, if unsatisfactory, better goods can be bought
next time. An investment in Diamonds
or Watches is made once for all, and, if unsatisfactory, the difficulty can't be remedied. Hence the necessity for care
and the wisdom of dealing with reliable
firms. Every article we sell is exactly what we represent it and every statement we make can be relied upon. Don't fall to see our magnificent display of these goods, in the selection of which
special care has been taken.

THE MESABA ORES.

Some of the Capitalists of the Norrie Mine Investing in the Mesaba.

Arrangements Have Been Completed For Handling the Ores of Three Big Mines.

The Remarkably Good Showing of Profits Made by the Great Chandler Mine.

Several of the fee holders of the great Norrie mine on the Gogebic range are now interested in the Mesaba. Last week's Range mentioned the fact that F. D. Day, a nephew of J. D. Day, of Ironwood, had commenced explorations on lands about one and one-half miles west of Merritt.

Louis Rouchelleau, of Duluth, who spent Tuesday night in Merritt before proceeding to his property in 58-17, threw some light on the deal. The Rouchelleau iron company, of which Mr. Rouchelleau is chief stockholder, recently leased 200 acres of its land lying in section 3, 58-16, to Messrs. Moore, Foley, Curry and others, of Michigan. This property is described as the W. 1/2 of the SE 1/4, the SE 1/4 of the SE 1/4 and the E 1/2 of the SW 1/4, and lies south of the Biwabik and Canton. The Rouchelleau company did some exploring there last spring, but the land is so swampy that the prospectors were always driven out by water after getting down a few feet, and work was discontinued.

When J. D. Day was here recently, acting in behalf of several of the fee holders of the Norrie mine, he secured an option on three tracts from Moore, Foley, et al., and it is by the option holders that explorations are now being made. They have put in a diamond drill and will make their explorations with the drill instead of testpitting.

Mr. Rouchelleau was asked if he would give the terms of the lease to the Moore and Foley syndicate, but he declined to do so just at present.

"Is it true that you have effected a lease of your property in 58-17?" the reporter asked.

"No; it is not leased," he answered. John B. Weimer held an option on the property and when the time expired he wanted an extension, but I would not grant it and the deal was declared off."

"How much ore is now in sight on this property?"

"About a million and a half of tons."

HANDLING MESABA ORES.

The Product of Three Mines Has Been Arranged For.

The Iron Trade Review says the consummation of arrangements with Cleveland and commission men for the handling of certain Mesaba ores has interested representatives of older mining companies, within the past ten days. The product of three mines is included in negotiations already completed. Oglethorpe, Norton & Co. are to handle the output of the Mountain Iron, which will be operated by the two owners, E. T. and J. Merritt. The product of the Ohio, arrangements having been completed, with the Mesaba, came to a close. The iron trade is developing that property.

A similar deal has been made, it is said between Tod Stambaugh & Co. and L. Kimberley, the lessee of the Biwabik. The other Mesaba companies are conducting negotiations with a view to securing funds for the development of their properties. The terms in a pending deal are reported to be these: The commission men to furnish $25,000 for shipping, 25 cents per ton for putting ore on the cars, and pay all railroad and lake freights. In return they are to have 7 per cent interest on the money and to receive 10 cents per ton for selling the ore, which is guaranteed at 150-20 tons a year.

If the Bessemer ores of the Mesaba be sold next season at the figures now being offered, there will be a net profit of $1 on every ton mined. This is possible, under present conditions, but very few of the properties on other ranges, be Chandler, on the basis of the figures secured in its sales made early in the season, is able to make a clean dollar on every ton of its ore. The cost of mining is now lower than it has ever been at its remarkable mine. In July of this year the mining cost was 91 cents, and in August it was reduced to 87 cents. It is probable that the net profits of the season's operations will exceed half a million dollars.

MORE NEW BLOOD.

Itsburg Furnace Men Take a Trip Over the Range.

The Mesaba Range: James Hemphill, of McIntosh, Hemphill & Co., proprietors of the Old Pitt foundry, of Itsburg, the largest concern of the kind in the United States, and H. C. rows, manager of the Carey furnace at Itsburg, arrived here Friday in company with W. F. Runyon, the Cleveland dealer, N. D. Moore and H. S. Benjamin. The party started Saturday on a trip of inspection over the range, going east as far as Mountain Iron. They returned Tuesday evening.

Mr. Hemphill informed the Range that he is concerned in which he and Mr. rows are interested with about 300 tons of iron ore per day, and hearing of the Mesaba, came to investigate for themselves. "We have taken a large number of samples," said he, "and will have them tested at our own laboratories. Then we will be satisfied as to the quality of the ore. The quantity is all at our disposal."

"Does your company think of investing in Mesaba lands?" was asked.

"We have been offered opportunity to invest," he answered, "but while we are buyers of ore we are not miners, and we will never branch out from our particular line of business. However, we may decide to break the rule in this case if everything turns out as we anticipated."

"What, in your opinion, is the best plan to follow in mining Mesaba ores?"

"While I am a mechanical engineer and not a mining engineer, I believe that underground mining will be found the most profitable, especially where the surface exceeds twenty feet. Anyway it would not cost much to try the underground plan. But I would advise purchasing the best machinery that could be procured at the very start. Men new to the mining business are especially apt to buy poor machinery because it is cheap, and after a short time they generally find it a dead loss on their hands. It pays to expend a few more thousand dollars and procure machinery strong and durable in the first place."

THEY ARE PLEASED.

The Cincinnati Mine Panning Out Better Than Expected.

Messrs. Bates and Barbour, of the Standard Ore company, are very much pleased over the results of recent testing on the Cincinnati, and Mr. Bates, especially, is confident that the best portion of the property will be found to lie to the south of present explorations. He recently had made an assay of a sample of ore, taken from No. 4 pit, directly in the neighborhood of the rock by W. J. Rattle, the well known mineral expert. The sample went 60 per cent iron and .033 in phosphorus. Commenting on this assay the chemist, in a letter to Mr. Bates, said: "No doubt this will be a surprise to you as it was a great surprise to me." Considering that the sample was taken in such close proximity to the rock it is remarkable both in the high percentage of iron and low percentage of phosphorus.

Mr. Barbour was asked by the Range representative if the Standard Ore company had really effected a lease of the Hale property.

"The company has not leased it," said he, "but Mr. Bates and myself have."

Continuing, he remarked: "While the Hale ore is principally non-Bessemer it is low enough in phosphorus to make a good mixing ore and no doubt will readily find a market. We shall commence operations on a large scale there at once."

BREAKING RECORDS.

The Onoko Broke the Wheat Carrying Record Last Week.

In delivering at Buffalo last week 113,839 bushels of wheat from Chicago, the steamer Onoko, owned by the Minch estate of Cleveland, broke another cargo record. This is the largest cargo of wheat ever carried on the lakes, although the steamer E. C. Pope has a record of 125,730 bushels of corn between the same ports, which is in weight more than 100 tons larger than the Onoko's cargo. The Onoko's bill of lading called for only 113,734 bushels of ore, but she delivered 113,839 bushels of wheat at Buffalo from Chicago, and the steel steamer W. H. Gilbert delivered 106,000 bushels of wheat at the same port from Duluth on a draft of 14 feet 6 inches.

MAJ. BRACKETT'S ILLNESS.

His Condition is Considered Very Critical.

Maj. Alfred B. Brackett, United States deputy marshal, is lying dangerously ill at his home at 340 Sherman street, St. Paul. His condition is considered so critical that his wife, who has been visiting in Massachusetts, has been telegraphed for.

For more than thirty years Maj. Brackett has served as a deputy marshal, with the exception of the time in which he served as a soldier in the war, where he won the rank of brevet lieutenant colonel. However, he has always preferred to be called major, for it was in that rank that he commanded the 1st Maine Cavalry in the war. The major has been a notable figure in St. Paul for many years. He went there previous to 1856, and has seen all the wonderful advances made by the city, himself bearing a prominent part in her history. He has always been a most faithful man in every capacity and has gained the respect and esteem of all who know him, and he is known to thousands.

COUNTING THE CASH.

The National Banks Make a Report to the Comptroller.

By order of the comptroller of the currency all the national banks kept last Friday on the amount of money, checks, etc., that was received over the counter and each bank will report to him the exact amount of checks, treasury notes, gold and silver certificates, bank bills, gold and silver coin taken in. The object is to give the comptroller a close estimate of the amount of cash actually used in the daily business of the country as compared with the checks. A similar move was made two years ago and the percentage then was 95 and a fraction in checks to 4 and a fraction in cash.

FUNDS GARNISHED.

The Duluth Dry Goods company has garnished funds belonging to the Joseph Sumner & Sons Manufacturing company in the hands of the Powers Dry Goods company, of St. Paul, to satisfy a claim of $148.68 as a rebate on dress goods purchased. The Duluth Dry Goods company claims that it was to be allowed discounts of 10 per cent, 5 per cent and 6 per cent.

THE PORT ARTHUR ROAD.

Eighty miles of the Port Arthur, Duluth & Western railway from Port Arthur have been railed and will be completed before the snow flies, says the Port Arthur Sentinel. The rock cuts which were encountered and made recently, had engaged a considerable amount of labor, but Messrs. Middleton and Conner, the experienced contractors, have surmounted every difficulty.

THE JOBBERS RETURN.

The steamer Osifrage, carrying the members of the Duluth jobbers' union who have been visiting points on the south shore, returned last evening. The jobbers all report that they were exceedingly entertained and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Ashland, Bayfield, Washburn, Ontonagon, Houghton, Hancock, Eagle Harbor, Calumet, Lake Linden and Red Jacket were visited.

SOLD THE BONDS.

The School Board Disposes of the Entire Issue of $100,000 Bonds at Auction.

W. J. Holmes, of West Duluth, Secures Them by Paying Over Six Per Cent Premium.

Insurance Men Appear Before the Board But No Action Was Taken.

Bids for the purchase of the issue of school bonds to the amount of $100,000 were opened by the school board Saturday afternoon at the Security bank. The bids were as follows: Vincent Sears, Boston, $50,000 at 102; W. J. Holmes, West Duluth, par and accrued interest 5.17 per cent; Duluth Loan & Trust company, 102 3/4; American Loan & Trust company, par and premium of $2,687; C. H. White & Co., New York, $101,660 and accrued interest; Minnesota Loan & Trust company, 101 1/2; W. J. Hayes, Cleveland, par and interest 10.35; Farson, Leach & Co., Chicago, $101,675, including interest; N. W. Harris & Son, $103,575 and interest; Lamprecht Bros. & Co., par and accrued interest and $780; Spencer, Trask & Co., 105.05 and accrued interest; Blair & Co., $100,000 and $1,500; Gray & Stanwood, $102,150; E. H. Ratlin & Son, premium 4 1/2 per cent and $60 additional; Spitzer & Co., $104,410.

The board then held an executive session and finally decided to reject all bids and sell the bonds at auction. President Richardson then proceeded to knock them off and after two hours of spirited bidding, in which seven firms participated, W. J. Holmes secured the lot at $6020 premium, and accrued interest. W. J. Hayes & Son, of Cleveland, were only $5 below Holmes. It was on the forty-sixth call that Holmes secured the bonds. At the regular session of the board in the evening, the sale was ratified.

The insurance matter also came up at the evening session. Messrs. L. D. Manly, N. F. Hugo and H. D. Pearson were present on behalf of the insurance men. They reported that it had been decided to allow the board a rate of $1 if the High school building was insured for two-thirds of its value. They also stated that the risk would be considerably lessened if the manual training school was removed from the building. No action was taken, but it is quite probable that the board will adopt the plan now coming into use in several large cities, namely, St. Paul and Minneapolis. This is to take the amount usually paid in premiums each year and place it in a sinking fund.

Columbus day is to be generally celebrated in the schools and Superintendent Denfeld has prepared an elaborate program. Flags are to be purchased for each school and displayed on that day for the first time. Secretary LeRicheux, who is working fifteen to sixteen hours a day, had his salary raised to $1500 a year. The West Duluth schools will be kept closed until the health officer reports that the danger from scarlet fever is passed.

Visiting committees the following were appointed: Rev. G. H. McClelland, Mrs. W. W. Billson, Mrs. H. B. Moore, Mrs. H. M. Peyton, Mrs. S. L. Frazer, Mrs. G. H. Gilbert, Mrs. Charles E. Hopkins, Mrs. H. H. Hanford, Mrs. E. G. Swanson and Mrs. J. R. Brerley.

The committee on property and supplies was authorized to purchase the necessary fire extinguishers for the Central high school. The text book committee were authorized to purchase books necessary for the training school. The building committee reported having purchased a dynamo for the Central high school, at a cost of $340, which would be in place within three weeks. The committee on property and supplies were authorized to purchase the necessary tools for the manual training department. The building committee reported that the Madison, Hunter's Park and Woodland schools as practically finished and ready for occupancy.

THEY ALLEGED FRAUD.

Four Cases Brought to Recover Vermillion Iron Lands.

Four suits were commenced in the district court Saturday by Anders Swenson and Nels Anderson, John Lundgren, Andrew Anderson and Nils Anderson against Magnus J. Dahlgren and Charles J. McElroy. The plaintiffs all charge the defendants with having secured from their warranty deeds of the property in question, taking advantage of their unfamiliarity with the English language in doing so. The deeds were given under the understanding that they were only contracts, the plaintiffs allege.

The defendants are represented to have come to the plaintiffs as acting for the Briar Hill Iron and Coal company which was to be formed in Duluth. Swenson and Nels Anderson allege that they were to receive $4000 for the land and signed what they supposed to be a contract to that effect. This covered 160 acres in 7, 62-14. This contract, they allege, turned out to be a warranty deed, the consideration being $1 and 400 shares of stock in the company.

The other three complaints made practically the same allegations, the lands all being in 62-14. John Lundgren was to receive $500 and 200 shares of stock, but the deed shows only $1 and 200 shares. Andrew Anderson's deed shows $1 and eighty shares, whereas he alleges he was to receive $420 cash and forty-two shares. Nels Anderson represents that he was to receive $3500 and 350 shares of stock, but the consideration in his deed was $1 and 700 shares. They ask the return of the lands.

A MISPLACED SWITCH.

An Eastern Minnesota Train Gets Badly Smashed Up.

A south bound freight train, of forty-six cars on the Eastern Minnesota road was wrecked at South Superior early yesterday morning. It was not derailed but was switched off the main line by a misplacement of a split rail switch which sent the entire train down a steep grade on the spur leading to the brickyard. Every car kept the rails but the engine that structure down, and then burying itself in a dryhouse and shed at the end of the track. A number of the cars which followed were totally destroyed, and a number of others were seriously damaged. The locomotive was buried in red clay for a distance of about three feet and is pretty generally broken up. Two of the cars which were totally destroyed were the new Great Northern style of refrigerator car and very costly. The wreck will cost about $15,000. None of the employees were injured as they jumped in time. Crowds of people visited the scene of the wreck yesterday.

Safety, Speed, Comfort.

These are the three indispensable conditions of traveling by rail.

Safety, because if we can not travel without constant risk of life and limb, we prefer to stay at home or walk. The Burlington route is pre-eminently a safely managed line.

Speed, because when we start to go somewhere we want to get there before our clothes get out of fashion, or we grow so old that our friends can't recognize us. The Burlington route has speedy trains.

As a comfort, because the days of stage coaching are over, and we do not expect to be either baked or frozen on the journey, we like good meals en route and plenty of time to eat them, and on a night journey a chance to sleep. The Burlington route trains have well-warmed and well-ventilated coaches. Pullman's latest "Vestibuled" sleepers and "Peerless" dining cars and free reclining chair cars. Purchase your tickets by this line, and for further information address W. L. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

A Campaign Button.

There are buttons and buttons, and it is idle to inquire, "Who's got the button?" as everybody wears one in these exciting days. There are silk buttons and tin buttons, buttons and other buttons. No two alike and all to suit the political taste, from protection to prohibition, with the name or face of your favorite candidate placed thereon. But the latest and best button is that which bears the attractive legend, "Duluth Short Line," or would bear it if it were not for the fact that it would make each person a walking advertisement of the road; for the "Duluth Short Line," as the St. Paul & Duluth railroad is best known, is one of the most popular lines in the Northwest and is particularly the line to take when traveling between the Twin Cities and Stillwater, Taylors Falls, Duluth and West Superior, as it has the best facilities, runs fast trains on convenient schedules, has an excellent roadbed and has recently fitted night trains with new sleepers. For information apply to ticket agents or Geo. W. Bull, General Passenger Agent, or W. A. Russell, Asst. G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

THE GRAND ARMY.

Great Reunion of the Old Veterans in the Capital of the Nation.

The Opening Exercises Today in Connection With the Great Annual Encampment.

Eloquent Addresses Delivered by Commander-in-Chief Palmer and Vice-President Morton.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Grand Army week opened fair and cool, with every apparent indication of a continuance of good weather during the celebrations in connection with the national encampment. All through the night the streets were alive with marching G. A. R. posts and their friends on their way from railway stations to their quarters. Despite all delays, it is believed that everyone who is bound for the encampment and reunion will reach the city in time to witness the great parade tomorrow.

Among the notable arrivals was that of the famous Sixth Massachusetts, the first to respond to President Lincoln's call for troops. En route to Washington they were fired upon in Baltimore April 19, and spilled the first blood of the assault upon Fort Sumter. Several hundred men are present with the command and as they marched up the avenue late last night with their tattered flags at the head of the column they were swept over the doors. The mammoth structure which shelters 2600 employees of Uncle Sam is something marvelous. For completeness and ingenuity its like has never been seen in the city. It is the result of labor which has been expended during noon hour and after work for the past several days. The exterior of the building is festooned with great clusters of red, white and blue national flags, gathered in points at the eaves and sweeping over the doors. The mammoth design above the north capital street entrance is particularly imposing. Inside there is enough bunting to decorate a city.

The first formal ceremony of the day was "handshaking" among the crew on board the Kearsage on Grand Army place. The ship was full trimmed, a line of gay-colored bunting floating from stem to stern over the top of the main mast.

Preliminary to the festivities of the week was the dedication of Grand Army park, located on the famous White lot just south of the White house grounds. This place was under the inspiration of the suggestion of Comrade John McElroy, editor of the National Tribune, that some central point should be provided and furnished where the old veterans might meet their associates of the war. This finally expanded into the place of reunions as it will be carried out on Grand Army place.

The plaza surrounding the flag tower where the dedicatory exercises were held was crowded to its utmost capacity before noon, the hour fixed upon for the event. After the vice president and commander-in-chief were escorted to their places on the reviewing stand where they saw the parade, the 1500 seats on the platform were occupied by prominent G. A. R. and W. R. C. officers and government officials—a most distinguished gathering.

Comrade McElroy formally called the assemblage to order and introduced Rev. S. B. Paine, D. D., of Ocean Grove, N. J., chaplain-in-chief, who delivered the dedicatory prayer. An air by the Marine band followed, and then Commander-in-Chief Palmer made the introductory address. As he rose on the platform the old soldiers gave him a most affectionate greeting. He spoke as follows:

Comrades: For the first time since the close of the great civil conflict you will have an opportunity of meeting your comrades in arms in headquarters provided for each of the great army corps that existed during the war. It would certainly be invidious of me to single out or attempt to mention any particular corps for its gallant service. I know that human nature on the average is about alike, and I can appreciate how every soldier during our visit to Washington, and it is very likely that they will have some recollection of what occurred from 1861 to 1865. Whatever differences of opinion we may have as to the gallantry of the several corps, there is one point upon which we all agree, that whether it was the comrade who wore the star or the eagle, whether it was he who wore the insignia of a non-commissioned officer or the common soldier who carried his musket in the ranks, each was loyal to the common cause for which he served and each tried to do his duty as he saw it. The same can be said for each corps and its gallant commander. Each did its full share in the contest, and each shared in the glorious achievements of the Union army.

The thought that so many of our gallant leaders cannot be with us today fills your hearts with many sad reflections. They would respond cheerfully at the call of friendship as they did in 1861 to the call of duty. The vacant places they have left in our ranks are more suggestive than the presence of living and if they are not with us today it is because other glories are reserved for them while we are with others enjoying the fruits of their great labors. I congratulate you the committee who have had this grand work in charge. I know you will all enjoy and appreciate the results of the labor they have so generously given for your pleasure. You will once more meet and touch elbow again with the comrade who helped to add to the fame of your respective corps.

And now, comrades, I know you will share my feelings of profound regret over the circumstances which caused the absence of one whom you would all have been delighted to see and hear and who had anticipated joining you all in the festivities of the week, a comrade whose gallant services to the nation in the hour of peril had been supplemented by his wise and patriotic management of the affairs of this great republic in time of peace—Comrade Benjamin Harrison. I now take great pleasure in introducing Hon. Levi F. Morton, vice-president of the United States.

Before introducing the vice president, Gen. Palmer read a telegram from President Harrison received this morning from Loon Lake in answer to one sent by him to the president, expressing his regret and sympathy, in which the president said: "I looked forward with much interest to the great rehearsal in Washington next Tuesday of the victorious march of 1865. I would have esteemed it one of the highest honors of my public life to have welcomed to the national capital and to have received on its historic avenue this representative assembly of the men who not only saved the city from threatened destruction but made it the worthy political capital of an unbroken union. It would also have been one of the most favored and tender incidents of my private life to have taken these comrades by the hands again, but all this has been denied me by the intervention of a sad and imperative duty and I can only ask you to give to all my cordial greeting and good wishes, and my sincere thanks for your very kind and sympathetic message."

The reference to President Harrison was the signal for enthusiastic cheering, which lasted some time. The demonstration was a striking tribute to the soldier, president and man. Vice-President Morton was warmly received as he rose. He said: "Soldiers and sailors of the Grand Army of the Republic—A sorrow that brings us all together calls me to the place, in these ceremonies, of the president to whom you would instinctively turn as a comrade and as commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States. The president has been lately standing at the gates of the nation to challenge the entrance of an implacable enemy that must be confronted at the outposts. While we need his high resolve and inexorable will in defense of the people from an insidious foe, now that he is standing at the bedside of one dearer to him than life we may not forget what he owes to the tenderest relation of humanity, and a chord of affectionate sympathy reaches him from every hamlet and home in the land. God give him grace in this hour of need."

I see before me the survivors of a generation of men who have emblazoned the pages of history and freedom for all time to come; who have set the example for republican France, for united Germany and reconstructed Italy, and who have broadened and deepened the foundations of the English constitution and of Anglo-Saxon liberty. Of this great army of liberty, whether they have passed away or are still present for duty, you are the honored representatives. The president would speak to you as a comrade. It is for me to greet you in behalf of business interests affecting the welfare of the whole people, in behalf of trade and commerce, of the husbandman and artisan, of the employer and the employed, in behalf of all men and women from every section who love the Union.

I bid you welcome in behalf of the president and his cabinet advisers, in behalf of the congress of the United States and in behalf of a whole people made illustrious by your heroism and that of your adversaries, now your friends. I greet you in behalf of a stalwart North and a loyal South, of a sun-kissed East and a commanding West, under the shadows of a capitol you have preserved in this beautiful city founded by Washington and made sacred by the services and sufferings of Lincoln, and in full view of Virginia, the birthplace of presidents and the burial place of heroes.

Your march today and tomorrow will recall to you, as it will to us, the great review when Chief Grant ranged himself by the side of the president of the United States, when Meade saluted for the veterans of the East and Sherman for those of the West, and when the light that fell upon the dome of the capitol was flashed back from the sword of Sheridan. There are brilliant illustrations of your prowess, still leading your ranks or among them, and I wish that I could summon them all; but the glories of the battle names recall them with vivid personality.

In the order of time this may or may not be your last grand review, but I express the hope of a grateful people that heaven will bounteously lengthen out your lives before you are called to the other shore to rejoin the ranks of your companions. God bless you all and those who today unite with you in strengthening the union of the great republic.

The flag on the steeple 150 feet overhead was then unfurled and saluted by a park of artillery. With the "Star-Spangled Banner" by the Marine band the dedication of Grand Army place was complete and thousands of comrades dispersed. The committee of the Commercial club, Indianapolis, which is charged with the duty of laboring to secure the next national encampment at that city reached here this morning twelve hours late. They were preceded by Governor Chase and Col. Walker, both ex-department commanders. Their labors, it is believed, will not be very onerous in view of the assurances already given to the representatives of Indianapolis previously on the field.

Promises of support were given yesterday which practically settled the fact that the national encampment will go to Indianapolis in 1893. Except to secure a complimentary vote.

That any other city will be so honored.

A THANKLESS TASK

The Rather Discouraging Experiences of John Rogers Famed as a Life Saver.

Record of a Boston Boy That Places Him Among the World's Heroes.

A Heathenish Murder Was Committed by Six Colored Men Down in Mississippi.

John Rogers, of Boston, is only twenty-one years old, but has a record as a life saver which places him among the world's heroes. Already this year he has saved twelve lives, and Boston wits say he will not "die with hot feet," as the famous John Rogers, of Smithfield, did (burned Feb. 4, 1553), for he—this Boston John Rogers—is "always prowling around the wharves to catch somebody who is trying to get drowned."

There is much truth in it. John is a boatbuilder by trade, but now in the employ of a club which owns a bathhouse on the Charles river bank. Of his first rescue for this year, that of Mr. Crawford, he says:

"He loved canoeing so well that on the afternoon of April 30 he launched his boat to enjoy the sport. After dipping the paddle for some time he thought he would see his sail. A fresh breeze was blowing at the time, and as he neared West Boston bridge a sudden squall struck the sail and over went the canoe. Some one on the raft sang out, 'Jack, a canoe has capsized!' Then I jumped into my boat, and after a hard row was alongside of him. He was clinging to the bottom of his boat and was well nigh exhausted, the water having chilled him clear through. Getting him into my boat was no small job, he being helpless, but I managed it, and rowed for the bathhouse, where his clothes were taken off and he was rubbed dry."

On the afternoon of July 17 he saw four landlubbers sailing a little boat so awkwardly that he knew they would upset if a squall came up. He judged that one was coming and so got into his own boat and followed them, catching up with them just as their boat went over. Two of them could not swim, but he saved them all. Strange to say, they hurried off without giving their names, as if ashamed of themselves.

On the 11th of August a sailboat containing William Ray and James Fitzgerald, of Cambridge, and two guests of theirs, was upset in the bay, and he saved them all. The next day he saved another man who had been upset by a squall, and three days later he saved a man and a woman. Of this he says:

"I think that was as hard a tussle as I ever had, as the man would not let go of the boat or help me with the woman. After a struggle I got her in, also the man; then she fainted and remained insensible twenty minutes, during which time the man left the bathhouse without giving name or residence."

According to his account lots of men and women sail together who do not want their names put in the paper; but he looks out for all alike.

A Horrible Case.

One of the most brutal murders ever committed in Mississippi was discovered a few days ago on the Davis plantation about thirty miles north of Vicksburg, on the river. The first intimation that the community had that a murder had been committed was that some dogs were noticed scratching at something buried only about two feet under ground. An examination was made and the remains of one William Payne, a well known colored man, an employee on the plantation, were discovered. His partner, Joe Johnson, also a colored man, who occupied the same house, was questioned and told the story of the murder. Johnson said that Payne was charged with improper relations with Charles Greene's daughter. On Sunday morning, the 23d of August, six colored men came to his and Payne's house, and while two stood over him with drawn pistols the others knocked Payne in the head with an axe, then took hold of him and twisted his head and body until he broke his neck. Then they wrapped him in a blanket and buried him where he was found as stated. The six men are now in jail on a warrant issued by the coroner, and will no doubt hang for the heathenish murder.

The usual attempt to introduce knee breeches at some slight hop with a view to making them a part of the winter full dress costume was made this summer.

The swallow tail coat will continue the garment for full dress of course. It is not a handsome garment in itself, but it does set off a well formed figure to good advantage.

For fall wear there are two shapes in business coats—the sack and the cutaway. The character of your business must decide which of these two will give the best satisfaction.

So far as fashion goes, there will be no radical change in fall overcoats. Snooded faced goods will be "the thing," and in cut and general finish there is every chance for a wise selection.

Double breasted sacks in dark goods with light trousers are dressy for office wear, but less dignified than the black cut-away frock, with waistcoat to match and fancy trousers of some dark shade.

For the promenade or to wear to afternoon weddings and other formal affairs taking place before 6 p. m. the frock coat and the three button cutaway will continue in favor. Black diagonals, fine and medium wide, will be worn. Broadcloths are not yet worn by young men.—New York Recorder.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for family uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

THE TWO LEADERS.

The Men Nominated For Governor by the New Hampshire Republicans and Democrats.

Both Were Made Their Respective Party's Candidates Without the Slightest Opposition.

A Brooklyn Man Who Lived For Years With Steel Wire In His Heart.

New Hampshire started in a little late this year, but rushed her politics when she did start, as three candidates for governor and several for congress were nominated in a few days. The Republican state convention without a ballot unanimously named Hon. John B. Smith, of Hillsboro, for governor, and the Democrats, with almost equal celerity, made Congressman L. F. McKinney their standard bearer. In fact, it has for some time been taken for granted that these two were the appropriate leaders of their respective parties.

Hon. John B. Smith was born April 12, 1832, at Sackett River, N. Y., his ancestry tracing back to a Scotch Irishman, Lieutenant Thomas Smith, who was the first settler in New Boston. John B. received his education at the district school and at the Hillsboro academy, then worked in a shoeing factory and clerked in a drug store and in 1856 engaged in the manufacture of knit goods at Hillsboro. He has greatly enlarged and improved the Consock mills, and in 1880 moved his family to Hillsboro. His wife was a daughter of Stephen Lavender, of Boston, and he has two children living.

LUTHER F. MCKINNEY.
Hon. Luther Franklin McKinney, the Democratic candidate for governor of New Hampshire, was born near Newark, O., April 25, 1841, and passed his early life on his father's farm, acquiring an education by attendance at the common schools in winter. At the age of eighteen he engaged in teaching, but in August, 1861, enlisted in the First Ohio cavalry, in which he served as a sergeant till February, 1863, when he was discharged for disability. In 1865 he went to Iowa and remained two years. In 1867 he entered St. Lawrence university at Canton, N. Y., and studied for the ministry. After filling a pastorate in Maine he removed to New Hampshire. In 1884 he was a candidate for congress and was defeated. In 1888 he was elected, and in 1892 he was again elected, and is now representative of the First district. His home is in Manchester.

A Poser for Surgeons.
A man named Frank Bennett recently died in Brooklyn as the result of a fractured skull. He received the injury in a row and died soon after leaving the scene of the fight. A post mortem examination brought to light a curious accident which must have befallen the dead man years of age. In his heart was found a piece of steel wire about an inch and a half long. From its appearance it might have been a piece of a woman's hair pin. The point at which it entered the body was found in the form of a minute scar just below the left nipple. The wire had long ago been covered in with fibrous tissue and evidently had had nothing to do with Bennett's death. Such a strange occurrence could only have been the result of accident. There is not one surgeon in a hundred who could penetrate the heart with a piece of steel wire of this length without causing fatal injury either immediate or remote.

Son of the Liberator.
The Italians of New York city are in a state of pleasant excitement over the arrival of the Italian steamer Garibaldi, which brings the statue of Columbus the Italian citizens of America have contributed. But the statue is a secondary affair with them because the principal passenger on the steamer is Manlio Garibaldi, youngest son of the great liberator, who comes to visit the scenes of his father's exile in America.

This young man is but twenty-one years of age, and is stoutly built, tall and has black hair and eyes. He is said to be one of the handsomest young officers in the Italian navy. He was born at his father's farm, on the island of Capri, where he spent his childhood, subsequently entering the university at Leghorn, where he was graduated. While there he became the close friend and companion of Prince Louis of Savoy, a son of the Duc d'Aosta, and nephew of King Humbert.

He was graduated quite young, then shipped as a sailor on the American Vespucci and went twice around the world. In 1890 he was entertained in great style by the Italian residents of Rio Janeiro and Buenos Ayres, the prince being with him at the time; but while there the latter received news of the death of his father, the Duc d'Aosta, and at once returned home. Young Garibaldi entered the Italian navy as soon as his age permitted, and is now a lieutenant of marines. He is to be entertained by the prominent Italians, and will visit the places where his father worked as a sailor and as a chandler and otherwise.

WHIP AND SPUR.
It is said that twelve horses can score breast on the new track at Columbus, Ind.

Probably the greatest reason the track at Independence, Ia., is so fast is owing to the excellent care given to it. No track in the world receives such care.

Abraham, one of the best sons of Daniel Lambert, died in Vermont recently. His fastest performer was Frank, 2:19 1/2 to harness and 2:15 1/2 with a running mate.

The Tennessee Breeders' association has been organized for the purpose of building a first class sale mart, with a covered track three-eighths of a mile long, at Nashville.

An internal tumor as large as a man's hat has been removed from the stallion Viking, 2:19 1/2, by Belmont, and he is looking and acting better than for two years past.

Massachusetts has appointed a state commission to make a study of the roads of the state and report to the next legislature the most practical method of maintaining highways.

C. E. Bennett, of Jackson, Mich., has purchased the estate of John Carey the chestnut stallion Jimemont, 2:16 1/2, by Tremont, 2:28 1/2. Jimemont has already trotted in 2:19 1/2 in a race this season.

George Star has four of the fastest paces living in his stable: Direct, 2:06; Flying Jib, 2:08 1/2, and the two green ones, Killarney Maid and San Pedro. The latter, hatched Merry Chimes out at Grand Rapids in 2:14 1/2.

The fastest mile ever covered in harness in Canada was made at the Woodbine Drive, club races, Toronto, on Aug. 17. The record breaker was the bay gelding J. B. Richardson, by George Wilkes. The time was 3:17.

A lion, the champion 2-year-old stallion from J. Malcolm Forbes' stable, has been sent to Charles Marvin to be trained. Mr. Forbes says that when Mr. Marvin considers the colt in condition he will be sent against the 3-year-old record—2:10 1/2—now held by Sunol.

FASHION'S FADS.
Some exquisite new silks are shown in delicate ground with satin stripes of a contrasting color.

Ribbons are to be much used for dress trimming still, and Ottoman ribbon, which has been completely out for a long time, is again in favor.

The prettiest and most refined stockings for wearing with slippers are high cut and bordered with self colors, which gives richness without too much showiness.

It is said that black velvet is to be worn for dinner dresses by young ladies in the coming season. This is certainly an innovation, for hitherto its stately becomingness has been reserved for portly matrons.

The styles of the first empire seem to be the keynote of the winter fashions. It would be unwise to have one's autumn dresses made too early this year until the edict is passed, for it is said there is to be a decided revolution in all the styles.

Scented gloves are quite a fad with some ladies, and come in suede and are scented by a secret process which secures permanence for the perfume to the degree that it is said the gloves can be burned and the ashes will retain the delicate scent.—New York Telegram.

FIN, FEATHER AND FUR.
There are fifty species of electric fish.

A water moccasin six feet long was lately killed at Utica, Ill. When cut open sixteen frogs were found, several of which were alive.

An eel that is ordinary in all respects except that it has a skin of a "beautiful golden color," has been added to the collection in the London zoological garden.

African travelers tell us that the white rhinoceros frequently dies from eating poisonous plants which have no effect on the black one, probably because the fine scent of the latter tells him it is dangerous.

Among some young salmon fry hatched in the hatchery on the River Derwent there were found two fishes joined together at the back fin, from which there is only one body to the tail. Both heads are perfect.

A German naturalist enumerates the following birds and mammals as deserving of protection: Shrews, bats, owls, cuckoos, swallows, swifts, nightjars, tree creepers, woodpeckers, wrens, robins, whitethroats, water wags and titmice.

FLOWER AND TREE.
Flower farming for the manufacture of perfume is being carried on in Australia.

French florists are cultivating a plant which bears a flower that is white in the morning, red at noon and blue at night.

Macrocystis, a seaweed of the south Pacific, often grows to be thirty or forty inches in diameter and 1,500 to 2,000 feet in length.

There is no plant so universally detested as the castor oil plant. No sort of bird or beast will touch it; even a goat will starve before biting its leaf, and army worms and locusts will pass it by.

Warrenton county, Ga., has quite a curiosity in the shape of a watermelon vine. When the plant came up it bid fair to bring forth an abundant yield, but instead of growing melons it put forth a luxuriant growth of flowers.

It is said that the edelweiss has been almost exterminated in its native home among the Alps. In one or two of the cantons the government has interfered to save the persecuted plant, and has set a fine on the picking of its beautiful white, fluffy flowers.

Saved.
Briggs—That was a marvelous escape of Miss Neatfoot from the top floor of a burning hotel at Barker's reef, wasn't it?

Griggs—Why, how did she get out?

Briggs—She tied all her neckties together and reached the ground without any trouble.—Clothes and Furnisher.

WILL NOT LEAVE LOUISIANA.

What President Conrad Has to Say About the Big Lottery.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—President Paul Conrad, of the Louisiana Lottery company, was interviewed today about the dispatch regarding the company's attempt to purchase a location in the Sandwich islands. He said: "It is a 'fake' sensation, pure and simple, or a malicious concoction, designed, perhaps, to prejudice the company in the minds of the people of the United States by creating the impression that our business is to be removed from the legal restrictions and accountability it is now under by virtue of the laws of Louisiana. Were the Louisiana State Lottery company to become a Hawaiian instead of a Louisiana concern, of course it would be practically an impossibility to enforce claims against it; whereas, being a duly chartered corporation of this state, it is amenable to the laws. Obligations can be enforced through the courts against it the same as against any lawful and responsible company."

"But what are the company's plans for the future? Might not their negotiations be carried on without your knowledge?"

"Scarcely such vast sums as are talked of are not carried in one's vest pocket nor expended by one member of a concern without consulting his associates. The owners of the Louisiana lottery are now scattered over the globe seeking peace or pleasure, according to their condition or taste. Mr. Morris, with friends, have been cruising about on his yacht, and I doubt if any one has communicated with him on business of any description. Certainly he is not giving himself any concern about lottery business, and I repeat there is simply nothing in this alleged San Francisco story which is as far as I know, and except I know all the facts, the Louisiana Lottery company will live out its allotted time as fixed by its vested rights, say a couple of years longer, doing a business here as it always has, and abiding by the popular decision in the recent contest."—New York Times, Aug. 27th.

Nervous and Chronic Diseases

The physician in charge of this office is a graduate of the medical department of Harvard University.

YOUNG MEN Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this chance. DR. SPEER & CO., will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases of weakness or private diseases of any kind or character they undertake or forfeit $250.

They will therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice that you are treading on dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedies for your complaint. Then for the first time you will realize what negligence means. Our success in such cases can be best understood when we will positively declare that over 100,000 have been treated by us in different parts of the world. Call and get the benefit of our experience.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN There are many of the age of 30 to 50 who are often accompanied by slight smarting sensations and weakening the system in a manner which the patient cannot account for. On examination it will be found that the urine deposits aropy sediment and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color will be a thin milky hue, and again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of weakness.

LADIES Finding it not convenient to call at the office can be treated by mail by sending a full description of their case. DR. SPEER & CO. will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases. Examination and advice free. Remember the place.

Parties wishing to consult Dr. Speer & Co., at West Superior will have their railroad fare deducted from the price of their treatment.

J. K. SHAW RESIGNS

The City Assessor Presented His Resignation to Mayor d'Autremont Saturday.

He Will Take the Northwestern Management of an Insurance Company.

His New Duties May Possibly Require His Removal From Duluth.

The resignation of John K. Shaw, city assessor, is now in Mayor d'Autremont's hands and will probably be presented to the council this evening. This will cause considerable surprise being entirely unexpected. The letter of resignation was received by Mayor d'Autremont Saturday afternoon and is very brief, being as follows:

"Hon. Chas. d'Autremont, Mayor of Duluth.
Sir: I herewith tender my resignation as assessor for the city of Duluth. Very respectfully, J. K. SHAW, Duluth, Sept. 17, 1892."

Col. Shaw's resignation is called for by the fact that he has accepted the general Northwestern management of an insurance company now in successful operation. Col. Shaw's territory will take in the entire state of Minnesota, Douglas county, Wis., and some territory bordering on the Red River of the North on the Dakota side. The matter has been known to Mayor d'Autremont and Col. Shaw for some time previous to the receipt of the formal letter of resignation. Col. Shaw's new duties may possibly call for his removal from Duluth to Minneapolis.

EVERYBODY PLEASED.

Open Meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians Saturday.

The first open meeting of the A. O. H. during this season was held last Saturday evening at Odd Fellows hall and fully 300 people were present. President Callahan, on behalf of Division No. 1, extended a hearty welcome to all and expressed a desire that they should be properly entertained. An excellent program was given. A. Murphy, Jr., delivered a carefully prepared address on "Young Men as Hibernians," which contained some excellent thoughts and suggestions. Miss Anna Farrell followed with a vocal solo which received the hearty applause it merited. N. S. Murphy and C. P. Murphy also gave vocal numbers. M. H. McMahon also spoke on the order and J. C. Hession delivered "Emmet's Speech" in an admirable manner. Mr. Henneberry also spoke.

President Callahan, of Douglas county Division No. 1, on behalf of the Superior divisions responded to a call and made a few remarks on the prosperity of the A. O. H. across the bay and at the conclusion called on P. Dever, of Chicago, who happened to be present. Mr. Dever in response delivered an excellent address on the benefits of the A. O. H. and the great amount of good it is accomplishing in this country, by bringing together all true Irishmen and making them better men and better citizens of this glorious republic. He also referred to the grand success which has been achieved in Ireland by the return of Mr. Gladstone to power and the selection of Mr. John Morley to the chief secretaryship of Ireland. His address was very instructive and at times humorous and elicited great applause. Refreshments followed the literary program and with social conversation occupied the balance of the evening. Altogether the open meeting was a very successful one and was a credit to the members of the order.

PRICES RANGED STEADY.

The Wheat Market Was Fairly Firm Today.

The wheat market opened quiet this morning, the renewed cholera scare having a bearish effect. High cables and an increase in shipments of wheat abroad had a strengthening effect, however, and the market ranged steady during the remainder of the session. There was a large volume of business in cash wheats. Considerable sample wheat was sold in the forenoon but only little was done in futures. The range of prices was 1/4c lower except for May, which was unchanged. Towards the close futures strengthened slightly and the last figures were 1/4c lower than Saturday, except for December and May No. 1 hard, which showed an advance of 1/4c to 1/2c. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash 73 1/2c; September, 73 1/2c; December, 73 1/2c; May, 73 1/2c. No. 1 northern, cash, 71 1/2c; September, 71 1/2c; December, 71 1/2c; May, 71 1/2c. No. 2 northern, cash, 69c; No. 3, 68c. Rejected, 40c. On track, No. 1 hard, 74c; No. 1 northern, 72c.

Car inspection today, 438. Receipts—Wheat, 22,223 bus. 229, 1,170 bus; oats, 35,448 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 34,440 bus. Cars on track, Wheat, 763; last year, 688; oats, 2.

PERSONAL.

Hon. C. P. Bacon, of New York city, a warm friend and old college mate of Mayor d'Autremont, is in the city with his wife visiting Duluth's chief executive. Mr. Bacon will be remembered as the manager of the Hill forces during the previous campaign.

Mrs. F. B. Ross, of St. Paul, spent Sunday in Duluth with her husband, F. B. Ross, the northern market agent of the St. Paul & Duluth road.

J. C. Ten Eyck, a prominent New York attorney, is at the Brighton today.

W. F. Fitch, of Marquette, general manager of the South Shore road, is in the city today.

John Brandtjen, of Minneapolis, of Marder, Luse & Co., is in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Horton, of St. Paul, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Mendenhall.

J. W. Ross has arrived from Port Arthur to take up his residence here, previous to leaving his Port Arthur residence he had an address and locket.

Judge Thomas M. Brady has removed to Duluth from Houghton and has entered into partnership with I. E. West for the practice of law under the firm name of West & Brady.

M. D. Grover, counsel of the Great Northern road, and W. S. Alexander, president of the Eastern Minnesota, were in the city today.

E. C. Morgan, general agent of the Lake Superior Transit company at Pittsburgh, spent Sunday in Duluth accompanied by his wife.

Judge P. D. Marshall, of the Eleventh Wisconsin district, was in the city yesterday.

Col. "Billy" Traylor, the notorious confidence man who was ordered out of the city about two months ago turned up again yesterday morning. He was ordered out again and left last night.

MADE NEW LEASES.

French & Bassett Lease the Mason Building—Smith, Farwell & Steele Wards.

French & Bassett have leased the entire new Mason building at the rear of M. S. Burrows & Co.'s, at the corner of Third avenue west and First street. The lease runs for ten years and the building must be entirely completed by March 1, so construction will have to be rushed right through the winter.

The Smith, Farwell & Steele people have arranged the terms of a new lease of their present quarters, and they will occupy them for a long term of years.

The lease calls for the immediate addition of three stories to the present building and the firm will occupy the whole of the increased building, except that portion now occupied by the hardware people.

Sunday's Accommodation.

Ten little drinks, John Anderson, C. Larson, John McCarthy, Pat McCarthy, Sandre, Aloha, Abraham Coopill, Wm. Watters, Peter Wagner, John Orebank and John Bard, received the usual $10 or ten days at the hands of Judge Powell this morning. They were all arrested.

Sunday night, Mrs. Abrahamson, a second time drunk, will be sentenced this afternoon. She was the next room neighbor of the woman found dead in the Petre building a few days ago. Chas. Pilkey for disturbing the peace on Saturday was fined $5 and costs. John J. Butler, of 423 Lake avenue, for resisting a health officer, will have his trial Wednesday at 2 o'clock. He will be convicted as the evidence is overwhelming.
